And yet, in the face of all these facts, tens of millions go on ignorant of its message. Perhaps the Church is in part to blame. Perhaps it has presented the book, and its judgments, in a fashion which has alienated thoughtful men at times. But unless we repudiate all modern science because of the mistakes of an occasional doctor or surgeon, and unless we deny the dependability of all economists because of an occasional false prediction, we cannot afford to ignore the scriptures because of its occasional mistaken interpreters.

No man can call himself fully educated who is not familiar with at least the major philosophy of the Bible, and the record it contains of man's spiritual development. Better to be ignorant of Greek mythology than to be ignorant of the truths the Holy Bible contains.

104-Year-Old Lawsuit Ended By Decision

PARIS (AP) — Paris' court of appeals ruled Wednesday it is a France's famous Lost Dauphin, the son of King Louis XVI and Marie Antoinette, died at the age of 10 in Temple prison during the French Revolution. The decision ended a 104-year-old lawsuit.

The court ruled that the story usually told in history books is correct. Little Louis Charles never lived to become Louis XVII. Nor was he Karl Wilhelm Naundorff, a watchmaker in Delft, Holland, who claimed to be the Lost Dauphin.

Naundorff's heirs started their suit in 1851 against the then ruling family of Bourbon-Parma. That was six years after his death. They claimed the prince had been spirited away from prison as a favor to Josephine de Beauharnais, first wife of Napoleon Bonaparte, and turned up in The Netherlands as a grown man.

Men who had seen both had testified that there was a remarkable resemblance between Naundorff and Louis XVI. The court, however, was not convinced.

Changes in Central Command

OTTAWA (CP)—Here are the changes in Central Command resulting from the re-organization of Canada's 37,000 man militia (units not mentioned are unaffected):

FORMATION HEADQUARTERS

Formation headquarters at Toronto, London, Ottawa and Hamilton will be replaced by militia group headquarters, the first located in Toronto and one each in London, Ottawa and Hamilton. In addition, a new headquarters will be located at Kingston.

ARMORED CORPS

1. The 45th Anti-Tank Regiment (Grey and Simcoe Foresters), Royal Canadian Artillery, with headquarters at Owen Sound, is to absorb the 55th Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment, RCA, with headquarters at Midland and then be converted and renamed the Grey and Simcoe Foresters (28th Armored Regiment).

2. Two infantry regiments, the Algonquin Regiment of Haileybury and the Elgin Regiment of St. Thomas are to be converted to armored regiments and will be redesignated the Algonquin Regiment (29th Armored Regiment) and the Elgin Regiment (27th Armored Regiment).

3. The Windsor Regiment, now a reconnaissance unit, will be converted to an armored regiment and be called the Windsor Regiment (22nd Armored Regiment).

4. The Midland Regiment with headquarters at Port Hope will be amalgamated with the Ontario Regiment (11th Armored Regiment of Oshawa.)

ARTILLERY

1. The 21st Anti-Tank Regiment with headquarters at Walkerton will be converted to the 21st Field Regiment.

2. The 56th Light Anti-Aircraft Regiment of Brantford will be converted to the 56th Field Regiment. The 69th Field Battery of this regiment will replace the 25th Medium Regiment of Simcoe.

3. The 8th Field Regiment and the 132nd Locating Battery at Hamilton will be amalgamated to form the 8th Locating Regiment. The 69th Observation Regiment at Toronto will be converted to the 22d Locating Battery while the 46th Light Anti-Aircraft regiment at Streetsville will be converted to the 4th Locating Battery.

4. The 45th Field Battery at Lindsay will be converted to the 45th Medium Battery and allocated to the 33rd Medium Regiment. The 3rd Anti-Tank Battery at Gananoque is to be converted to the 3rd Independent Medium Battery while the 47th Anti-Tank Battery at Napanee is to be replaced by the 22nd Independent Medium Battery. The 7th Medium Regiment at London will be replaced by the 12th Field Battery.

5. The headquarters and two batteries of the 9th Anti-Tank Regiment at Belleville will be absorbed by the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

ENGINEERS

Headquarters 30th Field Engineer Regiment will be replaced in Ottawa by the 3rd Field Squadron. The 55th Field Park Squadron at Smiths Falls will be converted to a field squadron.

INFANTRY CORPS

1. The Oxford Rifles with headquarters at Woodstock and the Canadian Fusiliers (City of London Regiment) (machinegun) at London will be amalgamated under the title the Canadian Fusiliers (City of London Regiment) (3rd Battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment) and be converted to an infantry battalion.

2. The Perth Regiment at Stratford and the Highland Light Infantry of Canada at Galt will be amalgamated under the title the Highland Light Infantry of Canada.

3. The Kent Regiment at Chatham and the Essex Scottish at Windsor will be amalgamated under the title the Essex Scottish.

4. The Midland Regiment with headquarters at Port Hope is to be amalgamated with the Ontario Regiment (11th Armored Regiment) at Oshawa.

5. The Governor General's Foot Guards at Ottawa is to be redesignated the Governor General's Foot Guards (5th Battalion, Canadian Guards).

6. The Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry Highlanders with headquarters at Cornwall and the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa are to be converted to machinegun battalions.

ARMY SERVICE CORPS

At Toronto, seven field units will be replaced by a number of companies and three companies. Field units at Hamilton and Ottawa will be replaced by a company at each location. The transport company at Windsor is to be disbanded and its place taken by other units at the same location. The four field type units at London will be replaced by a column headquarters and two companies.

ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

The three medical units at Toronto will be replaced by a medical battalion. Medical units at Hamilton, Owen Sound, Guelph, London, Kitchener, Kingston, Ottawa and Cornwall will be redesignated medical companies. No. 40 Field Hygiene Section at Oakville is to be disbanded and its place taken by another unit at the same location.

ORDNANCE CORPS

At Toronto and London the ordnance units will be replaced by ordnance battalions and the units at Ottawa by an ordnance company. At Hamilton, the ordnance unit is to be redesignated as an ordnance company.

JUMPS TO DEATH

KAPUSKASING, Ont. (CP)—Trapped on a trestle by an oncoming train, Albert Wilkinson, 35-year-old trainman, jumped to his death, Tuesday in swift currents above a pulp company power dam here. Weighted by the packsack, he sank before railway linesmen could help him. Provincial police recovered the body in the afternoon.

ASKS ALL-ENGLISH JURY

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Counsel for Wilbert Coffin, 41-year-old mining prospector charged with the double murder last year of three American bear hunters, Tuesday asked that an all-English jury be chosen for his trial, but the judge said he would give his decision July 12 when the case comes up for hearing.

SWEEPING

The new militia group headquarters, which will be located in major centres, will be responsible for control of all units in an area, regardless of type. In this way, a more efficient organization and better control of units will be possible.

ARMORED CORPS

Transfer of the anti-tank defence role from the artillery to the armored corps requires eight more armored regiments. These new armored regiments will be provided by conversion of two artillery, two infantry, two reconnaissance and two armored car regiments.

ARTILLERY

Since anti-tank defence has been taken over by the armored corps, anti-tank regiments are no longer required in the artillery. There are also too many anti-aircraft regiments in the existing organization and it is planned to convert as many as possible of these to other types of artillery and to replace the remainder by units of other corps.

The requirement for coast artillery, as such, no longer exists. Due to improved detection devices, the major role in coastal defence becomes a primary responsibility of the navy and air forces.

The army's role will be one of harbor defence only. Therefore existing coast artillery units will be replaced by a harbor defence battery on each coast.

ENGINEERS

Because field park squadrons are no longer included in the organization of field engineer regiments in the regular force, they will not be included in the militia and where possible will be converted to field squadrons. In localities where the strength of the present regiment does not warrant a regimental organization, it will be replaced by a field squadron.

SIGNALS CORPS

Two regiments are to be amalgamated to form a single regiment. One regiment is being reduced to squadron basis and one squadron is to be disbanded.

INFANTRY CORPS

The militia now contains more infantry regiments than required. To produce a more balanced structure, nine infantry regiments will be amalgamated with other infantry regiments; one infantry regiment will be absorbed by an armored regiment; one infantry regiment will be disbanded; and two infantry regiments will be converted to armored regiments.

Reorganization of the Militia Infantry Corps will provide a system of linked battalions whereby, in fantry regiments will be linked in two and threes so they will be mutually supporting and could be combined to form a single unit.

ARMY SERVICE CORPS

This corps is being reorganized to form units of varying size determined by the recruiting potential in the locality. The new units will not be field units but designed to train personnel found in the corps and from which field units could be formed when required.

The new units will be organized in most cases in the same locations as existing units and will absorb the personnel of those units. This system has been to good effect by both the Signals Corps and Electrical and Mechanical Engineers for several years.

ARMY MEDICAL CORPS

The corps is to be reorganized along the same lines as the Army Service Corps and for the same reason.

ORDNANCE CORPS

The corps will be reorganized along the same lines as the Army Service and Medical corps.

WHIPPER TONIGHT

After one of the most remarkable comebacks in wrestling history, Whipper Billy Watson, the idol of East York and points north, south, east and west, makes his 1954 Belleville debut tonight in Memorial Arena. The popular Whip fought and won a grim hospital battle as a result of severe head injuries received in a particularly rough bout, and for a while it was thought the Whip's wrestling days were numbered.

'Whipper' Watson

But they did not reckon with the Whip's marvellous recuperative powers. Slowly, grimly, he brought himself back to health, keeping in some sort of shape by exercising in the hospital gymnasium. Then came the great moment of triumph when the Whip's physicians stated he was as good as ever, and discharged him from hospital.

Today he is just that. And his record of imposing victories since being discharged from hospital bears out the doctors' opinions. Tonight the Whip teams up with Paul Baillargeon, the French Canadian behemoth in a tag-team match with the rough-and-tumble Mighty Ursus, the Mexican jumping bean, and Don Lewin, about as sinewy an ossbee as ever stepped in a ring. What looks like a tasty dish is the clash between Timmy Geohagen and Lee "The Leer" Henning. Billy Stack and George Bollen also are on the card.

OAKVILLE HERE TOMOROWOW!

Still smarting from that 7-3 setback at the hands of the league-leading Oshawa Transporters, the Batas are girding their loins for the double fray with the Oakville Oaks at the Exhibition Grounds tomorrow. The first game gets under way at 2.30 with the second starting under the lights at 8.30.

The Oaks have met the Batas but once this season, dropping a close 5-4 decision here some weeks ago. The weatherman has deprived the clubs from clashing on all other scheduled dates.

While nothing has been definitely stated by the Batas' management it is more than likely Bobby Bunion and Art Wright will get the pitching assignments tomorrow. Wright has four victories and one defeat to his credit while Bunion has a won one and lost two record. Johnny Mowat has two victories and one loss in his ledger.

MINOR BASEBALL

Two smart young baseball teams clash at the CNRAA Recreation Park tomorrow afternoon when Schwabs and the CNRAA bantams tangle in a double-header for the right, it says here, to represent the city in the bantam OBA playdowns. These youngsters are playing a fine brand of baseball and the fans are missing some good diamond pastiming by staying away. The first game gets under way at 2 p.m. Go give the kids a look-see. You won't be disappointed.

FASTER THAN CLOCKS

Arthur Daley, the erudite sports columnist of the New York Times, comes up with an odd track and field story. It has to do with the once-sensational Jesse Owens, negro track phenom, who smashed three world records in one afternoon on May 25, 1935.

Jesse equalled the 100-yard record of 9.4 seconds. He smashed the 220-yard record with 20.2 seconds. He shattered the 220-yard low hurdles figures with 22.6 seconds. And he blasted the broad jump standard out of sight with a leap of 26 feet 8½ inches, a record that still stands. Both his sprint marks were shaved later by Mel Patton with 0:09.3 and 0:20.2. Harrison Dillard moved the hurdles clocking down to 0:22.3.

The odd thing about the events were that the timers in the press box were clocking all performances at least two-tenths of a second faster than the officially announced times. A Cleveland sports writer, who was something of a timer expert himself queried the official timekeeper about the discrepancy. He got the amazing answer that the reason for "centre of gravity" was the guiding rule in snapping the watches, rather than the "torso." It was obvious, Daley says, that Owens had actually run every race one-tenth or two-tenths faster than he was credited with doing.

The chief timer refused to recognize the press box timer's marks, but as Daley points out, "Jesse Owens, the incomparable, was even greater than folks thought."

Collapse by slump? Take your pick. It depends upon whether you're anti or pro Brooklyn.

But even their staunchest boosters admit the once high - and - mighty Dodgers are at their lowest point since their 1951 debacle.

Not since they "blew" the flag in 1951 after leading by 13 games in mid-August, have the Dodger fortunes been at such a low ebb. Within a space of 10 days the apparently tired and dreary Dodgers fell from their lofty perch atop the National League to a poor runner-up spot, 6½ lengths off the pace.

Old age, injuries, weak hitting, spotty pitching, sloppy fielding and dissension in the ranks are variously cited to the sharp decline. Keenly disappointed over his team's play, manager Walter Alston ordered the entire club out for a special 2½-hour practice session—after Thursday's game.

BATTLE SELVES

To add to their confusion, the Dodgers, meek as lambs against Giant pitching, battled each other lustily among themselves.

After Brooklyn had dropped the sixth straight to the Giants Thursday 11-2 pitchers Russ Meyer and Don Newcombe reportedly almost came to blows in the clubhouse and had to be restrained by teammates. Both players denied it.

Newcombe admitted he questioned Meyer's ability to relieve after throwing his hit Monte Irvin of the Giants in the second inning. Irvin, who barely had escaped being hit with the previous pitch, became angered at what he called a "deliberate" duster and called Meyer uncomplimentary names. It took some fast work by the umpires to avoid further complications.

"What does he (Irvin) think he is?" Meyer growled. "Does he think he is a privileged character that we can't throw at him? They throw at our fellows. This is baseball, not tea and crumpets."

MAYS MAGNIFICENT

Once again, it was Willie Mays who led the Giants' charge. His spectacular controfielder smashed his 29th and 30th home runs to drive in five runs. It gave him four homers in the three-game set and nine in 12 games against Brooklyn pitching this season. The National League record for most homers against one club is 12 by Ralph Kiner against the Dodgers in 1950.

Ruben Gomez, the Puerto Rican screwball pitcher, limited the Dodgers to seven hits and fanned eight for his eighth triumph. Hours later, Gomez registered at a hospital for a tonsilectomy.

Only four other games were played Thursday.

Cleveland's American League leading Indians boosted their margin over the idle New York Yankees to four games, defeating Baltimore 4-1 behind the seven-hit hurling of Bob Feller. The former Iowaflier fanned six to raise his lifetime strikeout total to 2,511, third to Walter Johnson and Cy Young among all-time strikeout leaders. Homers by Jim Hegan and Wally Westlake were all the runs Feller needed.

DOWNS CHICAGO

Detroit's Steve Gromek dropped Chicago seven games behind Cleveland, shutting out the White Sox 2-0 on seven hits. The Tigers' Ray Boone drove in one run with a double and scored the other. He also had two singles.

The St. Louis Cardinals bunched four singles in the second inning to defeat Cincinnati 2-1 and gain a tie with the Redlegs for fifth place as Harvey Haddix chalked up his 13th triumph, though needing help from Gerry Staley in the final two innings.

Haddix drove in one run with a single and Wally Moon sent in the other. Red Schoendienst, Card second baseman, singled in the first inning to extend his hitting streak through 27 consecutive games.

Randy Jackson walloped his 17th home run early in the game, then singled in the 14th inning to drive in the run that gave run Chicago Cubs a 9-8 victory over Milwaukee.

Remember When

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

National Leaguers scored the first shut-out in the history of the annual all-star baseball game at St. Louis 14 years ago today, beating the American League 4-0. Paul Derringer, first of nine N.L. pitchers, was credited with the victory. Only other shut-out in the 20 games since 1933 was a 15-0 victory by the American League in 1946. In total victories, the A. L. leads 12-8.

Leafs Nip Virginians 3-2; Wings Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lack of a few timely hits has prevented the sixth-place Richmond Virginians from being an International League pennant contender.

Richmond today is 16 games behind the league-leading Rochester Red Wings and has lost 20 games by one-run against only seven victories by the same margin. Thursday night the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs nipped the Virginians 3-2 in 10 innings.

Meanwhile, Rochester ended a two-game losing streak by beating Havana Cuban Sugar Kings 4-1.

In the only other game scheduled, Montreal Royals trounced Syracuse Chiefs 12-8 for their fourth straight victory.

Elston Howard's two-out single in the 10th scored Loren Babe with the Leafs' winning run. Babe had opened the inning with a single off loser Al Epperly. He moved to third on two infield outs as manager Luke Appling relieved Epperly with Ken Heintzelman and then Buzzy Zeiser.

Relief pitcher Jack Crimian, who relieved Virginian starter Bob Minarcin, got the final two innings recorded his seventh victory of the season against three losses.

Memo Luna scattered eight hits for the Rochester victory as his teammates broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth inning with three runs.

HEAVY HITTING

The Montreal - Syracuse game was a 29-hit slugfest with the Royals collecting 17 and the Chiefs 12.

The Royals took a 6-0 lead in the first inning in a six-hit attack off loser Kent Peterson.

Homer Howell and Rocky Nelson then put home runs and drove in three runs apiece.

Veteran Lee Lehman, who was blasted for the 12 hits, received credit for his 10th victory although he needed help in the sixth inning from Wally Hood.

Elgins Lead Intercounty In 'Track Meet'

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Action in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Thursday night resembled a track meet more than anything else. In the three games played, batsmen-pacers covered 4½ miles scoring runs alone.

The games produced a total of 29, 30 hits and 21 errors—enough to give any pitcher the willies. And after all that there was little change in the standings.

About the only significant difference was that St. Thomas Elgins are back in sole possession of first place. The Elgins gained a half game over the idle Brantford Red Sox by defeating Guelph-Waterloo Royals 12-8 at St. Thomas.

The only other league activity was in London where the Majors and Galt Terriers split a double-header. Galt took the 25-hit seven-inning game 15-8 before the Majors bounced back for an 18-3 victory in the nine-inning contest.

TWO DEADLOCKS

Two tie games were played in the Nickel Belt Senior League. Sudbury Redmen and Copper Cliff Red Sox fought to a 5-5 seven-inning draw which was halted by darkness in Copper Cliff. At Sudbury Frood Tigers and Garson Greyhounds tied 2-2 in a five-inning contest stopped by rain.

Each club rapped out 13 hits in the three-hour marathon at St. Thomas. The Elgins grabbed an early lead, lost it and regained it before three innings were played.

Each side had one home run. Newcomer Jim Turner, Guelph catcher, lofted one with none on for the Royals but Jim St. Louis got it back for the Elgins, also with the bases clear.

Centrefielder Willie Casanova was the game's hitting star, smashing five hits in five trips to the plate for St. Thomas. His total included a double.

RAN WILD

In London the Terriers ran wild in the last four innings to take the first game from the Majors. Trailing 7-4 going into the fourth, they scored in every one of the remaining frames to pull the game out of the fire.

Outfielder Jack Colvin poled a homer and slammed a five-run drive in four runs for the Terriers. Jim Schindler and Mel Duncan also clouted four-baggers for Galt.

In the second game the Majors again took an early lead but this time they held it. Flying manager Frank Colman, who had two hits in four times at bat, led the victory, plating five runs for the Majors. He belted one of the game's three home runs. Russ Evon and Don Mayes, both of the Majors, slammed the others.

Brantford plays the Panthers at Kitchener tonight, while Guelph is at Galt.

Set Junior Hockey Salaries at $60, Players Can Get Jobs to Earn More

TORONTO (CP) — The Ontario Hockey Association Junior A council has decided that in future no junior A player can be paid more than $60 a week for his services as a player.

The resolution, made at a council meeting Thursday, must be ratified by the OHA executive but it is expected to pass the executive without any opposition.

The council agreed, however, that players may augment their income through other employment during the season. Any additional income will be subjected to close supervision by a players' contract committee and the player may be summoned at any time to prove that his other earnings are legitimate.

NO DECISION

Thursday's meeting also heard a proposal from coach Phil Watson of Quebec Frontenacs of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association junior league that the teams of both provinces play an interlocking schedule again this year. No decision was reached on this point.

Watson, who said he was representing the QAHA, said Frontenacs would be prepared to offer $6,000 to the Ontario clubs balance their budgets while touring Quebec, he added. Each Ontario club would contribute another $150 for teams travelling from Quebec City to Jonquiere.

The Ontario clubs rejected his offer but said they would consider an interlocking schedule for a flat guarantee of $750 a game. Watson said he would get an answer ready for the next council meeting. Jay Ross said: "That's the counter proposal I was "outrageous."

"IMPOSSIBLE"

"They want to keep their expenses down but how about ours?" Watson said in the corridors after the meeting. "A proposition like this is good for hockey. But that demand of $750 a game — it is impossible. Do they think we make our own money?"

Hap Emms, coach of Barrie Flyers and principal author of the new regulations governing pay and salary limits, said each player will be limited to a maximum of $60 per week for "his exclusive duties as a hockey player." That will also include educational fees if a player is sold or transferred his contract will not be altered.

Clubs will reserve the right to release any player. Individual fines it was agreed, must be paid by the player, not the club.

Players will be allowed "up to $100" for signing A, B or C forms with professional teams but any amount over that may be interpreted as salary. The junior clubs proposed to receive assistance from professional clubs to enforce this.

HEAVY FINE

Severe penalties will be administered to any club found guilty of violating the salary limit. The club involved will be fined $1,000 for the first offence, the signing officials will be suspended for two years and the player banned for the rest of the season.

A second offence is punishable by a $2,000 fine to the club, a life suspension to the signing officials and a suspension for the rest of the season to the player.

Harold Ketchin, chief scout for Norton Bruins of the National Hockey League, asked that players drafted by New Liskeard be permitted to play for Galt Black Hawks but his request was rejected. It was decided that waivers would first have to be obtained from the other clubs.

Galt and the junior Montreal Canadiens will have to decide between themselves who will get Gaston Bernier of Rouyn juveniles. Bernier was signed by Canadiens but he was awarded to Galt in the OHA draft.

Eight Players Named For Junior Golf

TORONTO (CP)—Hugh Patterson and Steve McLean of Toronto, both 17, will represent that age bracket on the eight-man Ontario junior team which will play for the Simpson Cup at the Toronto Mississaugua Golf Club July 13.

The Ontario group will meet a team of juniors from Washington, D.C. for the trophy.

Patterson and McLean qualified for team berths by shooting a 156 and a 157 respectively in the Ontario junior golf championship Thursday.

Ontario junior champion Stan Baluik of Port Arthur is ineligible for the Ontario junior team in the international competition because he is 18 and the U.S. amateur age limit is 17. Baluik shot a 140 for the junior championship Thursday.

The Ontario representative for the 16-year-old group will be George Balding of Toronto, who carded a 158 in the championship play Thursday, and Ron Capra of Hamilton, who had a 161 total.

The 15-year-old contingent will be junior champion Gordon Grieve and runner-up Herb Hauser, both of Kitchener. Crowe fired a 153 for the title Thursday while Hauser followed with a 166.

Phil Rimmer, 13, of Toronto, who won the bantam championship Thursday with an 18-hole total of 78, will be the Ontario 12-year-old representatives on the Ontario team.

Soccer Gossip

Last Saturday afternoon the Eastern Ontario Football League All Stars gave the Toronto Senior Soccer League All Stars quite a surprise when they beat them four goals to one in an exhibition game in Peterborough's Exhibition Park. Jack Ryan scored the first goal in the first minute of play. The first fifteen minutes of play was nearly all Eastern Ontario and the ball hardly moved out of the Toronto half of the field. Middle and Hoyle on the left side of the upright with the Toronto goalie well beaten but somehow the ball did not go into the net.

After these shocks the Torontonians pulled themselves together and play was a bit more even. The first half ended one to nothing.

Jack Ryan got a second marker in the first few minutes of the second half to put the home testers two up. Biddle and Hoyle were the other EOFL scorers, with the 4,000 players in the lone counter for the visitors.

Biddle of the Eastern Ontario League team was the outstanding man on the field and he really had the visitors players guessing. The match was played in a clean and sportsmanlike manner and the play was a credit to both teams and was quite a treat to the good sized crowd of spectators who were on hand.

The weekend two teams get back to the quest for league points. In Peterborough on Sunday the EOFL Canadian Scottish meet up. Northern Electric scheduled game for this Saturday in TEW and has to due to interference from the visiting team's holiday arrangements. In the only Bay of Quinte League game scheduled for this week Northern Electric continued their march at the head of the league standing when they took Trenton Merchants four goals to two at the Northern Electric sports ground. Carter and Selter were the Electrics marksmen with two goals apiece. Smith and P. Van Wenson counted for the Merchants.

Two games are called for next week. On Tuesday evening Batawa and Trenton Merchants meet in the shoe town whilst on Wednesday evening Northern Electric entertain RCAF United on the N.E. athletic field. Both these games are called for a 7 p.m. kick off.

This week's tip to the budding soccer star, "Remember soccer is a team game—help each other."

Rudy Horvath Out to Win Canadian Open

WINDSOR (CP)—An optimistic Rudy Horvath took a few minutes off from tuning up for the Canadian Open today to predict confidently no one will be driving harder for a win than Horvath himself.

The Windsor professional, fresh from winning the Ontario Open and placing fourth in the Motor City Open at Detroit, is trumping the Sweepstakes, Greenaboro Open, Ardmore Open and the Western Open.

GOOD BROWING

Horvath finished 13th in the U.S. Open, one of the most exacting tests in golf. His showing among the top 60 amateurs earned him the door to all major tournaments without the demand that he qualify.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, long considered Canada's top pro, will be among the competition Horvath will face at Vancouver. He has great respect for Leonard.

"I always thought Stan Leonard was the finest golfer in Canada and he is," said Horvath. "What can you say against a guy like that except that you'll try to beat him?"

Horvath thinks the fact that Leonard has been less active in pro competition will count against him in the Open. He counts as vital the keen edge developed by constant competition such as he has had this year.

Feller Third On List Of Strikeout Greats

CHICAGO (AP)—Just 18 years ago this week, a gangling Iowa farm boy stepped out on the mound in a new Cleveland Indians uniform and proceeded to strike out eight of nine St. Louis players.

Yesterday, Bob Feller fanned six Baltimore Oriole batters for his 355th victory in the majors and a strikeout record of 2,311.

That put the 35-year-old right-hander third on the all-time strikeout greats and ahead of Christy Mathewson, holder of the National League record of 2,505. Only Walter Johnson, with 3,508 and Cy Young, with 2,812 have more.

In fifteen seasons with the Indians, Feller has hurled three no-hit games, a major league record he shares with Cy Young.

His service with the Indians was interrupted by more than three years of U.S. Navy duty during the Second World War.

So far this season, Feller has posted six victories against one loss. He pitched in nine complete games in nine starts and issued only 17 walks in a little more than 96 innings.

Leonard Favored Over 31 Golfers To Win Canadian Pro Links Title

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Richest ever the annual Canadian Professional Golfers Association tournament went to the first tee today in good weather with par-busting Stan Leonard of Vancouver the favorite in a field of 31.

Prize money totals $4,175 for the two-day, 54-hole medal tournament. First prize totals $750, second $600 and third $500. In all there are 22 cash prizes. Last year the pot of gold amounted to about $3,000.

Leonard, the great little competitive golfer from Vancouver Marine Drive, was tabbed by many as the man to beat after firing a blazing 67 over the par-70 course in a practice round Tuesday. Stan fired a 68 at Jasper Park.

It was the best pre-tournament warmup on the 6,715-yard course, which is longer than average with its numerous, well-placed traps.

Leonard, a four-time winner of the CPGA, holds the competitive course record for the Mayfair, a 68, last in 1953.

Second-best tuneup round was the 68 shot by veteran ex-champion Jimmy Thomson of Montreal Islemere. The defending CPGA champion, Henry Hartsell of Edmonton Highlands, who beat Leonard by one stroke in the 1953 tournament, equalled par in two practice tours of Mayfair.

The weatherman said the tournament's opening day would be cloudy with the temperature soaring to about 75 with light winds.

The total entry list was somewhat below the CPGA's average of 40 to 50, but it still included most of the big names in Canadian golf.

Last to beat the entry deadline were Al Balding, Fort Credit, Ont.; Pat Fletcher, Regina; Tom Molyneaux, Edmonton; Jack Windsor, Oakville, Ont.; Murray Tucker, Toronto; and Ron Colk, Jack McKinnon and Roy Heisler, all of Vancouver.

There were only two entries qualifying for the event's seniors division, carrying $300 in prize money. They were veteran Willis Lamb of Toronto Lambton, the CPGA's only five-time winner, and Jack Cuthbert of the Calgary Country Club.

The first 18-hole round was scheduled to get off at 1:30 p.m. MST today with Dick Borthwick of Hamilton Ancaster, Cuthbert and LeRoy Goldsworthy of Vancouver Point Grey making up the first three-some.

The final two rounds will be played Saturday.

Electrics Lose To Flyer Girls

"Lucy" Lucciola's Northern Electric Ladies' Softball entry in the Lakeshore Ladies' Softball League bowed to the third defeat of the season at the hands of the Trenton RCAF team at the Alemite Field Thursday evening. The score was 6-3.

Baker went the route on the mound for the flyer lassies, striking out seven, walking six and scattering eight hits.

Helen Reeves started on the hill for the Electrics but was taken out in the third in favor of Gilda Wagg. Reeves gave up eight hits and walked four. Wagg struck out only three counts over the rest of the route, whiffing one and walking one.

Rita Harder hit a home run and a single for the losers with Lois Batchelor connecting for a brace of singles. McFarland and Batchelor led the attack at the plate for the Flyer gals.

On Saturday night the Electrics will be in action with some stern opposition at the CNR Recreation Park when they battle the Oshawa girls' club team in an exhibition tilt starting at 8.30. Their league record to date is eight wins and three defeats.

Chilean Team Works Out

TORONTO (CP)—The three-man Chilean team which will meet Canada in the Davis Cup tie here this month arrived in Toronto Thursday and lost no time getting down to a workout.

The South Americans, Andres Hammersley, 34, Ricardo Balbiers, 27, and Luis Avala, 21, will meet the Canadian team July 16-17.

They said they found the courts "a little soft" but acceptable. They will have a full week of practising before the tie.

League Boss Overrules Umps; Orders Replay

MONTREAL (CP)—International League president Frank Shaughnessy today overruled a decision by umpires Max Felerski and ordered a replay Aug. 10 of a baseball game won by Buffalo Bisons 4-3 over Toronto Maple Leafs June 24.

Shaughnessy ruled that Felerski erred in banning Toronto third-baseman Loren Babe from the game after Maple Leafs manager Luke Sewell had made a mistake in copying his batting order. Sewell listed pitcher Frank Barnes as both third baseman and pitcher on one card and Babe as third baseman on another.

"I feel that refusal to allow the Toronto club to use a player of Babe's ability to take part in the game can be rightfully considered as hurting the Toronto club," Shaughnessy said.

Larry Jansen Turns Coach

NEW YORK (AP)—Larry Jansen, one-time star pitcher who helped the Giants win the 1951 pennant, received his unconditional release as a player today. He was immediately signed as a pitching coach at the same salary, believed close to $22,500.

To replace the 34-year-old right-hander, the Giants brought up Al Corwin, another righthander, from their Minneapolis farm club of the American Association. Corwin has a 6-4 record with the Millers.

AT THE BELLE

"KISS ME KATE".

Great M.G.M. Musical Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel Ann Miller Road Show.

Hailed as the Greatest of All Great M.G.M. Musicals, "Kiss Me Kate", with its stellar attraction, starting tomorrow at the Belle Theatre.

Based on the smash broadway hit, the filmization of the Cole Porter and Samuel and Bella Spewack musical comedy, the star-studded cast is headed by Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel and Ann Miller, who scored together previously in "Lovely to Look At". Keenan Wynn, Bobby Van, James Whitmore, Kurt Kasznar, Bob Fosse and the young broadway dancer, Tommy Rall, have featured supporting roles.

"Kiss Me Kate", which achieved a spectacular, eye on two continents, reaches the screen in Anscocolor, by Technicolor with its great musical score intact. Among the songs, considered to be the finest ever written by Cole Porter, are "So In Love", "To Darn Hot", "Why Can't You Behave", "Wunderbar", "Always True To You In My Fashion", "We Open In Venice", "Too Darn Hot", "I've Come to Wive It Wealthily in Padua", "I Hate Men", "Where Thine Thine Special Face", "Where Is The Life That Late I Led", "From This Moment On", and "Brush Up Your Shakespeare."

In their song-and-dance roles, Keenan Wynn and James Whitmore enact the story's hilarious gangsters, Lippy and Slug.

Tom and Jerry in "Hiccup Pup", and the popular Paramount World Wide News presents the complete version of "Kiss Me Kate".

Gene Autry and his Wonder Horse Champion, are seen in "Indian Territory", the special added feature attraction Saturday afternoon.

Movie Column

By HUBBARD KEAVY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) In "Man without a Star" you will see what I am sure will be a most convincing actor:

Kirk Douglas teaching William Campbell how to shoot a revolver. Douglas, who is ambidextrous, can adroitly as Gary Cooper or any cowboy you can name. He apparently without aiming and smash a bottle at 50 feet.

But that is the way it was on the back lot at a studio. The temperature was high and the sun was hot. Huge electric lights back of the camera intensified the heat. Actors Douglas and Campbell were perspiring through their make-up, but a man powdered off the sweat before the camera was turned on.

TRY TEY AGAIN

Douglas drew and fired, but there was naught but an anticlimactic click. He had forgotten to push the hammer. The scene was started anew, Douglas moved toward Campbell, pulled the gun, fire.

"Did I look a little startled when the gun went off?" asked Douglas. The director, King Vidor, assured him that the scene was just splendid. "But let's do it again." That is a director's polite way of saying, "It stinks."

The rehearsals went on and on. Who, I wondered, taught Douglas to draw like a veteran? I found Fred Carson, a stunt man, a soft-spoken fellow in a cowboy get-up that didn't come from the Western Costume Co. He taught Douglas. The latter, I suggested, seems gun shy.

"Easiest pupil I ever had," said Carson. "We worked off and on for about 10 days. Mr. Douglas is a natural. Nope, he never handled a gun before he came on this picture."

Time after time, Douglas and Campbell went through the motions. Each time, Douglas supposedly smashed the bottle.

But he was only shooting blanks. Tomorrow or next month the special effects department will take over. The bottle will be loaded with a small charge of powder and there will be concealed wires leading to a detonator. A man will push a switch and the bottle will fly to pieces—creating the illusion for you that Kirk Douglas, a fine actor but a poor shot, did it all by himself.

And that's how movies are made.

Cannot Blame Cold Weather On H-Bomb

TORONTO (CP) — You can't blame cold weather — on the H-bomb, a Toronto meteorologist says.

Replying to a Japanese scientist's statement that cold summers could be due to H-bomb tests, Ley Shenfield, Malton weather forecaster said Thursday: "Any bomb test could not be that powerful to be brief and localized."

"The energy from the bomb lasts only a short time and does not compare with the sun's energy."

Dr. Hisanao Hatakeyama, president of the Japanese Meteorological Society, has claimed that radioactive dust spread through the atmosphere could affect meteorological conditions and could possibly be responsible for the chilly summer reported in Europe.

Loses Appeal On Being Barred From Practicing

MONTREAL (CP) — City councillor Lucien Gagnon, currently being tried and fined on a charge of receiving $21,000 of stolen stamps, Thursday lost an appeal against a decision of the Montreal Bar Council disbarring him for one year.

Gagnon, who skipped $5,000 bail on the receiving charge, did not appear for hearing of the court of appeal. It was his third appeal against the disbarment.

The disbarment was not connected with the stamp conviction. It was based on Gagnon's connection with a group known as the "Association of Licensed Running Houses," whose activities were described by the council as "gross violations of the dignity and honor" of the legal profession.

Kingston Man Guest of Honor In Prairie Town

PENSE, Sask. (CP)—This village 17 miles west of Regina put on its best bib and tucker Thursday to welcome crowds which came to celebrate the 50th anniversary of its incorporation.

Guest - of - honor was Pense's first mayor, a man the village was named after, E. J. B. Pense, publisher of the old Kingston Daily British Whig. Fred B. Pense, also a newspaper man, greeted the villagers on behalf of the city of Kingston and presented a flag as a token of continued prosperity.

Beats Puppy to Death

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Clement Royer, 32, was convicted Thursday of beating a neighbor's puppy to death. He was fined $308 or three months.

Three children who live near Royer told police he beat the animal with a stick when it ran on his property. Royer, father of six children, said he thought the puppy was injured and "I was just finishing him off."

Royer has a dog of his own.

Proposal Would Tax Automobile Speeds Over 50

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States Congress has been asked a proposal to get safety on the highways and decrease the toll of the quick, all in one lucky law.

The suggestion: Tax automobile speeds of more than 50 miles an hour.

The proposal was delivered to congress by representative Judd of Minnesota, who got it from a mechanical engineering constituent of his, Russell Solheim of Minneapolis.

The time driving between 50 to 60 would be taxed from one to 2 1-10th cents a mile. For 60 to 70, the tax would increase to around 3½ cents. From 70 to 80, it would go from about 5½ cents to 8 cents. Freewheelers who like to pour on the coal and ride between 80 and 90 would pay five to six cents a mile.

Solheim says a gadget can be hooked to the speedometer which would record the high speeds. At the end of the year, a check of the gadget would show the year's speed tax.

The average driver, Solheim says, travels around 10,000 miles a year. If 1,000 driving were at speeds between 50 and 60 miles an hour, another 500 were between 60 and 70, and 100 between 70 and 80, the year's tax would come to as much as $70. This doesn't include, of course, fines assessed due to alert traffic cops.

Solheim is convinced:

"Not only would this system reduce the death rate, but it would be a great source of sorely needed revenue for the federal treasury."

Well, death or tax on almost everything else, so maybe speed should be taxed, too.

GESTAPO QUARTET FREED

MUNICH Germany (AP)—A German grand jury Wednesday freed four former Gestapo men accused of executing a German police officer who refused to co-operate with a Nazi "werewolf" organization. The werewolves were a die-hard underground organization that fought against the Allies in the closing days of the Second World War. The four were released on grounds of insufficient evidence.

Thomasburg Church Circuit Inducts Pastor

WEST HUNTINGDON — A most impressive service was held in the United Church on Friday evening when the Rev. Robert Gordon Chapman was inducted in pastorate of the Thomasburg circuit. Rev. W. K. Pace, of Tweed United Church, was chairman and also performed the duties of inducting the new minister.

Rev. W. R. Merrick, of Belleville, gave a most impressive induction sermon. He directed his remarks first to the minister, basing his thoughts on the verse of Scripture, "Feed the Flock," and to the congregation he used the verse, "We Are Laborers Together."

During the service, Mrs. William Grant gave a solo. At the conclusion of the induction service, Mr. Pace called upon several for seeches and those who were thus honored were: Mr. W. Tucker, of Tweed, who brought greetings from St. John's Church in Tweed; Rev. Dr. Patterson, of Peterborough (who is an intimate friend of Rev. Mr. Chapman), spoke of the fine qualities of the new minister; Mr. R. Townsend, also of Peterborough, spoke briefly.

Mr. Arthur Wilson, clerk of session, welcomed the guests, Mr. and Mrs. Chapman were then introduced to the large gathering by Mr. John Lalnson.

Following this, the ladies of West Huntingdon W.A., under the leadership of Mrs. John Jeffery, served refreshments.

Mysterious Man In Brown Suit Being Sought

ANDOVER, N.B. (CP) — RCMP in western New Brunswick carried out an extensive search today for a mysterious man in a brown suit who shot and killed a man and beat and severely wounded his wife.

Walter Hansen, 73-year-old fuel dealer whose friends said never had an enemy in his life, was shot through the head in the kitchen of his comfortable two - storey home Thursday night.

His wife, Gladys, 52, was found in an upstairs hallway in a pool of blood. Hospital officials said today she had regained consciousness "only moderately" and had not been able to name her assailant.

BRUTAL BEATING

An RCMP constable stood by her bedside to hear her words if she spoke.

She suffered a fractured skull and minor lacerations, which appeared to be from a heavy bashing, as well as a superficial bullet wound.

A 22-calibre rifle found inside the house was believed to have been the weapon.

Cecil Chase, a neighbor, told police he saw a late-aged man with a brown suit run from the house and disappear into the darkness.

CANADIAN GUARDS MOST POPULAR IN NEW ARMY

In Armored Division RCD Draw Best

OTTAWA (CP)—On the surface, at least, it appears the Canadian Guards are the most popular of the six infantry regiments in the army. And the Royal Canadian Dragoons the more popular of the two armored regiments.

This is how the popularity yardstick was fashioned:

When the Canadian army regular force was formed in October, 1946, a number of officers of the Royal Canadian Armored Corps and Royal Canadian Infantry Corps were taken on strength. During the Second World War, these officers had served in various units not now included in the active army.

WEAR BADGES

When they took up staff appointments or specialist duties in the post-war army, they continued to wear the badges and uniforms of the units with which they had been associated during the war.

In February, the army directed that the regular force officers must wear the badges and uniforms of active force regiments or corps.

Forty-four armored corps and 142 infantry corps officers were affected.

These 186 officers were asked to state a preference for a regiment, with their first three choices. Though remaining in their present staff posts, they would wear the insignia of the regiment to which they were assigned and, in normal circumstances, continue their connection with that regiment throughout their service careers.

VC WINNER ASSIGNED

The army didn't promise that each officer would be assigned to the regiment of his choice, but it said it would do its best.

The assignments now have been completed, the army said today. This is the breakdown:

Of the 44 armored corps officers, 28 have been assigned to the Royal Canadian Dragoons, eight to Lord Strathcona's Horse.

Of the 142 infantry officers, 61 have been assigned to the Canadian Guards; 34 to the Black Watch; 22 to the Royal Canadian Rifles; nine to the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, nine to the Royal Canadian Regiment, and three to the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Among those assigned to the Guards is Lt.-Col. Cecil Merritt, VC, 42, of New Westminster, B.C., liaison officer to the U.S. department of the army in Washington. When he won the Victoria Cross in Italy in 1944, he was leading the Westminster Regiment.

Close 2 Nova Scotia Mines After Dispatcher Is Abused

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP)—Some 1,300 miners have been suspended by the Dominion Coal Company and told to stay off the job until they promise to stop throwing coal, spikes and insults at a company dispatcher.

H. M. Gordon, vice-president and general manager of the company, said Friday night collieries Nos. 1-3 and 26 will be closed until the United Mineworkers Union (CCL) local assures that there will be no more abuse for the dispatcher.

He said the men's action was "an attempt at terrorism" of the colliery official staff.

It all started, the company said, when the unidentified dispatcher turned in names of day shift workers who sneaked a ride over from work before quitting time.

More than 40 miners working the 4 p.m.-to-midnight shift gave vent to their resentment last Tuesday by hurling coal at the dispatcher as they were being transported in pit cars to the working face.

Word of the incident got back to the mine committee. On Wednesday the miners are alleged to have screamed insults at him.

When this continued Thursday the whole shift was suspended.

The company action came Friday night when the new crew working the shift added track spikes and chunks of coal to the invective flung at the dispatcher. The miners were ordered immediately.

No. 1 mine closed a year ago on mechanization and many of its 900 workers were idle until last winter. No. 26 was closed from last March until early June because of a fire in the depths that killed two men.

Overcrowding Rumors Keep Many Tourists from Games

VANCOUVER (CP)—The British Empire Games will open here in three weeks. But dozens of hotel, court and boat operators are wondering where their next paying guest is coming from.

James W. Hughes, commissioner of the Vancouver Tourist Association, said in an interview Friday that the situation is serious for many operators.

Apparently it all goes back to a rumor that there isn't an available room within 50 miles to cover for the week the Games will run. It has steered away prospective "spectators for the motel and hotel operators.

Some auto court owners in the lower Fraser Valley area say they will go broke unless there is a sharp upswing in business.

The number of guests in motels in the Vancouver area has declined in some instances to 30 per cent.

Sam Rosen, ticket chairman of the Games, said reported fears of poor accommodation were unfounded and any visitor "will be guaranteed a room and tickets to any event they choose except the last day of swimming."

Residents who have never let a room in their lives have been persuaded to open their homes to Games visitors, he added.

The Games housing committee has had poor luck with arrangements for boat accommodation. Only 50 applications have been received for 4,600 private quarters available. Fourteen boats are for 1,296 hotel facilities and 325 requests have been made for the 64 motel reservations.

Nearly $160,000 worth of tickets have been sold but many applicants are either driving to Vancouver from the east or staying with friends.

A leading auto court said this was the poorest year in his experience. Usually the "no vacancy" sign is up by 3 p.m. daily but this year his motel has not been filled before 9 or 10 p.m.

Orangemen Across Canada Parade to Honor King Billy

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Thousands of Orangemen across Canada had their day today as the Loyal Orange Lodge held parades and picnics in annual "Glorious Twelfth" celebrations of the traditional anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne fought 3 64 years ago.

Although July 12 falls on Monday, festivities are just about split between the two days, with some ceremonies being held Sunday, a Canadian Press survey shows.

But then July 12 is not the actual anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne. Protestant forces under William of Orange defeated Roman Catholic James II on the banks of the Boyne July 11, 1690.

DECIDING CLASH

Nor were the Stuarts finally overthrown on the Boyne. The deciding clash was the Battle of Aughrim, which actually was fought July 12, a year later.

Led by fife-and-drum bands, Orangemen will parade during the week-end to such marches as "Lillibullero," "Boyne Water," "Boys" and "Who Dare to Speak of Ninety-Eight."

About 20 parades were scheduled for Ontario, while the number in other provinces and the United States was not immediately scheduled in Quebec.

In Toronto, a parade of about 160 lodges and nearly 90 bands was led by Mayor Leslie Saunders, deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of British America. A boys' choir from Guelph was among the marchers.

LILIES MARK PARADE

A parade of more than 6,500 Orangemen in Hamilton was heralded by 48 orange lilies from Belfast. The lilies were sent by Dan R. Speers, who has mailed the flowers annually since her first visit to the city several years ago on July 12.

More than 800 Orangemen, juveniles and ladies' auxiliaries turned out for a mass parade in Vancouver. Parade officials said they managed to obtain three "almost white" horses for the procession. Orange Lodges in Edmonton held a picnic and dance today.

About 1,000 Orangemen went to a picnic and parade at Moose Jaw, Sask.

Winnipeg Orangemen held an early evening ecumenical parade to the railway station and travelled to Carman, M.D., for a parade and ceremonies there.

OTTAWA OBSERVANCE

Some 10,000 Orders and district Orangemen are expected to march Sunday from Commissioner Park to Dow's Lake in Ottawa's south end.

The one parade in Quebec was in the 600-population community of Inverness, 90 miles southeast of Quebec City.

In New Brunswick, Orangemen gathered at Nauwigauks and other centres for picnics and parades. A few observances are planned for Monday.

Similar celebrations were held in Nova Scotia centres. Newfoundland Orangemen will parade in most places on Monday.

Balfour Claims Mayor's Speech 'Out of Place'

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Leslie Saunders, deputy grand master of the Grand Lodge of British America, Friday drew the fire of David Balfour, Roman Catholic member of the city's board of control.

Mayor Saunders, in an Orange Day message to the people of Ontario, said the 17th century Battle of the Boyne was "more than a religious war—a blow struck for the civil and religious liberties of all."

He called upon lovers of liberty to "thank God" for those whose courage against wrong hastened the end of the Stuart line."

Mr. Balfour termed the mayor's statement "out of place."

"I do not think the mayor could have thought very carefully or he would not have said it. As mayor he has a different position than if he were a private citizen."

Soldier, Being Interviewed, Finds Proofreader to Be His Lost Wife

NEWPORT NEWS, Va. (AP) — The soldier was telling of his rodeo experiences when a startled newspaper woman broke in to ask:

"Didn't you once have a wife named Tinkle?"

A pause, then:

"Why, yes. Did I? I've searched all over the country for you."

And that's how a slim attractive proofreader and the husband she had believed dead for five years were reunited in the lobby of the newsroom of the Newport News Daily Press, where the soldier was being interviewed.

The two, Mrs. Wayne Ferguson and Donald Ray Tinkle, had been married in a rodeo accident in 1949 at Camden, N.J. Tinkle, 25, now a soldier at nearby Ft. Eustis, obtained a divorce in 1951 on grounds of desertion after two years of fruitlessly searching for her.

The two were, separated in Roanoke, Va., in 1949 shortly after their daughter was born and Tinkle was three times . . . I accepted it without question."

The reunion ended — an air force sergeant stationed at Langley air force base — in 1951. They now have two children.

Another couple, not knowing Tinkle was married, took him in their trailer with the rodeo to Nova Scotia after the Camden mishap. He said there were blank spots in his memory but about six months later he began to remember his past and returned to Roanoke to search for his wife.

They remarried last year and was drafted in November.

NORTH BAY (CP)—Two RCAF Vampire jets of No. 401 City of Westmount reserve squadron plunged to earth Saturday after a mid-air collision and one pilot was reported killed. The other parachuted safely to earth.

Witnesses said the planes were part of a three-plane flight taking part in an air exercise. They said one plane, possibly caught in a downdraft, suddenly dived down and hit one of the other aircraft.

The second plane plunged to earth apparently carrying its pilot to his death. The first plane swooped up in a screaming climb. Its pilot bailed out and then it too plunged to the ground.

BOTH PLANES BURN

It was not known immediately if the pilot who parachuted was hurt in landing.

Both planes crashed and burned a mile and a half apart in thick bush near Four-Mile Lake, a short distance northeast of here. Rescue crews and police rushed to the area.

It was second jet plane crash here within a few hours. Friday night a Vampire jet from the City of Westmount squadron crashed while taking off from the RCAF station. The pilot was thrown from the aircraft and while as it plunged into the end of the runway after getting airborne and came to rest in a stump-studded bog.

Identity of the pilot was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

NAMES WITHHELD

There was no immediate indication of the identity of pilot believed killed in today's mid-air collision.

The pilot who parachuted from his moaning jet was immediately taken to the air station at North Bay by air force officials after coming down in a farmer's field. His name has not been released.

Witnesses said the third plane in the ill-fated flight circled around the parachuting pilot as he drifted to earth, apparently to mark the spot where he landed.

The City of Westmount squadron, from Montreal has sent more than a dozen planes to the RCAF station here for summer manoeuvres. They have been taking part in an air force exercise known by the code name of "Exercise Checkpoint."

Six ambulances rushed to the scene and the less injured to hospitals in Lachine.

The bus was bound from Montreal to Dorval, 12 miles west of here, taking men and women to work at the airport there.

Govt. in Stew Over Initial Price of Wheat

OTTAWA (CP)—The government is in a stew over the initial price of wheat.

With the new crop year just three weeks away, the experts are still struggling with the perplexities of whether to maintain the $1.40-a-bushel initial price in 1954-55, or slash it in the face of huge surpluses and lagging markets.

The $1.40 price, based on farmers' deliveries of No. 1 Northern to the Lakehead and west coast, has been maintained for the past three years. The payment is lower for lower grades. Experts fear it will be a signal to overseas buyers to make new demands for further reductions in the sagging price.

The selling price was cut by 10 cents a bushel to $1.72 a bushel for No. 1 Northern last month. This brought opposition criticism in Parliament.

MUST BE REALISTIC

Experts feel, however, that Canada must be in a position to operate under current marketing conditions. The Canadian wheat picture already is carrying a heavy load of debt—about $100,000,000—representing payments to farmers for wheat which the board has been unable to sell.

Canada's unsold stockpile is heavy, estimated about 514,000,000 bushels on July 1, with 400,000,000 bushels higher than last year's 547,000,000.

To maintain the $1.40 initial price at a time when the board is unable to make sales would only further cripple the board's ability to operate without huge financial support from the federal treasury and the Canadian taxpayer.

The size of the new wheat crop may be the deciding factor in setting the initial price. Some federal authorities feel that if another bumper crop is produced, such as that harvested in the past three years, then a price slash is almost inevitable.

Canadian Firm Buys Ferguson Tractor Shares

LONDON (CP) — The Evening Standard said Friday a Canadian holding company, the Argus Corporation, is believed to be the buyer of the £3,000,000 worth of shares in motor manufacturer Harry Ferguson has just disposed of in the Massey-Harris-Ferguson deal.

"The Argus concern is headed by E. P. Taylor of Toronto, a well-known figure in Canadian finance," the Standard said.

"The deal, if it consumates its holding in the farm machinery business of Massey-Harris from 10 to 25 per cent. This amounts to virtual control."

Enrollment In Pharmacy Schools Drops 25 P.C.

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — "Wanted: Bright, responsible young men for jobs that pay handsome surrounding. Starting salaries $100-$135 a week. Promotion possibilities unlimited."

A newspaper ad like that would sound like the answer to a college graduate's prayer.

But, jobs with these advantages are practically going begging in the drug industry.

"Enrollment in the country's 75 pharmacy colleges has dropped by 25 per cent," said Carl Willing, Ram, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Chain Drug Stores.

"This led the American Association of Colleges of Pharmacy to issue 150,000 booklets to high school career advisers citing the opportunities for young men in the store.

"The United States has 105,000 registered pharmacists of whom about 90,000 are employed in some 55,000 drug stores. The ordinary work in hospitals, government bureaus, research projects or for manufacturing firms.

"A young man becomes a registered pharmacist after four years of college study and a year of internship. He can start out," said Willingham. "And he doesn't have to spend the apprenticeship looking for work. The jobs are there waiting."

Child Saves Two Trapped Sisters, Loses Right Foot

TORONTO (CP)—Seven-year-old Jimmy Petilpas' right foot was cut off by a train Friday while he crouched over his two sisters, trapped with him on an east-end railway bridge.

The children were caught on the narrow steel bridge as they took a short cut across the Don railway park. They had been forbidden by their parents to use the bridge.

Ruth Petilpas, 3, suffered a slight scratch on her right shoulder. Her sister Barbara, 5, was unhurt.

Jimmy later was reported in serious condition in hospital.

DIDN'T HEAR TRAIN

Lynn said they didn't hear the train until it was too late.

"I grabbed Jimmy and hung on," she said. "My brother grabbed my sister by the hair and hung on to her to keep her from falling."

"He hung right on even when the train ran over him."

Pinning the child at feet above the Don river, has high steel sides with a flat piece along the top of each rail. The two girls apparently managed to wedge themselves against the side by hanging on to the top flat piece, Jimmy braced himself with one foot across the rail and the other on the track.

W. Woodruff, engineer of the train, Dunbee City, said he applied the brakes as soon as he spotted the children. The engine passed over them before the bridge before stopping.

Jimmy, who is 11, said he was only 100 feet away when the accident occurred.

"The last I heard screams and before that I heard one of them say, 'Oh, my leg.' Then I heard someone yelling, 'Help! Help! Help!' Mummy!"

Mrs. Petilpas, summoned to hospital, said: "He was my youngest boy and now he's lost his foot."

Early reports said there was a fourth boy, Lorne, 9, on the bridge. Police constable Gordon Cooper said Lorne managed to get a foot diving into the river looking for him.

Later, Patsy Petilpas, one of Jimmy's eight sister, said David had gone on to the railway line instead of meeting the three at the bridge.

Detects Storms 400 Miles Away

MONTREAL (CP) — McGill University's new weather radar station at Montreal airport can record storms 400 miles away.

The university of Storm Weather Research Group said today that the set of the Lasborne detecting apparatus which can penetrate clouds to determine what is going on inside, very highly satisfactory.

Research officials, operating on a grant from the National Research Council of Canada, said they expect the new apparatus to make "an important contribution to short-range forecasting."

Ottawa War Veteran Pioneers London Service

By JEFF RYAN
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

LONDON (CP)—Norman Ogle Blackburn, a former Ottawa taxi driver, has set up what is said to be probably London's only bus service exclusively for Canadian tourists.

The 43-year-old war veteran said he started with a miniature bus which runs twice daily with a top load of seven Canadians aboard.

The service, called the "Maple Leaf Tours," will operate as long as possible as Canadians only — and Blackburn wants to keep it that way.

"People from Canada don't want to rush around cramped up in a coach most of the time and see the country in short time schedules," Blackburn said in an interview.

"I try to make things as easy as possible. That's why I don't fill more than my capacity—it's more friendly with a small group."

The tours are leisurely jaunts costing the equivalent of about $3 a day and including such stock sight-seeing attractions as Buckingham Palace, the Mall, Nelson's Column, Trafalgar Square, Horse Guards parade, Downing Street, Westminster Abbey, the Houses of Parliament, the Tower of London, Cleopatra's Needle, Fleet Street plus museums, art galleries and so on.

HAS ADVANTAGES

Unlike the bigger buses, Blackburn's 12-foot-long coach is allowed into royal grounds. It can be parked with ease giving it another advantage over the usual 30-seater types which throng Britain's highways in the summer time.

Blackburn, nicknamed "Ogie" from his middle name of Ogilvie, is a big, burly, broad-shouldered man with front-grey hair. He served with the Canadian Division in the Second World War, went to Korea in 1950 with the 25th Brigade and later served in Germany with the 27th Brigade.

In Korea, he was awarded the Canadian soldiers from Ottawa sent to London for Coronation parade duty. In May this year he asked to be discharged in Britain. His wife, Josephine, is English.

Blackburn was born in Montreal but lived more than 38 years in Ottawa.

Parachutes to Safety

CAVENDISH, Alta. (CP)—Two men parachuted to safety minutes before their funeral. Sister Air Force jet training plane from Great Falls, Montana, crashed near this town 45 miles north of Medicine Hat Thursday.

Flt.-Sgt. Murray Scott, a radar man, was picked up by a car Friday after spending the night on the prairie. He suffered exposure and a sprained ankle. The pilot, W. J. Gerry, was found by search parties Friday and ground search parties later. He had a broken leg and reported "not badly hurt." The jet apparently caught fire when struck by lightning during a thunderstorm.

Summer Camps For Crippled Children to Open

TORONTO (CP)—Two new summer camps in Ontario for crippled children will be opened officially in the next week.

Health Minister Phillips will officiate at both openings: at Lake of Northwood on Lake Scugog near Kirkland Lake Sunday, July 11, and at Camp Lakewood on Lake Erie near Port Colborne a week later.

Both camps are already in use with 60 youngsters at Lakewood and 40 at Northwood. Four three-week camping terms are scheduled, bringing the summer total for the two camps to 400.

The new camps bring to five the number operated by the Ontario Society for Crippled Children which gets its financial support from the Ontario government, the annual Easter seals campaign, service clubs and the annual sports celebrity dinner of the Ontario Sports Writers and Broadcasters Association.

MOST MODERN

R. W. Hopper, executive director of the society, says the two new camps are among the most modern in North America. "They are miles ahead in both style and construction." There are no hills, stairs or ramps to hinder children who may be in wheel chairs or crutches.

The society began its camping program in 1937 with Blue Mountain camp near Collingwood. In 1948 it opened Camp Woodedge near London and in 1948 Camp Merrywood-on-the - Rideau near Perth.

Child participation is the main theme at the camps, whether the youngster is on a stretcher or a wheel chair, Mr. Hopper said it should mean for a child who can't walk or run to take his turn at bat in a ball game or to help someone else runs for him.

Participation builds confidence and improves locomotion, says Mr. Hopper.

Moreover, one of the biggest things the kids get out of camp life is the opportunity to make friends. So far, more than 2,000 lived isolated lives as a result of polio in Ontario.

ONLY 1,200

Only about 1,200 of Ontario's 15,000 crippled children get to camp. The lucky ones, aged 6 to 16, come from lists of recommendations from the society's centres across the province.

Still more camps are planned and the next move is to Manitoulin Island and the Lakehead district of northern Ontario. "Our job is not complete unless we go after these," said Mr. Hopper.

Camp Lakewood cost $250,000 to build and Camp Northwood $250,000. The Ontario government contributed half the cost. The sports celebrity dinner paid for the $84,000 main lodge at Lakewood and the Easter seals paid for the cabins, wood. Some 200 service clubs helped, and local and private donations provided the remainder of the money.

Fever of Klondike Hits Grand Bend On Lake Huron

GRAND BEND, Ont. (CP)—The fever of the Klondike hit this Lake Huron resort village Friday following reports that more than $1,000 in $100, $50 and $10 bills have been found on the beaches in the last three days.

By Friday, night beachcombing mushroomed into the resort's biggest excursion as vacationers by the score searched the stands and strip generally in hopes of finding some of the $1,500 in cash still believed blowing somewhere along the miles of lakeshore.

The money, about $3,000, is reported to have been lost last Sunday when Harry Woods, London transport owner, lost his wallet in the water off the sandbar he was using for boating.

Friday Mr. Woods said that half the money had been located but declined to make any further statements.

Mary Northgrave of St. Marys said he found the largest confirmed sum to date—$200.

Ten-year-old Catherine Poole of Windsor said she found a $100 bill on the beach Wednesday. Others found varying amounts.

Justice

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Oliver Goldsmith defined justice as "that virtue which impels us to give to every person what is his due."

But what is the other's due? How do we find it? Justice is symbolized on court houses and elsewhere by the figure of a blindfolded woman with scales in her hand, the Implication being that the essence of justice is the weighing of the facts in hand with an impartiality which might be lost if we could see parties involved. But can we be quite just in weighing a situation unless we can see the background of those involved in it?

For example, two men have robbed a bank. Each takes $10,000. One of those criminals has come up out of a slum area, where his home was godless and his playmates were members of the gang; the other has enjoyed all the opportunities and advantages of home and money. Does not justice demand that due consideration be given to the differences in background?

There are two boys in school. One is a lad who is tense by nature, who ties himself up in knots, and makes everything hard for himself. The other is bland and easy-going. If the teacher is to be just in her treatment of the two lads she must take into account the differences in temperament.

USE IMAGINATION

In our judging we should use enough imagination to picture ourselves in the other persons' places and enough insight to make allowance for the unseen factors.

My belief is that when God judges He does so with the divine insight which sees the interplay of human relations in which we are caught. I believe that He sees into our own situations far better than we see ourselves.

As a boy I use to think of God as a great detective following me about in order to punish me for my sins. I still believe in divine justice but now I think of God rather as a Father following through with me as a father follows through with a son, patiently trying to lead me through my shortcomings and showing me possibilities I am missing.

INSIGHT IS GRACE

And that insight and understanding which God manifests is partly close to what the Bible calls "the grace of God." Professor Henry Wieman of Chicago defined the grace of God as the "good which God puts into each concrete situation over and above all that man can do or plan or even imagine." Therefore, it is not scriptural creed to prayer, which reads, "Let us then with confidence draw near to the throne of grace."

Why draw near to His throne of grace? Listen to the invitation: "That we may receive mercy." We often say and hear said: "All that I ask is justice." But as Shakespeare reminded us, "In the course of justice none of us shall see salvation."

When we think of what God has done for us through those who have gone before us, through parents who nurture us in our helplessness, through friends who have furthered our welfare in infinite ways, through the nation which surrounds us with its laws and protection—when we think of all this in contrast to what we have done in return, do we not feel ourselves in debt far beyond our power to repay and therefore in need of God's mercy? Yes, we need justice seasoned with mercy.

NEED GRACE FOR JUSTICE

And we need grace if we are to give justice. Hear the rest of the Biblical invitation: "And find grace to help in time of need." It is not always simple and easy to give proper aid.

I think of a mother who sees her daughter wrestling with a problem in her newly formed home. The future happiness of the young woman and her husband is threatened. The mother's heart yearns to go to the help of her daughter but she must not barge in on her beloved lest she injure the self-respect of each person involved. So she waits for an opening and prays for "grace to help in time of need." It requires grace to help without hurting.

And what is true for persons, goes for governments also.

The 35-year-old musician, who is appearing at the Steel Pier, at first refused to give officers his name, saying only "I had a fight with my wife". A boardwalk stroller spotted him early Thursday morning. He reported to police a man was walking in the nude with a pair of trousers over his arm.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by

HORACE B. POWELL

SAVIOR AGAIN, TO THE DEAR NAME WE RAISE

Savior, again to thy dear name we raise
With one accord our partfig hymn of praise;
We stand to bless thee ere our worship cease,
Then, lowly kneeling, wait thy word of peace.

Grant us thy peace, upon our homeward way;
With thee began, with thee shall end the day;
Guard thou the lips from sin, the hearts from shame,
That in this house have called upon thy name.

Grant us thy peace, Lord, thro' the coming night,
Turn thou for us its darkness into light
From harm and danger keep thy children free,
For dark and light are both alike to thee.

Grant us thy peace thro' out our earthly life,
Our balm in sorrow, and our stay in strife;
Then, when thy voice shall bid our conflict cease,
Call us, O Lord, to thine eternal peace.

When a group of English choir singers wanted a new song for a music festival in which they were to participate at Natwich, England, in 1866 the Rev. John Ellerton composed this beautiful benediction hymn. Today—three-quarters of a century after its composition—it is still sung at the close of worship in most churches.

John Ellerton, a clergyman of the Church of England, was serving as vicar of Crewe Green at the time the Natwich choristers asked him to help them with their festival song. His fame as a writer of religious verse was already being recognized and some of the 60 hymns which he turned out during his ministry were already written.

His "parting hymn of praise"—though like Dr. S. Baring-Gould's "Onward, Christian Soldiers"—it was written hurriedly to meet the demands of a special occasion—turned out to be the best-loved and most enduring of his works. It is, perhaps, largely responsible for the fact that Ellerton is known today for his hymns far better than for his pastoral work and his preaching.

Born in London in 1826, the young preacher-poet was graduated, 23 years later, from Trinity College at Cambridge. For nearly half a century he served as vicar and rector in a succession of English parishes. In 1892, just a year before his death, he was appointed a Canon of St. Albans.

What About Polio?

By NANCY CLEAVER

"What about polio? Why can't all our Canadian school children get temporary protection from a dose of gamma globulin? Mrs. Brown asked her neighbor.

"Perhaps in a few years scientists will perfect an inexpensive vaccine but right now wide-spread immunity isn't possible," Mrs. Jones replied. "All the same, it is important to know as much as possible about polio.

In Canada recently, there has been special appeal for more blood donors at the Red Cross clinics to aid in the fight against polio. It is this great organization which has the responsibility for this particular public service.

Not long ago a Red Cross official estimated that it would require 3,900,000 additional donations of blood annually to provide a single dose of gamma globulin, with its disease fighting antibodies, for each of our 3,500,000 children fourteen years and under. This would cost Canada more than 13 million dollars. Dr. W. Stuart Stanbury, national commissioner for the Red Cross, has pointed out that at present there are not facilities for handling such vast quantities of blood, quite apart from the expense.

WATCH WITH INTEREST

Parents regret that this protection is not available for every child. They will watch with great interest an experiment of the vaccination of almost a million U.S. youngsters with special vaccine. The Connaught Laboratory of the University of Toronto has produced most of the polio virus for this in fluids containing kidney tissue. Perhaps before long, children in Canada, U.S. and other lands will benefit from a protection against this modern threat to the lives and limbs of countless boys and girls.

By their knowledge of the three types of polio, and of symptoms and stages, as well as by using sensible precautions, mothers can give the members of their families the best of care. It is re-assuring to discover that for one diagnosed case of polio, there are likely a hundred unrecognized cases. Individuals who have had the disease even with such mild symptoms that they have not suspected it, have a greater resistance to infection than those who have never had a touch of it. In the latest Canada Year Book 911 cases of polio for all of Canada, (for 1951) were reported by the provincial Departments of Health.

STRIKES TERROR

The word "polio" strikes terror into parent's hearts. But it is well for them to remember that although this infection is common severe paralysis or loss of life are comparatively rare.

It has been estimated in 100 cases of polio, 90 patients will make a complete recovery. 30 will suffer slight handicaps, about a dozen will have severe after-effects and will need braces, or crutches or a wheel chair. Eight may lose their lives if the muscles controlling their breathing or swallowing are paralyzed. The greatest number of those catching the disease are young children, although it may strike down a person of any age. Serious effects are more numerous in older patients.

Polio may be contracted in any month but there are more cases in the summer and fall. Parents are advised by medical authorities to fight polio by being extra careful about cleanliness. Be sure that a child washes thoroughly with soap after going to the toilet, before eating and on coming in the house from play or a trip away from home.

NEED SPECIAL ATTENTION

Dish-washing needs a little special attention with plenty of hot water, soap or a detergent and hot rinsing water. Food must be kept clean and covered and vegetables and fruit washed. Refrigeration of dairy products, meats and perishable goods is always important. Mothers just can't be too "fussy" about flies! They are such carriers of germs!

Fatigue and chilling the body must also be guarded against as they lower the resistance. Tooth extractions, and operations for tonsils or adenoids should be avoided if there is a polio outbreak. There is nothing to be gained from panic in any form, but most mothers and fathers, if polio is prevalent, would prefer to avoid travel in affected area. If the outbreak is severe, it is best not to have youngsters in large crowds. The home yard is the safest place for good times if there is a polio epidemic.

WHO WAS THIS?
By A.A.M.

Who was the young man over whom Paul and Barnabas had a bitter quarrel as to whether or not he should be given a second chance? This young man wanted to accompany them on their travels. But he had deserted the two missionaries at Antioch, where the followers of Jesus were first called Christians. Paul had lost confidence in him. But Barnabus believed he would make good as a missionary.

It is not known why he became discouraged and turned back. Bidding farewell to the two apostles at Perga he retraced his steps to Jerusalem where his family were Christians. His mother, Mary, was related to Barnabus.

When the angel of the Lord in the middle of the night had freed Peter from prison, Peter had sought refuge in this young man's home. Likely this youth had been taking part in the prayer meeting for Peter's safety when to everyone's amazement, Peter appeared at the door!

But Paul could not forgive his desertion as a missionary traveler. The great apostle and Barnabus had sharp words over letting this young man come with them. He had turned up again, desiring to join in their work. Paul and Barnabus had just resolved to go, turn and visit the brethren and see how they were in every city where they had proclaimed the word of the Lord.

AGREED TO DISAGREE

The two missionaries had to disagree. They separated, going their different ways. The young man accompanied Barnabus, while Paul chose as his partner, Silas.

Barnabus' faith that this young man would make good was justified. It is thought that the book, written by this man in later years was the account of the life of Jesus which he received from Peter.

His was the basic gospel. The other narrators of the story of the Master appear to have had it in their hands as they wrote their accounts. It is good to know that in later life Paul forgave this young man his desertion when on the missionary journey. The church owes a great debt to Barnabus who believed this youth deserved a chance.

You will find this man's story in Acts, Chapter 13; Verses 12 to 25, Ch. 15, Verses 5 to 13; Chapter 15, verse 37.

What to do..

FOR VACATION FIRST AID

Vacation-bound families at this time of year are advised by St. John Ambulance not to forget a few simple necessities which may turn their holidays much more pleasant.

While first aid teaches that things done at hand may be used for most accidents, it is often wise to make some preparation.

One thing that should always be taken to a cottage is a first aid kit or the commercial type that sell for around two or three dollars contains just about everything that is needed by the untrained person.

An approved sunburn lotion is always good to have along. But if a sunburn is really serious, with blisters and cracks in the skin, protect the area as well as possible with clean bandages and take the patient to a doctor.

A bottle of rubbing alcohol has many uses. It will relieve an itchy feeling, is good to wash off parts of the body that have come in contact with poison ivy, can be applied to bruises and blisters, and is reliable as a mild antiseptic.

BEST ANTISEPTIC

The best mild antiseptic to take along, however, is the creamy type sold in collapsible tubes. Squeeze some generously right onto any wound before a dressing is applied.

If children who have trouble with their teeth are being taken to the cottage it might be a good idea to take some Oil of Cloves. This will relieve pain if applied to a cavity until the child can be taken to a dentist.

If there's poison ivy in the vicinity of your cottage it is wise to stock up with some calamine lotion at a drug store. Insect repellent should also be taken because a child scratching insect bites can often cause ugly sores.

Many of the other first aid necessities can be contained in the supplies taken to the cottage. Salt (two tablespoonfuls to a pint of water) for instance, is a good emetic to be used in case someone swallows poison. Soda can also be used to relieve the pain of bee stings or as a mild stomach. Clean cloths soaked in hot or cold water, as the occasion demands, can be used for sore wounds, first-aid bandages may be made out of many things near at hand.

BYPASS TROUBLE

Belleville residents may regard the controversy over the Orillia bypass as none of their business. Unfortunately, this may be another case where coming events cast their shadows before. What happened on the outskirts of Orillia could easily happen here on the Foxboro road in a year or so.

On week-ends, Highway No. 11 probably used to carry more cars than any other highway in the province. Toronto residents fled from the city to resorts on Lake Simcoe or Georgian Bay or in the Muskoka district, then rushed back to their city homes on Sunday afternoon.

Highway No. 2 carried much traffic, too.

The Department of Highways has constructed a double-lane, controlled access highway from Toronto to Crown Hill, north of Barrie.

A similar double-lane highway has been built from Toronto to Newcastle.

But north of Crown Hill, traffic returns to Highway No. 11.

Traffic returns to Highway No. 2, too.

One Orillia housewife says she abandoned any effort to shop in the city after a couple of occasions when she stood at a street corner for an hour without being able to cross No. 11 highway.

While traffic on Highway No. 2 is not that heavy, crossing the highway on week-ends would be hazardous if there were no traffic lights, which Orillia lacked until recently.

To speed traffic by Orillia, the Department of Highways has constructed a bypass.

The Department is now working on a bypass from Trenton to Belleville.

A couple of week-ends ago the Orillia bypass was opened. There were no traffic lights to control traffic. One of the roads crossing it is Highway No. 12, a road leading to the summer resort district around Sturgeon Lake, carrying heavy traffic at this season of the year. At the intersection of the bypass and Highway No. 12, the first week-end the bypass was open, a fatal accident occurred. Another fatal accident occurred a few days later. .

Orillia residents were highly indignant, because from the time the bypass was first planned they had warned of the necessity of some safeguards against just such accidents.

When a highway is so heavily travelled that one accident will kill a number, as 65 miles, as occurred on the Orillia highway to Toronto last week-end, crossing it without the assistance of lights is hazardous.

Lights are now being installed as the result of Orillia protests to Department of Highways Elson is reported as stating that there are stop signs at the bypass and if motorists do not obey these signs it is their own fault.

It may occur to Belleville residents that the result of this observation fails to assist motorists who have stopped to then proceed across the bypass. It may also occur to them that Mr. Elson's "fault" attitude will contribute to the motorist on the bypass who is killed because somebody on Highway No. 12 did not stop. And it may further occur to them that Mr. Elson is not exactly the type of official we would like to deal with when roads should be used to control traffic when motorists on the new Trenton-Belleville bypass meet travellers on the Foxboro road.

So perhaps Orillia's present troubles are our business, after all.

FOOTLOOSE AT FARGO

We knew that John Landy's 3:58 minute mile was too good to last but it was somewhat of a surprise to learn that the record had been beaten 89 years before it was established.

According to a sports story from Fargo, North Dakota, a Cpl. W. H. Green of Co. D won a mile race in three minutes and four seconds. The race was part of a July 4th holiday celebration at Fort Rice, Dakota Territory, in 1865 with the course set at three times around the fort for a prize of five dollars.

Research by one of the course indicate that the men actually ran 780 feet more than the regulation mile, making their "mile" times all the more spectacular. Sprinters find it difficult to run 260 yards in less than 28 seconds. Therefore, Cpl. Green would seem to have run a mile 40 seconds faster than Landy.

Fortunately for the modern sprize disqualifies Green as a ranking amateur and his record is unlikely to be sanctioned by the AAU. British Empire Games officials in Vancouver will also be able to mop away the perspiration and relax a little after a truly fine meet which has found the present sonic barrier busters—John Landy and Roger Bannister.

Little detail embellishes the account of the 3.15 mile as stepped by Cpl. Green. However, it was stated that he was a member of a company known as the "Confederate Deserters." It could be that he was running for the honour of the South or perhaps he was running from an honorable Southerner.

Inasmuch as the race was run as part of a July 4th celebration, we suspect that Cpl. Green was merely making sure that he didn't finish last and have to stand treat for the rest of the soldiers at the fort.

A BIGNESS OF SPIRIT

Pupils of the Grade 8 class at King George public school presented the local Shrine Club with $14.45 this week to be used by the club in its work for crippled children. The money, raised by the pupils during the year, was money which they would have spent for valentines, Christmas cards and small presents for one another. This money was placed in a fund and at the end of the year pupils chose, from a list of worthy organizations, the one to which they would donate the money. This year the Shrine Club was selected and the money forwarded, through the local club, to the Shriners' Hospital for Crippled Children in Montreal.

The amount of money involved is small. The bigness of spirit shown by these Grade 8 pupils stands like a mountain in the desert of depressing information disseminated daily of "man's inhumanity to man."

There is a lesson here for adults, too. And there is the certain knowledge that these pupils, at least, have accepted early in life the fourth and the greatest R of education—responsibility. There is also the comforting thought that one segment of the coming generation has a head start on the practice of good citizenship that can serve as an example to all of us.

'Preee-Zent --Hipe!

(Hamilton Spectator)

The Personage appears in the door of the aircraft and solemnly surveys the steps to the concrete sell. A stentorian voice bellows: "Gen-neral (or roy-ral) ah-hule . . . Pree-zent --Hipe!" There is the slap-pause-click-thump of hands, rifles and feet moving in unison. The band crashes out with the familiar (or unfamiliar) anthem. The flesh bulby pop and the newsreel cameras grind. The Personage (somebody will be able to know between the lumber, than any other structure now existing.

To the public watching the show through the airport fence or enjoying it vicariously in the news pictures or on television, it is all very solemn and impressive—as indeed it should be. For politeness is one of the better lubricants for this world's rickety machinery, and the ceremonial welcoming of a Personage is simply the politeness of nations writ large and "how-do-you-do" carried to its logical diplomatic ultimate. But how many of the watching thousands and the vicarious millions stop to consider the long years of sweat, toil, fuss and cursing — not to mention the reams of paper — that went into the preparation for those few minutes of solemnity?

Take, for instance, a group of officers met in some inner room of National Defence Headquarters. Soon, chronologically, something began to grind. The orders—pages of them—began to emerge of just who is to be where, when—right out to the man chosen to comfort the Queen's feet on the deck of the units detailed to take part. Then, moved down from rank to rank to the inevitable peasant-major, at which point they ceased to be orders and became a paper and were translated into the more mathematical terms of boots shining the regulation inch in rehearsal and re-rehearsal; band instrumentation and marching practice and re-practice; uniforms being pressed, webbing being blancoed, rifles being polished, bayonet scabbards being buffed, the last minute fuss being made, adjusted, hair being cut, shaves being criticized, shoulders being squared, stomachs being sucked in—all to the accompaniment of blustery comments and muttered curses.

The troops have an extremely rude name for the whole business. Collectively they have nothing but indifference for it. And yet privately, in his own heart, no one of them would willingly miss the show. . . . Even the stonemason's the thump of his boots on the concrete at the airport, the slightly smack and click of his rifle, the shine of his brass and the knife-creased hair of his nape are all making their little contribution to the day when he will be telling his grandchildren: "Yes, I remember when Churchill . . ."

Fireflies Stage Dance

(Oilawa Evening Journal)

While whippoorwills throw polysant calls from the field's edge and bullfrogs boom from the pasture, the fireflies paint an intricate pattern on the darkness. A few dancers in the group climb high, trailing colored sashes; a few put on illuminated hats. But the main body performs a complicated dance above the field. For one moment they converge in a tightly-knit pattern; then they separate and form strange combinations of dots and dashes over a larger area.

There are some 2,000 species of the Lampyridae family on our continent, and they have a wing spread of several inches. There is one species in Paraguay with a wing spread of more than a foot and a red light at the rear.

Scientists who have been studying the puzzling heatless glow for many years and still do not understand completely why insects produce light in so efficient. Technically it is bioluminescence without incandescence.

But as a farm family sits on a screened porch in warm summer evenings, it is not necessary to know the scientific facts in order to enjoy the ballet.

Plan Giant TV Tower

(New York Herald Tribune)

That the Empire State Building may soon be dwarfed by a tower 1,250-feet high for television program transmission should surprise no one. The addition has overwhelmed us, as many other things in America that for it to turn the Empire State Building into a mere antihill is really not such an unusual feat at all. The new tower, which a station in Lowsiville, Ky., is planning to build, will measure 1,250 feet tall. No one presumably will be able to throw television beyond further, than any

Many of the famous tall structures of the world have already been put to disseminating television. The 1,250-foot Empire State Building exudes TV shows to the New York metropolitan area, and a similar function is performed in Paris by the venerable Eiffel Tower. Even in Egypt, neither the pyramids nor the Leaning Tower of Pisa have been taken over by television as yet, possess, but time undoubtedly will catch up with them.

The question is, of course, whether a television tower should be allowed to perform other functions, too, as the Empire State Building does by boasting towers and the Eiffel Tower does by looking beautiful. Louisville evidently is taking the line that a new tower is for television and television alone, and if it turns out better programs than others do, the Empire State had better watch out.

Sanctuary 50 Years Old

(Edmonton Journal)

Throughout Canada and the U.S. there are hundreds of birds more happier than when they have been driven from the safety of their sights or their shotguns. Ducks and geese also provided pleasure to be left undisturbed in the midst of a very different kind. When he thought of it, Rudyard Kipling in terms of conservation and refuge, and to this end he established and maintained the Bird Sanctuary that became a world-famous sanctuary.

This year the sanctuary marks its fiftieth anniversary. Its history is the story of an outstanding Dominion institution. Its founding in fact, that it won almost instant recognition, was typically Kipling. It has been hailed in the United States as "the first effective conservation movement in North America".

In 1904, the first Canada geese took refuge at the sanctuary; and the following year a Mallard drake published another "first" — the banding of his first duck. Some 4,000 ducks were to be banded and tied in Anderson, South Carolina, and those would be the first complete record from a banded bird on the North American continent.

In the early years, Mr. Milnes handed as many as 30,000 birds and almost as many Canada geese; but, while this was a momentous task in those days, it was not confined to his sanctuary. In 1910, Mr. Milnes began the practice to spread his gospel of conservation, and for thirty years toured Canada and the U.S. from Florida to as many as 13,000 persons in a single day. By the end of the day the time of his death in 1944 he had spoken to more people than any other man in the continent.

Probably the crowning point of the citation, however, was when King George VI conferred upon him the Order of the British Empire. "Great-est achievement" was the result of Kipling's work, and the King's devotion to their conservation. Today the sanctuary that he founded is carrying on the Kipling monument to a great man. He would have preferred no other.

DOCTOR HORSEFEATHER'S LINIMENT FOR MAN OR BEAST

If nothing can be absorbed through the unbroken skin why use liniment?

Dr. Brady

Let us omit the premium and merely consider the question of using liniment. You have proved it is a chemical, and nothing but a chemical can be absorbed through unbroken skin.

The word liniment is derived from the Latin word meaning anoint or smear. Originally liniments consisted of mixtures of this and that with oil of one kind or another. For instance camphor liniment, commonly called camphorated oil, is merely powdered gum camphor dissolved in warm cottonseed oil or olive oil in the proportion or one level teaspoonful of oil.

Turpentine liniment is made by shaking together oil of turpentine (spirits of turpentine) and soft soap liniment (commonly called tincture of green soap), one part of turpentine with three or four parts of green soap liniment.

Lime liniment, otherwise known as Carron oil (because it was first used on burns at the Carron Iron Works in Scotland) is made by shaking up together equal parts of lime water and linseed oil or olive oil. Lime water is made by putting a chunk of live (unslaked) lime the size of your fist into an earthen crock of water, letting it stand several hours, and using only the clear water for solution without disturbing the sediment.

Just between ourselves I wouldn't mess with any of these mixtures. I would have more confidence in a mixture of my own concoction. I would have more confidence in the real thing straight from the bottle. Especially if a very different kind. When he bought it from the druggist. In terms of conservation and refuge, and to this end he established and maintained the Bird Sanctuary that became a world-famous sanctuary.

This Border Hard to Cross

(Financial Post)

Occasionally one of the millions of mosquitoes that infest the marshy creek each other's border every summer gets into a bit of trouble. Undoubtedly even on this continent we could make this business easier and faster—and it would stop the little news item from a newspaper in Istanbul:

A Bulgarian civilian tried to escape into Turkey.

Unfortunately, the border guards fired at him, killing him instantly.

In attempting to recover the body, the guards entered Turkish territory, fell into a mine trap and were killed."

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LOCK ALL FEAR—OUT

I believe fear to be one of the major evils. It has no place within sooner in our daily lives. As a matter of fact, it is one of our greatest enemies. Where there is no fear there are love, faith, hope, and confidence in the heavenly Father who watches over us continually whether we are aware of the fact or not.

Lock out all fear from your life, and you have made your home to keep out those who would steal from you. Fear, however, is far more dangerous thief, for it keeps stealing away from you the assurance that your life is really worthwhile. It is the one, after five wicked and gossip and false rumors behind.

Have you noted how calm and peaceful are those who exhibit no conscious fear in their lives? They seem to have a way of calling for only such energies as they require, and without fanfare try to demonstrate the livableness of life, and call others to share the same rock all fear—out! It has no place in the healthy, happy human being.

In a most helpful book published many years ago, by Josephine Jackson, Ed. D., called "Outwitting Our Nerves," I came across these lines: Fear is a call up fear only when speedy legs are needed, not a cool head or a comfortable digestion. Fear is a costly commodity; an emergency measure like a fire alarm. So be used only when the occasion is urgent enough to demand it."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

PIPELINES DELIVER OIL

Pipelines, the tentacles of western Canada's big oil boom, now stretch from the Pacific Coast to Ontario. Canada's pipeline mileage has been increased more than eight-fold since 1946, the year before the west's oil development started to mushroom. In this Alberta government photo workmen are shown laying pipe of the international pipeline extending 1,965 miles from Edmonton to Sarnia, Ont. The world's largest carrier of crude oil, it delivers about 375,000 barrels daily to Sarnia refineries. (CP Photo).

Natural Gas, Once A Nuisance, Making Big Pipeline News

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Natural gas, once a nuisance in the petroleum industry, now is making the biggest pipeline news in Canada.

As recently as 15 years ago oil prospectors considered it a great misfortune to strike gas instead of oil. Others, considering it "incidental" to oil production, wastefully burned off the billions of cubic feet after it had served its purpose by driving oil to the surface.

In the hectic early development of Alberta's Turner Valley oil field, before conservation was applied, such wastage was estimated at more than 1,000,000,000,000 cubic feet.

WAR DEVELOPED MARKETS

The cheap utility started to come into its own in the United States during the Second World War when industry put it to work powering war plants.

Although natural gas has been used in Alberta since 1901, Canadians generally did not become gas conscious until the last five years. This was occasioned by the demand for more fuel beyond available supplies, particularly in Ontario, and Alberta's fast-growing reserves, proved up during the oil search.

These developments brought a flurry of applications for export Alberta and to U.S. areas where it would be competitive with American gas.

But Alberta, intent on ensuring its own future needs, did not approve large-scale gas export until 1952, for the Pacific coast, and early this year for eastern Canada and the Minneapolis area of the U.S. mid-west.

LONGEST GAS LINE

Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd., now is preparing to start next spring on construction of the world's largest gas pipeline, a 2,240-mile project stretching from southern Alberta to Montreal. Regina and Winnipeg are to be served by the $300,000,000 line in November, 1955, Toronto and Montreal in late 1956.

This fall a trans-Canada subsidiary will start piping U.S. gas into the Toronto area, building up a huge reserve for the all-Canadian line when it is ready to replace these initial deliveries.

Premier Manning of Alberta has likened the long-term impact of the trans-Canada line on the Canadian economy to the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway in Canada's early development as a nation.

KEEN COMPETITION

Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd., which planned a 960-mile gas pipeline from the Peace river country of northern Alberta and British Columbia to the Vancouver area, and the U.S. Pacific northwest, suffered a big setback this summer.

It got an export go-ahead from the Alberta and federal governments in 1953 but its $110,000,000 project was turned down by the U.S. federal power commission awarded the permit to Westcoast's rival, Pacific Northwest Pipe Line Corp., of Houston, Texas., Westcoast has announced it will appeal the decision. The Pacific northwest market, which would have taken about 80 per cent of Westcoast's deliveries, was necessary to justify building the line.

Some quarters feel the U.S. source will prove inadequate for the Pacific northwest and that this area eventually will clamor for Peace river's supplies. Others say that Canada should go ahead with the Westcoast line to the Vancouver area even to the extent of subsidizing it.

HUGE RESERVES

Alberta's gas reserves, less than 4,000,000,000 cubic feet when first appraised in 1948, climbed to 13,400,000,000 by March 31 this year.

Now that markets are being found, once-frozen reserves are being thawed out at an annual rate of more than 100,000,000,000 cubic feet by exploring companies. This increase is equal to Canada's total energy requirements in 1953, yet natural gas now is serving only four per cent of Canada's energy demand.

Canada's only other great source of proven natural gas reserves is northeastern British Columbia, where more than 4,000,000,000,000 cubic feet have been found since the first well was drilled in late 1951. The area would be a major feeder of the projected Westcoast line.

Saskatchewan uncovered sufficient reserves in the Kindersley-Brock district to warrant construction last year of a 102-mile pipeline northeast to Saskatoon, making the city the province's first to be served with gas. The line was built in 42 working days, believed a record. A provincial crown corporation handles distribution.

GREAT OIL PIPELINES

Construction of crude-oil pipelines has been more spectacular in some respects. Up to the end of 1953 Canada had 3,324 miles of oil pipelines compared with only 418 miles in 1946.

A 635-mile extension of the interprovincial pipeline, opened in 1950 between Edmonton and Superior, Wis., was completed last December to the big refining centre of Sarnia, Ont. Enough steel for 170,000 automobiles went into the extension which involved the deepest river grossing in pipeline history.

This made interprovincial the world's longest crude system with 1,765 miles and also alleviated the disadvantages of closed tanker shipping on the Great Lakes in winter. The line's "throughput" is being increased this year with construction of some 600 miles of "loop," or parallel pipe.

Canada's other major crude pipeline is trans-mountain, built across the Rocky mountains at heights of up to 3,720 feet to carry Alberta oil from Edmonton to Vancouver-area refineries and the U. S. Pacific northwest. So far its market has been disappointing.

The line is delivering only about half the crude estimated for it upon completion last October because of price-cutting on tanker - shipped middle east oil entering California. But the picture is expected to brighten with completion of big refinery programs at Vancouver and in Washington state in 1954-55.

START GASOLINE EXPORT

However, last March trans-mountain opened the way for Canada's first overseas export of petroleum products, a 4,500,000-gallon shipment of gasoline to Japan. Other shipments are expected to follow.

Pipelines have been a major contribution in offsetting Prairie oil refining capacity since 1946 and doubling that of Canada as a whole.

An indication of Prairie refining advance is seen in Edmonton, now the west's biggest refining centre. In 1946 it had no plants. Regina's Imperial Oil refinery, the west's first when built in 1913 to turn 1,500 barrels a day, of U.S. crude transported as much as 2,000 barrels, was expanded in June to 22,500 barrels daily. In 1946 total east-of-Manitoba capacity was only 18,175 barrels a day.

250,000 Children Will Camp In Canada During Summer

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian camping has come a long way from the days when a boy hiked his tent to the nearest lakeshore.

Today, one Ontario open-air paradise for youngsters offers horseback riding, canoeing, swimming and all the comforts of home at $450 for eight weeks.

It even boasts it own psychologist.

A Canadian Press coast-to-coast survey shows that the 250,000 children who will camp in Canada this summer are heading for more than a health tonic. The strictly modern camp promotes an educational program designed to build character beneath all that sun-tan.

Many temporary camps are set up in Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island every summer by scouts and guides and the other voluntary youth organizations.

Kinsmen operate a camp 20 miles from St. John's where some 40 underprivileged children stay two weeks without cost. St. John's Rotary Club operates a camp, on which they pay only "token" charges, where crippled children have special beds and physio-therapy exercises.

CHURCH GROUPS ACTIVE

Nova Scotia has about 60 camps, half of them operated by church groups, 30 by scouts and guides and the remainder by service clubs and commercial organizations.

Quebec province has 12 summer camps accommodating 2,500 young men, in addition to various scout and guide camps catering for 3,500.

There are two fresh air camps for children with tuberculosis in the family.

Fees in seven paying camps range from $7 weekly in one camp to $20 weekly at Trois Saumons camp where swimming and nature study classes are provided for 1,952 boys and 108 girls.

About 12,000 children, mainly boys, will attend camps in the Montreal area at prices ranging from nothing to $40 a week.

There are 69 YMCA camps in operation in Ontario. Of these, 46 are "day camps," where children go home at night and each weekend. Altogether, their advantages are enjoyed by 11,500 youngsters every summer.

EXPERIMENTAL CAMP

An experimental co-educational camp is being run this year at Sarnia. Fees run from $10 for 14 days to $31.50 a week.

Four of Manitoba's 25 camps make no charge. This year 350 Indian boys, aged 10-16, will attend Camp Hilbert.

Nearly every church and service organization in Regina sponsors a camp for the eight to 18-year-olds.

Almost 600 boys and 500 girls will leave Calgary for 10-day to three-week holidays at service group and church camps.

British Columbia has 42 camps accommodating 10,000 children in four sessions throughout the season. A spokesman of the province's camping association said that B.C. is lagging behind the east in camping organization, due partly to the "go it alone" attitude of camping organization, due partly to the "go it alone" attitude of camps and other sponsored groups.

Fees range from $7 to $75 weekly.

Wellington on the Lake

HOLIDAY TIME

Summer time is here again,
Let us haste away
To the quiet countryside
For a holiday;
There we'll find sweet peace and calm
By a lake or stream,
Gaining strength from mother earth
As we rest and dream.

Vanish every frown and fret,
Leaving care behind,
All life's worry to forget,
Gain a tranquil mind;
Brawn and spirit strengthened too,
Can we ask more?
Turning to our daily task
When vacation's o'er.

—Helen B. Anderson.

Textile Plant Lays Off 600

CORNWALL (CP) — A cut in production of textile filament yarn has brought a six-week layoff of 600 Courtaulds (Canada) Ltd., employees, it was announced today.

Douglas Hall, president and general manager of the synthetic fibre plant, said the workers will not return from the annual two-week holiday beginning July 17 until after Labor Day.

The layoff means the total of employed in this city to more than 1,800.

Mr. Gilks blamed depressed conditions in the Canadian textile industry for the cut in production affecting a major section of this city's largest industry.

Staple fibre and tire yarn will continue to be produced at normal rate, he said.

Child Loses Seven Pounds, Refuses to Eat

TORONTO (CP)—Little 11-year-old Donna Ballard of Toronto is grieving so hard for her run-away dog, "Connie," she has lost seven pounds and refused to eat for three days.

The dog, an English blue roan cocker spaniel and one of only five or six of its kind in Canada, ran away 13 days ago. Since then Donna's mother, Mrs. E. Ballard, sent Donna away for a vacation.

Thursday she got a post card from Donna with the terse pleading message, "Please find Connie."

A four-year-old show dog, Connie won three first-prize ribbons last year in local shows. She is black with white markings and has blue silver tips to her hair.

Mrs. Ballard has been all over Toronto and as far afield as Hamilton looking for Connie on tips from callers. She says she has been losing weight herself from watching the phone from early morning till 11 at night.

Mrs. Ballard used to play with her dogs as if they were dolls. She dressed them up, took them for daily walks and had special mattresses, dishes, wash clothes and combs for them.

"I don't know what I'm going to do," her mother said. "I just won't rest till we find that dog."

Mau Mau Forces Reel Under Blows

NAIROBO, Kenya (AP) — The tide is turning in the struggle against Mau Mau terrorists and the army should be able to hand over responsibility to the police and civil administration by Christmas.

This was predicted today by Maj.-Gen. G. H. D. Heyman, chief of staff to the British-led military forces here.

Speaking at a three-day Asian conference on the current emergency, he said that Operation Anvil — the recent mopping-up drive in Nairobi — had destroyed one-third of the Mau Mau forces.

Terry Moore Goes One Better Than Dietrich

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Lifting an idea from Marlene Dietrich, Hollywood's Terry Moore made her night club debut Thursday night in a gown transparent from the waist up—except for clusters of beads here and there.

Miss Dietrich, in her celebrated appearance here some months ago, didn't bother with the beads.

During most of the act she wore conventional—if low-cut — garments. The sensation came in the finale, which she made in a $3,500 black beaded dress weighing 26 pounds, the upper portion of which was described as being "transparent nude souffle." Ringsiders estimated that 89 per cent of the beads were in the lower portions of the garment.

SISTERS ALL

By Jean Love Galloway

Listening to Sir Winston Churchill speaking from Ottawa the other night, it was hard to believe that back in 1935 when he lost a high government office, he said to a colleague in the Admiralty, "I am finished." Even the greatest of men have grave disappointments in life, some of them almost too much to bear. Great men, like ordinary men, sometimes feel that all is lost.

Strength comes only in the will-power to pick oneself up, forget what has happened and proceed wholeheartedly with an alternate one. Churchill has done just this time after time in his long life.

If you want to read something stirring about Churchill, the entire read the new self-portrait of Sir Winston Churchill edited by Colin R. Coote and P.D. Bunyan, just off the press.

This is a book you can pick up over and over again and a fine one for your reference shelf. It is an excellent gift book for a boy or a man.

LICENCES

Why, oh why, are new car manufacturers insisting that licence plates are on the outside of the bumpers where they become smashed, dinted and rusted in no time? Surely, with all the finesse of modern construction, a place for licence could be made inside the bumper.

LARGE PARTY

An old friend was telling us an amusing story about a man who called on her for a meal and four minutes late for his train. He simply had to catch that train. He thought it was very important. He telephoned the station agent to ask if the train could be held a few minutes for a large party. The agent managed to hold the train. Where the man was headed for from, the agent asked where the large party was. "I am sure," said the large party in me." He weighed about 225 pounds.

TWEEDS

These days, several newspapers are running word puzzles as circulation builders. It is interesting to notice the different types of people who send in the correct answers. The business executive no longer commenting on the weather but is content to send in the solution to the puzzle of the day.

The man we know, who is about the only man not interested in one of these puzzles, has built up with all the little bits of conversation going on among the office staff, his wife's friends, his children. Yesterday, he exclaimed, "If I hear another person talk puzzles to me again, I'll knock him out!"

All sorts of people like to do puzzles. The intelligent, the stupid, the ordinary and the extraordinary. Even the not-so-wealthy. Newspaper puzzles are a great common denominator which brings most people together in a common interest.

SUPERSTITION

A neighboring mother always mixes a few tablespoons of mineral oil with every pot of peanut butter. It not only makes the peanut butter go farther, but it helps to regulate the physical machinery of her children.

Mrs. Bumbrake says he knows a man who says he absolutely refuses to play cards for money because if he did, nobody would want to play with him.

Deep covered bowls and lined hot sheets should be washed apart from white clothes. They may shed dye which will discolor other pieces, or they may pick up white lint which settles on the surface to spoil the eye appeal of clear colors.

DRESS AND STOLE

Smooth black wool and white jersey are combined in this dress and stole ensemble suitable for the elegant look. The simple sheath line of the dress is buttoned from neckline to hemline with the last top button left purposely undone. The large white stole is built out from the belt anchoring the stole firmly in place. Either a fur clasp or piping or business the stole can be replaced with an accompanying stole of self-fabric belt. (CP Photo).

The last meeting of the season of the Women's Auxiliary of Bridge Street United Church took place recently at the Hibbard cottage, Rosemore, in the form of a picnic luncheon.

PAYS TRIBUTE

Mrs. Wray paid a tribute to Mrs. McTavish as a fine woman, a devoted mother and wife, something that a minister's wife could hope to be. Mrs. Wray presented Mrs. McTavish with a gift as a slight expression of the esteem of the ladies of the Auxiliary for which Mrs. McTavish thanked the ladies also for the kindness they had shown her at all times, and for the friendships which she had so much enjoyed. "Your Family and The World" Interesting Topic at W.M.S.

The July meeting of the Melrose W.M.S. was held in the church on Wednesday last with an attendance of 18.

The president, Mrs. George Moore took charge of the worship service and Mrs. Demille presided at the piano. Mrs. Grant McLaren led the Scripture lessons.

Mrs. Morgan gave a reading, "The Christian Home."

Mrs. Russell MacFarlane, citizenship secretary, gave a reading "Protestants Oppose Any Form of Gambling."

Business period was conducted. Mrs. Morgan read a letter from Presbyterial concerning the Leaders' Training School to be held at Whitby, August 23-27.

In the absence of the Community Friendship secretary, Miss Beatrice MacFarlane reported three calls made. The Baby Band party was postponed indefinitely. A quilting will be held in the township hall on Wednesday, July 14.

PROGRAM

Mrs. John Milligan, group leader, took charge of the July study program: Mrs. Milligan gave a paper based on "Train up a child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it." The home is the logical place for the responsibility of training the child. Alexander Pope said, "As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined," and as the twig decides the fate of the tree, so the child decides the fate of his life.

Mrs. Grant McLaren leader of the Mission Band who is doing a great work among the boys of Melrose, a school age told of the training they are given and how this work is helping to form character missionary tasks. She also gave an outline of valuable reading material available to the boys and girls.

Miss Beatrice MacFarlane gave a reading "Children can be helped in the church to help in determine the kind of society we want if we begin soon enough with the children. Relationships between nations and races stem from the attitudes developed in children. The basis of sound world citizenship lies in the Christian education of children."

Mrs. E. Cappell gave a reading "The Bible Speaks' to Parents", "Parents should realize their responsibility to read the Bible with their children. At an early age, present the child with a good readable Bible of his own. It is during those precious 60 months when mother has the child to herself, that the greatest impression on the child can be made.

"Above all, let the parents live the Bible before their children. The children are reading them with more interest than any book."

Mrs. Jack MacFarlane gave several ways by which one can help children's understanding.

—"Parents must live as Christians in a world of many peoples and people of every race, color, creed and nationality.

—Parents must realize that the sons of all racial and cultural backgrounds have something to contribute to the culture of their age and of their country. Encourage them to be proud of this to realize that what any person is and what he does depends in the influence of his life, is more important than the color of his skin or the racial group to which he belongs."

A short discussion period followed. "Train up a child in the way he shall go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

Mrs. Morgan closed the meeting. The hostess at the end of the meeting served Mrs. Harry Davis.

Wife of Canadian Ambassador's Life Not Always Glamorous

Written For The Canadian Press
By MARGARET ECKER

MEXICO CITY (CP)—The life of a Canadian ambassador's wife is not always one of glamorous ease.

Take Gaby Legge, wife of Jules Leger is leading the Canadian embassy here to become deputy minister of the department of external affairs in Ottawa. The charming young matron, in addition to the social demands required of a diplomat's wife, has maintained a close-knit family life with residence in Ottawa, London, Chile and Mexico.

Mrs. Legge is the former Gabrielle Montreal loves every minute of it.

BUSY LIVES

But her life is no diamond-studded social gallop. Diplomats and their wives too—work hard in world capitals. Mrs. Legge is a proponent of the countries they represent.

Mrs. Legers and their two merry schoolgirl daughters, Francine, 14, and Helene, 13, will leave their sunshiny three room house in Mexico City suburb after less than a year in Mexico.

Mrs. Leger is a graduate of the Cordon Bleu School of Cooking in Paris. Cooking fascinates me, I love it," she said.

The kitchen of the house is not welcome in a Mexican kitchen, and the cook scorned a distinct thinning of her pet domain not long after the Legers' arrival in Mexico.

KITCHEN ALTERED

Francine and Helene think mother's cakes are the best in the world. They often help mother and the kitchen to make the family's favorite chocolate almond cake. Each ingredient must be carefully carried on until the cake was in the oven.

Only after the cook came running in with the news that the cake was running all over the oven.

lovely cup and saucer donated Mrs. Windover, was won by Mrs. A. Saylor for saving the most coppers Mrs. W. Denyes offered a prize for the contest in November.

The July meeting will be held in the Wesley Church.

After the meeting closed a social half hour was spent.

Mrs. Leger had forgotten that even the best recipes don't stand up 7,000 feet above sea level, and have to be adjusted.

"Was a flat cake," she laughed. "He who boasted of being a Cordon Bleu and my cake wouldn't even rise in the pan."

The Legers had been in Mexico City only three days when protocol demanded that they invite 200 guests for cocktails. So for dinner guests for cocktails. So for dinner guests for cocktails. So for dinner

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

SHOULD CARDS BE SENT FIRST CLASS MAIL?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman: .

I would be very glad to read in your column what your point of view is regarding the sending of Cards of Condolence, Cards of Thanks, Christmas Cards and so forth (particularly Cards of Thanks) other than by First Class mail, sealed, and with a 5-cent stamp on same. Thank you for your attention.—L.F.B.

My point of view is that it is first-class taste to send cards of these types. Cards of Condolence, Cards of Thanks, Christmas Cards, and all similar cards . . . by First Class mail. To my way of thinking it is tawdry to send cards of such a personal nature with envelopes unsealed, with the 2-cent stamp, rather than the 5-cent stamp, affixed. And there is really no reason to do this. . . for if it is a question of economy, it is very easy to buy the inexpensive cards and apply the difference in price to postage. Done promptly, with proper dignity.

There are good and practical advantages also in sending these cards by First Class Mail: (1) the cards are more apt to reach their messages; (2) they are sorted and delivered first; (3) if necessary they are forwarded to the new address; and (4) if undeliverable, they are returned to the senders instead of address is on the envelope.

(In the case of Cards-of-Thanks it would seem to me even more important to send these First Class mail. . . for Cards of Thanks are of the kind that shouldn't be sent anyway (notes of thanks are usually called for) and sending them not-First-Class emphasizes their incorrectness in most cases.)

TO SEND BRIDAL BOUQUET TO BRIDE-TO-BE OR HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

All my life I have loved my godmother, a most wonderful and most kind lady. I'm to be married soon, and she would like to send me a good time talking about the wedding plans. Recently she had a bad fall, and she will not be able to come to my wedding. Instead of throwing my bouquet to my maid of honor, I'd like to send it to her. Would this be correct—if explain to my bridesmaids?

— Helen A.

Yes, correct, and beautifully thoughtful. Last month a bride friend of mine had a similar problem, and when she and her bridegroom left the reception, they drove to the home of the godmother (in this case, the grandmother, not godmother) and delivered the bridal bouquet "in person." Would this be possible for you, and you in the bridegroom to do? Also take or send a generous piece of your bride's cake to your beloved godmother, and any other special mementoes—such as match books or paper napkins with your and the bridegroom's names.

WHEN DETERMINES THE NUMBER OF USHERS?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The bride-to-be and I, her matron of honor, would like to know: If she has two attendants, matron of honor and one bridesmaid, need there be two attendants for the groom? — Reader

The "need" for two attendants for the groom does not depend on the number of bridal attendants. The groom has a best man: and the number of ushers he has depends on the number of guests to be seated at the wedding. In other words, it is not at all necessary that there be an equal number of bridesmaids and ushers. . . but there should be enough ushers to seat all guests properly and without confusion.

BABY SHOWER BEFORE OR AFTER THE BABY ARRIVES?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am thinking of giving a stork shower for my daughter-in-law, inviting approximately twenty people. I am wondering if it is ever correct to give such a shower after the baby is born. — S.S.

Yes, quite often the baby shower is given when the baby is five or six or even seven weeks old. In some communities this is considered the best-taste procedure, more thoughtful and indeed more practical, too, for then it is easy to find out just what the mother is in need of for the care of her baby. And I'm fairly sure that some mothers-to-be, if they were consulted, would choose to have the shower after the baby is born.

NOTHING IS more inviting to a toddler than the big world outside your front door. Here, it's a good idea to install connected beds out of his reach, so he can't open that door and go on unauthorized excursions when you're busy elsewhere in the house.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T PUT "THE CART BEFORE THE HORSE"

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 19 years old, and while I look much younger than that, everyone says I act my age or older.

The problem is that, even so, I seem to attract boys much older than myself and not the ones who are my own age. Just recently boys are really surprised when they find out how old I am.

This makes me very shy and self-conscious, and I would like to know how I can attract boys my own age. — S.

Dear S.:

I think perhaps you are doing what is called "putting the cart before the horse." In other words, reversing cause and effect. You say you act at least as old as, or even older than, your age, but you think the reason why boys of your own age don't seem to be attracted to you is because you look younger. What I think is, that, actually, you act as young as you look. If you really acted your age or older, I'm sure the older boys would find you congenial.

Again, I think you are "putting the cart before the horse" when you say that you are shy and self-conscious because you can't attract older boys. What I think is, that you don't attract boys because you are shy and self-conscious. Once you become more at ease in the presence of boys, I'm sure everything will be all right.

The real key to unlocking your personality and setting it free from shyness and self-consciousness is to be more interested in other people than we are in yourself. That is, if you have a true interest in others, you will want to find out what their experiences have been, and what their interests are, and have them tell you about these. This will help you keep from thinking about how you appear to them. For the basis of self-consciousness and shyness is fear that you will not appear at your best to other people.

Another way by which you can forget yourself is to become interested in many different activities that bring you in touch with other young people in your age group. Of course, a hobby interest is the easiest way to make friends and, if your mind is on these interests you are sharing with others, it can't be on yourself at the same time.

Now you have some ideas to start with. Begin on them right away and let me know how you make out.

THE BOYS TEASE HIM ABOUT HIS GIRL FRIEND

Dear Miss Fairfax:

The boy I was going with quit seeing me because the other boys teased him about me. I still like him very much, and I think he still likes me, because he has had three dates with me since we broke up. Could you please give me some advice on how to stop the other boys from teasing him, or he will go with me again?—J.D.H.

Dear J.D.H.:

I don't think it would do a bit of good for you to try and stop the boys from teasing this other boy. It would probably only make them tease him more to have the girl friend step in and speak up for him.

If I were you, and if he gives me a chance, I'd just laugh the whole thing off and tell him such remarks are too silly to pay any attention to. If he doesn't know how to take a little teasing, he's pretty timid character, and he's never going to get anywhere with anything if he gives up that easy.

I like to have no sugar at all in them? How much lemon or orange juice? Is there any vegetable at all that can be preserved without pressure? . . . Do you have a recipe for sandwich spread I could make in summer and put up in small jars? . . . I wish Marianne and Herbie every happiness.—Red Rose.

ANSWER:

Thank you Red Rose. No, you cannot preserve those prunes for winter. No there is no sugar added, Mrs. J. H. did—not—the amount of lemon or orange juice but I would suggest juice of one large or 1-2 lemon. I think she intended that these were to be kept in refrigerator and used within a week. You can can tomatoes without pressure.

Suggest you write back for the "Home Canning of Fruits and Vegetables" prepared by Consumer Section, Marketing Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. It is Publication 789 Consumer Bulletin 1. Neither could meat sandwich spreads be preserved without pressure. We do not add cauliflower or onions to Crock Cucumber Pickle. In the bulletin referred to above there is a recipe for Mixed Pickles. (This last is in answer to your second letter which I have just received.) I am waiting for some releases which refer to your problems.

UNBAKED FRUIT CAKE

One lb. graham crackers or vanilla wafers, 1 lb. each seedless raisins, dried figs (moist), 1-2 cup maraschino cherries, 1 cup nuts preferably pecans, 1 lb. marshmallows, 1 pint whipping cream. Store in refrigerator when not needed. This is excellent sliced thinly and dredged in icing sugar.

TIRED OF DYED HAIR?

Beauticians report that along with the vogue for color rinses there is a corresponding drop in the use of permanent hair-dyes. Women have found out that after ducking their heads in the dye pot they are sentenced to a form of slavery. Some don't mind the trouble and expense. But many come eventually to the decision that they have had enough.

If a woman is prematurely grey and the many color rinses make her unhappy, restoring its pristine color is certainly justified. An expert who specializes along these lines can accomplish the presto-change act most successfully. But when a woman has aged in appearance, when wrinkles in her face have dug in deeply, the darkened tresses may accent the ravages of time.

The home-dyer may be able to touch up a few grey threads here and there but an attempt to treat the entire growth is often a mistake, especially if white and dark shafts intermingle. It may be a case of sporting trouble on one's own head.

It is necessary to find the right medium, to know precisely what shade will prove satisfactory, to understand how the applications should be made. All that is difficult. The job should be done by an expert operator. She has had proper training and long experience. If she doesn't know her job, she'll know while he may talk her out of having it dyed, knowing that she may be disappointed when the stain has been taken. That happens sometimes. But if a woman's hair has already been dyed and she wants her white or grey hair back, that's a different story.

There are dye removers for certain coloring agents, but others cannot be removed. It depends upon the kind of chemicals that have been used.

The wisest step is to have a three inch cut and let nature take its course. As hair grows to the extent of six inches a year the period of waiting will not be too long.

If that idea does not appeal, one can buy a white bobbed wig, made so cleverly that the observer will not realize that the tresses are not natural.

Maori Girl Chosen Miss New Zealand

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (CP) — A Maori girl has been chosen "Miss New Zealand" in a national beauty contest here against white competitors.

The winner, Moana Rui-a-Kiwa Manley, 19, with the dark beauty of the finest members of New Zealand's native race, is also an outstanding swimmer. She narrowly missed selection as a backstroke swimmer on the New Zealand team for the Empire Games at Vancouver. She will represent New Zealand in the Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Cal.

Actually, she is half-caste Maori. She says "I am really representative of New Zealand, because I represent both races." She is a student teacher, training at the Auckland Teachers' Training College.

Question Box

A Public Education Service of
THE HEALTH LEAGUE OF CANADA
111 Avenue Road; Toronto 5;
in co-operation with this newspaper.

All questions submitted are answered anonymously by members of the medical advisory board or special technical sections of the HEALTH LEAGUE.

The "Health League Question Box" grew out of questions submitted over the years to the Health League of Canada—a unique voluntary lay organization which enlists the advisory support of leading specialists in every field of medicine to combat preventable sickness by means of public education. All questions submitted to the "Question Box" are answered by medical or scientific experts and checked for accuracy by members of the specialized technical sections of the Health League.

The Health League, in presenting this weekly newspaper feature, hopes, by making good medical advice available, to counteract the evil and wasteful health practices now still followed by non-professional peoples and old wives. Readers are invited to submit questions to the above address. Of course, the "Question Box" cannot undertake to diagnose specific ailments by mail. However, all questions will be given courteous attention and answered as fully as possible.

AN OUNCE OF PREVENTION the questions in this column, are mainly advisers.

"I sent you a question recently about nutrition, which I must say was answered very promptly and to my satisfaction. However I am a little curious as to just who it is that answers these questions. Is it one of the Health League a government agency, or a branch of the Canadian Medical Association? And what if I understand that the questions and answers are of a very general nature, but I like to be reassured as to how authentic the answers are.

Answer: The name of the nutritionist who answered your previous question is being mailed to you privately. There is some difference of opinion among the medical people connected with the Health League as to whether these answers should be published.

However, many of the leading men in the special fields touched upon, prefer to remain out of the limelight, and if we did not follow a general policy of anonymity it would be difficult to gain their cooperation in providing answers for the questions that come in. The same and qualifications of answerers will be sent privately to questioners—on request.

It would be difficult to finance the total function of the Health League in the amount of space available. Briefly, the League is a voluntary, lay organization, which might as aptly be called the Preventive Medicine Association.

There, are three main phases of medicine; prevention, healing, and rehabilitation. Healing and rehabilitation depend almost entirely on the work of the medical experts, but with the layman acting as a sort of parallel assistant.

DEFENDS ON LAYMEN

Prevention, on the other hand, depends on laymen. Of course it takes medical science to develop the vaccines, disinfectants, nutritional know-how, etc., that make prevention of sickness possible. But the means of prevention are worthwhile only when laymen learn to make use of them.

That is why the Health League is a lay organization. It has a number of technical sections on which leading medical authorities in their respective fields serve voluntarily, but the primary function of the League is to see that the lay public avails itself of every means provided by medical science for the prevention of sickness.

Anyone who appreciates good health before it is lost is a potential member of the Health League. The voluntary medical members, who incidentally have been good enough to provide the answers to Question: "Whenever I go to a restaurant and order a meal I find my potatoes boiled, mashed, or French-fried. I am a little sick of potatoes, and I am trying to keep my weight down, but I somehow feel that my health is more worth if I don't make a choice. Do potatoes have any value at all, that would justify my eating them, and if so does the manner of preparation make any difference?"

Answer: Potatoes baked or boiled in their jackets are a valuable food. However if the choice you mention is the only choice there is, then order one or the other and either do without or cut down. In the November-December issue of health magazine, published by the Health League, there is a chart showing the vitamins and minerals of potatoes are lost in the cooking

Wood Ticks With Ugly Heads Expand Range of Misery Drive

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

NEW FRANCE, N.S. (CP)—Eight-legged wood ticks with ugly little heads are expanding the range of their misery campaign against humans in western Nova Scotia's forest country.

Their bite isn't painful, itchy, or especially harmful, but their brand of persistent warfare gives woodsmen the willies.

Ticks crawl up grass, shrubs, low stumps and grab people and animals that rub against them. A hasty pounce gives them free room, board and transportation, to forest 'animals but most humans regard bugs that burrow under the skin with a kind of horror.

HAVE BAD REPUTATION

Actually the tick's capabilities in the matter of bleeding and other things of which he's accused are exaggerated. His bad reputation is mostly unearned.

He does get under the skin to suck blood, but his small head doesn't leave much of a hole. He doesn't carry disease, contrary to general opinion. That idea took root because flesh often swells around the tick's head.

The refined male drops to the ground when he's finally bulging, but the female gorges on blood—not flesh—until she blooms into a purplish sphere. She may droop off to moult or lay eggs. She doesn't think of laying them in your system.

Provincial forest entomologist L. S. Russell says ticks are no potential disease carriers. "They're just as harmless as house flies and mosquitoes now."

New France, in Yarmouth county the most western part of the province is the heart of the wood tick country. In fact, they were supposed to have started here, brought in by the imported hounds of an Alsatian family that tried to start a colony here.

SPREADING RAPIDLY

"I don't know why," Mr. Hawbolt says, "but ticks are spreading very rapidly." He thinks recent warm winters might have something to do with it.

"They have a habit of flourishing in one area for several years, then suddenly dying off for no apparent reason."

He explains the biological difference between the wood tick and the moose tick, which it resembles: "The moose tick sticks to one host, preferably an ailing moose. The wood ticks has three hosts and gets around more."

The wood tick hatches on the ground in late summer, winters there, and finds its first host the next May. It eats its fill, falls off and moults, then looks for another host until it has lived on three animals. After completing the cycle, the females lay ticks for each both sexes die.

Ticks belong to the spider family. The reddish brown male seldom grows a quarter-inch long. The female's body may grow when empty of blood, and may grow bigger than a dime. Baby Bingos among their backs are generally mistaken for stripes.

It pays to know about resting spots in the bush. Commercial repellents are a help, Mr. Hawbolt says, "but if you're wise, you'll do as the woodsmen do: Go on a tick hunt every night and you won't be bothered. With luck you won't find more than two or three, and chances are they won't be in very deep.

Garden Notes
Lilies for Your Garden

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The trouble with garden lilies is that they have to be planted months ahead. Gardeners have to plan and carry out their work months and even years before their handiwork bears fruit. But, when gardening is a side-line we slip up on our timing occasionally and pay for our neglect.

If you like the idea you have vowed many times to plant more lilies, but failed to order the bulbs. Now that we see them in bloom in other gardens we plan anew. Next year will see "lilies in my garden grow".

Not all so called lilies are true lilies. The bulb of a true lily is made up of thick scales, somewhat like a small cabbage. Roots are formed at the base of the bulb and some also have roots along the stem. These are called stem-rooting lilies. These are planted deep, and the roots form along the stem from the top of the bulb to the soil surface.

EASY TO GROW

Lilies are surprisingly easy to grow. They do demand a sunny well-drained position with light shade for their roots. There should be no heavy application of rich solid fences to stop the free circulation of air.

Dig your soil and mix in a good supply of organic material, compost, leaf mould most, or old (very old) well rotted manure. Add a balanced fertilizer and mix thoroughly. Loosen the soil by digging the hole for the bulb, set the bulb in and fill around it with good top soil. Allow no fertilizer to touch the bulb. For these small Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Norton on the birth of a young son.

Mr. Morley Sanderson, Mr. L. Crouse, Mrs. Thomas Potter and Mrs. Robert Wallsworth attended the funeral of the late Mr. Leonard Jackson, Tweed, on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Minaker, Massassaga, were guests of Mrs. Martha Read, Mrs. Sanderson, Allen and Mary returned home with services your lily will bloom from 10 to 30 years.

To shade the roots and keep them cool plant low growing annuals. Brummondi phlox, verbena or dwarf marigolds will provide a colorful background for your lilies.

CHOOSE LILIES IN BLOOM

Choose your lilies now while they are in bloom and you can see what you want. Some local nurseries will take orders for fall delivery, or you can order them from reputable growers, or local porters.

Madonna lily unlike others, requires shallow plantidg. It has no stem roots and should have only one inch of soil covering the top of the bulb. Be sure to set the bulb straight, let the stem come up at an awkward angle.

Here is a partial list of hardy lilies.

Coral (June) — 5-6 inches deep.
Shasta (June)—8 inches deep.
Dwarf Rusgians (June-July)—3 inches deep
Madonna (June) — 8 inches deep
Leopard (July) — 6-8 inches deep.
Auratum (July) — 10-12 inches deep.
Regal (July) — 8 inches deep
Tiger (Aug-Sept) — 8 inches deep.
Speciosum (Sept) — 7-8 inches
Gentilelum Hybrid (Aug.) — 7-8 inches deep.
Mid-Century hybrids Madeona and Leopard (June-Aug.) — 6 inches deep.

Lilies are subject to botrytis blight. Keep the plants free from this ronized copper to control this disease.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Harmer and family, Oshawa, spent Sunday at their cottage here.

Misses Barbara and Betty Rose, Belleville, were guests of Mr. W. Creeper and Mrs. Edna Rose and family during the holiday.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WHEN BIRDS SING

The period of finest song is from the time our migrants are back here until approximately the end of July when moulting is taking place. Singing is really a part of bird language, used to supplement their calls when communication is necessary, and therefore heard by the casual observer songsters are with us.

Nevertheless, bird song is primarily for claiming territory, inviting a mate to share a home, telling what they had better stay away in order to avoid trouble, and proclaiming love for a chosen partner. These reasons for song determine the dates: singing is at its height in spring and early summer when courtship and nesting are in progress.

Naturally, birds like the house wren, that have more than one brood in a season, continue their singing throughout most of the summer. Some stop while moulting, but begin again afterwards.

Once the young have left the nest, there is another shower by song that he owns (for the time being) any locality in which they are living at the night. Then his evening song continues to be heard until he has met enough to scatter.

Whether cardinals, redstarts, and several other females do sometimes sing, particularly lullabies to their babies before one of its main purpose, singing is chiefly confined to the males.

Some kinds of birds definitely have special songs for specific occasions. The redwinged blackbird gives an "alarm song" when the nest arises. These special songs of course may occur at other than nesting times.

In the breeding period the bird-chorus starts before dawn with robins and goldfinches. One by one others join in until it is difficult to distinguish the various voices. Gradually the chorus dies down, and at mid-day very few birds are singing.

The music swells again, and at dusk there is a full chorus. This is the hour when birds are at their best. If you have never heard a veery, a hermit thrush, or an olive-backed thrush singing at twilight you have a treat in store.

Once darkness falls most birds are silent, with the exception of those like the Whip-poor-will whose habit it is to sing at night and sometimes at dawn. But both the white-throated sparrow, popularly known as the "Canada bird", and that invariable singer, the song sparrow, which sings even in heavy rain, and their sweet, clear voices through the darkness to thrill the listener.

Sir William Stephenson Named Adviser for Manitoba's Industrial Development Plan

By JOHN TRACY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Sir William Stephenson, who considers the designation "quiet Canadian" a higher accolade than the British and American honors he won for wartime counter-intelligence, is helping his native Manitoba in the field of industry.

A multi-millionaire financier with a knowledge of the world's big bankrolls and a knack for helping under-industrialized countries develop their economies, Sir William has been named chief government adviser for Manitoba's industrial development program.

During 1953 he was chairman of the Newfoundland and Labrador corporation helping Newfoundland attract industry and boost its record as an industrial pioneer runs through Asia, Africa, Jamaica and Bermuda.

HAS WORLD INTERESTS

Now 58, the slight, greying Winnipegger lives in New York and takes life easy but keeps an eye on the world-wide interests that have built up his fortune-said to have been founded on a unique can-opener he discovered in a First World War German prison camp.

Sir William, winner of the Military Cross, Distinguished Flying Cross and Croix de Guerre as a First World War aviator, was knighted in 1945 and awarded the United States Medal of Merit and his Second World War work as British security co-ordinator in the western hemisphere.

He told a reporter two years ago that despite these honors he pleased him most was a brief reference in Robert E. Sherwood's book "Roosevelt and Hopkins." A section of the book dealing with wartime British-American security co-operation refers to British security service as being under the direction of "a quiet Canadian, William Stephenson."

Little is known about Sir William's wartime work except its results. His organization is credited with planning a Nazi strategy that upset Hitler's timetable and saved Moscow; with causing the sinking of German submarines by decoding their wireless signals and pinpointing their positions; with breaking up enemy spy rings and preventing effective sabotage in the American continents.

Prominent U.S. publishers among his friends have tried to get the story from him but he always uses the argument that "the last war may not be the final one." Nothing about his organization has leaked out except his wartime associates and Sir William says, with a twinkle in his eye, that's because most of them were "quiet Canadians" too.

NOTABLE SCRAPBOOK

Stephenson is equally reticent about his boyhood in Point Douglas, just outside Winnipeg, where his father kept a lumberyard.

His scrapbook covers the last 30 years of his life in a few pages. A yellowing clipping tells that he made 30 German planes to his credit as a Royal Flying Corps officer and once shot down Lothar von Richthofen, brother of the famed Baron Manfred von Richthofen.

Another clipping contains a fuzzy picture of King George V from a 1924 issue of London's Daily Mail. It was the first radio-Gramamilitat photograph suitable for newspaper reproduction and was moved and received on command received by Stephenson.

He allowed his patents on the device to lapse but now photographs are sent by radio daily to all parts of the world. He had early visions of television when he suggested 30 years ago that his device might be useful for transmitting motion pictures by radio.

Still another clipping tells of the 1934 victory in the classic King's Cup race by a Stephenson-built plane, the Monospar. The plane could fly and climb on only one of its two motors, an unheard-of accomplishment in those times.

THE CAN-OPENER STORY

The story of the can-opener comes from Stephenson's friends. They say that while a war prisoner of the Germans after being shot down in 1916 he engaged with his prison guards in barrying the Germans and stealing from his guards.

Stephenson's loot was a can-opener of the run-around-the-top variety. He noticed that it was patented in 1915 in Germany, Australia and Turkey and determined to patent it elsewhere in the world after he was freed.

His friends say that royalties from the subsequent patents taken out in England laid the basis for the fortune Sir William just smiles and calls the story "apocryphal."

After the war, Stephenson served in Jamaica. The undeveloped state of that colony set him to work again and Cement and General Developments Corporation, one of his interests, built a huge cement plant there.

He had a hand in bringing Bermuda back to its pre-war status as the "Riviera of the Western Hemisphere" and joined with a group of Canadian financiers, including E. P. Taylor, James V. Murdoch and E. W. Rickie in the world commerce corporation. It was set up to stimulate commerce by bridging the foreign-exchange breakdown and licking the dollar shortage.

In 1934 Stephenson married Mary Simmons, a wealthy Tennessee girl. They have homes in New York, Jamaica and Montreal.

FINANCIER

Sir William Stephenson, a multi-millionaires financier and a native of Winnipeg, has been named chief government adviser for Manitoba's industrial development program. Now living in New York, he won British and American honors for wartime counter-intelligence and in 1953 he was chairman of the Newfoundland and Labrador Corporation helping Newfoundland attract industry and investors. He was knighted in 1945 and awarded the United States Medal of Merit and his Second World War work as British security co-ordinator in the western hemisphere.

Cleveland Lead Shaved To 3 Games; Giants Retain Margin Over Brooks

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

OAKS HERE TODAY!

The sturdy Oaks from Oakville form the Bains' opposition in today's double feature at the Exhibition Grounds, the first game starting at 2.30 p.m. and the second under the lights at 8.30. The Bains have a seven and six record but are safely parked in third place behind the Oshawa Transporters and the Toronto Hoskings.

The Transporters play hosts to the Hoskings on this afternoon and according to reports from Oshawa the game will take on all the aspects of a grudge affair. The Transporters are still yelping about the "deal" they were handed by other teams in the league when their American import aspirations were nipped in the bud. It seems Oshawa places the bulk of the blame on the Toronto teams for spearheading the move, and are out to seek their revenge in heavily-scoring battles on the diamond.

• • •

PLAY EARLY!

Paul Mercier's Bluebirds will tangle with Jack Hatch's Madoc Marauders at the Alemite Field tonight, starting at 6.30, instead of the CNRAA Recreation Park as formerly announced. The CNRAA park will be the scene of the Veridan Electric - Oshawa ladies' softball league game. The juniors came up with a not-so-good exhibition against the Point team, dropping a 26-0 decision against last year's champions.

"Warpy" O'Brien and Bill Spafford had something to say about it, and tonight's game should see some spirited action.

• • •

MEMORY LANE . . .

"Uncle Hy", Harry Moore of Pembroke, formerly of Trenton, and now a sports columnist and editorial writer for the Eganville newspaper, digs deeply into a well-stocked memory and comes up with a yarn that should appeal to horsemen of the old days. Under the heading "Jimmy Direct and Dave Teal," Harry writes:

"Back in those days, before and after the First World War, there were a number of fine pacers in this part of the province. Jimmy Stewart of Deseronto, had The Jap, while Dayspring was carrying the torch for Belleville, and Grand Opera for Picton.

"But of the lot, probably none was better known on the half-miles than the black stallion, Jimmy Direct, which came out of Wooler. Bred by Direction, raised, trained and driven by David Teal, who died recently, Jimmy Direct left a trail of well beaten horses across Ontario, through northern New York and well into Michigan." In 1914 his winrace record was 1.15¼ on a half mile track. But since in those days horses were classified by their winrace record, and not by their earnings as it is today, it is possible that the Wooler stallion was a much faster horse than he was reputed to be.

At first Jimmy Direct was not to show the speed, although he never lacked the gameness, that he was to show in later years. And thereby hangs a tale. J'n Belleville in those days was a noted horseman by the name of "Doc" Powell. So to him Dave Teal took his troubles and it was Powell who was to solve them by the simple act of raising the horse's hoppies an inch or two. From then on Jimmy Direct was to prove a consistent winner and "Doc" Powell was to drive him while Mr. Teal looked after his business in Trenton before taking on the duties of clerk of Murray township.

Along about that time Mr. McColl, a brother-in-law of Jimmy Direct's owner, had a fine race horse, which was off the sire of Jimmy Direct but out of a heavy farm mare. He was a big horse, and a good one. A rivalry grew between the owners of the two half-brothers and the result was a matched race on the Wooler track. For the better part of that race it was a nip and tuck affair, but in the stretch Jimmy Direct had the legs to outfoot the McColl horse to the wire.

In after years Mr. Teal was wont to reminisce, and he was proud to show pictures of his great horse in action. He was to tell that eventually Jimmy Direct passed into Peterborough hands but what often happens when a horse changes hands, he never was to show his class any more. By the 20's his name disappeared forever from the winrace list of rags of the National Trotting Association.

HIGHER BRACKETS!

Belleville will be represented in Ontario Amateur Softball Association Senior "B" playdowns this year along with its many othe affiliations, executive member Don Lee said today.

It is the first time in the history of the association that it has been represented in softball's upper brackets, and with Oshawa, Peterborough and Kingston probably following suit some shabby softball series should be played here in the playdown race.

The league boasts the largest affiliation since its inception with the formation of the new bantam series. Besides the senior "B" it will have representation in intermediate "A"; intermediate "AA"; intermediate "B" (Frankford); intermediate "C" (Madoc); Junior "A"; bantam "A" and peewee. Eight affiliations all told.

The winners of the league "A" section will have the choice of entering either the senior "B" or the intermediate "A", playdowns. At the moment the Northern Electrics are leading the loop with thirteen wins and one loss, while Point Anne boasts a nine and two mark. The Feinters are the only team thus far to lack a defeat on the Ojo Cheeker's brood, while both Point defeats came at the hands of the Hennery flock.

Chisox Trounce Indians 8-3 As Yankees Edge Washington; 'Bums' Nip 3-Game Loss String

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Al (Red) Schoendienst, one of baseball's most consistent stars, was making a bid today for the modern National League consecutive game hitting record.

The unassuming second baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals, who for years has been one of baseball's top stars, although in the shadow of the great Stan Musial, hit safely Friday night in his 28th straight game.

He needs to hit safely in each of the next 10 games to equal the modern league mark of 37 set by Tommy Holmes of the Boston Braves in 1945. Should he achieve that goal, he owns the fourth highest consecutive hitting streak.

Joe DiMaggio established the major league record of 56 with the 1941 Yankees. Wilbert Robinson Keeler of the 1897 Baltimore Orioles holds the all-time National League mark of 44.

FOX STARS

Another of the second baseman, Nellie Fox, collected three hits including a two-run single that climaxed a three-run seventh inning to give the Chicago White Sox an 8-3 decision over the Cleveland Indians.

Cleveland's loss, with New York's 6-5 triumph over Washington, trimmed the Indians' first place American League margin over the Yankees to three games. Jim Rivera also starred at the plate for the Sox, hammering two home runs and a single while scoring four runs.

The Yankees overcame a 5-1 deficit, scoring two times in the 8th and eighth with the aid of a throwing error by Eddie Yost and bagging the tying and winning runs in the ninth on hits by Gil McDougald and Bill Skowron and a sacrifice fly by Mickey Mantle.

BUMS FIND A VICTIM

The Brooklyn Dodgers ended a five-game losing streak at the expense of the Philadelphia Phillies 7-5 on Ron Negray's pinch-hit home run in the 10th but remained 6½ games behind the National League-leading New York Giants who whipped the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-3. Johnny Antonelli won the route for his 13th Giant victory.

Campanella, who earlier has displayed that his fingers still can't hand had become numb following an operation last May, also ignited a three-run ninth inning rally with a double that overcame a 5-3 deficit. Two walks and a base-clearing double by Pee Wee Reese accounted for the three tying runs.

Jim Greengrass batted in four runs with a home run and a single for the Cincinnati Redlegs in a 5-3 victory over Milwaukee, their first victory in Field triumph over the Braves this season.

BAKER BURNS CARDS

Gene Baker scored four hits and drove in four runs to lead the Cubs to a 6-4 victory over the Cardinals. Baker had a 3-run single in the 11th victory when the Cubs broke through for the winning runs. Duane Pillette pitched and batted the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-5 victory over Detroit. His single scored what proved to be the winning runs as the Orioles snapped five-game losing streak.

Four home runs—two by shortstop Joe Demestri — gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 9-3 triumph over the Boston Red Sox as Alex Kellner went the distance for his fifth triumph against eight losses.

Records Fall In Empire Games Track Trials

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — A record-smashing performance by a comely Toronto school teacher and a creditable 4:14.2 mile by Bill Parnell Friday night topped the first day's action in the British Empire Games track and field trials here.

Jackie MacDonald who started putting the shot only a year ago, heaved the iron ball 41 feet, ½ inch to crack the Canadian mark of 40 feet, 3¼ inches set by Mary Lawrence of Hamilton last year.

The women's shot put will be an event in the British Empire Games for the first time this year.

A steady drizzle which soaked the University of British Columbia stadium track kept most times slow on the cinder track and field stars went through their paces.

The two-day meet concludes today and the selection committee will go into session after the last race to choose a team of 10 men and 15 women for the Games.

Parnell, of Vancouver, knocked six-tenths of a second from his Canadian mile record set here in 1950. He was 3-10ths seconds slower than his British Empire Games record of 4:13.8 set in Zealand in 1950.

The men's 100-yard dash was won by Don McFarlane of Hamilton, clocked in 10 seconds. Young Harry Nelson of Vancouver, B.C., was right on his heels in 10.1.

Gerry Remmister of Vancouver topped the women's 100 yards, barely edging Ann Sauders of Fredericton, N.B. Her time was 11.5, well off the Canadian mark of 10.8. Only 2-10ths of a second separated the six competitors in the event.

The night's most exciting finish came in the quarter-mile when Victoria's 18-year-old sprint star Terry Tobacco just failed to catch Ken Richmond of Toronto with a sudden burst of speed in the final 30 yards. Favorite was timed in 48.6, 1-10th second ahead of Tobacco.

Doug Kyle of Vancouver had too much at the finish for the rest of the field in the six-mile run. His 31:34.4 clipped the Canadian native record by more than seven seconds.

Other winners included Ian Blume, St. Lambert, Que., men's high jump (six feet); Graham Turnbull, Lachine, Que., men's broad jump (21 ft. 4¼ in.).

Whipper Makes Season Debut With Win Over Ursus, Lewin

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

A hit-and-run artist met his just desserts when he ran into a French "Canadian avenger" last night in Memorial Arena.

It happened after Whipper Billy Watson, who was madder'n the little wet hen, beat the bejabers out of Don Lewin after two minutes of high jinx in the third fall of the main bout, a tag-team do between the Whip and Paul Baillargeon and the Mighty Ursus and his man Friday, Lewin.

Mr. Lewin had irked Mr. Watson in the first fall when he refused to let Oom Paul start the third fall. In fact Mr. Watson planted a healthy jolt to the Gollop pollyum which was not necessary since he was out of the Whip's popularity ratings and the Whip's popularity was needed.

However, Mr. Lewin probably will never shake hands with the Whip again. For the pride of Eat York put all his magnificent strength into a handshaking orgy with Lewin that nearly cost the villain his head. The Whip shook him like a terrier would a rat. His head bobbed back and forth, sideways, and in a circular motion until he looked like a rag doll with a broken neck.

BRIEF BUT FAST

It was fast. It took just two minutes of the Mad Whipper's time. Then Lewin's partner villain in the person of George Bolanas, who used to masquerade as "The Sergeant" in the situation, then suddenly lashed a solid right to the Whip's jaw, a left to the Baillargeon puss, and as the two heroes writhed on the floor, the Bolanas backed out of the ring for the dressing room.

Baillargeon recovered. He leaped to his feet and through the ropes on the trail of the fleeing Zebra while the crowd massed and milled around in unholy glee. We do not know what happened inside but we were informed that a strange noise, audible outside was either the Zebra's brains rattling, or his stripes being torn off one by one by the infuriated Baillargeon.

Nearly fifteen hundred of the faithful were on hand to welcome the Whipper in his first Belleville appearance of the season. They gave him a splendid ovation, and then took time out to enjoy a fan fracas that resulted in two exuberant gentlemen, one of them though, and tried, he could like the Ursus. He went to the ringside, squared off, got a push in the puss and then the gendarmes took over. A pal intervened, and he, too, was escorted lovingly from the arena.

PASSED NOTES

The Ursus, an emaciated 330-pound hunk of carne, with plenty of chill, from Mexico, teamed up with Lewin in an effort to give villainy as has ever been seen here. The two are swell chums. They even pass notes to each other in school. In fact the ink rubbed off the notes on the eyeballs of the Whip and Paul on various occasions.

There is nothing wrong with the Whipper. He demonstrated that in the first fall after Paul had been given the works, by leaping in the ring, conking the noggins of the villains with a resounding "boing" and winding up by throwing them willy-nilly out of the ring.

Ursus got that one back in the second when he gave Baillargeon a spling over, assisted by various pieces of string, paper and the evil machinations of pal Lewin. He gave Paul the coup-de-grace with a backbone shiver. Then came the final fall in infuriated Whip, and that was that.

Timothy Geoghegan, popular Irishman, won over the villainous Lee Henning after thirty minutes of furious sizzling. George Bollans, a double-dyed heavy, and Billy Stack fought twenty minutes before Bollans secured an unpopular fall.

Leonard, Martell, Western Golf Stars Lead Field in Pro Links Tournament

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Two west-erners, tied after par-breaking 18-hole rounds, today led a field of 31 into the 36-hole windup of the $4,178 Canadian Professional Golfers' Association championship.

The West's hopes of winning its fifth straight CPGA title soared Friday when Stanley Leonard of Highlands and Stan Leonard of Vancouver Marine drive took the lead in the first round with cards of 68, one under par for the tough Edmonton Mayfair course.

Only one stroke separated the pair in the 1953 CPGA tournament with Martell winning the title for the first time.

Leonard, four-time winner of the tournament, went two strokes up on Martell on the first nine holes only to have the former Edmonton traffic cop drive back with the opening day's best nine-hole round —a two-under-par 33 on the back nine.

ONLY EAGLE

Martell scored the only eagle of the day when he sank a chip shot from the 18th green.

While Martell was the sentimental hometown favorite who got encouragement from the gallery, Leonard was just as much at home in Mayfair's 6,715-yard layout. He shot the best pre-tournament practice round here, a 67, and holds the tournament course record, a 64 set in 1952.

The Stan's main hopes were shouldered by 25-year-old "dark-horse" and several veterans, all the latter former CPGA champs.

Jack Kay of Montreal's Mount Bruno, was two strokes behind the leaders. He could have well been breast of them except for two putts which burned the cup.

CLOSE BEHIND

Close on the heels of Martell, Leonard and Kay were Bill Kerr and Damien Cloutier of Montreal, both with 70s after the initial round, Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, Jules Huot of Montreal, Gordon Brydson and Willie Lamb of Toronto, all with 72s. Another stroke behind were Ontario's Stan Leonard and young Al Balding of Port Credit, 73s.

All of the pace-setters were scheduled to be the last out this year in a day's final rounds, with Leonard preceding Martell and Kay.

Eight Clubs To Compete In Row Trials

PORT DALHOUSIE (CP)—Oarsmen from eight clubs will compete in the opening trials for the British Empire Games in Vancouver July 30 to Aug. 7 over the Henley course here today.

Four clubs, the James Bay Rowing Club of Victoria, the Vancouver Rowing Club, the Penticton Rowing Club and the Kelowna Rowing Club, are travelling east from British Columbia for the trials.

Two clubs, the Argonaut Rowing and the Don Rowing Clubs, the Hamilton Leander Club, and the host St. Catharines Rowing Club will also try for berths.

Five shells are involved, with interest fixed on the heavy eights. Other trial events are the pair oars, four with coxswain, doubles and singles. The central Ontario Rowing Association will hold its second regatta during the afternoon along with the trials to give rowing enthusiasts a full program.

'Alouettes Sign 'Terrific' Star

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Alouettes announced happily Thursday night that they have signed a "terrific" French - Canadian fullback for their Big Four team.

He is Jacques Belec, 23-year-old native of North Bay, Ont., who starred with University of Western Ontario, which won the championship of the Intercollegiate League last year.

Alouettes said they won Belec away from Winnipeg Blue Bombers, who had been dickering for his services. Belec, weighs 185 pounds and standing five feet, 10 inches, comes to Alouettes highly praised by college coach Johnny Metras.

A two-way player, Belec gained 5.7 yards per try in seven games last season, carrying the ball 79 times for 490 yards, said Alouettes.

ENTER SOCCER SERIES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Sixty-six clubs have entered the qualifying series for the Canadian soccer championship, secretary George Anderson of the Football Association of Canada said Friday. The series now are being played. Provincial winners will be declared by the end of July, when the draw will be made for inter-provincial games. The date and place of the final has not been decided.

Stewart Warner Edges Bobcats For First Win

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

The two tall-end clubs of the Belleville and District Softball league met last night but came up with a top-notch performance as Stewart Warner won their first game in 13 starts, a 6-5 decision over the Bobcats. The win was scored on two in the records as both teams agreed to this game to be the regular scheduled one and a postponed one as well.

Bill Bunty pitched the win for Warner, allowing only two hits for a 3-0 after three innings, 3-2 in five and a half then 3-4 and finally 6-5 as the two teams battled tooth and nail right down to the wire.

Jack Canning was credited with the win, coming in to relieve starter Frank Baldwin, in the seventh. Canning worked 1 1/3 innings, giving up two hits for a run while whiffing a pair and walking two. Baldwin was touched for five hits accounting for the first four runs as he got three on strikes and walked only one.

Miller's clean single, a sacrifice and a two-base throwing error by Bob Temple paved the way for the Warner's second inning rally. Then they increased the lead by two more in the third when successive singles by Bunty and Miller plus a walk loaded the bases. Don Ashley came through in the clutch with a clothes-line single to centre sending the two lead runners home.

The score remained there until the sixth when the Bobcats picked two unearned runs. Duke Doran reached base when Murray dropped a throw at third, Harry Wardhaugh sacrificed and was safe when Temple threw the ball into centre field and the runners were on third and second. Dunberry hitted a fly to centre scoring home after the catch and Logue also flew out, Wardhaugh scoring home with a 3-2 score.

Jerry Lewis pushed a home run over the left field fence behind James single for the winners fifth run. Bunty struck out Ken McBride got one back with a base empty single to left in the seventh while singles by Dick Fitzpatrick and Doran made it 6-5.

Miller walked to open the Bobcats' seventh but Bertrim sacrificed him to second and he reached third when Fitzpatrick bunted down the third base line. Doug Murray then delivered a scratch single to left for the winning run.

An overthrow to third base by Murray in the ninth allowed the Bobcats to get within one of tying the game but Canning fanned Bertrim with Doran on second base via a double.

Shorty Miller came up with the winning single with a short for the winners as Bid Bertrim at third, Dave Bunty batting out a double play and pulling off another, unassisted.

Chick Jackson and Miller each had two hits for the victors while Lewis got the homer. Doubles went to Stan Creeggan and Keith Bertrim while Doug Murray and Don Ashley scratched out timely singles.

Tank McBride was best for the Bobcats with a homer and single, Doran had two singles and a double while Fitzpatrick claimed a brace of one-baggers. Doug Bone rounded out the seven hits with a single.

Line ups:

Bobcats — Nolan, McBride, Temple, Whalen, Fitzpatrick, Bone, Doran, Wardhaugh, Dunberry, Logue, Donovan, Young, Reid.

Leafs Piggyback Into Lead Over Red Wings

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs are back in first place in the tight International league pennant race today.

Thanks to an order by league president Frank Shaughnessy and a double victory over Richmond Virginians Friday night, Toronto moved to a one-game lead over the second-place Rochester Red Wings.

Shaughnessy overruled a decision by umpire Max Pelerski and ordered a replay on Aug. 17 of a game which Buffalo Bisons won from Toronto 4-3 June 24. The decision removed a jinx from the Maple Leafs and a victory from the Bisons.

Toronto moved into first place by dropping the Virginians 10 and 6-2 while Rochester split a doubleheader with Havana Cuban Sugar Kings. Red Wings won the first game 5-0. The Kings came back to take the nightcap 4-1.

PITCHER CLOUTS

In the only other league game, Montreal Royals scored five runs in the eighth inning as they scored a 5-2 victory over Syracuse Chiefs for their fifth in a row.

Willie Jewell gave up four hits to five innings of the seven-inning opener for the Leafs before Jack Crimian came on to retire six men in a row in the final two frames. Frank Shearer gave up seven hits in 6 2-3 innings of the nightcap and Crimian came on again. Pitcher Peter Sanford, transferred just one safety, the only hit the Virginians got off John Sain in 5 1-3 innings.

The second-game Red Wings won behind the four-hit pitching of Jack Fazsholz, who recorded his 10th victory of the season.

Emilio Cueche hurled the second game victory for the Kings after relieving the Red Wings to three-hits.

Lefthander Marvin Williams blanked the Royals for his first seven innings, but the Royals bunched six hits to score all their runs.

Ed Roebuck, third of the Montreal hitchers, scored the final run over the last six innings to earn his seventh win against three losses.

Panthers Blank Red Sox 10-0; Terriers Win

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

John Maldovan has one more victory to go to complete his cycle. The Kitchener Panther hurler has defeated every team in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League in the first-place St. Thomas Elgins and he has yet to taste his first defeat.

Maldovan must also have one of baseball earned averages in the league. He has allowed only six runs during four victories, giving up two nine-inning shutouts.

He blanked Brantford Red Sox 10-0 Thursday night to help fall a four-game winning streak for the Sox and stiffe any hopes the Sox had of climbing back into a tie for first place.

Gait Terriers broke a 10-inning, 3-3 home-field victory over Guelph-Waterloo Royals in last night's other game.

MICKEL BELT

In the Nickel Belt Senior League the last-place Sudbury Cubs thrashed dumped Sudbury Shamrocks 8-4 in Sudbury to send the Shamrocks back into second place. At Creighton Garson Greyhounds and Creighton Miners fought to a 3-3 tie in a game halted by darkness.

The return of 7,000 fans watched the Kitchener-Brantford game in Kitchener. Besides holding the lead for seven innings, the Panthers also claimed 12 strikeout victims.

Third baseman Don Gallinger had two hits in five trips to the plate and sent home two runs. Catcher Wolf Ilg drove home the three official at bats and also walked twice.

Percy Goldsholl, the first of three Brantford pitchers, was the loser. He was charged at 2-2.

FIRST OVER ROYALS

A single by first baseman Joe Parise and Sadie Groat home run with third in the 10th to give the Terriers their squeaker over Guelph Royals. It was their first win of the season over the Royals before a Gait crowd.

Mel Duncan hit a bases-empty loaded home run for the Terriers, Bobby Fischer slammed a three-run four-bagger for the Royals in the first inning.

Kitchener plays a doubleheader at Brantford Saturday while single games the Terriers have Gait playing the Royals at Waterloo and St. Thomas meeting the Majors in London.

Sunday Brantford and Kitchener move into Kitchener Alpine Stadium for a game as part of the Old Timers' Baseball Association "Help Us Help the Kids" program.

Disagrees With Trials Venue

VANCOUVER (CP)—Time trials for the British Empire Games should not have been held here, Maj. H. W. Snelgrove of Montreal, national chairman of the Games Association of Canada, said Friday.

Maj. Davies said representation should have been better if trials had been in eastern Canada.

His biggest problem now is to get suitable housing accommodation for the athletes, he said.

Maj. Snelgrove said he will start Bill Hose on the mound against the league-leading St. Thomas Elgins here tonight.

ARCHERY CHAMPIONSHIPS

HAMILTON (CP) — The Canadian Archery Association will hold its Canadian and international championship here from Aug. 1-6.

Yanks, Not Sox Tribe's Worry Says Lopez

CHICAGO (AP) — Manager Al Lopez of the first-place Cleveland Indians fears only the New York Yankees, now three games back of the pace.

"Even if the Chicago White Sox whip us four straight," said Lopez, "it's the Yankees, not the White Sox we'll be worried about."

The Pale Hose gained some slight measure of revenge by whipping 43,470 faithful Friday night, trimming Cleveland 8-3 to end a string of four consecutive one-run losses to the Tribe.

"Sure, the White Sox are primed to give us the works," said Lopez after the opening loss of a four-game set at Comiskey Park.

BUT FEAR THE YANKS

"But I don't forget that in 1951, 1952 and 1953 it was the Yankees who beat us to the wire. That's the club we have to beat.

"I'm not overlooking the possibility of the White Sox making up lost ground with a patched-up line up. We did pretty good ourselves with Al Rosen and Bobby Avila on the sidelines."

He was referring to the Sox playing their games at third and rookie Ron Jackson at first in place of Avila, who's batting for Ferris Fain, respectively.

This is a real death struggle for the third-place White Sox, who now rest six games behind the Tribe. Manager Paul Richards is pinning all his hopes on his pitching staff, but Hose over until his cripples mend.

Would Use Golf To Improve World Relations

SOUTHPORT, England (AP) — A new British international golf group is in the process of being formed with the object of bringing business men and philanthropists who want to use the sport to improve world relations.

Robert Hudson of Portland, Ore., a half way through a trip by foot, land, Scotland, Norway, Denmark, France and possibly Germany before he returns home, is interested in joining an international association.

John Jay Hopkins, Montreal industrialist, organized the idea for the group when he visited the International Golf Association, which governs golf in Canada and Miami Beach, Fla., one of the most successful sports promoters in the U.S. Hopkins has agreed to manage and promote the association.

Hudson said Friday the group will, in the next two or three months, organize and sponsor the first international golf championship at which representatives of governments would be contacted for amateurs, professionals and women.

The main object of Mr. Hopkins' and my group is to promote international relations," he said. "I believe that a fine game like golf can be helpful in bringing diplomats, politicians and others a common talking subject," Hudson said.

Petes Wallop Tigers 19-5

PETERBOROUGH (CP)—The league - leading Peterborough Trailermen defeated the third-place Hamilton Tigers 19-5 before a crowd of nearly 3,200 at an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game here Friday night.

Denny Pelletier paced Trailermen with five goals. Bob Allan scored three while Russ Slater, Lou Cossa, Jack Bionda and Grant Burns counted two each. Harry Wright, Bobby Thorpe and Ken Killingbeck scored one apiece. Jay Hill scored two goals for Hamilton while Jerry Lewis, Willie Logan, Jim McNulty and Tony D'Alnico, added singles.

Majors Release Two Hurlers

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Manager Frank Colman said Friday London Majors of the Intercounty Baseball League has cut two pitchers from its staff — Alexander and Johnny Sullivan. He said the team is looking for another right-hander.

The release of Alexander and Sullivan left the ranks with a five-man pitching staff, including Colman who may work some games in left field.

Colman said he will start Bill Hose on the mound against the league-leading St. Thomas Elgins here tonight.

Roy Campanella May Quit Baseball Has Lost Control of Two Fingers

BROOKLYN (AP)—Roy Campanella, the iron man catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers, has strictly no control over two fingers of his left hand and he sadly admitted today that his baseball career may end after the 1954 season.

"A doctor friend of mine told me there is a possibility that the nerve is gone," he said. "They told me if it is true, I might as well forget about baseball.

"I have an appointment to see Dr. Herman Peit on Monday to see if the operation for a bone chip removal last May damaged a vital nerve."

Campanella returned to action four weeks after the operation and has been complaining recently that the hand hurt. He said the pain was so bad in Friday night's game against the Philadelphia Phillies that he couldn't grip the bat properly. Still, he hit two home runs and batted in nine in one man on base to win it for the Dodgers, 9-5.

The burly catcher, a member of the Dodgers since mid-1948, said he has been playing at third and rookie Ron Jackson at first in place of Gil Hodges and Billy Ferris Fain, respectively.

This is a real death struggle for the third-place White Sox, who now rest six games behind the Tribe. Manager Paul Richards is pinning all his hopes on his pitching staff, but Hose over until his cripples mend.

Gerry James May Quit Junior Hockey

TORONTO (CP) — At least two star players may be lost to Ontario Hockey Association Junior A teams as a result of early weekly salary limit, officials said Friday.

General Manager Stafford Smythe of the Toronto Marlboros said standout defenceman Gerry James is through as a junior hockey player unless he taps his 1954-55 contract which calls for more than $5,000.

Hap Emms, Barrie Flyers coach and chairman of the committee that drafted the rule change, said he would probably lose Leonard Morrison who was earning slightly over the limit last season.

TO LOWER SALARIES

"I'm willing to lose a player to the limit rather than see junior salaries down to a sensible limit," Smythe said. "I guess James will have to turn pro but in his case he's lucky enough to have the ability to make hockey pay. Other boys will have to take a cut to $60 or stay out of hockey."

Smythe said James signed the contract before the deadline went to play football with the Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Union.

"This is for the good of hockey," Emms commented. "Salaries were getting out of hand."

Tackle Innovations

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT
(United Sportsman, Author and Creator of Selmar Tackle)

My son and I every season fish a pool in one of our trout streams wherein resides a school of 'kingsize brown trout. Trouble is, they rise regularly on floating insects. We find them rising and dimpling the surface of the pool, taking the drifting food which the current brings them.

I know it sounds like Heaven on Earth, but there is quite a problem rising to drifting hatches. However, like most things in this world, there is a catch to it. The fish are brownies feed almost exclusively on tiny black midges and flies which are to imitate artificially.

Thus, fishing for them is somewhat like fishing for smelts that is strong enough to hold them does not interest me. Also, I have fine eyes for small hooks, on which they can be hooked now and then, but either lose the line or the hooks tear free. The largest trout I have landed from this pool to date has weighed 2 3-4 pounds although we have hooked some of triple that size.

This year things promise to be different. Some of the smallest hooks from France— fine, needle-sharp, and incredibly strong. They are unbreakable, and by the same way small hooks should. Once set, they will land large trout.

More important, however, is a new leader material which has been developed by the Selmar company. It is called platyl. On the desk before me is a roll of it, and calibrates, on my own micrometer, four and seven-tenths thousandths of an inch. This is fine strand has a breaking strength of almost two pounds. As may, those big trout are scheduled for serious trouble this season.

Remember When

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

Luke Hamlin, then 42 years old, pitched nearly four hours and finally singled to drive in the winning run as Toronto Maple Leafs beat Rochester 3-2 in an International League game that went 16 innings, seven years ago today. Hamlin, once a pitching star with Brooklyn Dodgers, was the leading pitcher of the Leafs staff that year with a 15-6 record.

Since spinning reels were first introduced in this country one of their outstanding faults, from any viewpoint, is the way they must be held in the fingers of the hand with the reel post held between the fingers. Not only is that metal post uncomfortable in the course of a day of hard fishing this grip can and does sometimes cause blisters.

ONE MANUFACTURER

One Chicago has come up with a new wrinkle in the design of this type of reel which does away entirely of leaving the post center on the frame of the gear housing. It moves it to the rear of the gear housing, thereby allowing easier grip and has to be on rod grip, uncumbered by the typical metal post.

To be sure, the reel-seat plate must be held in the hand as it fits against the rear grip, but this has been shaped so that not only is it comfortable but it places the reel in perfect exactly in the correct position for controlling the line.

The reel itself is compact, well-made, and sturdy, with a bale pick-up instead of a hook. By and large, it is a well-designed if not new construction both from the standpoints of casting comfort and utility.

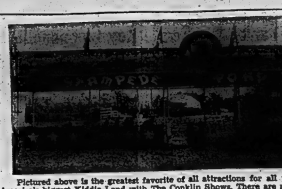
Pflueger's new spinning reel is a little on the light side, but it is light and beautifully made. The adjustable drag, instead of being on the top of the hood sits in a shelf into the rear of the gear housing, behind the crank and as far removed as possible from chances of contact with water, dirt and sand.

Another unusual feature of this one is a tiny spring-actuated clip which is built right into the spool eliminating the use of metal clips or rubber bands to hold the line in place on the spool.

The reel shows careful research and design in the field of full bale pick-up—a good one—and being sturdily built, promises many years of hard usage with minimum refrain.

Minor Baseball

A two-hit pitching effort on the part of Young brought the Y's Men club their first victory of the year last night, a 7-0 triumph over Vaughan's in a scheduled bantam game played at the CNRAA Park.



Gord Vaughan and David Poirie shared the losers hurling with Vaughan taking the decision on four runs of five hits in four innings. Poirie gave up four hits for the remaining three runs.

The Y's Men took a 3-0 lead in the first frame, but single tallies in the second and fifth while finishing with a pair in the seventh. They played good ball with one error against them while Vaughan's committed four.

Keller and Masters paced the victors at bat with two singles each while Doxtator had a triple, Singler went to Young Cullen, Latchford, and McBride. Kerruish had a double for one hit while Leacock got the other a single, in a losing effort.

Vaughan's	000 000 0	—	0	4	4

Young and Latchford; Vaughan, Poirie (5) and Kerruish.

AT THE McCARTHY THEATRE

When the scenery was completely ruined, director Gordon Douglas, star James Whitmore and the two property men were happy. The strange scene of devastation took place during the secret shooting of Warner Bros., new shocker, "Them!" which opens Monday at the McCarthy Theatre. The happy faces of the onlookers were in complete contrast to the destruction on the sound stage at the Burbank studio. What had been a cleverly arranged general store was in shambles.

It turns out that the wrecked store was the reason for the cheery countenances of the quartet of onlookers. Only a short time before a perfectly designed country store had been on the site. The property men had carefully stocked the shelves with all the produce normally sold in such a shop.

Then just before he was ready to shoot the sequence, Douglas had given the property men the chance to release that destructive urge we all have of wanting to wreck property. To be paid for so doing instead of being taken to jail was a dream come true. Turner and Asher, the Warner prop men, merrily went about their tasks with axe and sledge hammer. They knocked down shelves, piled up canned goods, spilled molasses and sugar all over the counters and floor.

The destructive impulse then overcame Douglas. He took over the sledge hammer and hauled the axe to Whitmore. Director and star then completed the job of demolition. When the place looked as though it had been struck by the most devastating hurricane Douglas decided he was ready to film the scene.

AT THE CAPITOL

Silvana Mangano is Back . . . in Her New English Language Hit.

Silvana Mangano, whose magnetic beauty and dynamic sloeeliness in "Bitter Rice" and "Anna" set afire film audiences all over the world, is the star of "Lure of the Sila," the dramatic new I.F.E. American-language picture which opens Monday evening at the Capitol Theatre.

Filmed in the Sila, the picturesque if little known tip of southern Italy, the picture is based on an original story by Steno and Monicelli and deals with the primitive passions of the inhabitants of Calabria, a spot still comparatively untouched by modern civilization.

Miss Mangano portrays a Calabrian peasant girl whose irresistible charms set a father against his son in a contest to the death, in this new role the sultry Samba girl of "Anna" is reported to establish new standards of feminine grace and seductiveness.

"Lure of the Sila" reunites Silvana with Vittorio Gassman, her sinister partner in "Bitter Rice" and "Anna." The star-studded supporting cast includes Amedeo Nazzari and Jacques Sernas, two of Europe's most popular actors. The film also introduces the wolfhound, Lupo, a superlatively trained police dog, who is Italy's entry for top canine cinema honors.

Duilio Coletti, who has several international successes to his credit, handles the direction of this Italian saga of love and jealousy against the Calabrian background of enchantingly beautiful virgin wilderness. A location never before invaded by a movie camera, Enzo Masetti compiled and composed the folk music which adds to the eerie authenticity of the atmosphere in which the drama unfolds.

Since the great fame in "Bitter Rice" and "Anna," La Mangano has been busily engaged in Rome and Hollywood. Recently, she completed a starring role in "Ulysses" opposite Kirk Douglas, immediately after she plunged into a co-starring role with Ricardo Cesarean and Shelley Winters in "Mambo."

"Annapurna"

"Annapurna," the added attraction, is true, gripping and authentic. It is a dramatic story that captured the hearts and minds of a breathless world! "Annapurna" is a back-breaking adventure and filmed in natural breathtaking color by Technicolor. It's Maurice Herzog's best seller, filmed exactly at it happened.

AT THE BELLE

"KISS ME KATE."

Gay Romantic Musical Hit, Starring Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel, Ann Miller

With "Kiss Me Kate," M-G-M brings today, to the Belle Theatre screen, the smash Broadway hit, in Technicolor.

One of the few shows ever to achieve a run of more than two years on Broadway, this spectacularly successful Cole Porter hit, with its play by Samuel and Bella Spewack, is a brilliant choice for a lavish, star-studded Anaco'colored, by technicolor picture spectacular when projected in the Belle's Wide-vision screen. Its hilarious complexities and love-tempermental actress, Kathryn Grayson given to hurling flower pots and her equally forceful vis-a-vis, Howard Keel, who tames her with a royal spanking and then with a bull whip, has the color and lightning action which leads itself happily to audience participation.

Highlighting the laughs, Keenan Wynn's specialties and Jose Jamaking of the story, its plot has two separate settings, it's the musical score of some fifteen songs, considered to be the most varied and brilliant ever to come from the prolific Cole Porter pen. They include the romantic "Wunderbar", the haunting, "So In Love", the sly "Always Leet You to You in My Fashion," the spirited "I Hate Men", the torrid "Too Darn Hot" and the rowdy "Brush Up Your Shakespeare", as well as "Were Thine That Special Face", "I've Got to Sing a Lullaby", "I'll Wind in Paris", "We Open in Venice", "Tom, Dick or Harry", "Why Can't You Behave", "Where is the Life That Always Leet", "From This Moment On" and the title song. Most of them became instant hits the day after the play's opening, and as sung and danced by the principals, they provide some of the happiest moments of "Kiss Me Kete".

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 11, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Indications stress caution in all matters and transactions involving money. Day does favor necessary hard work, healthy sports and outdoor activities. Remember God's work.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Most activities need extra care now: avoid recklessness, needless mistakes. If you start day with religious services and prayer you will be better equipped.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — A great day for remodeling, for strengthening character as well as plans and action. We can always improve, and today is a good one in which to work on building our spiritual and mental selves. Enjoy free hours wisely.

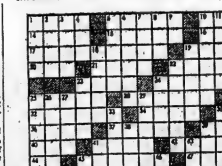
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Your judgment should be in good form now — and all constructive matters, necessary work, tasks to aid the home, community, church are highly favored. Avoid worry; join family in healthy fun.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Advantageous for matters pertaining to the solid home, property gets, realty, handling animals, foods. Strengthen your soul (and interests) by honoring God's special day at church.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — When possible, relax, enjoy a hobby or other diverting recreation. First your religious services, which always comfort and fortify us. Duties can be done calmly, without strain.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Head Taurus and Virgo now. Strenuous activities should be controlled with due regard for health; rest at intervals. The day can be agreeable with proper management.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — A smile in your heart and on display will do wonders today for you, family, everyone. Don't let tiresome — or irritating — situations annoy you. Pray and relax, but don't overstrive yourself.

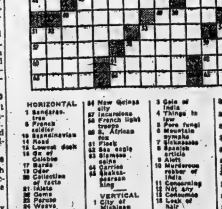


November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — You may not feel up to your usual bright, ambitious self but perhaps it is just as well. We all need periods for retrospection, survey and relief from monotony. Do some soul-searching.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — You are more favored than many. With your Saturn in major benefic aspect, your special interests and talents are encouraged. Wholesome activities and recreation can aid health.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Reasonable restraint advised—particularly if on vacation or in vigorous activities. Avoid the uselessly spectacular and unpremeditated. Proceed with well-planned programs in confidence.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — A comfortable day with neither over-generous nor too restricting configurations. Don't take on unnecessary laborious work.



YOU BORN TODAY have many interesting talents and capabilities. And a few faults, too! But the latter can be easily corrected through your sturdy will power. Don't let any unwanted habits become so deeply imbedded as to thwart the happiness and achievement that can be yours. Overlook the idiosyncrasies of others and don't be too sensitive or faultfinding. Life is worth living and you can help greatly to add to its worth. Cultivate and use daily your natural charm, gift for entertaining, and for soothing others in trouble or illness. Birthdate: John Quincy Adams, 6th U.S. pres.; John Wanamaker, merchant.

Strikes Hit Bread Supplies In Vancouver, Beer Deliveries In Many Ontario Districts

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Strikes have hit bread supplies in Vancouver and beer deliveries in half a dozen western Ontario communities, while a threat of walkouts hangs over Canada's major railways and three basic steel companies.

A Canadian Press survey today also listed labor troubles at two plants of the Steel Company of Canada in Montreal and among groups expected to stage the strikeland show at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto next month. Meanwhile, further layoffs were forecast at a Hamilton implements plant in Toronto.

Nearly 500,000 consumers are affected by the shut-lockout of Vancouver and Nanaimo bakery workers which started Thursday.

TAKE STRIKE VOTE

Voting is under way by 155,000non-operating employees of the railways on whether a strike should be called to back contract demands for improved working conditions. The group, which staged a one-day strike that tied up the railways in 1950, comprises employees who do not actually operate the trains.

Ballots have been distributed to the railway workers and are due to be returned by mail by Aug. 2.

Members of the United Steelworkers of America (CCL) at the Algoma Steel Corporation in Sault Ste. Marie, and at the Steel Company of Canada in Hamilton have authorized union officers to call strikes if necessary to enforce demands for wage increases. Contract negotiations for the two big basic steel plant, that of Dominion Steel and Coal Company in Sydney, N.S., have also bogged down.

SEEK WAGE BOOST

Workers in three plants, the union seeks an 8½-cent hourly increase over the present basic hourly rate of 84 cents, or the 12½-cent "package" increase combining a pay raise and fringe benefits. The demand at Sault Ste. Marie does not include a pension request made at the other plants.

Members of the steelworkers' union walked out at two plants [illegible] of the Steel Company of Canada in the Montreal area today in sympathetic [illegible]. Company spokesmen said about three-quarters of the employees returned to work [illegible] with union leaders. About 1,200 workers are involved in the disputes.

Elsewhere on the labor scene: A jurisdictional dispute between the American Guild of Variety Artists and the American Federation of Musicians continued to threaten the Canadian National Exhibition's grandstand show but talks were reopened.

LAYOFF COMING

An official of the United Automobile Workers (CIO-CCL) predicted that at least 500 workers will be laid off at the Massey-Harris-Ferguson Limited plant in Toronto at the end of the week.

A production cut brought a six-week layoff for 400 workers at the Cornwall plant of Canada (Canada) Limited.

About 600 brewery workers throughout southwestern Ontario have left their jobs since Monday or have been suspended. Drivers said they walked out when told they could not have helpers for the unloading of 200-pound barrels of beer and ale.

NEW PARTNERS

In oil, the prairies now have a lusty new partner for their old standby, grain farming. The two riches often are harvested in the same field. In this Alberta government photo an Alberta farmer cuts a grain crop with an oil drilling rig in the background. (CP Photo).

Finding of Oil at Leduc Marked Rebirth of Industry in West

Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—The modern-day Canadian oil industry was created on the sunny winter afternoon of Feb. 13, 1947, when the still ness over a farm field near Leduc, 20 miles south of here, was broken by the jubilant cry of a driller: "It's oil—oil!"

That marked the rebirth of an industry more than two decades old—Canada's pioneer field, Turner valley, was in the twilight of its often hectic career.

The Leduc jackpot fell to Imperial Oil Ltd., which had sunk 20 years of effort and $23,000,000 into dry holes in the quest for a big light-oil reservoir in western Canada.

WIDESPREADING BOOM

Leduc No. 1 and the thousands of oilwell successes following it have brought unprecedented riches to Alberta. The boom of the last seven years has extended to the other western provinces and pipelines have stretched from the Pacific coast to the industrial cities of the east.

Leduc gave the oil industry two calendars—before and after Leduc. Comparisons of figures are the measuring stick of Canada's march from a big petroleum importer to a country within sight of self-sufficiency.

In 1946, the year before Leduc, Alberta produced almost all of Canada's oil but barely enough for herself. Turner valley accounted for 2,937,362 barrels of Alberta's 4,704,322-barrel production and the Dominion's 7,600,000 barrels.

Last year Canada's pioneer field produced only 2,409,987 barrels but Alberta's total soared to a record 77,420,802 barrels of the Dominion's total 81,000,000 barrels.

This year alone Alberta's total output likely will exceed its cumulative production of 90,300,000 barrels in the 32 years since Leduc.

Last year Canada produced 44 per cent of her oil requirements, although consumption had more than doubled since 1946, when she met less than 10 per cent of her own needs.

HUGE INVESTMENT

Before Leduc, two dozen or so oil companies operating in western Canada spent about $1,000,000 a month on exploration and development. In 1953 some 340 companies spent $1,000,000 a day. The year's total equalled one-third the value of a bumper Canadian wheat crop.

This year, while some phases of business are levelling off, oil companies are expected to pour out another $400,000,000.

The Alberta government received less than $1,000,000 annually through oil and gas rents to 1947. From Leduc to May 31 this year, $218,000,000 flowed into the provincial treasury, $46,54,810 coming in four days alone during two lease and reservation sales last year. Receipts this year are expected to near $90,000,000.

The petroleum industry still is in relative infancy in Saskatchewan, Manitoba and British Columbia. But what has happened in Alberta is an indication of what might be expected there.

IN-OTHER PROVINCES

In 1946, Saskatchewan produced only 17,500 barrels of oil from 21 wells, all heavy crude unattractive to refiners. Last year the province's output soared to 2,786,000 barrels from 782 wells and this year's production is expected to exceed 5,000,000 barrels.

Manitoba, which produced no oil in 1946, saw its 81 wells in 1953 turn out 656,000 barrels, a 470-per-cent increase since 1952. Output this year may hit 2,000,000 barrels.

During 1953 Saskatchewan's first major discovery of light crude, comparable to that of Leduc and Redwater in Alberta, was made at Smiley, southwest of Saskatoon. Manitoba brought in its first pro-ductive light oil pool at Roselea, near Birden in the southeast corner of the province.

B.C. does not yet loom large in the oil picture from the production standpoint, but in its Fort St. John field in the Peace river block, it has tremendous natural-gas reserves, placing it beside Alberta's Pincher creek as Canada's two largest gas fields.

Yet the industry says it has only scratched the surface. Only one exploratory well has been drilled for every 178 square miles of prospective oil territory in western Canada, compared with one well for every 12 square miles in the United States.

TREMENDOUS BENEFITS

What has all this meant to western Canada, particularly Alberta, which has had the big share of the benefits?

It has brought increased population, widening job opportunities through new industries and record construction, a diversified economy and a strengthening of public finances.

The industry says lower prices for gasoline and heating oil have meant an annual saving of $60,000,000 to $70,000,000 annually to prairie residents. Farm mechanization has been speeded.

Alberta government coffers are so full that Premier Manning talks in terms of a debt-free, tax-free province in the foreseeable future.

DEBT REDUCED

The province's total public debt, $146,501,000 in 1946, was slashed to $94,283,000 at the end of 1953 mainly because of oil. Current government cash and investments could wipe all that out today and leave almost as much to spare, but the province follows a debt schedule which will make it Canada's only debt-free province by 1973.

The boom has centred on Edmonton, now Canada's third largest refining and petrochemical centre behind Sarnia, Ont., and Montreal, with more than $200,000,000 invested in such plants. All this came since Leduc, along with an increase in greater Edmonton's population to 217,400 from 113,000, and some 1,600 other new industries.

For Canada as a whole, the oil industry estimates domestic production has improved her foreign exchange position by $700,000,000 since Leduc through a saving on imports of crude and oil products. The industry says that since 1946 investment in Canadian oil totals $2,100,000,000, of which possibly one-half was outside capital.

HUGE OIL EXPANSION

The modern-day Canadian oil industry dates from February, 1947, with the discovery of oil at the famous Leduc, Alta., field. The above shows the spectacular growth of oil production since then. In 1946 Canada's crude oil output was 7,900,000 barrels. Last year due largely to Alberta's record 77,420,802 barrels, the Canadian output reached 81,000,000 barrels. Canada produced 44 per cent of her oil requirements as against less than 10 per cent of her needs in 1946. (CP Photo).

And you wont even have to leave the house, because the Hewses are perfectly willing to come here for the lessons, she said.

Could I even play in my slippers? pop said, and ma said, Why, I suppose so, yes, if it would help you to concentrate. The Hewses are broad minded, they wont mind. So that's the suggestion, William, what do you say? she said.

I say no, pop said.

Being the sad end of the subject for ma.

Father and Five Children Burned To Death on Reserve

Fire Discovered by Boys Camping on Walpole Is.

WALPOLE ISLAND, Ont. (CP)—Six persons were burned to death early today when a fire destroyed their home on this Indian reservation.

The dead, all Indians, are a father and five of his six children. Another child and its mother were away at the time of the fire.

Dead are: Frank Jones, about 45; Gloria, 14, Nannette, 12, Mabel, 10, Charles 7 and Edmund, 5.

The fire was discovered about 11:30 a.m. by three boys camping on the island, 20 miles south of Sarnia in the St. Clair River.

The boys, all about 15, were Jack Moore of Detroit, Wilbert of Wallaceburg and Allen Lawrenson of Windsor, Ont.

They heard the children's cries as the devouring flames spread swiftly through the four - room one-storey frame house on the western side of the island. They swam to the island and kept the flames from spreading to the house on the eastern side of the island. They then ran in the rain for three miles south of Sarnia in the St. Clair River.

The blaze, believed to have been started by boys playing with matches, broke out on tourist camp property about four miles west of the reserve and burned at least eight square miles of woodland. At one time winds carried it straight for Westbrook, and its 500 inhabitants.

It was brought under control by 300 firemen and volunteers, many of them motorists who happened to pass the scene, after a seven-hour fight. No one was seriously injured. One man struck his leg with an axe as he looked at the blaze and firemen tried to set up a fire line. He was treated at hospital.

LENT HAND

Men and equipment from centres within a 30-mile radius of Westbrook, about seven miles west of Kingston, came to lend a hand. The fire was brought in check twice. But a new wind came up and sent it ranging through the woodland.

Fire Chief Vince Pierce of Kingston said his men had the fire under control late Sunday night. Firemen patrolled the outer rim of the blaze during the night just in case it broke out again.

The fire apparently started because some tourist's cabins, reported said boys were seen around the cabins before the outbreak.

The fire swept north on a south wind and destroyed 50 acres of elm and cedar stands. The wind then changed to the west and sent it towards Westbrook.

The fire reached the north side of highway No. 2 but did not jump across. However, much woodland was destroyed on the farm of G. H. Decker of Toronto. His land is adjacent to the tourist camp property. About 40 acres of land were scorched.

Princess Visits British Troops In West Germany

BONN, Germany (Reuters) — Britain's bright-eyed Princess Margaret arrived here today to cheers from a huge crowd of German spectators to begin a three-day visit with the British troops in West Germany.

Margaret, 23, stepped off the plane from London to be greeted by a polished military guard of British troops striking rifles to the salute as the crowd of 2,000 broke into a cheer.

The military guard included a detachment from Princess Margarita's Canadian Light Infantry representing Canadian troops stationed in West Germany under the Atlantic Pact command.

Gunners sounded a salute of 21 guns for the royal visitor, the Queens' younger sister and third in line to the throne.

She wore a grey fur stole and mauve flowered silk dress.

Crowds of Germans lined the streets to watch Margaret drive from the airport into Bonn.

Rope barriers controlled the spectators along the road to the Petersberg Hotel, President Theodor Heuss, with whom Princess Margaret had a lunch date.

Helicopters will fly the Princess from point to point during her visit—weather permitting.

Britain and U.S. Work Out Short Four-Power Pact

LONDON (AP) — American and British diplomats have worked out a short, four-power treaty that would give West Germany near-independence this year, informed sources said today.

The pact has been drafted as a way of giving the federal republic powers to control most of its own affairs in case France fails to ratify the European Defence Community treaty providing for peace treaties the United States, Britain and France would end their occupation of West Germany and bring the EDC comes into force.

The United States-British-American plan is reported to grant sovereignty to West Germany in all but military matters. It would not bind the United States, Britain, France or West Germany for long.

Informants stressed the plan in no way provides for German rearmament outside the EDC, although London and Washington are believed to have one or two favored alternatives up their sleeves in case EDC as it stands now is rejected.

The British foreign office explained that when the experts' proposals have been accepted by the American and British governments the final version will be submitted to France and other members of the Atlantic alliance.

BUSH FIRE HALTED AT WESTBROOK NEAR KINGSTON

Blaze Believed Started By Boys With Matches

WESTBROOK, Ont. (CP) — A bush fire, carried across acres of timber and scrub by a stiff breeze, raced uncontrolled for within two miles of this eastern Ontario hamlet Sunday night and burnt itself out in a small ravine.

Fire fighting crews began to arrive here today to relieve the weary volunteers who fought the blaze, believed to have been started by boys playing with matches, broke out on tourist camp property about four miles west of the reserve and destroyed at least eight square miles of woodland. At one time winds carried it straight for Westbrook, and its 500 inhabitants.

It was brought under control by 300 firemen and volunteers, many of them motorists who happened to pass the scene, after a seven-hour fight. No one was seriously injured. One man struck his leg with an axe as he looked at the blaze and firemen tried to set up a fire line. He was treated at hospital.

LENT HAND

Men and equipment from centres within a 30-mile radius of Westbrook, about seven miles west of Kingston, came to lend a hand. The fire was brought in check twice. But a new wind came up and sent it ranging through the woodland.

Fire Chief Vince Pierce of Kingston said his men had the fire under control late Sunday night. Firemen patrolled the outer rim of the blaze during the night just in case it broke out again.

The fire apparently started because some tourist cabins, reported said boys were seen around the cabins before the outbreak.

The fire swept north on a south wind and destroyed 50 acres of elm and cedar stands. The wind then changed to the west and sent it towards Westbrook.

The fire reached the north side of highway No. 2 but did not jump across. However, much woodland was destroyed on the farm of G. H. Decker of Toronto. His land is adjacent to the tourist camp property. About 40 acres of land were scorched.

Minesweeper Will Be Towed Home By Canadian Tug

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — A tug from Canada was scheduled to arrive here today to tow the 360-foot U.S. Navy minesweeper, the Kentville, back to its home port in Canada.

The Kentville sustained a damaged rudder Sunday night when she ran aground in a mud bank at the mouth of the Genesee river. A spokesman for the vessel were the Canadian sailors, both regulars and reservists, who had joined the ship competing with U.S. Navy reservists in rifle matches and athletic events.

The Kentville got off the mudbank under her own power.

British Papers Pay Little Heed To Report Queen Expecting Baby

LONDON (AP)—British papers paid only scant attention today to a New York newspaper report that the Queen is expecting her third child.

Two newspapers printed the report on the front page under headlines. Liberal Daily Herald: "The Queen: A New York Newspaper Report" and the Communist one paragraph on the back page.

Buckingham Palace, meantime, maintained its usual custom of declining to comment officially on such reports.

Court sources, however, said so far they know the report is without foundation.

The New York Daily News Sunday quoted "Buckingham Palace sources" as saying the Queen is expecting her third baby early

Thousands Left Homeless By Central Europe Floods

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — Relief supplies for thousands of homeless victims of central Europe's worst flood in centuries were flown into stricken Austria and Germany today.

Holland, Sweden, Switzerland and the Saar were the first to offer bedding, food and clothes to thousands of families made homeless by the raging Danube and its dozen tributaries. Their five-day rampage has claimed at least 26 lives on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

The aid began to arrive as rescue workers struggled to reach submerged Austrian and German towns where inhabitants were still stranded on rooftops and upper floors. More than 3,000 American soldiers have been taking part in the rescue work.

Sketchy reports from Czechoslovakia and Hungary indicated those two Danube valley countries have been hard hit by the floods.

The death toll in the two Iron Curtain lands was not known.

In West Germany, skies cleared and stricken Austria to rubble.

Thousands of acres of rich farmland were still under water.

In the venerable town of Passau, surrounded by the Danube, Inn and Ilz rivers, houses and streets were submerged in 20 feet of flood waters which have inundated at least a third of the community.

An estimated 3,000 were homeless in Passau alone.

Fears, however seemed over in Germany, the churning Danube forced its worst damage on victims from farms and villages along its banks in Austria.

The steel city of Linz, where 24,000 persons have been evacuated, desperately attempted to stem the tide of destruction. Nearly 40 water-soaked houses sank beneath the flood crest. More than 650 persons were still marooned in houses along the Danube quays. Linz municipal authorities warned police to shoot all looters.

Wheat Exports Drop 30 P.C. In First 10 Months of Year

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's wheat exports dropped by 30 per cent in the first 10 months of the current crop year, leaving a surplus of 814,500,000 bushels' on June 1— equivalent to all the wheat produced in 1953.

The bureau of statistics, in its monthly review of the wheat situation, estimated today that Canada exported 270,000,000 bushels of wheat, and flour in terms of wheat in the period Aug. 1, 1953—May 31, 1954.

This was a drop of 80,800,000 bushels or 30 per cent from the 297,500,000 shipped in the similar period of the previous crop year. However, the bureau noted that United States exports dropped by 50 per cent and those of Australia, another major wheat exporter, by 38 per cent.

U. S. shipments declined to 189,-900,000 bushels from 379,900,000 and those of Australia to 52,300,000 from 84,800,000. In contrast, Argentina, another big exporter, made a spectacular comeback from a crop-failure year to boost exports to 94,-100,000 from 19,200,000.

Though Canada's exports declined, her share of the world market remained fairly constant, the bureau said. For the 10-month period represented 39.8 per cent of the world market, down from 43.7 per cent in the previous year. The U.S. share dropped to 32.4 per cent from 41.8, Australia's to 9.0 from 12.4. Argentina's share rose to 17.9 from 2.2.

Total shipments of all the four major exporting countries—Canada U.S., Australia and Argentina—declined to 525,000,000 bushels in the 10 months, down from 681,500,000 in the similar period of the previous year. Their total stockpile on June 1 amounted to 1,725,100,000 bushels, some, 40 per cent larger than the 1,232,100,000 a year ago.

Estimated production this year may drop slightly from the near-record 1,414,000,000 bushels produced last year, the bureau reported.

Canada's unsold stockpile on June 1 totalled 614,500,000 bushels, 158,300,000 more than the 457,-200,000 on June 1 last year. The stockpile was equivalent to the near-record 614,000,000 bushels produced last year.

Wheat shipments from the International Wheat Agreement totalled 87,893,-000 bushels in the period Aug. 1, 1953-June 22, 1954, just a little more than half the 163,231,000-bushel export quota set for Canada for the full year. Shipments of wheat and flour to countries that is not a member of the IWA totalled 52,000,000 bushels in the August-May period.

Eden Flies Back to Geneva For Last-Minute Peace Bid

GENEVA (AP)—British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden came back to Geneva by plane today to join French Premier Pierre Mendes-France in a last-minute effort to make peace with the Communists in Indo-China.

First on Eden's schedule was a meeting with Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov. The two ministers, who are co-chairmen of the Indo-China conference, will have to set the time of the next session.

The conference will first discuss the reports of the military commissions. These are expected ordered three weeks ago to submit by July 10 to supervise execution of military aspects of an armistice.

It appeared there was no clear agreement on the reports, however. Neither the Cambodians or the Laotians appeared ready able to agree with the Communist-led Vietminh representatives on a final report.

The negotiations over Viet Nam, where most of the fighting has occurred and where the Vietminh is demanding the greatest concessions, have been held in strict secrecy. The report, or reports, on these talks undoubtedly will show just what the Communists are asking for peace in Indo-China.

Meanwhile, Eden conferred at a meeting today with Pham Van Dong, the Vietminh foreign minister. The French leader catered the crucial week of the conference uncertain of full U. S. backing.

American envoys told the French leader Sunday that State Secretary Dulles will not back up the French by returning to Geneva himself until there is agreement in the principle.

Reliable sources said this was the message given Mendes-France by Alexis Johnson, acting head of the U. S. delegation at the Geneva conference, and C. Douglas Dillon, U. S. ambassador to France.

The United States repeatedly has insisted it would stand aloof from any "appeasement" arrangements in Indo-China.

Despite Dulles' message, however, there was a general feeling in Western circles that either Under-Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith would resume leadership of the American delegation or some other high state department official would be sent for the final negotiating phase.

Mendes-France faced a make-or-break debate in the powerful French National Assembly to achieve a cease-fire in Indo-China by July 20 or resign.

The Viet Nam government was reported very angry at the concessions they fear the French are prepared to make to end the fighting. The French have been reported ready to give up most of Laos and Cambodia and to help move the Viet Nemese say will pave the way for the Communists eventually to take over the southern portion also.

NEWSPAPER PLANT BURNS

RUMFORD, Me. (AP) — Fire Saturday destroyed the plant of radio station WRUM and the Rumford Daily and Weekly Times, but the newspapers resumed publication Saturday night in temporary quarters only 14 hours after it lost all studio equipment. The fire was investigated and its loss estimated at $180,000.

FRENCH REPULSE VIETMINH DRIVE SOUTH OF HANOI

Reds Tighten Pincers About Besieged City

By FORREST EDWARDS

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh legions tightened their pincers on Hanoi today but the war capital's French defenders claimed they had beaten back an attack by 3,000 Reds only 20 miles from the city and killed at least 300 of the Communist troops.

The French said they repulsed the attack on three French Union posts south of Hanoi after five hours of fighting Sunday.

The French admitted their own losses were "appreciable" but gave no figures.

Other Vietminh units surged in from the northeast and northwest to strike at French outposts 25 miles above the imperilled city.

Clashes were reported Sunday at scores of points as the Vietminh kept up their pressure.

BRITAIN'S ATTITUDE

French reconnaissance pilots report that Red China is funneling jets and heavy artillery across from China than she did in the days before the fall of the French bastion of Dien Bien Phu.

But a French briefing officer described the Communist build-up as "far more than we had hoped for" and said the French were ready to strike against the Red supply convoys.

"It is more important now," he said, "that we hurt the Vietminh guerrilla bases inside the delta." All day Sunday French war planes rained nearly 150 tons of bombs on Vietminh bases inside the Red River delta—some of them less than 20 miles from Hanoi.

More than 100 bombers poured a string of Vietminh bases which threatened to cut off Hung Yen, cornerstone of the delta defenses 25 miles southeast of Hanoi.

OUTPOST SMASHED

North of Hanoi the Vietminh smashed a Viet Namese outpost below Son Tay, key garrison town 35 miles from the city.

Northeast of Hanoi the French managed to reopen roads between Sept Pagodes, Phu Lang Thuong and Bac Ninh, 20 miles from the city. This restored communications between the three towns, which the Vietminh had attempted to cut.

Vietminh regular massing to the north.

This has resulted in a reduction in the number of grain vessels plying between Montreal and the Lakehead, and between here and Montreal.

Load of Beer Stolen at Windsor As Strike Leaves City Thirsty

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A truck load of beer was stolen from the warehouse of Canadian Brewers' Wholesale Limited today in the apparent attempt to take advantage of the thirst condition of the city.

All retail stores in the Windsor area were closed on the heels of a dispute which started between employees of CBT and the company. The United Brewery Workers' Union claimed CBT violated a contract by refusing to hire truck workers off trucks carrying 200-pound barrels of beer.

Officials said about 200 cases of beer were on the truck parked at the CBT plant when the theft occurred.

A meeting during the week-end of the Ontario Council of Brewery Workers failed to make much headway toward settlement of the dispute. Meetings by Jack Dunkee, Ontario department of labor conciliator, failed Friday as neither side would modify its position.

Churchill Reports On Recent Trip To Washington

Meeting With Malenkov On H-Bomb Matter of 'Timing'

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons today the possibility of an Eisenhower - Malenkov - Churchill meeting on the hydrogen bomb was "discussed in general terms," at his recent White House conference with President Eisenhower.

Replying to a question by Labor party leader Clement Attlee, Churchill said the idea of a meeting with Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov is chiefly a question of "timing."

Reporting on the recent trip he and Foreign Minister Eden made to Washington and Ottawa, Churchill also said that in view of events in Korea and elsewhere, the time is not ripe for raising the issue of Communist China's admission to the United Nations.

ATTITUDE UNCHANGED

Britain's attitude toward Red China had not changed. She still favored seating Red China in the UN if and when the Chinese had proved that it was willing to forswear aggression and abide by international agreements.

Since no settlement had been reached in Korea or Indo-China, both of which were areas for testing Communist China's good faith —now was not the time to raise the question of admitting Red China to the UN.

In reply to Attlee's question on the possibility of a Big Three meeting, Churchill said:

QUESTION OF TIMING

"These circumstances were surveyed. Broadly speaking, the question is more of timing than anything else, but I do not feel that it would be of advantage for me to make any detailed statement on the subject at the present time."

Churchill himself proposed a high-level meeting with Russia 14 months ago but the plan lapsed after his illness last summer and his subsequent talks in Bermuda with Eisenhower.

Churchill said his Washington meeting with Eisenhower was the most agreeable and fruitful in his experience.

He said his concern over U. S. hydrogen bomb tests had prompted him to decide on the trip. He felt reassured more as a result of his talks with Eisenhower.

DISCUSS H-BOMB

Churchill added that after deciding to go to Washington to discuss the H-bomb situation, other international problems also came to prominence and these were also discussed.

He said he still feels that the European Defence Community provides the best means of permitting West Germany to contribute to western defence but "it is not easy to foresee how would it be at the moment he was to forecast the prospects of unanimous French failure to ratify the European army plan.

Strike Only Way Union Head Tells Railway Workers

STRATFORD (CP) — Frank H. Hall of Montreal, chairman of a negotiating committee representing 15 railway unions, told a railway men's meeting here Sunday a strike is the only method of getting "what we want."

"If you know of any way short of a strike of getting what we are after, then tell us," he said.

The 15 non-operating unions are asking for fringe benefits including statutory holidays each year, improved vacation pay establishments and other benefits which Mr. Hall said would amount to the equivalent of about 14 cents an hour.

Last of Bodies Is Recovered

SIMCOE (CP)—The finding of the body of Danny Lackman, 35, Sunday ended the search for two Hamilton fishermen and a boy lost 14 days ago in Long Point Bay on Lake Erie.

Lackman's was the third body recovered by week-end fishermen. The first two, Albert John Mort 16, recovered in the boy's south channel Saturday morning. The body of the boy's father, Norman Harris, 33, was found Saturday afternoon.

A department of lands and forests search party found the body today. All three bodies were about 12 miles from where their boat was found on Long Point June 28, the day after the three disappeared.

Flood Picture In B.C. Brightens

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia's flood picture brightened today as flowing week-end reports of a drop in the Fraser river and in the headwaters of the mighty Columbia.

The interior smelter city of Trail remained the chief trouble spot with a number of low-lying waterfront dwellings and business premises inundated by the swollen Columbia river.

However, weary dike patrols in the Trail area were cheered by reports that the Columbia had dropped almost a foot on Sunday upriver at Revelstoke, B.C., about 150 miles to the north. A similar drop was expected at Revelstoke Saturday.

A six-inch rise Sunday brought the Columbia level at Trail close to the 41.5-foot mark, four feet below the danger level and well short of the peak level of the disastrous 1948 flood.

Returns for Visit After 27 Years Away from Home

Forty years after he went west in a box car a native son returned to Belleville last week by plane and train for an extended holiday.

He is E. Madison Calgaer, who farmed on the 6th concession of Thurlow township forty years ago. will be in the city for four or five weeks renewing acquaintances before he returns to Calgary. While in Belleville he is staying at the home of his niece, Mrs. Franklin Sherma., 84 Dundas St. E.

It took Mr. Mather a week to reach Calgary by train in 1914. Last week he flew from Calgary to Toronto in little more than seven hours and was in Belleville after a two-hour train ride. He visited Belleville 27 years ago and this is his first visit since that time.

Mr. Mather, who is 78 and looks 55, gives all the credit for his youthful appearance to a combination of western atmosphere and trouble-free Social Credit government.

Retirement held no attraction for him and he is, at present, actively engaged with Memorial Park Association. He will visit the Association's properties in Toronto and Hamilton before returning to Calgary sometime in late August.

"The west has been good to me" said Mr. Mather in summing up his 40 years on the plains.

From the look of his maroon tie with a bucking bronco and the legend "Calgary Stampede" it appears that Mr. Mather is returning the favor.

Attendance Good

Adverse Criticism Not Warranted Says Foundation

NEW YORK (AP) — The Carnegie Corporation Sunday defended itself and other foundations against adverse criticism voiced by witnesses in a congressional investigation of tax-exempt foundations.

A lawyer for the corporation also denounced as "obviously unfair" the investigating committee's decision that witnesses supported by foundations were given a chance to tell their story.

The foundation's declaration was contained in a statement and memorandum sent to the committee by corporation president Charles Dollard.

"The question has been raised in these hearings as to whether foundations have supported 'un-American' projects and, through a shocking combination of innuendo and distortion, the impression has been left that perhaps they have failed in this respect," Dollard said.

"As far as the Carnegie Corp. is concerned, there can be only one answer to such a question. The corporation regards its entire program as 'pro-American'. . . ."

Regarding suggestions that there is favoritism for certain groups and persons, Dollard said any foundation that has spread its grants among more than 700 colleges and universities, as Carnegie has done in the last 40 years, "can hardly be accused of 'favoritism' in any invidious sense of that word."

Air Raid Siren Heard Half-Mile From City Tower

Belleville's civil defence committee, one of the more silent services in municipal organization, now has a voice audible a half-mile away.

It is the new two horse-power air raid siren installed last week in the city hall clock tower and put through a preliminary trial run on Saturday.

The siren is operated by throwing a switch in the entrance on the city hall.

Just inside the main door is the control box of the siren and its electric power box. To guard against an inadvertent setting-off of the siren by a practical joker or a drunk wandering into the hall, the power box is kept locked.

Operating the siren is a matter of seconds. The power box is unlocked, the switch thrown and alarm set off from the control box.

THREE SEPARATE SWITCHES.

There are three separate switches on the control box itself — for the warning all clear and for "riding" switch. The last is used in extremely cold weather to keep the siren silently operative and preventing a freeze-up of the works.

Locating the controls in the hall entrance makes them easily accessible to police in the event of a genuine threat from the air. The keys of the box are to be left with city police who first would be notified of an impending air raid. Later the committee plans to streamline this action by placing the siren's controls in police headquarters.

Saturday's tests were measured up by members of the committee in various parts of the city within the half-mile radius. The signals were clearly audible within the radius in the north and west sections of the city. In the east-end however, they were indistinguishable above traffic noises.

WILL ENLIST FACTORIES.

To provide alarm coverage of the city area outside the radius, Arnold Roche, member of the committee, says it is hoped to enlist the co-operation of factories outside the perimeter by using their time whistles synchronized with the siren, in the event of a potential air attack.

At present the standard air raid warning signal throughout the North American continent is a pre-alert three - minute blast, while the all-clear is a one-minute blast repeated three times at two-minute intervals.

PC Vice-Pres. Says Drew Failed To Keep Word

VICTORIA (CP)—Robert Patch, vice-president of the British Columbia Progressive Conservative Association, charged Saturday that a federal party headquarters set up in Vancouver instructed members to support Social Credit in the provincial elections.

"An "official office set up by Mr. Drew's failure to keep his word on this issue has caused the movement of most members of the leadership" which will be presented at the quarterly executive meeting in Penticton.

The Victoria Colonist in a newspaper story Saturday reported that Mr. Finlayson might be "forced" to resign as party leader with Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, V.C., member of parliament for Esquimalt-Saanich, taking his place.

Mr. Patch said the report was untrue.

Giant Jetliner To Take to Air Within 2 Weeks

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain's new giant transatlantic jetliner, the Comet Mark III, is due to fly within the next two weeks while an official announcement is awaited on what caused two of the original Comets to crash earlier this year with a loss of 56 lives and brought an order grounding them.

Duncan Sandys, minister of supply, recently stated he hoped it would not be more than two weeks before investigations were completed on these disasters—in the Mediterranean, near Elba, in 1953, when 35 persons were killed, and off Naples May 9, when 21 died in their liner.

A third of the ill-starred originals crashed earlier at Calcutta killing the 22 persons aboard. But officials are satisfied that they have determined the cause of the Calcutta crash and it is not a part of the present investigation.

Official confirmation—and comment—is still lacking on reports that both Comets may have jumped up.

The cause of the other two disasters on "conjectural fatigue."

Jetliners fly up to eight miles above the earth, where cabin pressurization is necessary to enable passengers to breathe.

Until the cause of the disasters is officially revealed, it will not be known whether the later, faster and higher Mark III will require any modification before they are put into service.

The new Comet III is about the size of a Stratocruiser, the fuselage being 8 feet longer than the original series. It is powered by four Rolls-Royce gas-turbines each of 10,000 pounds static thrust, about the same power as the world's biggest piston bombers.

It will carry from 58 to 76 passengers, and will cruise at "better than 500 miles an hour." It will be capable of linking London and New York with a single stop at Gander, Nfld.—about 3,500 miles—in seven to eight hours.

The Mark III, which has already undergone engine tests, will be flown for the first time by John Cunningham, chief test pilot of De-Havilland, the Comet makers.

Alert Watchman Prevents Heavy Property Damage

TRENTON (Special)—An alert watchman at the Central Bridge property yesterday discovered a grass fire that spread and caught into a big wooden shed before firemen arrived in time to put it out.

Elderly Menford Howe was at his station in the main yard when he noticed a fire making headway in the grass near No. 7 store. Flames were racing through the tinder dry grass but he managed to control them and thought the danger had been eliminated and returned to his post.

Watchman Howe a few minutes later made another check of the store area. This time the fire was running through the grass faster than ever and dangerously close to the frame building. The watchman-tried stamping out the fire alone but the heat was too much for him and he was at the point of exhaustion by the time he reached a telephone to call firemen.

Firemen sped to the storehouse to find one of the wooden abutments burning fiercely and flames licking at the side of the shed.

Quantities of paint and rope housed in the store would have added fuel to the fire.

Firemen found no origin for the fire, although one of them suggested a carelessly skinned through a piece of broken glass could ignite a powder dry twig or blade of grass.

Sunday was far from being a day of rest for men of the Trenton Fire Department.

Later in the afternoon they received a hurry up call to another grass fire. The location was in a general area of the first run. The fire had caught in the grass close to piles on the Hinde and Dauch premises. It was not very long before firefighters had this situation under control.

Mau Mau Gangs Step Up Attacks, 28 Flee Prison

NAIROBI, Kenya (Reuters) — Police dogs bayed through bush country around Kajiado prison, 50 miles south of here, today in search of 10 Mau Mau convicts still at large after a mass breakout Sunday night.

As terrorist attacks took a sharp upswing all through Kenya, 50 Mau Mau short-term convicts rushed their prison guards, wounding two and seizing a rifle.

Guards opened fire on the mass of struggling prisoners, killing one but 28 managed to get clear of the prison compound. Police search parties recaptured 13 of the escapees and recovered the rifle.

LAUNCH ATTACKS

Mau Mau gangs in the biggest numbers known for some weeks attempted large-scale attacks during the week-end.

Terrorists disguised as African women burned Police search school on the slopes of Mount Kenya and attempted to destroy a guard post a few miles away. In the same district another gang, about 50 strong, attacked a village down half a village. The villagers escaped.

Terrorists abducted an African woman in the Meru district on the southern slopes of Mount Kenya and cut off her ears and lips when she refused to take the Mau Mau oath.

Other terrorist gangs, up to an hour's march from Nairobi have been seen moving through the undergrowth. One gang had a brief but bitter gunfight with Kenya police before scattering, leaving one dead and one wounded behind.

CHURCHILL

Churchill said he decided to go to Washington and London to be "deeply concerned at the lack of information we possess about the hydrogen bomb."

"I thought I ought to have a personal meeting with President Eisenhower at the first convenient opportunity," the prime minister told the House of Commons.

Murmurs of approval echoed through the House.

Churchill said that a speech about the hydrogen bomb by Sterling Cole, chairman of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy, had left him astonished and alarmed.

In that speech, Cole, New York Republican member of the House of Representatives, said the U. S. had hydrogen weapons many times potent than the devices that tore a 1½ mile wide crater 175 feet deep in the floor of the Pacific Ocean during 1952 H-bomb tests at Eniwetok.

CHURCHILL ASTOUNDED

Referring to Cole's speech, Churchill said:

"I was astounded by all that he said about the hydrogen bomb and series of experiments made more than a year before by the United States and Britain in the Pacific.

"Very little notice was taken over here of Mr. Sterling Cole's speech and, in view of what appears to be a recent increase in the scale activity generated by the explosion of a bomb exploded by the second explosion at Bikini an intense sensation was caused in this country. . . .

"Considering what immense differences the facts he disclosed made on our whole outlook for defence . . . I was deeply concerned by the lack of information we possessed and in view of the past history of this matter, I thought we ought to have a personal meeting with President Eisenhower."

Churchill is former adviser on atomic affairs and Sir Edwin Plowden, chairman of the British atomic energy authority, had discussed at length with Admiral Lewis Strauss, chairman of the American atomic energy commission, technical matters connected with the hydrogen bombs, he told Commons.

"I have every hope that a more satisfactory position will prevail between our two countries in the future," the prime minister said in his references to atomic energy.

Churchill said although he originally called for the talks because of concern at the "lack of information" possessed by Britain on the H-bomb, other international problems arose before he embarked on the trip.

NEVER MORE AGREEABLE

Churchill said he had "never had a more agreeable and fruitful visit" than the one he had in Washington.

Speaking of the conversations he and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden had with President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Churchill added:

"We talked in perfect frankness and in full friendship with each other. To the dispatch I think, some misunderstandings, even some misconceptions in the minds of our American friends about the direction of our policy."

Referring to the six-point declaration which he and the president issued in Washington, he also said:

"These six points of unity transcend all party differences and give a framework within which the incidents of daily life can be amicably resolved."

Boatworks, Opened 18 Months Ago, Starting on 2nd Cruiser

A chance remark passed four years ago has given Belleville its first large-scale boatworks.

Passing through eastern Ontario, more or less at a loose end and looking for a suitable location to set up business, shipwright and boat designer Cy Chappell stopped over in Belleville. Talking to a friend here he mentioned the possibility of a boat works in the city. The reply was encouraging so Cy called up his loose ends and settled down for business.

For the first few years he had his own yard, but working on the properties of his clients, he turned out two cabin cruisers and a number of smaller boats.

Then just over 18 months ago he took over a vacated sea-plane hangar at the bottom of Herchimer Avenue and fitted it out as his own workshop.

Starting the business, Ed found himself slightly out on a boxygrit. He hadn't any guaranteed prospects of business, so he couldn't get any help.

DID NOT HAVE JOB

"When I came here first I didn't even have a job," he says. "I started by myself without a man to help."

Only a small money advertisement announced he was in business. Gradually however the customers started to arrive and soon he found he had to expand.

Now he employs 10 men and claims he needs twice that number to match the increase in business. For the workshop, fitted with a jumble of spars, ropes and wire, there is a motley collection of boats for repairs. Outside the shop rests a sleek 34-foot cabin cruiser nearing completion and another launched for launching some time this week.

This is the second cruiser built since the works opened. Last month a $25,000, 40-foot cruiser "Ellen Pearl," slid off the launching ramp.

SELF-CONTAINED SHOP

The workshop is a completely self-contained construction unit. Literally, a truckload of wood, wiring and metal is dumped at entrance to emerge through the back door as the boat, a gleaming yacht complete to the last detail, or a cabin cruiser equipped with running water, washroom and kitchen facilities and with its own power plant. His own designer, Ed, draws up the blueprints of the work.

A native of Prince Edward Island, he served his apprenticeship in ship yards in New York and Boston. In the late 20's he returned to the Maritimes and set up his own business, filling commercial and government contracts. At the outbreak of war he turned to full-time work for the government, building patrol boats, until joining the navy himself for war service.

Demobilized at the, war's end, he wandered through the provinces searching for a likely spot to resume business, and found it in Belleville.

Now the firm of E. A. Chappell Boats Limited probably is the busiest boatworks along the eastern lakeshore between Toronto and Gananoque.

With business on the increase more additions now are planned for the works. They will be a modern marine railway bounding the workshop. When laid, this will provide storage space for some 100 boats. It can also carry boats up to 40 tons displacement.

Newsman Refuses To Be Questioned By Commission

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Australian newspaper man Rupert Lockwood refused to answer a royal commission on espionage today when asked whether he had typed a Russian espionage document said to contain a series of criminal libels.

Justice Owen released Lockwood from further attendance after the newspaper man had repeatedly declined to answer questions about the authorship of the document. "J."

Earlier in the day, the high court here dismissed a writ by Lockwood asking for a ruling that the commission from questioning him.

Lockwood's counsel had contended that the continued sittings of the commission constituted contempt of the high court's view of a libel writ taken out by their client last authorship of document "J."

Lockwood is claiming $22,400 damages for libel against the Commonwealth government and W. J. Windeyer, chief Commonwealth counsel on the commission.

Windeyer has named Lockwood as author of document "J," which he said was part of a plot to annex Australia of the Soviet embassy in Canberra.

The royal commission was set up after Soviet diplomat Vladimir Petrov, third secretary and spy master at the embassy, defected to Australia last April.

PHYSICAL EXAMINATIONS NEEDED

In Montreal a man was charged with drunk driving. He claimed he suffered from weak spells and his doctor testified that he was under medical care. The accused said he had had only a two-ounce glass of blackberry brandy.

"I must respect your defence," said Judge Rene Theberge. He reduced the charge of drunk driving to one of driving while his faculties were impaired by alcohol and imposed a fine of $100. Judge Theberge also cancelled the accused's driving licence for three months —and recommended that authorities never renew it.

Permanent cancellation of a driving licence may seem harsh punishment for a first drunk driving errors were not caused by excessive use of alcohol but by illness. And harsh treatment it would be if Judge Theberge had regarded it as a punishment for a crime. But he made it clear that his recomdation was based on entirely different grounds. "If you suffer such weak spells you should never have received a licence in the first place," he commented.

Any police court reporter can relate similar incidents where the person accused of drunk driving or of driving while his faculties were impaired by alcohol has pleaded that his condition was not caused by alcohol but by illness, or by some drug or medicine he had been given to cure or relieve an illness.

This may be a sound defence against punishment for drunk driving, but a sick driver is a hazard to other users of the highway—whether his driving habits are impaired by alcohol or by ill health makes little difference to the person who suffers injury or death as a result.

There should be no criticism of Judge Theberge's recommendation for permanent cancellation of the licence of the man who appeared before him. Indeed, it might be added that a man who is ill is probably less entitled to a driver's licence than a man who is drunk, for illness generally lasts longer than intoxication. The dangerous drunk driver today may be a safe driver tomorrow, but the man whose weak spell creates a traffic hazard today is liable to suffer similar spells tomorrow and tomorrow and tomorrow.

Whatever critical comment is made on this case should be directed at a system under which it is possible for a man suffering from certain physical disabilities to obtain a driver's licence and to endanger the lives of others until some policeman suspects his erratic driving is caused by the consumption of alcohol.

All car drivers ought to be required to pass periodic physical examinations.

VACATIONS NOW UNIVERSAL

Vacation time! That phrase has a magic all its own for almost all of us.

But we are apt to forget that, only a few years ago, there were many workers to whom it meant nothing.

"The Canadian Unionist," the organ of the Canadian Congress of Labor, calls attention to this fact, which many of us may have forgotten. "In the 'good old days'," it says, "no worker could dream of the luxury of a vacation." There is a touch of exaggeration there. Nevertheless, there is much truth in the statement, too. Most of us can remember when it was an unheard of thing for a factory worker to receive pay for a holiday period. Most of us can remember when many a factory-worker took no vacation, because he felt that to do so would work a hardship on his family, because he could ill afford to lose his earnings for the period during which he took a holiday.

That has changed. In part, labor unions are responsible, through their efforts in arranging for paid holidays in their wage agreements with employers. In many Canadian provinces, including Ontario, the government has passed legislation providing for a minimum of one week's vacation with pay for all workers. And where the unions and governments have not entered the picture, employers have acted to assure their workers of that rest and recreation which refreshes the man—or woman—and makes for increased efficiency and production.

ORDEAL BY TRUMPET

Shocking!

Yes, shockingly silly is Sammy the Seal of the Scilly Isles, who nudged his neck into a noose, a tight tire tube that once was a child's.

And shockingly silly is the SPCA, the society that is supposed to stop seals being strangled that way.

With the tube round his neck, sad Sammy cannot dive, so he goes short on fish to keep him alive.

Surely sad Sammy has seen his trouble enough, before the SPCA started strutting its stuff.

To salvage our Sammy they decided to play on trumpets, flute and concertina tunes grapefruit gay.

Their hope is that Sammy will be soothed by the jive so they can tear off the tube and keep him alive.

No escape from the music can Sammy contrive, with the tube round his neck poor Sammy can't dive!

THE HAIR-DO

A woman has a weight of care
But sure am I 'tis truth I state:
Her greatest problem is her hair
And a beauty parlor date.
She may neglect the beds to make,
She may not stay the floors to sweep,
But you can wager any stake
That hair appointment she will keep.

She may, as every husband knows,
Be late when asked with him to dine,
Be late for football games or shows;
Told eight o'clock, arrive at nine;
She may some morning over-sleep
And let her household duties wait,
But you can bet on her to keep
On time that hair appointment date.

"My hair's a mess!" she'll say, and add:
"It's time to Marilyn I went.
It's been two weeks since I have had
A hair trim and a permanent.
I'm booked today from ten to three!"
When ten the town clock starts to chime
It's ten to one that she will be
To get that hair-do right on time.

Divorce Problem

(New York Herald Tribune)

The human, all too human, problem of divorce projects its unhappy pattern on American life and literature. As Howard Whitman points out the United States now leads the parade of divorce rate of the nations in Europe and the Americas. One marriage in four now ends instead of and on the rocks. Broken homes and hopes, children torn from loved ones, frustrated lives may lead to their delinquency; these are some consequences. Divorce severs the most solemn relationship that two people in our civilization can enter into. Solutions for this problem compatible with our traditions must be sought. If the individual is truly the cornerstone of our society, then the answer can only lie in individual soul searching.

Many a couple neglecting this soul searching, ignores the "classic adjustments" of marriage, such as replacing romantic love with a more durable brand, adjusting financial troubles and planning a secure future for their children. As Mr. Whitman points out, the "other woman" or the "other man" is often as not a scapegoat for problems that lay in the personality of the wayward spouse from the beginning. Once a lawyer has been called in, once the invidious and often humiliating litigation has been begun, reconciliation becomes terribly difficult to repair. All too often, the real causes — drink, sexual maladjustments as symptoms of deeper personality faults, religion — remain unprobed, legally.

Locomotives Were Tea Pots

(Track Magazine)

A tea party predicament was once met in novel fashion by the locomotive department of England's Great Western railway.

During the year of Queen Victoria's golden jubilee, 1887 the city of London decided to stage a mammoth fete and its New Swindon park as its part of the empire wide celebration. A problem promptly arose. But how could tea be made for the 15,000 people expected to attend?

The Great Western came to the rescue. Four old locomotive tenders were shunted on to a siding near the park, filled with tea, thoroughly scoured out and filled with cold water.

Cases of tea were dumped into the tanks and the water was brought to a boil by live steam pumped in by a nearby locomotive so that hot tea was served as fast as her majesty's loyal subjects could swallow it.

When children are involved, a situation unpleasant enough for the principals often becomes tragic for them and for society.

Psychiatric and religious counselling can help in some cases. But perhaps the final solution of the divorce dilemma lies in no complicated psychiatric formula, but simply in a return to common sense, individual morality and integrity.

History of Submarine

(New York Times)

The news the other day carried a story that the Navy had outfitted with $1.25 Argenti, a veterinarians or the Second World War, with it not all the comforts of home at least some of the necessities of the local clubhouse. There is a snack room, the article tells us, even a nickel-motivated juke box (although presumably no one is dance with). Finally, the submarine's interior decor of the submarine has been lightened by the especially finished furniture. The reason all this is news, of course, lies in the fact that submarines from the beginning have been almost exclusively naval engines of destruction. Such considerations as mobility and weapon capacity have had to take precedence over crew comfort.

However trying current underwater travel may seem, the brave laymen who met the hardships of panic when the subway train stops between stations, it is nothing to what it must have been when submarines and ships to the moon, literally, were the stuff of dreams. One of the first writers to propose an underwater craft that approached theoretic operability was William Bourne, who in 1578 published a treatise called "Inventions and Devices Very Necessary for All Generalles, Captaines, Lieutenants, Leaders of Men, as Well by Sea as by Land." Mr. Bourne's invention concerned "a Ship or a Boate that may goe under the water unhurt of any body and come up again at your pleasure." Plunging and rising were to be accomplished by fitting the craft with expandable sides attached by leather bellows. Once under the surface, it would vary the boat's displacement and thus maintain its depth, rather than water. Ventilation was to be had through a hollow mast jutting above the surface. Since there were a giggle vent hollow mast, breathing at the lower end would not have been very stimulating; but, as a double-vent affair with a second mast for fresh air and one for egress, Bourne's suggestion was quite workable. And the submarine's most recent triumphs, the German Snorkel.

* * *

Half a century later in 1624 a Dutchman, Cornelis Drebbel, built and tried out what is probably the first working submarine, in the Thames at Westminster. The craft was propelled by the labor of a dozen rowers. Its passengers were trudged through leather-lined orifices. Drebbel's invention must have been considerable, since it is said that on one occasion King James I was a passenger. The real impetus to submarine improvement, even to the present day, with the development of the atomic submarine, has been the needs of naval activity. Thus in the War of Secession, David Bushnell, constructed an underwater craft to be operated by a crew of one man turning by hand a screw propeller.

* * *

Probably the most important contributor to the design of the modern submarine was Robert Fulton of steamboat fame. He went to Europe from America in the age of 31 to get a name and a fortune as a painter, but his scientific and mechanical curiosity kept intruding and he soon turned to canal design. This, a strong feeling for the republican movement in France, and the extraordinary ability to interest Napoleon led him to fashioning the Nautilus, a navy-funded craft which ran by sail on the surface, submerged by taking on water ballast, proceeded under the sea by means of a hand-turned screw propeller, and drew its air from the surface by forcible ejection of the water ballast. He tested it near Brest in the Seine and at Le Havre, and then spent enormous amounts of energy trying to sell the idea to Napoleon as the only possible means of conquering the British, who scorned the idea. The French listened, but in the end invented their own rather rudely, so that when a surreptitious invitation arrived to go to England and Fulton accepted, he received the republican ideals and crossed the Channel.

* * *

Unfortunately for Fulton, the men who dominated the sea were more interested in keeping the established order than in having advantageous possibilities as an aggressive naval weapon, and they had more influence than in building it themselves. But Fulton had the goodwill of making his fortune, went on designing and building. When Nelson ended Napoleon's hopes at the battle of Trafalgar in 1805 the British had the finest navy in existence. They had had in Fulton's notions and removed him from the payroll. A few years later the age of 49 that Fulton returned to America and there had long-delayed fame with the steamboat Clermont.

Storm Is Show Good for Soul

(Hamilton Spectator)

Only those who have never been able to understand is why so many people dislike thunderstorms.

The majestic piling up of the cumulo-nimbus, the magnificence of the squall-wind into the heavy air, the implacable surge of the individual ahead of the storm, and then the great climax of light, sound and movement is one of the most spectacular free show on earth.

Then it is good for the soul. Up there in the sky, casually, for no apparent reason, the temperature of convected air and ionized water droplets, is being released energy in quantities that would keep the fruitiest thermonuclear bomb can propound, busy for years. The engine to get too big for his boots there is nothing like a good thunderstorm to cut him down to size.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Already this season there have been a greater number of outboard motor accidents than last season. And last season, there were more than the season before. The reason is plain. People are buying much more engine on too little boat. In very recent years outboard motors have been vastly improved in practically every respect, except in the matter of power. A few years ago, an eight or ten horse power motor was a massive piece of machinery that common sense would tell you should not be put on a fourteen foot skiff. Today, engines far more powerful than that are such compact affairs that they involve looking mechanisms, and prices have come intoi such agreeable reach that the man with the unwary folk are buying them to put on their old boat up at the cottage which never should wear anything stronger than a five.

The result is many accidents. I have been growing more powerful, boats have been growing more tippy and handier. The craze for speed is killing more and more people on the highways, and now it has gone afloat. At almost any summer resort, you can see children driving high-power outboards on boats of a design totally unsuited to the purpose. Capsizing, as a rule, in these accidents, is that the operator, standing up to drive the machine with one cord, and being naturally off balance by reason of the high speed of the unsuited boat, is unable to seize the steering handle or the control lever when the engine suddenly leaps to life. The engine its self sometimes exhibits similar lack of self-possession. The operator is thrown overboard, and there is nobody to help. He swims madly around, in small tight circles, often hitting the propeller with his head.

The newer engines are equipped with a neutral gear which is supposed to be started, so as to avoid this very danger. But even so, the basic source of the tragic accidents which are already been reported this season is the unsuitability of the boats to which powerful engines are attached. We must face the fact that among our present goods, the god of speed requires a living sacrifice so many times a day.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

"ME COOKIE"

A little toddler who is within the formative years of his second year has a vocabulary of about ten words—mostly nouns—and he has learned in a way that greatly amuses his parents. He attaches the word "me" to anything he desires or claims: "cookie," "me milk," "me up," "me down." His whole conception of reality up to this present moment consists in himself and what he wants. His life oscillates between these two points.

Yet he is a toddler, and of course quite natural. But it is neither cute nor natural in adults. Yet there are many adults whose whole lives consist in nothing beyond establishing relationship between themselves and certain things they want—"me pleasure." "me liquor," "me money," "me power." These are the people who make our homes, their employees, their friends, and anybody who is unfortunate enough to find himself up in opposition to their desires.

The basis of moral and intellectual growth, as we have often observed before, is the capacity to divine ourselves. But there are millions of people whose thoughts never travel only one line—between themselves and the things they want. How to get them to see beyond their existence, the only project in which they have any interest.

There are millions of "me cookie" people who have never grown up.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. W.M. BRADY

LEGEND OF THE GILDED BOIL

I find this legend in Footprints of Weeks in Human Physiology, by Ian J. Dorman Steele, Ph.D., a text-book published by A. S. Barnes Company in 1974 and used in public schools until well into the early nineties.

Probably Dr. Steele was a good teacher and his textbook, which he compiled many years on scientific principles) were equal to textbooks used today. He names numerous other teachers, physicians, editors, museum directors who assisted in the preparation of the book. But from our viewpoint, eighty years later, the book is misleading of course it has been long out of use. Still, I ascribe to this textbook responsibility for some of the most persistent misconceptions of doctors and laymen.

I remember, for instance, how annoyed and resentful I felt when I learned, in the study of biology, that the bones of an elderly person contains less mineral matter (principally calcium) not more than the bones of a young person. Steele gave me a wrong notion about that and I believe the wrong notion still sticks in the minds of many doctors. I was indignant about it, but I did manage to get the salesman to find out. Too many doctors, including some of the loud mouth ones who take it upon themselves to tell the world what "science says" seem to think Steele was right about it. So do the trick specialists who warn us against people who suffer from calcium "deposits" If you follow a high calcium diet you will probably get your calcium-poor diet with an adequate daily ration of Calcium and Phosphorus.

On an occasion of great solemnity (Dr. Steele always did this sipe—I should imagine—and recites the legend in a footnote on p. 73), Pope Leo X caused a young child to be completely covered with gold leaf, except for the face upon which (I remember how I shuddered) the artist's brush of Pope Leo X when I read the yarn in the textbook at the impressionable age of 12) was to represent, according to the idea of the age, the golden effigy of an angel or seraph.

In a few hours after completing to this masterpiece of art, I wrote the doughty doctor with the following letter, dated, I think, the cause being—

(Hold onto your hats, folks, I'm gonna be screwsome)

. . . the cause being suffocation, from stopping the exhalation of the skin through, in the ignorance of the common people of those days, the death now attributed to the anger of the Deity, and looked upon as a manifestation of evil omen. (End of the story).

Perhaps, but do not know, whether gold leef would adhere to more than a small area. Anyway, it would have no effect at all on breathing. Of course the skin neither "exhales" nor absorbs anything. Performes frequently gild silver or otherwise paint most of the skin and this has no deleterious effect.

Perhaps use of the word "exhalation" for evaporation of water (sweat) from the skin has caused confusion in the minds of Dr. Steele and many other credulous persons who have taken the gilded boy yarn seriously and related it from one generation to another until it has become legendary.

Sky-Writer Made Error

(Edmonton Journal)

One of the most common complaints against modern schools is that they don't teach penmanship. A recent calligraphy in Melbourne, Australia, suggests that it is not entirely serious if Junior grows up to be a skywriter.

A publishing firm was engaged to write an advertisement in smoke letters across the Melbourne sky. It was one of the first times such a bargain is offered and the publishers were thrilled. The advertiser's phone number.

Unfortunately the pilot, while flying over the city, took one of the figures in the telephone number, made an error—no doubt a natural one—and doubled it in writing numbers back in Grade One. What started out to be a "9" emerged looking more like a "6". As a result, hundreds of people hurried to the wrong number, and drove its proprietor frantic. He complained in his wrath on the company and insisted that they send their plane up again and correct the mistake. Total cost of the correction, $500.

The pen may be mightier than the sword, but the airplane's contrail is a weapon or a writing instrument—seems to be more dangerous than either.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

READINESS

The longer we live the more important it becomes for us to be ready for any emergency in life that shall face us. Let George be saved and set aside "for the rainy day" as they did when I was a boy. Read more and more there are those who look to others, or the government, to help them out in sudden crisis, or the purposeful ones. They carry their own "safety-valve" power. A few dollars saved and loan him out to one!

Readiness is self-created insurance that supports us in times of emergency and doubt. At such times we need nothing more to sustain and hold us true than our inner faith and moral experience. People suddenly called to handle great responsibilities are so selected because of their readiness to handle any difficult problem.

This feeling of readiness is a wonderful thing. It is indicative of plan, purpose, and long preparation. Unknown to ourselves, we may be preparing for more than we suspect or imagine. By living in a state of readiness, awaiting any call for duty or service that comes in daily life, we pay tribute to the idea of preparedness for the unexpected and answering of any call for service.

Long ago I read in one of my books that contentment is not enough to be ready when duty calls. Many people are content around where he can hear the call." In my newspaper I read an interview with a man who had died and who had done nothing notable since being taken on the city staff. There was talk of his being dropped or sent to pasture somewhere. Then suddenly he was called on opportunity to pitch in an important emergency and he played the game. That chap had prepared himself for the test.

There is something heroic about living in a state of readiness.

Sen. Buchanan Died Sunday, Long Illness

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Senator William Asbury Buchanan, publisher of the Lethbridge Herald and a pioneer in co-operative newsgathering in Canada, died Sunday at the age of 78.

His death followed a long illness. He had undergone a serious operation in Edmonton last autumn, attended sittings of the Senate in Ottawa during the winter and felt critically ill several months ago. He died about 4 a.m. Sunday.

A native of Ontario who adopted this southern Alberta city as his home, he will be buried in the Buchanan family plot in Mountain View cemetery following funeral services at 4 p.m. Wednesday from Southminster United church. Rev. Nelson R. Stevens will officiate.

Senator Buchanan was one of Canada's best-known publishers but he achieved equal prominence in the political field as a Liberal member of the Senate. He served in the Alberta legislature and the House of Commons before he was called to the Senate in 1924.

WAS PRINTER'S DEVIL

A native of Fraserville, Ont., he served his apprenticeship on newspapers in Fraserville and Ottawa as printer's devil and later as a cub reporter, and then moved on to the Toronto Telegram and the St. Thomas Journal. In 1905, he headed west with $40 in his pocket and a wish to own a newspaper. He found one—the weekly Lethbridge Herald—and in two years transformed it into a daily.

In 1907, he helped to establish the old Western Associated Press, the first co-operative news-gathering agency in Canada and the forerunner of The Canadian Press. At his death, he was the only founding member of the WAP still actively engaged in newspaper work.

Nearly two score of years later he was to serve as president of the CP. He was elected in 1944 after many years on the directorate of the national news co-operative. In 1946, he was named honorary president.

He entered politics soon after coming to Alberta. He was elected to the Alberta legislature as a Liberal in 1909 and served briefly in Premier Rutherford's cabinet as minister without portfolio. A dispute with the government over railway policy led to his resignation and he entered the Commons in 1911 as Liberal - member for Medicine Hat, which then included the Lethbridge area. He was returned in each election until his retirement from the Commons in 1921.

DECLINED LEADERSHIP

He was strongly urged in the 1920s to accept the Liberal leadership in Alberta, which had been given up by former attorney-general C. R. Mitchell. He declined, though he later served as president of the Alberta Liberal Association for years.

Senator Buchanan developed a great affection for his adopted prairie countryside and threw the weight of his paper behind projects for the improvement of its land and its people. He was a vigorous promoter of water conservation and irrigation.

In 1903, he married Alma Maude Freeman of Burlington, who survives with two sons, Donald, author and art critic for the National Gallery at Ottawa, and Hugh, managing editor of The Herald, pear. Senator Buchanan's only surviving brother, Stanley, is circulation manager of The Herald.

MADOC

Pastor, Family Presented With Farewell Gifts

MADOC — On Monday evening about 50 members and friends of the Eldorado and Madoc congregations of the Standard Church gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Lough, Madoc, to spend the evening with their minister, Rev. J. R. Walsh, Mrs. Walsh and family.

Mrs. Clarence Stevenson of the Eldorado appointment took charge of the program which included singing, readings and recitations, and concluded with an address read by Mrs. Mac McCann, who spoke of the splendid work that Mr. Walsh had accomplished during his stay in Madoc and the help that Mrs. Walsh had given to the work of the church. Both accomplished musicians, they had given of their time and assistance whenever called upon and hoped for them the best in their new field of service.

Mr. Jack Duncan and Mr. Ward Howard presented Mr. and Mrs. Walsh with a Dutch Pantry dining table. The young people of the churches also presented a beautiful table lamp and gifts were also made to Diana, Garry and Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh thanked their friends for the gifts and their many kindnesses.

Bountiful refreshments were served by the ladies.

Mr. Walsh will preach his farewell sermon on Sunday and will leave next week for his new charge at Brockville.

Rev. Albert Smith of Belleville will be the new minister of Madoc and Eldorado charge.

Weed of the Week

2-4-D Works Well on Chichory

Those bright blue flowers which you may see along roadsides or lanes, or in meadows about this time of year, are probably Chichory.

If the flowers are about the size of a fifty cent piece, attached closely to an otherwise bare branch of the stem, and the leaves are a cluster close to the ground, the shape of dandelion leaves, then the plant is almost sure to be chicory. Chicory is a perennial weed with a deep tap root. This root has been sometimes dried, ground and mixed with coffee—but that isn't always what is wrong with the coffee.

An average plant of chicory will produce about 3,000 seeds a year, so it is likely to be around for quite a while yet. It causes considerable loss in meadows and long term pastures, and detracts from the appearance of roadsides, since the stems are tall, brownish, bushy, almost without upper leaves.

Chicory is not often troublesome in the regular crop rotation. It can be eliminated from pur tern pastures and meadows by plowing and cropping for a year or two. In unworkable fields, or roadsides, it can be controlled by spraying with 2-4-D at a rate of about 16 ounces of 2-4-D acid per acre. Spraying gives best results early in the season, or any time up until the first blossoms appear. Cutting is not too successful, since regrowth is rapid and new flowers and seeds are formed in a few weeks.

Baghdad Filthy, Dusty City, Hot in Summer, Cold in Winter

By WILTON WYNN

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AFP)—In the days when Scheherazade related the tales of the Thousand and One Nights, Baghdad was a synonym for romance and gaiety. Today the traveller's first impression of Ramshackle buildings,

Even the flies can't stand the Baghdad summers. As spring fades away, the heat kills them. A few hotels recently installed air conditioning, however, and some flies have learned they can survive if they stick to the hotels — the hotel rooms.

The real "hot spell" here falls in late July and August, when temperatures soar to 120 for as much as two weeks at a time. At night, servants, carry beds to the roofs-tops where the family sleeps.

NEW SECTIONS CHARM

To see something of the almost-hidden charm of modern Baghdad it is necessary to get away from Rarun al Rashid street to either the new or the very old sections of town. Fanning out from the centre of town are beautiful, flower-lined new boulevards and residential sections which have been built since the end of the Second World War.

Looking back from the new section to the old city, you can get a glimpse of the glory that Baghdad once knew. Because the ancient ground forbids buildings of more than two or three storeys, the skyline is dominated by the domes and minarets of its many Persian-type mosques.

Returning to the old city along the Tigris, you can get a good look at the way ancient Baghdad bought and sold in the noisy bazaar district. Like most Oriental market places, Baghdad's bazaar is a labyrinth of narrow, covered streets. In some sections the covering consists of brick domes and vaulted ceilings and lighting at intervals giving the bazaar the only light it ever sees. On other streets, the covering consists of black tarpaulins stretched over bamboo poles.

Baghdad's bazaar still exists on the mediaeval guild system. Along one street will be found the textile merchants, on another the shoemakers, and in the gold, silver and distillery section is the copper bazaar, where artisans hammer out pots and pans. Baghdad's kitchens, selling them in the same smoky, dusty shops in which they are made.

JOHN NIAGARA Talks about:
HOW TO GET A Friendly Loan
You know a lot of people in the first place they come to Niagara Finance worry about whether or not it's the right thing to do. It's quite true that we don't make a loan every time anybody walks through our doors. Frankly, we'd be out of business if we did. But you'd be surprised at the number of people who do get loans, and chances are good that if you need money, you can get it too. We've grown to be a big organization now but the men we have in our offices spread across Canada, would like to think, are pretty well trained. They're trained to understand how to solve your money problems, in a friendly way. So if you need money, why don't you drop in? There are two good reasons why you should, you know. The first is that our rates are lower on many friendly loans . . . the second is that loans up to $1500, are life-insured, for you family's protection, at no extra cost to you. We think that these features make our loans a better deal than you get down the street. Inquire, won't you?

Women's Institute

RYLSTONE W.I.

RYLSTONE — On Wednesday afternoon, the Rylstone Women's Institute held a regular meeting in the Sunday School Hall at Zion United Church, Pretherickville Corners, with 23 ladies and 26 children in attendance. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Wilfred Spencer and opened in the usual manner.

Mrs. Spencer displayed the prize gavel, won for the greatest attendance according to membership at the district annual meeting at Queensboro in May. She also congratulated Mrs. Carl Linn, former secretary-treasurer, on her appointment to the office of district director. Mrs. Linn, at this point, thanked the ladies for fruit and cards sent to her during her recent illness. Arrangements were made for the dinner at the "Community Sale", on July 20th, which the ladies will be catering for. A letter of thanks was received and read, from the Salvation Army, for a recent donation. Mrs. Arthur Brick, their leader, was convener for the following program: demonstration, "Preparing Strawberries for the Freezer", by Joan Watson and Beverley Linn, with Caroline Wright as narrator; piano solo, "Mark The Tiny Cow Slip Bell", by Betty Linn; recitation, by Earline Kerr; piano duet, by Mrs. Carl Linn and daughter Beverley, "Little Diamond"; piano solo, by Donnalds Kerr, "Little Burlesque"; vocal solo, "Soholick, Botolink," by Barbara Watson, with her mother, Mrs. Jack Watson, at the piano; piano solo, "Joy of Spring", by Carol Milne; vocal duet, "Heart of My Heart", by Caroline Wright and Gail Brick, with Margaret Spencer at the piano; piano solo, "Country Garden", by Mrs. Walter Brunton; age contest, by Miss Violet Wright.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Brick and the girls for their interesting program. Refreshments were served by the Girls' Club.

Arrangements have been made for open-air concerts to be held at Crows River Bridge, each Sunday evening, beginning at 8 o'clock sharp. The opening concert will be held on July 18 and each Sunday after that for the months of July and August.

Good Sunday music will be supplied by Campbellford Brass Band, Sentinel Kittle Band, and other local talent, including the different School choruses. These concerts are not intended to keep anyone from their own regular church services, but are intended to provide good Sacred and semi-classical music, and community singing, for the Sundays during the summer months when several of the neighboring churches are closed for vacation.

They are sponsored by the Rylstone Women's Institute, and the public is invited to attend, and take part in this community project. Anyone who wishes to contribute to the program at any time, or who knows of anyone who would, please get in touch with any of the following members of the program committee: Mrs. Don Kerr, Mrs. Ernest Irwin and Mrs. Ellis Jones.

Married on Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. Virgo Leslie Lewis are pictured cutting wedding cake following their marriage in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Belleville, on Saturday afternoon. The bride is the former Jane Christine Freeman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Freeman, of Belleville, and the bridegroom, the son of Mr. Clayton E. Lewis, of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Mrs. William Harvey of Labrador. (Photo by Ballard and Gerrett, Toronto).

LEWIS—FREEMAN

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church effective with blue and white delphiniums was the setting for the marriage on Saturday, July 10, of Jane Christine, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gustavo A. Freeman, Belleville, to Mr. Virgo Leslie Lewis, son of Mr. Clayton E. Lewis of Sao Paulo, Brazil, and Mrs. William Harvey of Labrador.

In the absence of Rev. J. G. Hornsby, due to illness, the ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Johnson, of St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

Organ music was supplied by Mr. Kenton Boyce, and the soloist was Mr. Robert Reid, of Toronto.

The bride wore an original gown of imported Chantilly lace over white satin over waterfall blue net. The long sleeved molded basque was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline embroidered in iridescent sequins. From the midriff waist, the floor-length skirt featured a scalloped lace redingote effect, revealing the finely pleated tulle underskirt and ending in a flowing sweep.

Her finger-tip veil was caught to a matching lace cap flecked with iridescent sequins.

The bride carried white orchids and stephanotis.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended, by her cousin, Mrs. Robert Robbin, Napanee, as matron of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Douglas Howe, of Mobile, Alabama; Miss Elspeth Wishart, Belleville, and Miss Izabell Baker, of Sudbury. They were waltz-length gowns of waterfall blue crystalette. The molded basques were fashioned on princess lines with off the shoulder drape forming cap sleeves and portrait neckline. Their matching caps were of pleated crystalette embroidered with pearls. They wore matching shoes and carried garden bouquets of pink gladioli petals, blue cornflowers and white daisies.

The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Donald Foyston, Port Hope, as groomsman. The ushers were, Mr. Robert Roblin, of Napanee; Mr. Melvin Lloyd, of Woodstock, and Mr. John Morgan, of Montreal.

A garden reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The bride's mother chose a Balenciaga gown of platinum grey lace over silk taffeta and net. Her hat of muslin de sole was in brandy shade. Grey accessories and golden toned orchids completed the ensemble. The bridegroom's grandmother received, gowned in dusky rose with blue accessories and orchid corsage.

Later, the bride and bridegroom left for Bermuda, the bride travelling in a printed silk dress and duster in grey and chartreuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will reside in Belleville.

Weddings

MOULT—CARLETON

A wedding of interest to friends and relatives in the Roslin district took place in Christ Anglican Church, Norwood, on Saturday, June 26, when Eleanor Adelbel, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Harry G. Carleton, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles Moult, of Toronto.

Her former pastor, Rev. R. E. Lemon, performed the ceremony.

The Rev. F. C. Reazer of Carrying Place, assisted at the Nuptial Communion which was part of the ceremony. The church was decorated with gaillioli and summer flowers and formed a beautiful setting.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, looked lovely in her bouffant gown of nylon net and lace over satin trimmed with sequins. She wore a matching lace jacket. A lace cap, trimmed with seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses, lily-of-the-valley and stephanotis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. William Gibbon, of Toronto, (nee Mavis Alexander), who wore orchid net over taffeta with a matching jacket and flower headdress. She carried a cascade of yellow gladioli and Talisman roses.

Junior bridesmaid was Miss Linda Moult, sister of the bridegroom, who was in a floor-length gown of nile green organdy with matching floral headdress. She carried yellow gladioli and Talisman roses.

The flower girl was Glenda Moult, cousin of the bridegroom, wearing yellow organdy and carrying a basket of rose petals.

The groom was attended by his uncle, Mr. Robert Moult, of Mount Dennis. Ushers were Edmund and Harry Carleton, brothers of the bride.

During the service, Miss Nancy Pickering sang "The Lord's Prayer," and "God Has Made Two Hearts as One" (Davis). Miss Helen Armstrong, of Toronto played the wedding music.

The reception was held at Ulster Lodge, Rice Road North, summer home of the bride's parents, where guests, more than 100 in number, were served a delightful buffet luncheon on the lawn.

The out-of-town friends present were from Sarnia, Toronto, Ottawa, Hamilton, Stirling, Tweed, Perth and Norwood.

Mrs. Carleton received wearing a pale grey blue lace and taffeta waltz-length gown with matching accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. Moult, mother of the bridegroom, wore a powder blue silk suit with black accessories and corsage of pink roses.

For the wedding trip to the Thousand Islands and Cape Cod the bride chose a summer suit of tones of brown and yellow with white accessories, and a corsage of Talisman roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Moult will five in Toronto.

FOXBORO W.M.S.

FOXBORO — The regular monthly meeting of Foxboro Women's Missionary Society met on Thursday afternoon in the Sunday School rooms with a good attendance of members and children present. Mrs. Orland Bertram, Baby Band secretary for the presbyterial, was the guest speaker.

Mrs. W. E. Tummon, W.M.S. president, opened meeting with a poem and reading of the Scripture lesson. Mrs. Walter Johnson and Mrs. Percy Kilpatrick, leaders of the Baby Band, then took charge. The children sang "Jesus Loves Me" with Mrs. Griffin at the piano. A lovely Dominetgraph story was told by Mrs. Griffin to the children. Misses Edna and Cathy Hubel each gave a short piano solo. Mrs. Bertram then spoke to the children taking for her address Ecclesiastes 9:10.

"The Missionary Hand," a large picture of right hand was placed for all to see, each thumb and finger being named: thumb, "pray"—for all Japanese girls and boys that the gospel will be sent to them; first finger, "bless"—what other hands need and can use, then try and send things to them; 2nd finger, "give" — pennies, coppers and nickels for missionary box to help send missionaries and gospel to lands across the sea; 3rd finger, "work"—run errands for people not able to get around; 4th finger, "talk" — tell others of Jesus and so spread the gospel.

Mrs. Griffin closed the meeting following with a social half hour was enjoyed with refreshments being prepared by the president and helpers.

Seasonal Fruit Products For Diabetics

By Mary Moore

One of the self-imposed rules governing attendance at Canadian Women's Press Club Triennial was that all my readers' mail had to be answered before I left. Any answers that had not been mailed when I left the house were either nearly ready to go or were in works.

During the week when I was getting ready to leave your letters fell off somewhat giving me a reprieve, (Was this intuition at work on your part?) Marianne nobly came to my rescue and looked after my clothes and packing and I was ready in time.

This morning I spent opening the mail that awaited me on my return. I have sent replies to all who only wanted raffels, bulletins, charts, and recipes I had ready printed. Other letters will be answered in order of date of your mailing them.

It was an exciting holiday and in all of the craft sessions we were urged to do better work. I sincerely hope I can improve my service to you.

There are two large groups of readers in this audience who want help; those who want to reduce (need I say "the largest group" as it were) and those who have diabetes.

In my opinion the diabetic patients need help the most so they come first.

—I am not content with my recipe for sugarless raspberry jam and am working on another one for my diabetic friends. It will be ready and tuck to the experiments and to get into print the one of my choice while the raspberries are still in season, but I will do my best.

Meanwhile I will give you my tested recipes for sugarless cherry and black currant preserving. But remember, that I will give you the sugarless raspberry jam recipe as soon as I am content with it.

SUGARLESS DARK CHERRY JAM

This is a great favorite with those on diabetic or other low-calorie diets.

One quart dark sweet cherries, 2 tablespoons glycerin (this may be omitted if your doctor advises you to), 2 teaspoons certo crystals, 4 sucaryl tablets, dissolved in 1 teaspoon boiled and slightly cooled water. Wash cherries well and pit them with hand pitter and mash them with potato masher to the consistency of pulp over low heat to boil off excess juice, for about 10 minutes, then add all of the remaining ingredients except sucaryl. Boil three minutes, stirring. Remove from heat, stir in sucaryl, then pour into small sterile jars and seal. Sugarless jams should be sealed in sealers, not with paraffin, and to make sure they keep should be stored in the refrigerator.

SUGARLESS BLACK CURRANT JAM

Wash 4 cups choice fully ripened black currants. Drain well then mash them in flat-bottomed saucepan. Simmer gently for 15 minutes. Add 12 sucaryl tablets, 6 tablespoons glycerin (omit if doctor says no) and 1-2 teaspoon certo crystals. Stir over low heat until jelies is slightly thickened, then immediately pour into sterile small sealers and seal. Store in refrigerator.

I have a message that Ruth A. sent to me in June of 1952 regarding the freezing of sweet cherries: "I have just put both sweet and sour cherries in the locker with no sugar at all. The sweet cherries are extra good and just like freshly picked fruit if they are put in the jars unpitted and with no sugar. Of course not too many can be put in a jar (or they will freeze and enlarge and crack jar) but the flavor is excellent—just cherries—no sugar or water."

This is an excellent tip and I want to thank Ruth A. again, two years later.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By: BEATRICE FAIRFAX

IS THIS YOUNG WOMAN REALLY "MATURE ENOUGH"?

"I don't think my child is indebted to his parents," declares a young woman of 19 who resents the attitude the mother of the young man she wants to marry is taking toward the idea.

This is a young woman who is very sure of herself. She begins her letter to me by asserting her conviction that "physically and mentally I am mature enough to take on the responsibilities of marriage." The chap she wants to marry is 24 years old and in the air force. They want to get married in the very near future, but his mother objects. Her reasons are, as her prospective daughter-in-law describes them, as follows:

"She is against our marriage because this fellow has a year still to serve in the air force and then must put in two years more in trade school. She wants us to wait at least three more years before getting married, because she feels her son is indebted to her because she sent him to school.

"Does she have any right to interfere with our lives and future? I don't think any child is indebted to his parents, and we want to get married soon, so what can we do?"

In the first place, I'm not sure I know exactly what this girl means when she says her boy friend's mother wants them to postpone their marriage because "she feels her son is indebted to her." Does she feel he is indebted to her financially, and should pay her back before he marries, for money she has provided for him? Or is it simply that she wants him to stay with her awhile first? Moreover, is she in need of financial help from him? The answers to these questions are all factors in the situation.

However, for lack of any definite information on these points, let's assume that this chap's mother considers that he owes her the money she paid out for his schooling and wants it back before he takes on a wife to support. If this is the case, then I should think these two might get around the obstacle by making a well-thought-out plan for the girl to work after marriage for so long a time as it would take her husband to lay aside the necessary money to repay his mother. If they made a definite plan of this kind, and open to his mother and assured her that the plan would be carried through conscientiously, I can see no reason why she should object to the marriage if this is her only reason.

On the other hand, if it simply her son's company he wants for a year or so before he leaves her to set up a home of his own, then I would think it is up to him to take an independent stand, gently but firmly, and insist on his right to lead his own life. After all, he is 24 years old, and most young men normally are thinking of marriage at such an age.

Has this young woman really stopped to consider, however, the possibility that this mother may be anxious about her son assuming the responsibility of a wife and home, when, after he leaves service, he must go to school two more years before starting on whatever his trade is to be? It would be perfectly natural for any other mother to worry over such a situation.

Here, too, I would feel it essential for this couple to make an advance plan for financing themselves, if they marry now, until the young man is fully prepared to assume his proper financial responsibilities. If the mother sees that they have made wise provision for years ahead, she may be more ready to give her consent.

Altogether, as I see it, there are a number of important things for these two to work out together before making any definite decision about when they will be married. The girl is fully correct that she is "mature enough to take on the responsibilities of marriage." If she actually is that mature, she will have the foresight to make the necessary advance plans to cover the questions I have mentioned. Before being so certain that the young man's mother is unreasonably interfering with them.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

HOW THE WEDDING RING IS ENGRAVED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My son has asked me to ask you what initial he should order put in the wedding ring. Should he put the initials of his fiancee's maiden name or only his (the groom's) initial? Please give us an example. — Mother.

The wedding ring should be marked with the initials of the bride and the initials of the groom, plus the date of the wedding. Customarily the groom's initials come first, since he is the giver-of-the-ring. But it is also proper, if preferred, for the bride's initials to come first.

When the groom's initials come first, the marking is: D.A.E. to M.M.W., July 20, 1954. (In this order of marking, "to" must be used. The date may be abbreviated to: 7-20-54.)

When the bride's initials are to come first, "to" is of course omitted, and the marking is: M.M.W. to D.A.E. July 20, 1954 (or 7-20-54).

WEDDING ANNIVERSARY INVITATIONS SHOULD BE ANSWERED

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

(1) I have just received an invitation to a Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary celebration. I am wondering if I should answer it or not. Should I? If so, how? (2) And what kind of gift for the Twenty-fifth anniversary? — S.

(1) Certainly you should answer this kind and thoughtful invitation to such an important occasion. The How-You-Answer depends on the kind of invitation you received (this you don't tell me.) If it is a formal invitation (that is, in the third person), your answer should be formally worded:

Mrs. Jay Smith
accepts with pleasure the kind invitation of
Mr. and Mrs. Baker
For Tuesday, the third of August
at five o'clock

If the invitation was a note, answer it by note:

Dear Kate,

You and Tom were so kind and thoughtful to invite me to your Twenty-fifth Wedding Anniversary celebration, and I most happily accept. I'll be there at five o'clock to offer you both my best wishes!

Devotedly,

2. The Twenty-fifth Anniversary is the "Silver" Anniversary.

WHEN YOU must take a baby on a long auto trip, make it easy on yourself by wedging his crib mattress in the tightly locked back seat. Prop the mattress securely with, luggage, etc., and it makes a good level surface for playing, napping, and changing.

Copyright, 1954, H. T. Herald Tribune Inc.

Formerly presents were always of silver. . .but today not very much attention is paid to these anniversary symbols. We give the couple something we think they would both welcome and enjoy. We may wrap the gift in silver paper, and tie it with silver ribbon.

TODAY'S PLAN FOR BRIDAL ATTENDANTS' DRESSES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The bride is to wear a full-length white wedding gown, and veil. May we, the bridesmaid and matron of honor, wear the shorter-length dresses? Should our dresses be similar, or different?

Matron of honor

It's of course the bride-to-be who decides what the attendants are to wear. If she wishes, her two attendants may wear the shorter-length dresses. . .today this is more the usual procedure than the exceptional. And today also it is the usual plan to have the dress of the honor attendant and the dress of the bridesmaid alike in style, and very often in color. These plans contribute to the harmony so much desired.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

SWIMMING—THE PERFECT EXERCISE

Swimming is an ideal normalizing exercise. Be a water baby and improve your shape — keep in shape the shape you have. Both the fat and the thin should get in the swim.

The act of forcing the body through the water causes the muscles of the back and abdomen to tighten, become stronger and take up slack if they have lost tone. The lightweights will be benefited because large amounts of air are taken into the lungs and the walls of the chest expanded and lifted.

A fine figure is dependent upon the large muscles of the back that extend from the shoulder blades to the hips. These fibers provide motor power for the arms as one progresses through the waves.

The legs do the heavy work. That is why this delightful recreation will reduce fatted calves and develop splendid shapes. The freedom of movement in the hip joints is also a reducing factor.

Quick immersion is what the doctor orders. Don't wade out slowly, but duck under at once. This practice equalizes circulation, brings a quick reaction of the blood streams that causes the flesh to glow. Almost immediately there will be a sense of well-being and exhilaration.

Tuck a sun-tan lotion in your beach bag. Take no chance of getting sunburned. The complexion seldom regains its fine texture and delicate transparency after repeated sunburning. It can take on a leathery appearance that is anything but glamorous. Remember it is not the tan, but the action of the sun's rays that is beneficial to the health.

When the sun soap and water before exposure to strong sunlight, or immediately after. If the flesh is sensitive, apply a soothing cream with light friction, letting it remain on for some time.

Like the skin, the hair can suffer from exposure to glaring sunlight. It can become dry and the color can change somewhat. So follow a policy of protection. A bet oil treatment now and then is beneficial as many ways.

Wife Preservers

You can dress up a lemon meringue pie pretty handily making a small depression in the center of the meringue and, when ready to serve, filling the depression with a little bright jelly or jam.

Militia Shakeup Causes Elation, Disappointment

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Disappointment and elation are among the varying reactions expressed to the federal government's shake-up of militia units.

Numerous changes in the designation and roles of the militia were announced Friday.

At Timmins, Maj. R. E. Boell, commanding officer of the Timmins companies of the Algonquin Regiment, said he is elated at the news that the regiment will become an armored regiment.

"This will give a tremendous boost to the reserve organization in northern Ontario," he said. "There is a quantity of training equipment ready, including ranges, which allows for tank training without having the actual tanks here. However, we shall not attempt too strenuously to increase our complement of troops until we have trained competent armored instructors."

SAYS DISAPPOINTED

Maj.-Gen. H. N. Gascoq of St. Stephen, N.B., who led the Carleton and York Regiment during the Second World War, expressed disappointment over removal of the unit's headquarters from Fredericton.

He said he is pleased, however, to see the famous regiment's name perpetuated in the first battle designation of the New Brunswick Regiment, which takes the place of the former regimental set-up in the province.

The changes will not go into effect until after the summer camp training, Brig. M. S. Dunn, commander of eastern Ontario area, said at Kingston.

"As far as this area is concerned, I would like to see the change-over completed by the first week in September" he said.

He added that an "executive directive" would be going out soon to all the units affected, in which most of the questions raised by unit commanders would be answered.

Brig. Dunn said the changes should add efficiency to the reserve army, and in particular, improve the administration, which had become "a bit top heavy."

In Nova Scotia the reorganization brought a storm of protests from members of the Pictou Highlanders and the predominantly Scottish natives of the New Glasgow area.

Col. L. R. MacKenzie of Halifax, oldest officer of the famous regiment, said he "deeply regretted to see the unit wiped out after 84 years of colorful history."

He said a good militia means good morale and the new move was not in the best interest of the country.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

SO ARE WE!

Now the Bsias are wondering whatinell has kept those Oakville Oaks in the Viadust Ontario League cellar position for so long. There was nothing "bottom-of-the-league" about the club in that double win Saturday. They had just about everything, in fact a lot more than the Bsias had in almost every department. They came up with a terrific hitting display, 23 hits, including three homers, one a grand-slammer, five doubles and 17 assorted singles. It that is a weak-hitting team, then the Boulder Dam is a mother of a racehorse.

Meanwhile, Ross Paton, Oaks southpaw, came through with a brilliant mound chore. He "iron-manned" his way to twin wins, going the route in the first and relieving himself in the second. Our side could do little with his slants, especially in the clutches and their seven miscues in the second game didn't help their cause any.

Bob Bunton was the belter of a quartet of Bsia hurlers. He did a fine job of relief in the second game after Art Wright was driven to the showers, holding the Oaks to one hit and two runs over six innings.

Coach Goyer shuffled his lineup for the second tilt, but it was just another array of ball players as far as the Oaks bludgeons were concerned. It was their day to howl—and howl they did.

Tomorrow night is another night. The Bsias entertain their old enemies the Peterborough Petes and since both clube have heard the thunder of the Oakville bats—(the Petes lost 29-4 to them)—it should be quite a tilt.

THAT ALL-STAR TUSSLE

Tomorrow afternoon in Municipal Stadium, Cleveland, fifth the National League All-Stars will be gunning for their fifth straight victory over the scintillators of their arch-foes of the American loop.

Baseball experts across the borders have forgotten, temporarily, the blazing battle between the Giants and the Flatbush Fusiliers from the banks of the Gowanus, and the Yankees' steady surge to overcome the surprising Cleveland Indians, for this annual classic of the diamond.

In the American League there is more than a baseball game at stake. If there is such a thing as sentiment in baseball it should emerge in American League circles in that they will be rooting for "Ole Case" Stengel of the New York Yankees, five-time champions, to come up with his first all-star victory in five starts.

The managerial wizardry that pulled the famous Yankees to five straight world championships has failed in four starts to produce a winner in the all-star classic. Can Case do it this time, is the question on many American League and other lips.

Case says he can and will. Tomorrow will tell the tale.

But the odds are against the millionaire mentor of the Bronx Bombers in that the National Leaguers have a far steadier mound corps and more consistent power behind the bat, if seasonal records to date mean anything.

While Casely is supremely confident of the outcome tomorrow, he admits the National Leagues defeated the Stengel-managed American loopers fairly and squarely over the past four years. Casey lost the 1956 all-star contest in nine innings, dropped the decision 8-3 in Detroit the next year; lost 3-2 in Philadelphia in 1952, and last year took a 5-1 beating at Cincinnati.

In those four years the American Leaguers scored nine runs on 28 hits while their foes from the National piled up 35 clouts for 16 runs.

Casey had a close call in 1950 when his mentor opposition was Barney Shotton of the Dodgers. The game was in his 14th inning when Red Schoendist blasted the ball into the upper deck in Comiskey Park and downed Casey.

Six homers were hit in the 1934 game played in Detroit where the league-managed Americans took a real trouncing. Kiner, Stan Musial, Bob Elliott and Gil Hodges hit the circuit blows for the Nationals with George Kell and Vic Wertz blasting four-baggers for the losers.

Last year's game in Cincinnati saw the Nationals hold their foes mostly still the ninth when hits by Ferris Fain, Johnny Mize and Minnie Minoso enabled the Americans to wiggle out of a shutout. Jackie Robinson and Hank Bauer connected for the homers that sealed Casey's fate.

Tomorrow he matches his managerial skill against an unknown in All-Star game competition, Walter Alston, rookie manager of the slipping Brooklyn Dodgers.

The game should prove something or other. Will it be a test of the managerial ability of a five-year World Series winner with a weaker team, against a green manager with strength in all departments, or will it be as it has always been, the victory to the strong?

Wings Take Two-Game Lead Over Toronto

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Havana Cuban SugarKings, flops to the east and champions at home, moved closer to the top of the International League standings while helping Rochester Red Wings take over first place Sunday.

Havana, which has won nine of its last 12 games at home, racked up its third and fourth straight wins by knocking Toronto out of first place with a double victory over the Maple Leafs by identical scores of 5-1.

Meanwhile Rochester moved into a two-game lead over the Leafs with a double victory over Richmond Virginians, 8-3 and 7-4.

OTHER ACTION

In other league action, Syracuse Chiefs downed Montreal Royals in the 2nd and 8-0 while Buffalo Bisons swept the lowly Ottawa Athletics 9-8 and 7-2.

The two meetings to within one game of third place and seven behind the Red Wings, received brilliant pitching performances from Jim Melton and Saul Rogovin. Melton got the verdict for both victories to run his season record to 6-4 while Rogovin got the decision against the Virginians.

Jim Owens of Syracuse hurled a two-hitter against Montreal in the second game after the Chiefs won the opener 10-2 behind Gaylord Perry.

The Chiefs built up a 9-0 lead in the first game, but relief pitching by Jim Lemon and Kent Peterson were needed to put down a late-inning rally by the Royals.

Buffalo scored seven runs in the final two innings of the first game and eight in the second to down Hal Hudson gaining credit for the win.

Reliever Ryne Johnson coasted to his eighth victory of the season in the nightcap as the Bisons jumped on Johnny Gray for three runs.

Canada's 73-Member Track Squad Starts Rigorous Training Program

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's 73-member British Empire Games track and field team, named here during the week-end, today begins a rigorous training program for the July 30-Aug. 7 spectacle.

The squad, compromising 31 men and 19 women, was selected at the conclusion of the two-day games track and field trials. Some 144 athletes from all parts of the country took part.

Sprint stars Don McFarlane of Hamilton and petite Gerry Bemmister of Vancouver, both double winners in the trials, head the team.

Miss Bemmister, out of action for a year with a leg injury, showed top form in winning the 100 and 220-yard sprints by comfortable margins. She was clocked in 25.9 for the 220 Saturday.

FELLA WINS

Easterners Ron Miller and Roy Pella each came through with victories as expected in their field event specialties.

Miller, of Toronto, topped the pole vaulters with a jump of 13 feet nine inches, and Pella, Sudbury, won the discus with a throw of 155 feet, 11 inches.

McFarlane, a member of Canada's 1952 Olympic team, whipped over the nine-hurdle distance in B.C. Stadium track in 21.9 seconds to beat Toronto's Joe Forestano to the tape. Jones-Healey was a second in the men's 220.

McFarlane also won the 100-yard event the previous day and Forestano won the 440.

TOP CONTENDER

Vancouver's Alice Whitty will be a top contender in the women's high jump, winning that event Saturday with a leap of five feet, 3½ inches. She was second with a 122 feet, four inch toss in the women's discus.

The five-foot, 10-inch blonde set a Canadian record in the event last spring.

Glamorous Jackie MacDonald, a trials double winner from Toronto, her second event with a 122 feet, four inch toss in the women's discus.

Glamorous Jackie MacDonald, a trials double winner from Toronto, her second event with a 122 feet, four inch toss in the women's discus.

The five-foot, 10-inch blonde set a Canadian record in the event last spring.

Another Canadian record in the event was established by Harry Kennedy of Toronto in the three-mile run. Kennedy covered the 12 laps of the oval of Vancouver in a tremendous duel and hit the tape in 14:28.8, well off the old world record-shattering run by Freddie Green and Chris Chataway in London the same day.

Both British runners will run in the B.E. Games here next month.

Mile winner Bill Parnell of Vancouver also rallied in a desperate bid for a double victory, losing to fellow-townsman Doug Clement in the final event. Parnell's time was 1:53. Rich Ferguson of Toronto was third.

Batas Drop Viaduct Double Feature To Oakville Oaks By 8-3, 14-7 Scores

'Iron Man' Paton Wins Twice As Mates Blast Out 23 Hits; Grand-Slammer for Gyokery

By GEORGE H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Behind the "iron-man" pitching of southpaw Ross Paton, the Oakville Oaks pounded out double victories over the Batas in Batas on Saturday to consolidate fifth spot in the Viaduct Ontario Baseball League.

Paton won the first game 8-3, and turned in a fine relief job in the second to garner a 14-7 victory. He held the Batas scoreless in five innings in the second game.

The Oakville batters made merry at the expense of four Batas hurlers over the double feature, rapping out 23 hits, including three homers, a triple, five doubles and 14 singles. Bert Gyokery hit a grand-slam homer to tuck the second game away. Seven Batas bobbles in this slit helped materially.

Unknown Briton Smashes World Three-Mile Mark

By MILTON MARMOR

LONDON (AP)—An unheralded British distance runner, 28-year-old wartime parachutist Freddie Green smashed the world three-mile record Saturday and with his startling 13:32.2 clocking erased the last of the Gunder Haegg world marks.

Green, who began four of the Swedish wonder runner's marks established in the war years, were on the books. The others—the two miles, 2,000 and 3,000 meters—had been erased in recent years.

Since May, Roger Bannister of Britain and John Landy of Australia have battled for supremacy with their four-minute epics. Landy of Australia also broke the 1,500-meter record of the great Swede. Emil Zatopek of Czechoslovakia a year ago ended his reign over the 5,000 meters.

Saturday was the White City Stadium track before a crowd of 30,000 at the British Amateur Athletic Association championships. Green, a Birmingham electrician, was beaten by Derek Ibbotson a few inches ahead of Chris Chataway.

Both Green, who had never before won a British title nor was rated among the 28-year-old brewer who ran second to both Bannister and Landy in the mile, rolled to the greatest mile in the new world mark which is 2.2 seconds faster than Haegg's, set in 1942.

Both will have their times sent up for ratification by the International Amateur Athletic Association.

Aussie Boxer Refused Visa By Americans

PERTH, Australia (Reuters)—The United States has refused a visa to Steve Dunleavy, Australian amateur heavyweight boxing champion, who will be one of the six fight to Vancouver for the Empire Games.

Stephen Winship, United States consul here, said Sunday that he had received a "blanket refusal or not the refusal was on political grounds."

R. S. W. Eaves, general manager of the Australian games team, announced Sunday night that Australia would fight the refusal.

Zoranich said he used to attend political meetings but had not done so for some time, and had no political affiliations.

He added that he now intends to leave July 15 and fly to Vancouver, where he will join Dunleavy he will have to pay the extra cost of his longer flight himself.

Leonard Optimistic About Golf Open After Winning Fifth Pro Tourney

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

EDMONTON (CP)—Dave Leonard, with his fifth Canadian Professional Golfers Association championship under belt, returned to Vancouver optimistic about his chances in the $15,000 Canadian Open there this week.

After beating Hepsy Marstell of Edmonton by three strokes for the CPGA title here Saturday, the little pro from Vancouver's Marine Drive paid his golf in his tournament and had given him a big "lift" on the eve of the Open.

No Canadian has won the Open since 1914 but Leonard has come close on several occasions. He has been top Canadian in the Open five times.

In the $4,175 CPGA tournament, Leonard acted as though he owned the Edmonton Mayfair course where he set the competitive record of 64 for the par-70 layout in 1951 and shot a pre-tourney practice round of 67 last week.

He went on to five par-busting rounds of 69, 69 and 67 Friday and Saturday, collecting $750 first-prize money with a five-under-par 205 for the 54-hole medal test.

After staying abreast of Leonard through the first two rounds, Marstell faltered to a 70 on the last 18 holes Saturday for a 208 and $600 second money.

Leonard was presented with the Seagram Shield by Canadian Prime Minister George Prudhamm on the 18th green, where he finished with a birdie 3 that added a sparkling 33-foot uphill putt for a birdie.

The coast pro, in keeping his CPGA title in the west for the fifth straight year, also became the second man to win five times. The other five-time winner, Willie Lamb of Toronto Lambton, took it last in 1935. Lamb finished 11th in the 31-man field this year but won $200 for that share of the tournament's top senior golfer.

Leonard, who is a left-handed golfer but it was his right hand that gave him five runs off five hits for the Elgins over the Batas in the fourth game. Their last meeting—in London Intercounty action in the Hi-Hinds 4-4 tie. The game was stopped at 10:30 p.m.

In Brantford the home-town Red Sox and Kitchener Panthers split their doubleheader. Brantford won the seven-inning first game 6-3 but Panthers took the nine-inning contest 8-5. Cali Terriers walloped Guelph-Waterloo Royals 8-1 in the other scheduled week-end game.

BRANTFORD WINS

In an exhibition game at Toronto Sunday, two weight-class Carswell's double and Semmelhack's single erased the Jarvis lead in the ninth and with McCurdy finally curbing the rally. Harry Brown drove in the winning run in the 10th with a drive over the right field fence after Wilson had made it to first base in the sixth when he plated Hatch Jr. by scoring. Singles by Wayne Brown and Hatch Jr., Carswell's double, and three outfield errors scored the other Red Sox runs.

Shortstop Ernie Carswell had two hits and scored twice while Hatch Jr., followed with a trio of singles. Hatch Sr., Wayne Brown and Semmelhack had a pair apiece. Harry Brown collected two and Sherry had a one bagger.

Paul Russell beat out three bunts for singles and Bob Cooper had the odd one.

Lineups: Madoc: Sherry, Carswell, H. Brown, Semmelhack, Killian, W. Brown, Hatch Jr., Hatch Sr., Pigden.

Bluebirds: Russell, Goyer, Casey, Clarke, Cooper, Green, Brown, Bovay, Wallbridge, McCurdy, Day, White, Belnap.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Every-thing's happening to the Brooklyns of late. Immediately after Tuesday's all-star game at Cleveland, manager Walt Alston's shocked crew has to head for Milwaukee to play off a postponed game with the league-leading Braves, club is burning about it.

There is an agreement that no games will be played in either league on the days before and after the all-star break, but a series of early season rainouts at Milwaukee has made it impossible to get in the game on Wednesday or risk losing it entirely.

Meanwhile, the players who are not chosen for the mid-season fracas can look forward to a two-day vacation, and the Dodgers in their present state could use the rest. Besides, there's even talk that they might protest to the league president and ask that he not play the game, but vice-president Buzz Bavasi put a stop to that with the curt remark: "They don't have to play if they don't want to. We don't have to pay them, either."

YANKS STAY HOME

Winning the British open golf championship last week-end didn't do it once was, judging by appearances. For the first time in many years, the Yanks didn't send their ranking professional thought it was worth the trouble and expense to the week's event at Birkdale. Jimmie Demaret, now well past his prime, was the last of the Yanks who could have been given an outside chance to win.

The British title for many years was the most prized of them all. Bobby Jones, Gene Sarazen and, more recently, Ben Hogan built much of their fame and earning power by winning on the windswept British courses. Then the Yanks put a stamp on their greatness.

How there is much money to be won that the prestige of capturing the oldest of the opens no longer has the glitter. And, I guess, the average young pro now would rather win a Tam O'Shanter tournament with its certain $20,000 reward than the British title that may take many times that long. You can't eat on glory alone.

METZER MARVELS, TOO

Russ Meyer of the Dodgers became the latest member of the Willie Mays fan club after that remarkable man clouted his 30th home run off him, a mighty swat that cleared the left field screen in right centerfield.

"That ball he hit," Meyer reported incredulously, "was a line-drive and it was about a foot outside the plate. He just reached out and hit the ball out of it."

BRANCA RELEASED

DETROIT (AP)—Detroit Tigers today announced the release of pitcher Ralph Branca, 28-year-old right-handed pitcher acquired from Brooklyn on waivers a year ago. Branca, who gave up the famous home run ball to Bobby Thomson that enabled the Giants to win a playoff for the 1951 National League pennant, was 2-3 in his brief stint with the Tigers. In 45 1-3 innings this season he yielded 39 homers, won a 9-4, 6-4 victory over Mrs. Nolan Richards in the 1953 women's singles and Miss Connolly picked up another victory when she joined with Australian Mervyn Rose to win the mixed doubles over Neil Fraser of Australia and Mrs. Vinette Bacalla of France 7-5, 6-2.

...ugia Stewart of Pasadena, Cal., upset Shirley Fry of Akron, Australia 2-6, 6-4, 6-4, 11-13, 6-4 to win the women's singles and Miss Connolly won a 9-4, 6-4 victory over Mrs.

Bluebirds Drop 12-2 Decision To Madoc

By (GARRY ALEXANDER)

Madoc, using a revised line up, came up with a second inning rally, a three-run homer, and took advantage of five outfield errors on Saturday night to down the slumping Bluebird Juniors 12-3 in a scheduled game played at the Alemite Field. The Junior's loss was their sixth since June 21st while winning only one game in that time.

Mercier's boys had a brief 2-0 lead in the first frame but Madoc went out front to stay with four in the second while adding three in the fifth, a singleton in the sixth and finishing with three unearned tallies in the ninth.

Junior Day started on the hill but it was the right side of the box that gave up five runs off five hits for the loss in 3 1-3 innings. Four of the batters and walked another pair while whiffing one. Bruno McCurdy finished the game, allowing only five hits for the seven remaining runs while fanning seven and walking six.

Don Sherry opened the game with a single to left and stole second. Infield out for the visitors 1-0 lead in the first. Had the next two batters also walked another run would have been added.

Madoc's leadoff batter in the second Bill Hatch Jr., had Hatch Sr., in left and Sherry at second. Singles by Wayne Brown and Hatch Jr., Carswell's double, and three outfield errors scored the other Red Sox runs.

Shortstop Ernie Carswell had two hits and scored twice while Hatch Jr., followed with a trio of singles. Hatch Sr., Wayne Brown and Semmelhack had a pair apiece. Harry Brown collected two and Sherry had a one bagger.

British Jockey Gordon Richards Seriously Hurt

SANDOWN PARK, England (AP) Sir Gordon Richards, England's champion jockey, was thrown from his mount and seriously injured Saturday, the second time this year that the 52-year-old veteran has been injured.

The 26-year-old jockey suffered a petty injury when he was thrown by the Queen's horse Abergeldie in the Queen Elizabeth Stakes. He climbed chatting with the Queen in the parade ring. The horse reared, fell and failed to roll partly over on the jockey.

Richards's injuries are serious, although he is not in any danger. Doctor Bill Shields said: "He will not be able to ride for at least two months."

Richards, who has ridden nearly 4,900 winners since 1921, was thrown from his mount at Salisbury May 19. Because of the spill, Richards was unable to ride the Queen's colt, Aureole, in the second Derby, England's most famed race.

Lady Richards told reporters after a visit with her husband Sunday: "He is very comfortable and his mental outlook was "extremely good."

DIMAG PLAYS AGAIN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Joe Dimaggio returned to baseball briefly with a bang Saturday night as he led a losing cause as the oldtime San Francisco Seals lost a five-inning game 2-1 to the Old Timers Association.

Northern Girls Edge Oshawa

The Northern Electric girls' team of Belleville were hosts to an Oshawa girls' team on Saturday evening and edged the visitors by a close 7-6 score at the CNRAA Park in an exhibition tilt.

Drake was on the mound for the homesters, whiffing four and walking six, while Honeyman took the loss for Oshawa, as she fanned six and allowed five passes to the same number.

Baker and Fox led Northern Electric at bat with two hits each, while Waite, Hopper and Sackeller had one. Tremble and Fox gave claimed triples in defeat, while two singles went to Honeyman and Peel. Hoskens and Stack had a single each.

Close Battle For Top Spot In Intercounty

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

If London Majors and St. Thomas Elgins can meet in the playoffs the Senior Intercounty Baseball League should be in for some action.

London trails the first-place Elgins by a single game in the standings. They have met five times and each has won two games.

Their last meeting—in London Saturday—ended in a Hi-Hinds 4-4 tie. The game was stopped at 10:30 p.m.

In Brantford the home-town Red Sox and Kitchener Panthers split their doubleheader. Brantford won the seven-inning first game 6-3 but Panthers took the nine-inning contest 8-5. Cali Terriers walloped Guelph-Waterloo Royals 8-1 in the other scheduled week-end game.

Minor Baseball

Schwab's Little Giants will be the Belleville Bantam representatives in the O.B.A. playoffs again this season by virtue of their 15-5 victory over the B.C. Crew on Saturday, taking the first game 7-2 and the second 12-6.

Jack Gallagher was the winning pitcher in both games, going all the way in the opener while coming in to relieve Bill Kelleher, in the second. The score was 6-2 for the B.C. Crew in the latter when the final fixture but he shut them out the rest of the way while Schwab's scored seven in the 7th for the victory.

Dave Bruyea hurled the first game for C.N.R. and at one time had a 2-0 lead but a 5-run 7th stine went the route in the second and blew his 6-3 lead.

B.C. Crew Wins Eight In Row Trials

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Coach Frank Read's well-drilled, powerstroking University of British Columbia crew left the opposition far behind Saturday to win the featured senior eight in the British Empire Games rowing trials at...Port Dalhousie.

The Thunderbirds took a lead at the quarter mark and boosted it to four lengths, winning handily over the highly-regarded St. Catharines Rowing Club and assuring themselves of berths on the Canadian team for the games in Vancouver July 30-Aug. 7.

The St. Catharines crew, coached by Jack McAleese, finished one open length in front of the "money" crew of the trials, Hamilton Leanders, Coach Paddy Cline's Leanders were the quarter-length margin on Toronto Dons, while Toronto Argonauts finished fifth.

EXCELLENT TIME

The UBC boys, who this year split honors and dozen races with the lightweight crew of the University of Washington, covered the 1,980-metre course in the excellent time of 6:48.4.

They were coxed by Ray Sierpina, 18, of Vancouver, and stroked by Bruce Hollett, 22, of Grand Forks, B.C., with Bob Wilson, 18, of Kamloops, B.C., at the bow.

Bobby Williams, 22, of Hamilton Leander, North American singles champion in 1951, finished up in good trial expectations, defeating Harold Duncan of the Penticton Rowing Club and Ray Reinhart of the Kelowna Rowing Club in the heavy singles at 8:56.6.

Landy Nearly Cracks Record

HELSINKI (AP) — Australia's John Landy, holder of the world record at one mile, won a 1,000 metre race in the small town of Laitila near Turku Sunday in 2:20.9 minutes—half a second off the world record held by Audun Boysen of Norway.

The race marked the last performance of the young Australian's Scandinavian tour, a tour which saw him break both the mile and 1,500 metre world records at Turku Finland, last month.

First Secretary Of Dominican Embassy Shot

LONDON (CP)—Don Luis Bernardino, first secretary of the Dominican embassy here, died Sunday of wounds received in a gun fight with another Dominican diplomat.

Capt. Antonio de la Maza Vasquez, air attache at the embassy and described as a good friend of the dead man, was wounded in the affair. He was reported to have a chance of recovery.

The foreign office in Ciudad Trujillo, capital of the Dominican Republic, said it received word from the dead man's sister that he was shot in a duel which arose over personal differences.

However, an embassy spokesman said the two men got into a violent quarrel during dinner and the shooting followed.

Magazine Captivates Moviegoers Again as Years of Blitz

A dynamic star, a superlative supporting cast in a stirring story of love and romance in the time-taking natural setting—these are the ingredients that make "Lure of the Sila," now at the Capitol Theatre, a deliciously palatable entertainment.

Seductive Silvana Mangano, the "Bitter Rice" and "Anna" girl, is the star, the handsome trio of Vittorio Gassman, Amedeo Nazzari and Jacques Sernas all accomplished actors, are the principals, and Calabria, the majestically beautiful hip of southern Italy, provides the background of this dramatic, adult film about a girl, her two suitors and a vendetta.

Miss Mangano, who captured our hearts in her first film, "Bitter Rice," and tightened her hold on it in her second picture, "Anna," is even more attractive and appealing as Rosaria, the Calabrian peasant girl, in her present offering.

The always competent Vittorio Gassman, in a compact but highly dramatic role, adds to the authenticity of the story.

An American-language film released by I.F.E., "Lure of the Sila" has wisely taken pains to keep the audiences intensely interested.

"Annapurna"

"Annapurna", the added attraction is true, gripping and authentic.

The dramatic story that captured the hearts and minds of a breathless world. "Annapurna" is a back-breaking adventure and filmed in natural breathtaking color by Technicolor. It's Maurice Herzog's best seller filmed exactly as it happened.

Labor Member Does Not Like The New Order

By THOMAS KENNEDY T

LONDON (Reuters)—A controversy over an order that members of the Horse Guards on sentry duty must salute every time they pass wearing a bowler hat and carrying a tightly-furled umbrella may reach the House of Commons.

Marcus Lipton, Labor member and an old anti-aircraft gunnery colonel, indicated Sunday he doesn't like the new order and said he will raise the matter on the floor of the House unless something is done about it.

Bowler hats and umbrellas are the traditional off-duty garb of young officers of the Guards regiments. Army regulations say officers rate a salute, if recognized, either in or out of uniform. Thus, the order to salute all men in bowlers and carrying umbrellas is to avoid slighting even one off-duty officer.

Guardsmen affected by the order are members of the Household Cavalry who stand at the entrance to the Horse Guards parade in the centre of London.

The order was brought to public attention by the mass-circulation Daily Mirror which published a photograph showing a mounted guardsman saluting one of the newspaper's traditional one - size - too - small bowler hat carrying an umbrella.

"Now," said Lipton, "every Tom, Dick and Harry who read the story and saw the picture will rig himself out in a bowler and brolly just to get a salute."

A former Guardsman said: "whoever tipped the newspaper about the order will be in for it."

Four Jet Crashes Mar Air Defence Week-End Check

ST. HUBERT, Que. (CP) — An air defence exercise that saw American planes carrying "atom bomb" roar in over Canadian cities ended Sunday night and was described as an outstanding success by RCAF officials.

Four jet crashes were the only tragic note in the "surprisingly good" exercise, Canadian spokesmen said. Two Canadian airmen died at North Bay in separate crashes and a third was injured. Two U. S. airmen died in their flaming jet fighters to a crash landing but were unhurt at Goose Bay, Marie, Mich.

The exercise—named "Operation Checkpoint"—was the third such yearly test involving U. S. and Canadian Air Force units.

KEY POINTS BLASTED

While the American planes "bombed" Canadian cities RCAF squadrons were blasting key points in the U. S.

RCAF officials would not say whether any of the American bombers had succeeded in penetrating Canada's air defence system to hit industrial targets. They did say, however, that the operation proved that Canada can stand up against sustained attacks.

Results of the operation will take several days to compute, the RCAF said, and even then will not be released to the public. Even the length of the exercise, which started Friday, was revealed only to Canadian squadron leaders.

RCAF spokesmen said tests of this type are difficult to assess since planes, although theoretically shot down, keep right on flying into the attack.

To make the task more difficult for the attackers, defence units stationed in western Canada were moved east into unfamiliar surroundings with eastern squadrons moving elsewhere.

SIGN CANADIANS

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers Sunday announced the signing of eight more Canadians.

Those added to the Western Interprovincial Football Union club's roster included Halfback Don Knowles, last year with Sarnia and a former Bomber.

Application Will Be Test Case

TORONTO (CP)—Officials of the dairy unit of the Retail, Wholesale Union (CIO-CCL) said Sunday they will file application to become bargaining agent for employees of the Toronto dairy who are members of the rival Milk Drivers and Dairy Employees Union (AFL-TLC).

CIO officers said the application will be a test case and that they are ready to file application to take bargaining rights away from the AFL at two more of the 13 Toronto dairies where the AFL is said to hold.

Today is the beginning of the 11th month of the contract between the AFL union and the 13 dairies. One union may apply for the certification held by another only in the 11th and 12th months of a union contract. The AFL union, a branch of the Teamsters Union, represents workers at 11 of the major Toronto dairies. The 14th has a CIO union.

The CIO has been organizing within the AFL ranks for the last 10 months. The AFL also plans to attempt to take over at the dairy controlled by the CIO, which signed later than the other dairies.

The battle got under way when an Ontario milk board order restricting the over-the-counter delivery of milk ended the AFL dairy strike in Toronto last year.

WINS MICHIGAN MILE

DETROIT (AP) — Spur On, stretch-running son of Whirlaway owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Phipps of Chicago, closed with a burst of speed to win the $50,000-added Michigan Mile Saturday.

The 26-to-1 longshot squeezed in by a neck over Precious Stone and Social Outcast was another half length back in third place in Michigan's biggest horse race.

Spur On ran the mile at the Detroit race course in 1:37 1-5, one-fifth of a second off the track record, to returned $54.20, $20.40 and $11.20. Precious Stone paid $8.20 and $4.60 while Social Outcast returned $6.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR TUESDAY, JULY 13, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Don't look too easy-going today. Stellar aspects indicate some financial rearrangements in early hours. In personal affairs you will have less contention if you are amenable to co-operative.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Back your convictions with deeds. Good temper coupled with mild manners will act as a slide-rule to success today. Have respect for others' intelligence and you will be better able to recognize their aims.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — A day for caution—but not worry. Achievement is possible for those who can follow through with a goodly amount of finesse, strategy. Care in financial matters!

June 22 to July 21 (Cancer) — Move along thoughtfully and efficiently. Don't quit where unwise. Concentrate on the good and productive, and be careful not to appear grasping.

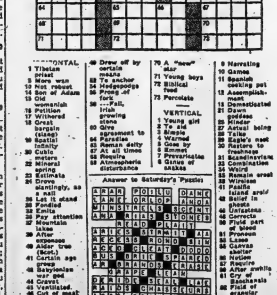
July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — This could be a day at the end of which you might say, "well, I did it again!" There are generous congratulations but very, nevertheless, have to put forth harder, more concerted effort. Willingness does matter.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Where the interests of family and loved ones are concerned, be much more thoughtful in details; also protect valuables, property, reputation. Advancement backlog in familiar activities, your job.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—A mildly suspicious day for you who are sincere and sufficiently studious. You may be annoyed by outside interference. Do not let it influence your better judgment. Avoid being irritated.

October 424 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Much more stimulating than you may think at first—particularly for property, business or professional matters. Don't permit an uneven disposition to dominate your better judgment.

November 23 to December 25 (Sagittarius)—Fine opportunities may be sidetracked because of foolishness, pettiness, and other personality quirks. Be modest—not prudish; maintain a happy-medium level in all things.



December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn—Some unsettling tendencies disappear, with sensible and adroit management, you should be able to turn in satisfactory results. Romance, marriage favored.

January- 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—The influences are not entirely helpful, but that should really not affect your results if you are on the job, ready to dig in and double efforts.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Your planet is in singularly auspicious aspect today but the day will not hum with capable doings if your will power is lagging. Be advised against extremes, non-essentials, brooding.

YOU BORN TODAY were born under the Sign Cancer and your special planet, the Moon, indicates changeability and sensitiveness. Be aware that your tenacity, versatile nature and industrious leanings could carry you far toward the better things of life. You possess dramatic and musical talents. You yearn for sympathy and kindness; have an unusual memory. With your fine gifts you can carve a prominent niche in this world if you will be philosophical about hurts, smile at setbacks, and trust in God. Birthdate of: John Dee, famous English astrologer.

EDMONTON (CP) — Thirty-five years ago the bush-country hamlet of Drayton Valley, 75 miles south-west of here, was known as Power House.

But the postmaster changes the name of the sleepy little settlement to Drayton Valley in line with its placid appearance and lay.

Today the hamlet would be more aptly described by its original name.

Drayton Valley is in the heart of the new Pembina oil field, which has become the potential power house of the Canadian oil industry.

DISCOVERED YEAR AGO

The field, discovered June 30, 1953, now is rated Canada's largest, and the second most important carrier strike since Leduc in 1947.

Drilling of wells has not been without disappointing success to date. Of 30 wells put down, only three have been dry holes. Most of the discoverer and biggest operator, Socony-Vacuum Exploration Co., has lapsed oil in all but one of its 30 wells.

The remainder of the industry soon acknowledged that this was a major find and scrambled to get in on it.

First demonstration of the fever created by Pembina's oil discovery when an Alberta government sale of crown leases and reservations attracted record single-sale receipts of $21,675,041.

Pembina alone accounted for $28,502,182 of the total, with Texaco Exploration Co. alone paying out $20,125 for sole exploration rights to 82,160 acres, another record.

Indication of Pembina's size was given early this year when three companies seeking pipeline rights in the area estimated the field's recoverable reserves of crude between 762,000,000 and 53,960,000 barrels.

TOPS REDWATER

This compared with reserves of 670,000,000 barrels at Redwater, previously regarded as Canada's largest field, which accounted for more than one-quarter of western Canada's total oil output in 1953, and with reserves of 215,000,000 barrels at Leduc.

At the end of 1953, Redwater had slightly more than 800 oil wells. Leduc-Woodbend more than 1,270. These areas, where wells are spaced 40 acres apart, are almost completely drilled to the saturation point.

Geological consultants have predicted 2,500 to 3,000 oil wells will be drilled in the next eight years at Pembina, where well spacing is 160 acres. The 60-by-10-mile oil-bearing area is triple the acreage of Redwater.

The size of individual acreage holdings in Pembina also is significant, indicating from treasury receipts from government land sales there. Unlike Redwater, Leduc and other areas of "Edmonton fairway," where holdings are usually broken up into small pieces of land ranging down to 160 acres, the Pembina region is made up almost entirely of crown reservation tracts often as large as 100,000 acres.

This means that a company making a discovery on a crown reservation is assured of a major interest in the oil located. In addition, when such reservations are converted to lease, with the government and the exploring company each getting 50 per cent of the acreage, much proven and semi-proven oil territory will attract big prices when the government auctions its shares as leases for higher royalties.

SANDSTONE SOURCE

The Pembina strike—like the one at Similey in Saskatchewan last year—also was important in that it demonstrated that sandstone formations are a proven prolific source of oil. To that time most of Alberta's oil had come from Devonian and other limestone formations.

The Pembina discovery well was Canada's first in the cardium sandstone, reached at an average 5,000 feet, through which drilling is easier and faster than in other areas.

How has all this affected Drayton Valley?

Before the oil, the hamlet had existed on average and a café, with a population of about 100. Now the government has earmarked it for "model" town development, envisioning a future population of 5,000.

This spring, with government town planners controlling expansion, Drayton Valley has grown from becoming a boom shanty town practically overnight to some $300,000 worth of commercial construction were let. Next on the program are water and sewage disposal systems.

With until orderly housing development catches up, most living quarters are makeshift. Typical is the Wildcat Hotel, seven cabins converted from available buildings and some 150 trailer homes in the surrounding bush camps. The hamlet's first doctor set up his office in a trailer.

Four Youths, Two of Them Brothers, Killed

ST. ROCH SUR RICHELIEU, Que. (CP)—Four youths, two of them brothers, were killed early Sunday when their car crashed into the back of a stationary bus on the Montreal-Sorel highway near here. A fifth youth, also travelling in the car, was taken to hospital in critical condition along with a woman passenger on the bus.

Dead are: Lorien Gregoire, 21, his brother Alfred, 16, Camille Millette, 24, and Felix Lamoureux, 21, all of Sorel. All were from Montreal.

Police said the Gregoire brothers and Millette were killed outright when the car in which they were riding crashed into the back of a Sorel-bound Provincial Transport bus which stopped to pick up passengers at St. Roch. Lamoureux died in hospital in Sorel.

Jean Marc Chamberger, 17, of St. Roch, the fifth passenger in the car, was in "critical" condition.

Twenty Persons Die Violently Over Week-End

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

A Montreal airman who died in a mid-air collision between two RCAF Vampire jets was one of 20 persons killed in accidents in eastern Canada during the week-end.

Highway accidents accounted for 13 fatalities. Five persons were drowned and three died in miscellaneous mishaps.

There were nine violent deaths each in Ontario and Quebec and one each in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, as Canadian Press listing showed.

The two RCAF Vampire jets coming in for a landing collided and fell in flames in bush country near North Bay, Ont. Killed was F/O. F. A. Reid, 23, late Bigras, Montreal, Que. T. W. Dowbiggin of Montreal, pilot of the other plane, parachuted to safety.

BOY HANGED

An 11-year-old Toronto boy, Tommy Bond, accidentally hanged himself while playing in a tree. It was not known whether he slipped and became entangled in the rope he was carrying or whether the rope broke and he could swing safely to the ground by means of the rope.

Provincial Constable Charles Bryan of Oshawa was drowned in Gull Lake near Lindsay, Ont., apparently while trying to rescue a boy in distress.

Fifty persons lost their lives on Ontario highways. Charles Goldsmith, 18, of Toronto was killed when thrown clear from the pillion seat of a motorcycle against the side of a car.

George Wagner and Bill Makibon of Creighton Mine, were killed when the car in which they were riding collided with a panel truck 30 miles east of Sudbury.

TWO KILLED

A brother and sister were killed in a car-truck collision 12 miles east of Pembroke. Dead are Douglas E. Mayberry, 23, of Ottawa, driver of the car, and Mrs. Ray Beaupre, 24, of Pembroke, Ont.

John McDonough, 18, of Toronto was killed when the truck in which he was riding went out of control and crashed near Bradford, Ont.

Traffic mishaps claimed six lives in Quebec. Four men from St. Sur Richelieu died when their car rammed into the back of a stationary bus on the Montreal-Sorel highway. Killed were: Lucien Gregoire, 21; his brother Alfred, 16; Camille Millette, 24; Felix Lamoureux, 27.

Joseph Ouellette, 61, of Hyacinthe was killed when a truck went out of control, bounced off a car and struck a parked truck under the sidewalk. Maxson Lanoux, 4, was fatally injured when hit by an automobile while walking along the highway near her home at St. Johns.

Clement Tremblay, 16, of Montreal, was drowned while swimming in the Assomption river at St. Felix de Valois.

BODY IN RIVER

Police said a body identified as that of Jacqueline Tessier, 24, of Montreal, was recovered from the St. Lawrence river near Contrecoeur.

Robert Burry, 84, of Montreal died when he slipped and fell down a flight of stairs in his home.

In New Brunswick, 11-year-old Mary Justice of Petitcodiac was drowned in the Petitcodiac river when a strong current carried her into deep water.

Suzanne MacConnell, a 20-months-old baby from Antigonish, N. S., died in hospital of injuries suffered when struck by a truck near her home.

FAREWELL GIFT

A pleasant evening was spent last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Grace Payne. Miss Gayle Greenly, a Girl Guide of the 1st Campbellford Company, was hostess to a number of Guides and their mothers.

After music and a contest were enjoyed, Gayle read a few words of farewell to a sister Guide, Miss Ruth Ann Richardson, who is leaving town.

Sharon Miller presented her with a lovely cup and saucer on behalf of the Guides, following which Gayle served refreshments.

For planning and arranging the evening she will receive her honour badge.

Gayle is an enthusiastic Guide, who in March received her second class and since then has received her laundress, needlewoman, cook and child nurse badges,—and this week will get her homemaker badge and "little house" emblem.

She will leave for camp at Doe Lake on the 26th of July, where she will work to obtain other merit badges.

German Competition in Building Ships Threatens U.K. Supremacy

By GEORGE JOYCE

LONDON (Reuters) — Rapidly growing German competition in the shipbuilding industry is threatening British supremacy and bringing fears of a slump to the shipyards.

Members of Parliament have voiced concern in the House of Commons at building orders and asked for government assurance that large-scale unemployment, a bitter memory of pre-war poverty for shipyard workers, is not on its way back.

J. P. L. Thomas, first lord of the admiralty, after a recent tour of the shipyards, said "the admiralty is watching the situation and is not complacent."

J. W. Elliott, chairman of one of Britain's leading shipbuilding firms, complained that orders have fallen by half, with a dearth of new contracts becoming more pronounced.

GERMANY GAINS

But British today still heads the world. The latest figures available show that she is building 323 ships, with a total tonnage of 2,175,760. The industry employs 200,000 workers, with an average wage of £9 a week.

By comparison, Germany has 141 ships with total tonnage of 644,361 under construction. But her labor force is growing and wages are below the British level.

The German yards, first bombed and then dismantled by the Allies have been rebuilt and thoroughly modernized. Hamburg is reported to be working at full pressure, with orders from such countries as Norway, India and Indonesia.

The German industry has received $70,000,000 in subsidies from the West German government and mutual assistance funds.

LARGEST OIL TANKER

American plans to build super cargo ships in German yards, with a tonnage comparable to the Queen Elizabeth and Queen Mary, are said to be well advanced. Aristotle Onassis, the Greek shipping magnate, had the world's largest oil tanker launched from the Howaldt yard.

At the end of the war, Germany had a mere 130,000 tons of merchant shipping, much of it fit only for the breakers. Today, her fleet has increased to 1,600,000 tons. At the beginning of 1954, she was building 250,000 tons of shipping for foreign customers, and she has orders which will last well into 1956.

The German boom has knocked Japan out of second place among the world's biggest shipbuilders.

Many people in the industry here blame Britain's present position on the complacency engendered by the boom she experienced after the war. Order books were choked. Costs were rising, but the profits were good and shipyard workers were able to press their claims for higher wages.

GERMANY MOVES IN

Britain had so much work on hand that foreign customers were never quoted a fixed price and were left guessing about the time which would elapse before their ships were delivered.

It was then that Germany came in as a serious competitor. The first job for British shipbuilders came with a series of cancellations of orders. Norway alone withdrew five contracts.

Countries in a hurry for their new ships had started to turn to Germany, where fixed prices were quoted and early delivery dates guaranteed.

Sir Frederick Robbeck, head of Harland and Wolff, one of Britain's biggest firms, was one of the first to see the danger. He told his shareholders that a German yard had offered to undercut a British contract by 30 per cent for a 30,000-ton ship and guarantee delivery in 12 months.

"On the continent, work is being done quicker, cheaper and equally well," he said.

Power Contract To be Discussed With Ont. Hydro

CAMPBELLFORD — A delegation from the utilities commission left for Toronto Friday morning to discuss with Ontario Hydro officials further arrangements for a proposed power contract between the town and Hydro.

Fashion suddenly decreed that really smart men should wear moustaches. The rush for false moustaches at $2.34 a piece amazed the whisker maker to the theatrical trade.

TWO OF FIVE MENTAL PATIENTS STILL AT LARGE

Slugged Guard, Stole Truck to Make Escape

LANGSTAFF (CP)—Police seeking three escaped mental patients today spotted one of them walking along a road not far from here in this district 20 miles north of Toronto.

They recaptured Vincent Lauzon, 34, without a struggle and took him back to the Ontario Hospital at Langstaff from which he and four others escaped Monday night after slugging a guard with a cribbage board.

Two of the escapees are still at large.

MOST DANGEROUS

Lauzon was believed the leader of the group and considered the most dangerous. Police said he would be was recaptured at a Schomberg gasoline station but police who later had to shoot it in the leg. Bodil Head.

Still at large and sought in swampy bushland were Victor Robert, 19, also considered dangerous, and William Elsie, 20, reported to be a harmless epileptic.

Earlier in the day, who escaped after an attendant at the hospital was slugged with a cribbage board were picked up near the institution.

BUSHLAND SEARCHED

Provincial police from Bradford, Thornhill and Vandorf, and municipal police from Vaughan and Markham searched bushland near Schomberg.

About 25 officers took part in the search, aided by district residents including some farmers with rifles.

The youngest of the five who escaped, a 15-year-old boy was captured shortly after the escape. He suffered back injuries when a truck in which the patients fled overturned. A second youth was recaptured a few miles away.

A score of Ontario provincial police and attendants searched the area all night. Farmers armed with rifles were also there. Health Minister Phillips of Toronto arrived at the scene to take charge of operations. He said: "We will certainly get to the bottom of this and take whatever action is found necessary."

The five dashed to freedom around 7 p.m. Thursday night when Alex Hill in a basement ward, beat him into submission and took his keys. Then they ran outside to the main grounds and scrambled into a truck owned by a member of the hospital staff. The truck was found in a ditch by a passing motorist about a mile east of the hospital. The injured boy was in the vehicle.

The three youths were later spotted at a farm. Attendants were attracted to a barn by squealing pigs and saw the patients run into the bushland.

It was not known what the escapees were wearing, but all four were dressed only in night shirts at the time of the break but by the time they were recaptured up some clothing in the hospital.

Land-Based Model of Atomic Engine Is Super-Powered

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The land-based model of the world's first nuclear submarine engine "has already produced more than enough power to send an atomic submarine around the world, fully submerged and at full speed.

The Senate-House atomic energy committee revealed this today in a report to the Senate and House of Representatives recommending a series of changes in the basic Atomic Energy Act.

The engine, a land-based "prototype" of the atomic engine now installed in the submarine Nautilus, is located at the Atomic Energy Commission's testing site in eastern Idaho.

Speaking of prospects for economic atomic power for industry, the committee said only that such an objective "is not feasible, though not within our immediate reach."

The legislation which the committees recommended would generally carry out President Eisenhower's recommendations for changes in the present atomic act to allow exchange of some nuclear secrets with Allied powers and permit private industry to enter the atomic power field.

The bill as a whole was unanimously approved by the 15-member committees, but some members expressed sharp dissents on some sections.

The bill would:

1. Authorize the negotiation of agreements with foreign powers in the area of peacetime uses of atomic energy. The committee said this would provide "a mechanism to implement the president's peacetime international atomic pool plan."

2. Permit the AEC to transfer to another country participating in such an agreement atomic materials in quantities needed for the development or utilization of atomic energy for non-military and research purposes.

3. Allow transfer to another country, or to a regional defence organization, secret data concerning the tactical employment of Atomic weapons—but not including any information on their design and fabrication.

4. Permit the AEC to license private industry to possess and utilize atomic materials and to own atomic reactors or "furnaces" designed to produce and utilize such materials.

ABANDON MOVE TO FORCE FRANCE, ITALY INTO EDC

U.S. Senate Committee Reverses Former Stand

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate foreign relations committee, yielding to state department appeals, reversed itself late Monday, and voted to give the U.S. $1,100,000,000 foreign aid bill a proposed notice to France and Italy to join a proposed European army or forego U.S. help after Dec. 31.

With two top Republican leaders voting against the move, the committee substituted less stringent language already accepted by the House in a move to prod the two countries to approve the projected European Defence Community.

Now the bill goes to the armed services committee, perhaps for further changes. That group considers it because much of the overseas program is arms aid.

KNOWLAND OPPOSED

Voting on the losing side in the foreign relations committee for the virtual ultimatum to France and Italy were Senator Knowland of California, the Senate Republican leader, and Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate Republican policy committee.

The votes of five Democrats and seven Republicans gave the administration the 8-to-7 margin which deleted from the bill wording which would have ordered a shutoff of all aid, military and nonmilitary, to France and Italy on Dec. 31 if they had not joined the EDC or an acceptable substitute. The committee met in a closed executive approved on Saturday.

Secretary of State Dulles were a hurry-up visit to Capitol Hill by State Secretary Dulles before he departed for diplomatic talks in Paris, and a warning from Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme allied commander in Europe. Gruenther, telephoning from Europe, told the Senate version "dangerous."

Senator Alexander Wiley (Rep. Wis.), foreign relations committee chairman, said the reversal restored language originally written which would allow delivery to the Iron countries of equipment and materials on order from the 1951, 1953 and 1953 foreign aid programs, but will deny them any new funds from the 1954 and 1955 programs unless they join EDC, a proposed six-country army including West German troops.

The latter provision would keep the aid flow going to both countries for an undisclosed period.

Workmen Rescued

OSHAWA (CP) — Two workmen were rescued by firemen and fellow workers Monday after a seven-foot high wall of a waterworks excavation collapsed and buried them for 15 minutes.

The men are employees of the Oshawa public utilities commission.

Surprise Flight Made by Dulles For Parleys in Paris

Answers Urgent Appeal Of Premier Mendes-France

PARIS (AP)—U.S. State Secretary Dulles arrived here today and said he considers that a collective defence organization for Southeast Asia could help France get "just and honorable peace terms" in Indo-China.

Dulles flew into Paris aboard a U.S. military air transport Constellation for a top - level British-French attempt to convince him an "honorable" peace can still be won in Indo-China—and that his presence in Geneva will help win it.

He is taking part in talks with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Eden at 8 p.m. (1 p.m. EDT). Eden and Mendes-France left Geneva earlier today to be on hand for the conference.

At conferences this afternoon and tonight, Mendes-France and Eden will outline the prospects for an Indo-China peace settlement in an attempt to allay American fears that France is getting ready to surrender to the Reds at Geneva.

WON'T VISIT GENEVA

Dulles' determination that the United States should not be saddled with responsibility for any such settlement resulted in his decision that neither he nor Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith would return to Geneva for the final round of negotiations.

Between diplomats at the Geneva conference Dulles made a trip by Paris as a strengthener for Mendes-France. He left Geneva two days left to make good on his promise to win an "honorable" Indo-China peace for the Communists by July 20 or resign.

In the absence of Mendes-France and Eden, the Geneva negotiations were at a virtual standstill today. Eden and Molotov, co-chairmen of the conference, agreed at a meeting Monday that no formal sessions of the nine delegations will be held for several days.

In a statement, Dulles revealed he had come to Paris last April 13, before the Geneva conference started, to talk about forming a Southeast Asian defence pact.

At that time, he felt such an organization would help "I still feel that it is the right way," he added.

The United States is not itself a belligerent and therefore not a proper party to many aspects of the problems which are the principal concern of the Geneva conference. However, we do have a great and immediate interest in collective action by France, Great Britain, United States and other free countries to promote the peace and "freedom of the area."

That is why the pressing European problems, will, I hope, be among the subjects of our conversations here, which are bound to re-emphasize to the world the solid futility of their efforts to divide us."

The reference to European problems indicated Dulles expects to discuss plans for the six-nation European army which France has delayed placing before its Parliament for ratification.

Dulles' flight here was in answer to an urgent appeal from Mendes-France. On leaving Washington Monday night, Dulles announced that Paris was his present destination.

Eisenhower Proposes States Spend Billions on Highways

BOLTON LANDING, N.Y. (AP) President Eisenhower proposed that the United States spend billions more on highway construction to move defence plants and stockpiles of atomic war and of a possible population of 200,000,000 people.

Vice - President Nixon outlined Eisenhower's plan in a prepared address, using the president's notes. Eisenhower cancelled a personal appearance at the annual Conference of Governors because of the death of a sister-in-law, Mrs. Milton Eisenhower.

Through Nixon, the president called for a federal-state alliance in a "grand plan" of road development.

The president said $50,000,000,000 over the years would be only a good start toward meeting requirements of a 200,000,000 population. But he didn't come right out and propose specific dollar amounts.

The highway plan was laid before governors already sniping at a new $800,000,000 federal highway aid law on grounds it goes against their own principles. The governors want the federal government to abandon gasoline tax taxes and let the states use them to finance roads on their own.

The president said he hoped the governors will give him recommendations for co-operation of the federal and state governments so he "can make some positive proposal to the next session of congress."

Eisenhower stated the first requirement is "a grand plan for a properly articulated system" that solves the problems of speedy, safe, trans-continental travel, communication between cities, farm to market traffic, access highways, and city bottleneck and parking difficulties.

Wherever possible, the president said, each city should carry by itself through tolls or increased assessment of property. And, he said, there should be federal help where national interest demands it.

Many Fish Die

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Fish turned the south branch of the Thames river here into a turmoil Monday night as they died, floated, plunged and died by the hundreds of an unknown cause.

Thomas Beck, Middlesex county conservation officer, took samples of the water and the dead fish for analysis.

He said he was unable to theorize whether poison, pollution or some natural cause destroyed the fish.

Dogs Can Bark An Hour Earlier In Watertown

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — A barking dog's life, the city council says, can begin an hour earlier each morning.

The council voted Monday night to amend a recent ordinance that stipulated that dogs "are not permitted to howl or bark between the hours of 11 p.m. and 8 a.m. so as to disturb the public peace."

Yielding slightly to the protests of dog-owners who had trouble convincing their pets, the councilmen moved the morning curfew back to 7 a.m.

Cutting of Fall Wheat Started In Province

TORONTO (CP)—Fall wheat is being cut in this week in counties bordering Lake Erie, the Ontario department of agriculture said today.

Spring grain is well advanced in every part of the province owing to good rains and warm weather, said a department spokesman. Exceptions are some parched fields of grain in extreme southwestern Ontario, where insufficient rain has fallen. The grain yield in this area is expected to be considerably below average.

The department's weekly farm report shows that haying is now well advanced in most parts of Ontario, although the crop in some eastern Ontario has delayed the harvest of heavy hay crops in many counties.

Soviet Paper Blames Mothers For Children Being Sissies

By DON DALLAS

LONDON (Reuters) — Russia's sissies have found a friend in Pravda and Soviet parents have been rebuked by the Kremlin's official publication for "mollycoddling" their children.

Don't blame momma's darling, it said. Blame mother.

The fact is that communism, with state control of everyone and everything, doesn't always turn out men of steel. And passive mommas can still defy teachers by turning their children in a bothersome mate.

Vitya's "momma really took the cake. Every morning, she took him to school—right up to the time he was 15 and in the seventh grade.

Teachers complained, but momma just wouldn't budge.

At the morning break and the afternoon break, the other kids let loose in the school yard with whoops and high jinks. But not Vitya. Momma was holding his hand.

"Momma's darling," the kids shouted at him, till Vitya blushed to the roots of his hair.

What happened to Vitya? Well, Russia went to war and Vitya became a soldier.

Military life was the making of Vitya, according to the educational publication. He has since experienced deeply the force and beauty of the friendly collective, which "helped him defeat his mother in a letter to the periodical, she wrote to deceiving his mother, then to heavy drinking and a gay life. Pravda's editorial related these two stories in answer to a food mother driven to desperation by her son's refusal to defied her. In

Regents Beaten By Deseronto

Scoring all their runs in the last two innings of a six inning game, the Deseronto "A's" over-powered Bryson Reid's Regents by an 11-5 score in a Bay of Quinte Baseball game played in Deseronto last night.

The Belleville squad were in front 2-0 as the bottom of the fourth rolled around but six runs poured across the plate while pitcher Ivy Braddy leading the attack with a grand-slam homer. They increased their lead to 8-2 in the fifth with Detlor hitting a round-tripper, this time with men on base.

The Regents came back with a trio in the sixth but the rally fell short and Deseronto jumped into second place behind Picton and ahead of the Regents.

Woman Admits Taking $100 Bill By Mistake

Della Adams, charged with the theft of $200 from Arthur Irish, 183 Moira Street W., was remanded until Friday for sentence by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in police court Tuesday morning after she admitted taking a $100 bill, which she said she mistook for a $10 bill.

Irish, his daughter, Mrs. Margaret Martin, Cressy road, Mrs. Barnes Wintes Store, Ed Lee, and Constable Lee of the city police all testified before the accused took the stand.

Mr. Irish stated that the accused, who was living in his apartment, took the money from a pocket which he kept under the mattress in his room. He said he remonstrated with her several times about the theft but it was not until two weeks later that a charge was pressed.

Mr. Lee testified that he charged a $100 bill for the accused in his store.

Mrs. Martin stated that she was present with her father when they discovered $50 in $10 bills in the accused's purse on Thursday, July 6th, and that they subsequently pressed charges.

Constable Lee, who conducted the investigation, recovered the $50 and stated that the accused denied having any money.

Della Adams, in taking the stand, stated she had known Mr. Irish about two years and for the past few months had been living at 183 W. Moira Street. She said, under questioning, that she did the dishes, and cleaned the room in payment but that she neither expected nor asked for money.

She admitted that she had taken $100 bill from the complainant but that she had mistakenly thought it was a $10 bill, and was afraid to admit it when she discovered her mistake. She stated that of the $50 which was not recovered, most of it had been spent on alcoholic beverages which Mrs. Martin helped her consume.

Magistrate Wills stated that he thought the accused was telling the truth, and taking into consideration the fact that $50 had been recovered, remanded her in custody until Friday for sentence.

A case against Libby Spring, accused of stealing a teddy bear from the Metropolitan Store, was dismissed when the Crown failed to prove to Magistrate Wills' satisfaction that the bear was the property of the Metropolitan Store in the first place.

The bear in question became property of another accused ownership following the ruling. It was neither proved that the bear was originally the property of the store nor the property of the accused.

Lorne Sanford was sentenced to three months in Hastings County jail, when he pleaded guilty to a third offence against the Liquor Control Act.

Two cases of careless driving, one of speeding and one of committing an improper left act, were carried over until later in the month on concurrence of counsel.

Tornado, 3 Cyclones Hit Australian Coast

BRISBANE, Australia (Reuters)—A tornado and three cyclones have ripped a 200-mile path of destruction across the Queensland coastline extending north of here and have created flood conditions inland that threaten to be the worst ever known.

The combination of tornado and cyclone, which hit the coast for 72 hours, has caused an estimated $2,500,000 damage and at least one death.

Hundreds of houses have been destroyed and the wreckage of roads, orboats and other small craft litter the beaches. Fifty fishing boats are still unaccounted for.

Mayor Whitton Denies Charges She Interfered

OTTAWA (CP) — Mayor Charlotte Whitton has hit back at the critics who charged she interfered with plans for Ottawa's centennial celebrations this year.

The citizens committee—despite resignation of the chairman, vice-chairman and staff members—"never would proceed with proper dignity now, the mayor said Monday.

She was commenting on the resignation Saturday of aldermen Albert Hamilton, centennial chairman, George Sloan, vice-chairman and Reginald Wall. They charged the mayor's interference made the committee's job impossible.

The mayor quoted Mr. Hamilton as saying she had her finger too much in the pie, "but that is so it not because I wish it, but because the Ontario Municipal Act gives me a very large finger."

She denied the charge she dominated the committee, adding that she made only one suggestion in connection with the celebrations—and it was turned down.

Mother Agrees To Exhumation Of Son's Body

CHICAGO (AP)—The body of Montgomery Ward Thorne, 30-year-old heir to a mail order fortune, will be taken from its grave at Evanston, Ill., and examined, coroner Walter E. McCarron said Monday night.

Mrs. Marion C. Thorne, mother of the youth who died under mysterious circumstances in a 972-a-month Chicago north side room June 19, agreed to the exhumation. She said she wants "to get at the truth" of her son's death.

Four months after Thorne reported Monday that an examination of tissue samples taken from Thorne's body before his burial threw no light on the cause of death. They recommended the exhumation.

1,300 Miners Return to Work In Nova Scotia

GLACE BAY, N.S. (CP)—Thirteen hundred coal miners, suspended last Friday for throwing coal and stones at mine officials, returned to work to mend their ways and return to work.

The miners, 1,100 of the 26 collieries owned by Dominion Coal company, agreed with a resolution of their union local to "refrain hereafter from the use of abusive language and from throwing missiles at any company officials."

Company officials, who said the miners would remain suspended until they gave such a promise, said they will resume talks.

The trouble started after a mine official turned in the names of men who were leaving work early.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market drifted lower in light forenoon trading.

On the industrial board losses outnumbered gains. Leading the lower trend were steels and refining oils, but losses were also scattered among textiles, manufacturers, foods and papers.

Banks were firm. Toronto moved ahead but Commerce and Imperial each lost 50 cents in the first hour. St. Lawrence Corp., Sicks and Minnesota and Ontario led 1954 highs.

Base metals weakened in seniors and juniors with small losses. Western oils moved down pennies but Canadian Collieries and Pacific Petroleum were mixed with their gainer. Golds were firm to higher in all groups.

Some uraniums were heavily traded and two, Meta and Chimo, lost small amounts. Manitouwadge issues were a little lower and Bathurst stocks drew little interest.

Weather Again Stops Princess Flying in 'Copter

BONN, Germany (Reuters)—Bad weather again prevented Princess Margaret from making her first helicopter flight in her four-day tour of British service units in western Germany.

She went instead in a plane of the Queen's Flight from Constedt, where she met the eight as guest of Gen. Sir Richard Gale, commander of the British Army of the Rhine, to Cologne where she will inspect a British air force base.

After Oldenburg, the princess was scheduled to visit Ahlhorn base for a demonstration of the latest fire-fighting equipment developed by British and German technicians co-operating.

A ball will be given in her honor tomorrow at Bad Eilsen and on Thursday she will make a trip down the Rhine.

Maritime Coal Production May Be Cut in Half

ANTIGONISH, N.S. (CP) — A senior industry official said Monday Maritime coal production may be cut in half, to about 3,000,000 tons a year, if drastic steps are not taken to erase the inroads made by oil and other fuels.

Harold Gordon, chief of coal operations for the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp., was one of a panel of experts representing industry, unions and the government who took the platform at the biennial rural-industrial conference to argue the Maritime cause in fields ranging from fishing to hydro power.

Mr. Gordon said the switch by householders, industry and the railways from coal to oil since 1948 has lopped 450,000 tons of coal from the corporation's Maritime markets, alone. An additional 400,000 tons was lost in Quebec.

Gasoline Put In Water Tank By Mistake

Six gallons of gasoline pumped into a water tank by mistake held up a 40-foot cabin cruiser more than 18 hours yesterday.

The cruiser "Nordeta" from the Oak Street Yacht Club of New York pulled into Wills Marina Monday for refueling.

Unfortunately the openings for the water and gas tanks are side by side at the stern of the boat. A member of the crew inadvertently opened the water tank and directed the attendant at the Marina to "fill 'er up."

Six gallons later the horrified sailor realized his mistake. And then the flushing began. Hundreds of gallons of water and rinsing solutions were poured into the soiled water tank in an effort to remove all traces of gasoline.

Spectators nearby were offered glasses of water from the cruiser's taps and asked if they could detect gasoline. Finally the film of gasoline on the proffered water disappeared. 18 hours after the mistake, personnel on the "boat felt that the danger of possible explosion was sufficiently slight to turn the engines over.

No further mishap transpired. The only "danger" still existing for the skipper, who requested that his identity be kept a secret, is the ribbing he will get if and when the rest of the fleet, of which he is a rear commodore, hears of his Belleville adventure.

Fleet of Five Cabin Cruisers Ties Up at Dock

"Cruising the Quinte," once one of Lake Ontario's most famous summer attractions, is again gaining favor with yachting enthusiasts from both sides of the border to judge by the number of boats putting into Belleville harbor.

Monday saw expectally heavy traffic in the local harbor with a fleet of five cabin cruisers from the Oakville Yacht Club of Lake New York making port. The boats were Lucky 8, Chimara, Lucreda, Jonsara 4, and Jo Boy 3rd.

"White Wings," a 55-foot schooner-rigged yacht, owned by Percy Grant of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, put into Belleville on the last leg of a cruise from the Maritimes.

Odd-timers on the water front stated that this year's yachting traffic in the Bay of Quinte would be the best in more than a decade.

Allied Council Will Have Sole Rights on Project

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario Hydro chairman Robert S. Saunders said today the Ontario Hydro Construction Allied Council, representing 18 AFL unions, will have sole bargaining rights on the St. Lawrence power project.

The report was confirmed by G. Russell Harvey, chairman of the council.

Contractors will have to accept the council as the bargaining agent for labor on all power site jobs. It is expected that about 7,600 men will be employed on the power project.

The council was organized as the bargaining agent for labor on the Niagara power project in 1951.

Councillor Not Wanted For Woman's Death

MONTREAL (CP) — Provincial police Monday denied reports that Lucien Gagnon, Montreal lawyer and city councillor, was wanted for questioning in connection with the slaying of an unidentified woman nine months ago.

Director Hilaire Beauregard said Gagnon is not being held in the case in any way and is definitely not wanted for questioning in the woman's murder.

(The Canadian Press erroneously reported Sunday night that Gagnon was named in a coroner's open warrant issued June 28 in connection with the case).

Police said the warrant, in which no one was named, would allow them to make a quick arrest if necessary.

Earlier Monday, police were reported as saying they would like to talk to Gagnon about the case.

Guatemalan Land Reform Law Will Stay

GUATEMALA (AP)—Col. Castillo Armas, president of Guatemala's new military junta, says he will keep in effect the land reform law under which the former leftwing government split many large estates among peasants.

The controversial measure, adopted by the ousted regime of expresident Jacobo Arbenz Guzman, resulted in confiscation of 234,000 acres of land belonging to the U. S.-owned United Fruit Co., according to company officials.

Castillo Armas said the settlers who have been given the land will be made outright owners, not mere tenants as least as under the "Communist system."

Report Chiang May Try To Halt Soviet Tanker

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Nationalist warships may attempt to intercept the 23,000 ton Soviet tanker Leningrad, which has cleared Singapore for Shanghai in Red China, a high Nationalist official indicated today.

There was no statement concerning three other Soviet ships reported heading northward and also ward the Siberian port of Vladivostok, and one for Red China.

But there was widespread speculation here that the Soviet merchant ships might be desirous with a submarine escort for the dangerous voyage through waters patrolled by Nationalist naval vessels.

The Nationalist seized the 8,840-ton Soviet tanker Tuapse June 23.

Union Members To Make Decision

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Members of United Brewery Workers locals across Ontario will decide in few days if they will take action supporting brewery workers involved in the current brewery dispute in the Windsor district.

While union officials would make no comment, it is expected the union members in the province will back strike action after hearing delegates who have been in Windsor for the last three days with the Ontario council of the United Brewery Workers (CIO-CCL).

Nearly every hotel, tavern or lounge in Essex, Kent and Lambton counties is picketed by "cold" signs.

Windsorites residents found themselves in the most fortunate position. Thirsty residents there were driving to Chicago and Detroit and bringing back as many as 10 cases of beer or ale at a time.

PRICE GOES UP

Police in the three counties would not comment on the beer situation because of the brewery dispute. In Windsor, unofficial sources reported that the price had climbed to as high as 70 cents per pint on the illegal market.

A large number of residents were crossing over to Detroit to do their beer drinking.

Up until Monday, the only retail store in the three counties remained open at Windsor. Even this source was cut off when the Petrolia store, operated by the Canadian Warrior.

India Prepared To Join 'Asian Locarno Pact'

NEW DELHI, India (Reuters)—India would be prepared to join an "Asian Locarno pact" to protect states in the northern areas of Southeast Asia, it was reliably learned here today.

Circles close to informed sources two pacts are under discussion by the western powers and India is being kept in close touch with the developments.

First is a Locarno-type pact proposed by Britain to take in the northern areas of Southeast Asia, Cambodia, Laos and Viet Nam (Indochina in a non-aggression understanding with the Communists.

Second is a Southeast Asian Treaty Organization of southern Asia, including Malaya and the Philippines.

India would join the Locarno type pact but opposed the SEATO as a power-bloc alliance, the sources added.

(The Locarno pact, one of a series of treaties signed after the First World War, was an agreement by the signatory powers not to attack each other and each declared contained no commitment to come to the aid of a country subjected to aggression.)

Fee Not Increased

TORONTO (CP)—Birth certificates in Ontario are still only $1, Municipal Affairs Minister Dunbar announced today.

The minister denied reports that the price of certificates had been increased to $5. The $5 charge, he said, is only made when the original registration has to be changed because of incorrect information being given at the time the registration was made.

THIS REQUIRES ACTION

In Niagara Falls, Ont., a man was fined $208; or three months in jail, for beating a puppy to death.

We have no quarrel with the severity of that sentence. But we wish that the magistrate who imposed that $208 fine could sit on the bench in some northern Ontario town when lumber camp operators face charges of cruelty to horses.

Harold Allard, inspector for the Ontario Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, says that in 300 camps he inspected he found 250 horses in "shocking condition." One horse was in a barn so low that the animal was unable to stand upright. Another horse had a rotting foot and infected hock. There have been cases in which it was charged that, because harness would freeze if it were taken off the horse, it was left on for days or even weeks, causing great sores. In other cases horses have been starved.

Penalties imposed, we understand, have been as low as $15.- Compare that with $208 for killing a puppy, an act which quite probably is prevented in the future by the result of the fine. A fit of anger, an act which, possibly, was the result of a mistaken belief, as the accused claimed, that the puppy was injured and should be "finished off."

There is nothing unpremeditated about these instances of cruelty to horses. They are not the result of carelessness. These lumber camp operators know how a horse should be treated—as proof of the fact Mr. Allard's statement that while he found 250 mistreated horses he visited 300 camps so that there are evidently some operators who treat their horses properly. Those who are cruel to their horses are cruel for a purpose—money.

"If a jobber has a good contract he figures it's cheaper to starve and neglect the animal and write him off at the end of the season," says Mr. Allard.

There is only one way to handle a situation like that—make it very, very expensive to starve, mistreat or neglect a horse.

COURAGEOUS COBOURG RESIDENT

We have not had the pleasure of the acquaintance of Ephriam Hircock, Cobourg resident, but he must be a courageous man. Senior tax collector in our neighbor to the west, he has quit his post to become a catechist with the Presbyterian Church in British Columbia. Many men appear startling until you learn that Mr. Hircock is 66 years old.

There is an old proverb that says the cobbler should stick to his last. But there is another bit of advice, and this is only partly true. For every man who has ruined his life by failure to persist in the line of work with which he is best acquainted there are probably a dozen who, through lack of courage, have never found their talents in the field of activity which most strongly appeals to them. For such, Mr. Hircock has set a bright example.

CITY DWELLER'S LAMENT

"I am one of the million displaced persons of industrial Britain—the ex-countryman now living in a city."

Thus did Laurie Lee, British poet, describe himself in a talk on the B.B.C. which was Quilled in Toronto.

Countrymen have moved in and adopted the city as their home, he said, but in each of them remained a part of that nature's man they inherited from their rural fathers. A wold that hungered for deeper satisfactions than the modern city seemed able to provide.

What is true of city dwellers in Britain is true, too, of their Canadian counterparts. Indeed, one would imagine that an even higher proportion of city folk in Canada would have country backgrounds, for our cities are younger and have not yet been in existence long enough to build up a multitude of city-bred and city-reared men and women.

Lee does not despise the city. Compared with bastard rural towns, those of London are magnificent and diverse, he declares. But, according to the BBC London Letter, he knows "that a summer day in country fields is paradise." It is a pretty phrase, but based more on fond fancy than firm facts.

An "intimate contact with the lost realities of nature" is not established in field or farmyard, where man has toiled and sweated, but on dawn or noon, in forest or marsh, on lake or hill, where man's hoe and axe, steam-shovel and bull-dozer have yet failed to bring order out of chaos. In Britain there are few such spots left, and even in Canada they grow scarcer every day. When they are gone or have receded so far to the north that they cannot be easily reached, a generation which has been weaned from Nature in air-conditioned, city-like penthouses will search in vain for the magic which Lee finds in the country-side, for the real magic of Nature lies not in field and barnyard, which are as much manmade as subway and street, but lies locked up in the wanton wastage and characteristic confusion of the wild.

HONEYMOON'S END

And now the bride and groom return.
The wedding trip is at an end.
Both man and wife have much to learn.
The home they've started to defend.
The joys and sorrows they must share,
And endure the endless duties, too,
For the world would keep their dwelling fair'
From day to day have much to do.

This lovers' hope has long been known:
It has survived the ages through.
"To have a home to call their own."
With all its various tasks to do,
Now daily she must sweep and dust
And go for needs to shop and store,
And he with equal courage must
Do work he's never done before.

Now they've a home their own to build,
'Tis theirs with every care it bring.
They've asked for them, and with them all
The rapture of possessing things.
Still with the home that's theirs to keep
When wiser they and older grown,
They'll learn they asked the right to weep
And have some grief to call their own.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

JULY 13, 1934.

Mr. Leonard Reid and Mrs. Fred Reid are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Arthur Charlton and little son, Rosemary and Miss Wilma Hale, of this city, spent Wednesday with Mrs. William Perry at her camp at Melville.

Miss Sylvia Ross left today for Montreal and will sail from there on the Empress of Britain for the Old Country. She will spend a month's vacation touring England, Scotland and France.

Mr. Harry T. Hurley has arrived from Cody's Lake, Algonquin Park, on his big Orange walk in Napanee yesterday.

At the meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board, 2,133 boxes of white cheese and 758 boxes of colored cheese were boarded. President A. G. Roblin presided and sold the cheese. All cheese boarded sold at 16 cents. The following buyers were present: Messrs. Sprague, Gordon, Morgan, Alexander, Morton, Thompson, Ivey, Fitzgerald, Orirom and McCrea.

Mr. R. Hall spent the week-end with friends in Deseronto.

Citizens will notice with pleasure that the building of granolithic street fronting is in progress and it is a matter for congratulation. The decision to build cement crossings was one of the wisest ever made by the council and if it had been the practice was not introduced many years ago.

If the oldest inhabitant has a minute or so to spare will he kindly tell us if he remembers seeing a lustier crop of weeds than that which adorns this city at present. They proudly rise high alongside many walks and are four feet in height. Something should be done about this.

Mr. S. Nelson of Detroit, Mich., an old Belleville boy, is home on a visit.

Handicaps Helped Them!

(Hamilton Spectator)

When Ed Furgol was 12 years old he fell off parallel bars and damaged his left elbow. The injury never healed properly, and the youngster had to accept fate's decree that he never could for life. All the doctor could do was to suggest he should take up golf to strengthen the arm.

On June 19, with his left arm 10 inches shorter than the right from the boyhood hurt, Furgol beat the best golfers in the game to win the United States Open Championship. It was golf's biggest prize and for ten years Furgol had sought to win it. "Golf," he said simply after his triumph, "is a game for me."

But it was more than his work. It was another demonstration—and they are far more numerous than we think—of the way handicaps can make, rather than break, character. It is easy to talk of "advantages" and to blame twists of luck for failure, but personal achievement has through history more often flowered out of physical disability, mental defect and shocks than it has from a smooth and easy road. In fact, many handicaps seem as if the worst of all disadvantages is never to have to cope with any.

We have met many young people who have conquered in the face of rushing handicaps. One, who was made totally blind and deaf at the age of 18 months, could only make low sounds and was a helpless baby up to the age of seven. But by determination, and with the help of a patient teacher, she gradually learned manual alphabet symbols. Today she was able to graduate from college creditably in competition with normal girls, and the world echoed her story. Later her lectures and fine writings won acclaim.

Not the best known part of his career by any means was Franklin D. Roosevelt's struggle to overcome crippling poliomyelitis. It struck him at the pinnacle of his life as a young and able politician, but far from breaking his spirit it pressed him on to the bestknown prize among men and the highest office his nation could bestow.

In a way these are not so much gaps in a pattern as a pattern itself. It is the fact that so many great military leaders without at once succumbed to the physical handicap of special handicaps. Nelson's withered arm; Wolfe's debilitating illness; Napoleon's stunted growth—all are part of this fascinating human story running right up to the present day. The latest and most inspiring example of triumph is that of Douglas Bader, the R.A.F. pilot who, handicapped by artificial legs, not only got himself into the war but had one of the most distinguished records of any fighter pilot in the Battle of Britain.

So in the arts, Milton was blind; Beethoven was deaf; Keats, who died at 27 leaving the world his immortal poetry, fought against tuberculosis.

Out of the "highlands of affliction" come the greatest utterances of men. "The bravest sight in all this world," it has been truly said, "is to see a man fighting against odds."

Beaver Beats Stag as Emblem

(The Printed Word)

There has been a certain amount of talk from time to time about changing Canada's national emblem from the beaver to the stag. The stag, it is said is beautiful, regal and glamorous. The beaver, on the other hand, is a fat fellow with a flat tail, a figure like an overstuffed chesterfield and short legs.

The beaver may be no beauty queen but he has many admirable qualities this country needs right now. In the first place, although he works hard, he is one of the community projects such as dambuilding. The beaver is definitely individualist.

He lives in his own house, which he builds himself, and for with hard work. He stores up food for Winter and lives off the fat of the land. In his home, to be consumed when there is nothing green growing, he has a large family responsibility. He helps to look after his young and does not shirk his job of the big beaver.

On top of all this, the beaver is not about the only animal not afraid of hard work. He's at it from dawn to dusk, usually, whistling or he gets time and a half for overtime. He deserves his every little break in the dam he palcaes it, He doesn't expect somebody else to do his work.

This business of wanting to throw away the beaver because he is no longer the high-stepping stag is a sign of the times. The stag is irresponsible. He has nothing to do with his children after they are born. He doesn't provide for all his glamor and good looks and grace he is a good-for-nothing.

The stag might look better on a twenty-five cent piece but the beaver is worth more than that to money stands for—hard work.

Wise Move

(Fort William Times-Journal)

From the standpoint of recruiting, New Zealand is smart in having granted on 1950 of the total expenditure on what are called consumer goods. Interesting evidence has been given of these qualities—thrift, and moderation, and a vital industry, but recreation, organized and otherwise, has grown up to an enterprise of huge proportions. It provides employment for vast numbers of people and the tourist business brings in to Canada millions of good, hard U.S. dollars.

This journal has no quarrel with recreation. All we ask is a reasonable share of the bad weather along with the good, and even at the height of the holiday season an occasionally rainy, dirty week-end.

Moderate and Thrifty

(Ottawa Journal)

Figures from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that Canadians between 1950 and 1953 practically doubled the percentage of the national income put into savings, and on the other hand spent in 1953 on tobacco and liquor a smaller percentage than in 1950 of the total Women's Royal Army Corps. The colors are cream, green and brown, instead of the present khaki.

Using Wrong Yard-Stick

(Manchester Guardian)

Mr. Billy Graham, in the sermon which caused such a fuss because of remarks he is said to have made, may not have contained about German rearmament, also very definitely did remark, in passing, as it were, that Germany is a boom nation. Her post-war record is the talk of Europe. The moral and material recovery is a miracle. Autos are racing down the highways, houses are built. But I'm not concerned with anything except the treatment of hernia."

Man, that's an understatement. I'm no authority on anything, except, perhaps, straight ten-handed bridge and beer and chasers, but my yeast-raised pure Penn Yan Pelze buckwheat pancakes.

Dr. Brady added that "the injection treatment of hernia was tried by the ancient medical profession and the results carefully studied twenty years ago, and the treatment was discarded as a useless procedure."

One of the best textbooks, if not the best, on hernia is that of Dr. Leigh F. Watson, published by C. V. Mosby Co., St. Louis (3rd edition, 1948). The book contains

> ... quacks, fakers to me are "this cult", etc. Boy, you're so right — I felt so disgusted at this recently that I rolled only half of my usual six somersaults. But I'm not concerned with

Dr. Brady I just rolled half a dozen after the game — bowling on the green of course — and then into the shower — so now I am washed up or as nearly so as I ever get.

Another colleague advises an editor down east that "if your so-called Doctor Brady is a physician he is certainly not an authority on the treatment of hernia."

Man, that's an understatement. I'm no authority on anything, except, perhaps, straight ten-handed bridge and beer and chasers, but my yeast-raised pure Penn Yan Pelze buckwheat pancakes.

But my colleague adds that "the injection treatment of hernia was tried by the ancient medical profession and the results carefully studied twenty years ago, and the treatment was discarded as a useless procedure."

One of the best textbooks, if not the best, on hernia is that of Dr. Leigh F. Watson, published by C. V. Mosby Co., St. Louis (3rd edition, 1948). The book contains several chapters on ambulant (office, injection) treatment, although most of the text deals with surgery.

The ever-ready operator who says immediate (injection) treatment of hernia (rupture, breach) was tried years ago and discarded is the man he probably not examined Watson's textbook.

This authoritative work lists several types of hernia for which injection treatment is "indicated" and several types for which it is not.

I hope no reader, medical or lay, will infer that I advocate injection treatment regardless of the individual circumstances.

But when circumstances are favorable with reasonable limitations as defined by such authorities as Watson, I earnestly advise the victim of hernia (rupture, breach) to seek the advice of an open-minded physician in regard to the method of choice.

In many cases the doctor on or two procedure.

Scots Desert Porridge

(Stratford Exposition)

The Scottish housewife now saves her breath to cool his porridge. In fact porridge and other oat dishes are fast disappearing from his table. We might have doubted that if an Englishman had said it, but our authority is a Scot, Sir James Scott Watson, chief agricultural adviser to the U.K. Government. He has told a gathering of Canadian and American agriculturists that Scotsmen, once known the world over for eating oat cakes and porridge, have taken to an up porridge for breakfast and switched to wheat, rice or corn products. Scots haven't tasted of this may still be reaching for the salt during breakfast and flavoring their oatmeal while uttering scathing remarks about people in the south who prefer to ruin it with sugar.

Just what is at work with tradition this all is may be measured by observations on the eating habits of the Scots that crop up in the writings of Englishmen. There was that famous definition in Dr. Samuel Johnson's dictionary, "Oats: in England food for horses and in Scotland food for men" They say gather that he didn't like the Scots. Ironically, it was the years of devoted chronicling of Dr. Johnson's day-to-day remarks and sayings every subject under the sun by the Scot James Boswell, the public's knowledge of the Scots that probably today be exceedingly small and dim. Then there was that pungent remark of that witty cleric, the Rev. Sydney Smith, who chilled Scotland, "That unfortunate land has produced a vast land of Calvin, oatcakes and suicide."

The Scots themselves have recorded how great a part in their lives porridge played. Who can have Thomas Carlyle's description of his father's courtship? Carlyle, the native village of Ecclefechan for Edinburgh University, carrying his bag of oatmeal provisions included a supply of oatmeal. Those Canadians who are descended from Scots in Britain will remember that some packages of oatmeal have colored pictures of giant Scots hefting cabers and other large lumps of lumber. And the oatmeal might look better on a twenty-five cent piece but the beaver is worth more than that to money stands for—hard work.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TRAVEL HOPEFULLY

None of us like as a companion one who is forever finding fault with other human beings, who is destructive in this thinking, and who "has no use" for the Government. Such a person would not be classed as one traveling "hopefully."

It was Stevenson who once wrote that "to travel hopefully is a better thing than to arrive." To travel hopefully, it doesn't matter much as to our destination. It is sure to be something worth while. We won't lose.

None of us can safely and truthfully predict the events of the morrow. But if we look forward to them, hopefully, we are more apt to be happily surprised. It is good philosophy, and makes for contentment, to be prepared for the worst. The story of the little girl in Robert Browning's "Pippa Passes" is an inspiring one. She was a worker in a mill and had but one vacation a year but she made the most of it. She arose early in the morning, singing in the streets, and with alert interest to what the day had in store, she found that my neighbors across the aisle were a middle-aged woman and a boy, her son, of about fifteen or sixteen.

We had not gone far before I discovered I was fascinated by their behavior. They were conversing. The woman would speak quietly, and the boy would listen attentively. Then the boy would respond. I could hear their voices barely above the noise of the train, but could not hear a word they were saying. The most extraordinary thing was the way in which each other, gravely or humorously or with laughter, but without a trace of that jerky, vivacity and unfailing interruption which characterizes conversation everywhere in our world today.

Their conversation was spaced with intervals of silence during which they would look out the train window. When the conversation was resumed, it was again on that basis of smiling respect for each other, the mother listening

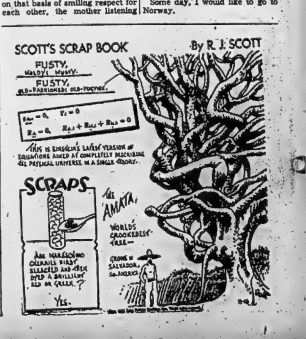
By GREGORY CLARK



When the sleeping car was made up for the night, I found myself immediately interested upon what his mother was saying. It was when we stopped at a station and I could hear their words that I learned they were speaking a foreign language. They were newcomers to our blathersite land.

Being the conductor, I found they were from Norway, heading for their new home in the West.

What is it that impels us to engage in a conversation as if it were something sacred? After watching the Norwegian mother and son, I have spent the past few days making note of the conversations going on around me in houses, street cars, stores.

It is as if life were a radio program or a TV show, during which every moment of time must be filled with chatter, gossip or amusement; and to make sure no instant of precious time is wasted, we interrupt one another, both wrongly, right—for time on the air.

Some day, I would like to go to Norway.

Thousands of Jobs Going 'Out of Window' by Railways Switching to Diesel Engines

By JOE MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — A union spokesman says thousands of jobs are going "out the window" now that Canadian railways are switching to diesels.

Hardest hit are men who service locomotives in the sheds. Harry Smith, president of division No. 4, Railway Employees Department (AFL), said in an interview, the old Puffing Billys need far more work than the diesels.

"From our experience with United States railways—which are already dieselized—we know that 30 per cent of our jobs will go out the window when the program is completed," said Mr. Smith.

This would amount to some 7,800 jobs. Mr. Smith said a total of 40,000 men work in the shop trades in Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways, and about half of these are on the "locomotive side"—such as machinists, helpers and apprentices.

"The introduction of the diesels has most effect at shops between main terminals," said Mr. Smith. As examples of railway towns that suffered from the change, he cited Riviere du Loup, Que., where 175 jobs have disappeared, and Revelstoke, B.C., now "just a skeleton" compared to former years.

DIESELS MORE EFFICIENT

Comparing the amount of servicing required by each type of engine, Mr. Smith said "the steamer needs about eight hours out of 24 in the roundhouse. Diesels can run 22 out of 24 hours, and they only need a roundhouse check once a month instead of once a day."

Hardship had come to many families who had long lived in railway towns where their livelihood was "obliterated." It was not always possible for an employee to move to, take advantage of seniority.

"We believe the government should share the cost of relocating people who lose their work in this manner, but it hasn't done anything yet," said Mr. Smith.

The railway trades also were being hit, since two diesels can do the work of three steamers, leading to economy in crews for the railways, he added. New and more efficient equipment were cutting down on jobs in the car shops as well.

Another aspect of the dieselization program was cited as having an effect on the coal economy. President Donald Gordon of the CNR has announced the order of new passenger diesel engines for the Montreal-Halifax run, which runs to the pitheads of Nova Scotia's coal industry.

COUNTRY-WIDE OPERATION

The diesels then will be operating from coast to coast, although many steamers still are in service, and will continue until they retire from old age.

Actually, CNR first used diesel power in rail cars in 1925, but it was only in late years that diesels reached full prominence.

CNR's first diesel locomotive, built at Kingston, was bought in 1930 and still is in operation.

Development during the Second World War convinced railway executives that a dieselization program was imperative, and they decided to make the change by sections, or divisions.

CNR and CPR now are operating a total of some 1,000 diesels and each railway is buying about 40 units a year.

WHITE'S DISTRICT

Joint Meeting Held by W.M.S. Mission Bands

WHITE'S DISTRICT — A joint meeting of the Bayside W.M.S. the Sunbeam Mission Band, the Bayside Mission Band and the Baby Band was held on Wednesday afternoon in the form of a picnic on the spacious grounds of the Hockaday tourist camp.

Mrs. Fred Lamb leader of the Bayside Band opened the meeting.

Mrs. Leach entertained all with two amusing stories. Mrs. Leonard Young leader of the Sunbeam Mission Band, took charge of the games. There was a paper chase for the Mission Bands, with Karl Arthur finding the most pieces, one lucky piece and Audrey Bowers the numbered piece. The Baby Band members also had a paper chase and the winners were Kathy Dale, Heather Hockaday and Vincent Moase.

The W.M.S. members and visitors tried a "popular metaphors" contest and Mrs. F. Leach was a giant. The Mission Band took part in an "animal" contest with Dianne Dale winning some fine paper. Nancy Hockaday whose birthday was the same day received a baby.

The boys of the senior grades competed against the girls in pasting a rubber ball over their heads. The boys were winners. These girls and boys again competed by lying flat on the floor a certain distance then back to their team. The girls won this time.

All the children joined in the game "Go in and out the window." It was a good way for such a gathering. All had enjoyed the games, the meeting, the treat and the swing.

About 50 members and visitors sat at picnic tables for a delicious repast but before doing so all thanked Mrs. Albert Hockaday for her kindness and all sang grace.

Russian and U.S. Soldiers Fighting Austrian Floods

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP) — American and Russian troops worked within a few hundred yards of each other outside Vienna today in an effort to save a U. S. airfield and two Austrian villages from floods.

The waters of the swollen Danube river—raging downstream after leaving 70,000 homeless in Germany and western Austria—threatened the U. S. air force base at Tulln, located in the Russian occupation zone of Austria, 11 to 12 miles northwest of Vienna's American sector.

German officials said the airfield was "pretty much out of danger" unless the waters took a big rise.

TOWNS FLOODED

Floods from the Danube approached within 200 yards of the field, inundating the communities of Tulln and Langenlebarn and flooding a road connecting them with the airfield.

The Russians sent troops and trucks to one stretch of the road, while the Americans sent trucks and scores of airmen to another stretch.

The police said there was no actual co-operation between the cold war opponents.

28 ARE DEAD

The flood, the worst in centuries in central Europe, has another victim Monday night. A three-year-old child fell into the swirling Danube near Vienna, bringing the total dead reported in Austria and East and West Germany to 28.

Conservative estimates placed property damage at hundreds of millions of dollars.

The river was still rising. It was expected to crest at its high point at the capital sometime today.

Vietminh Shell French Army HQ North of Hanoi

By FORREST EDWARDS

HANOI, Indo-China (AP)—Vietminh mortars shelled French army headquarters at Son Tay, 25 miles northwest of Hanoi, Monday night and sniper warfare rang through the streets of the defence outpost town of 6,000. A French army spokesman said artillerists were moving out of Son Tay as rebel pressure builds up in that sector and across the northern Red river delta defence area.

Fort-one rebels were reported killed and 17 captured in various actions during the night. There was no announcement of French losses.

Between Son Tay and Hanoi Vietminh guerrillas attacked a French highway guard patrol but were driven off by a tank squadron that rumbled out of Son Tay to the rescue. Twenty Vietminh were killed and seven captured in the roadside fight.

SNIPER KILLED

One rebel sniper was killed on a Son Tay street corner but others apparently escaped.

Other fights were reported just north of Hung Yen, 25 miles southeast of Hanoi, and through the Sept Pagodes—Luc Nam — Phu Lang Thuong triangle, 35 miles northeast of Hanoi.

North of Hung Yen, rebel guerrillas and French-Viet Namese patrols clashed in small night battles for possession of the rugged road from Hanoi.

In each fight, the French spokesman said, the Vietminh were driven off before their demolition units could cut the road. Twenty rebels were killed and 10 captured in the area.

Benjamin Jones, 36, and five of his six children died in their home on the Walpole Island Indian reservation near Wallaceburg, Ontario. His wife, shown with him, was visiting a sister on the U.S. shore when flames razed the frame home. Cottagers who saw the flames were unable to enter the home and the Wallaceburg fire department, which had to reach the island by ferry, could not arrive in time to do anything else but recover the bodies from the ruins. Unemployment Said Large In Sault Ste. Marie SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) — Two aldermen said Monday night there is so much unemployment in this city that some persons are literally starving to death because they have no money to buy food.

They said city council that malnutrition is widespread and urged immediate action. Alderman Anthony Nino and Peter King said they knew of people who weren't getting enough to eat. They did not elaborate.

There are 2,100 registered unemployed in Sault Ste. Marie, which has a population of about 35,000. During the winter the peak was 4,300 unemployed, but many of them have since left the city.

MAY BE HIGHER

Alderman James Foulds said the official figures probably fall short of the actual number of men not working. He said he believed many immigrants did not know the proper procedure to follow in registering when laid off.

The major employer here is the Algoma Steel Corporation, which has laid off part of its staff. The company recently completed a $75,000,000 expansion program and many men were out of work when it was finished.

Council decided to set up a special committee of six aldermen to prepare an emergency course of action. The committee will call in church, labor and political leaders for advice.

Inhabitants of St. Helena Look to Canadians for Help

MONTREAL (CP)—A tiny British island colony in the south Atlantic—famed as the death place of Napoleon—is up against one of the most severe crises in its long history.

The 3,000 inhabitants of St. Helena are looking to Canadians for a boost that will help them survive the depression threatening the island's economy.

R. A. Thorpe, the island's only industrialist, was here recently to attend the Commonwealth Chamber of Commerce conference and to drum up business for St. Helena's only export—handmade lace.

"The island's population is having a hard time," he said in an interview. "There is practically no prospect for the future, except the one possibility I came to explore here—and that is a market for the lace our womenfolk make."

St. Helena, off the main shipping lanes about 1,500 miles northwest of Capetown, has changed little since the time more than a century ago when Napoleon, his armies crushed at Waterloo, landed there to start the 15-year exile which ended with his death.

Mr. Thorpe, who bears a resemblance to Sir Winston Churchill, owns eight flax mills on St. Helena, practically the only source of employment for the islanders.

But six of the mills are closed down and the others are likely to shut soon. Cause of the distress is the exhaustion of the plantations and unprofitable production.

Seventy per cent employment is in upkeep of the island's 100 miles or so of roads.

The British) colonial office had all the roads tarred last year," Mr. Thorpe said. "That job is finished and maintenance is a simple task because of St. Helena's good climate."

The lace work of the St. Helenian women is famous for its light delicacy. It is done on centuries-old patterns, many of them brought to the island by the first settlers—slaves who tilled plantations of the Dutch East India Company, and later the British East India Company, in the 17th century.

Napoleon's home, Longwood, which the British government conceded to France as French territory, is being repaired and restored to be exactly as it was when the "Little Corporal" died there in 1841.

Mr. Thorpe himself has the original post-mortem document made out after Napoleon's death. It indicates he died of cancer.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merton McKinley, Greenbush, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Miller, Wauquoit, with their attendants took their places before the beautifully decorated altar where Rev. E. Wrightson performed the ring ceremony. Bouquet of roses, delphinium, dahlias, baby breath and fern was used to further enhanced the beauty of the little church. Waving a pretty hello on her arrival in New York by plane is Effie Andrukonkal, who will represent Greece in the Miss Universe beauty pageant at Long Beach, Cal., on July 25. Effie replaced Miss Greece, Rica Dialyna, because Rica once designed the entire for a Communist subject book. A most successful Daily Vacation Bible School held at Christ Church with an average attendance of 130 children, began on Monday, and culminated on Friday, concluding a five-day schedule of lessons and Bible study. Although most of the children attending were members of Christ Church Sunday School, there were many visitors, some from Ottawa, Hamilton, Peterborough, and also from Nova Scotia.

The schedule embraced four periods, with children according to age. At 9.00 a.m. all assembled in the parish hall, later marching to the church, led by two children who carried the banner, where a short devotional service was held, under the leadership of the rector, Archdeacon, the Venerable J. B. Creeggan, with the Reverend Everett Smith, assistant rector, leading on Friday.

BIBLE READINGS

Each morning a Bible reading was given by Lyn Fuzzen, Linda Lennox, Jim Fisher, Bobbie Blakeney and Marion Rapard, respectively. Mr. Creeggan told a continued story each morning, consisting of mother, father, Tommy, John, Mary and June, and the family pet, Rover, the dog. Each morning an event in the life of this family was presented and connected with a similar story told in the Bible.

At the conclusion of each service, the banner carriers led the children back to the hall, where the first period, that of handicrafts, was begun. Under the direction of Mrs. Creeggan, children made wall plaques and cards; made lapel pins and handkerchief change purses; and the younger children made necklaces; sewing cards; bead threading; bird's nest; rabbits with fuzzy tails; scrapbooks; these all to be carried home when the working the children were treated to cookies.

In the second period, that of recreation, the children enjoyed games on the lawn.

FLANNELGRAPH STORY

The third period was held upstairs in the auditorium, where announcements were made and birthday greetings extended to those who were celebrating that day. Each morning a Bible reading was given by Lyn Fuzzen, Linda Lennox, Jim Fisher, Bobbie Blakeney and Joan Maddocks, respectively.

Mrs. C. Fuzzen, Mrs. E. Hickey, Mrs. Fisher and Mrs. R. Roulet, illustrated by flannelgraph.

The fourth period was held down stairs, where each child received his or her morning's work along with a Scripture card and prayer.

TREMENDOUS WORK

The success of the Vacation Bible School was due largely to the tremendous work put into the planning of the programme and the preparing of the handwork by the teacher in charge, Miss A. Shepard, who was assisted by the willing workers, Mr. John Wilson, church organist; Miss Grace Calvert, who presided at organ and piano; Mrs. L. Blaker, Mrs. C. Fuzzen, Mrs. H. Clarke, Mrs. W. McCormick, Mrs. G. Lennox, Mrs. C. Anderson, Mrs. W. Edwards, Mrs. M. B. Button, Mrs. E. Burns, Mrs. R. Hyatt, Mrs. W. Martin, Mrs. J. Cooke, Mrs. F. Bateman, Mrs. E. Smith, Mrs. R. Wilson, Mrs. Leo Cox, Mrs. G. O'Brien, Mrs. R. Roulet, Mrs. I. Winter, Mrs. J. Wilson, Mrs. C. Hyatt, Mrs. F. Ayling. Miss Pat McLaughlin, Miss Nancy Osborne and Miss Ruth Rogers.

To these teachers and helpers the rector, Archdeacon Creeggan wishes to say the success of the Bible School is largely due, and his grateful thanks and appreciation.

At the conclusion of the school on Friday morning the children were given a treat of ice cream and soft drink donated by a local soft drink firm.

Girl Dedicates Life to Medical Work Among Primitive People

By MARGARET ECKER

LIMA, Peru (CP)—A shy, self-effacing Montreal girl has dedicated her life to bringing the dawning the primitive people of the Amazon jungle. She is Miss Jacqueline Gaudry, daughter of Mrs. Emile Le Fevre-Archambault.

Miss Gaudry will join the reception room of the School of Our Lady of Angels here, a mission school and medical institution staffed by sisters of the order from Sherbrooke, Que. The sisters have been noticed in a crowd if no one knew her story. Short, plumpish and dark-haired, she is met with out makeup, her brown, naturally curling hair pulled back severely.

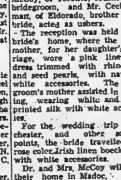
Lawrence Le Fevre is an honor graduate in public health from the University of Montreal, who, unaided by anyone except her family and friends, has started and now operates an infirmary at Indiana, on the upper Amazon.

MEAL-TIME DONATIONS

Little penny banks on the tables of her friends in Montreal, who drop in a cent a meal, support her and her patients, buy medicine, hospital supplies, drugs. With her, fired by her own resolve, are Clare Laurendeau, a public health nurse, from Three Rivers, Que., and Miss Jaime Nemesi, Catholic girl guide from Montreal.

Early every morning a stream of squat, primitive Indians begins to move through the wooden jungle paths to the Le Fevre's and the infirmary. No fewer than 30 people are treated daily for tropical diseases, pay a nurse to make bites, jungle wounds.

Often in the middle of the night, the Canadian nurse is called to a grass hut to aid an Indian mother in childbirth.



If it were not for Miss Le Fevre, and her associates, probably none of these people would have medical aid.

WOULD SERVE OTHERS

"My own desire," said Laurence, "was to do some work in the world that was really needed, to use the knowledge I had gained in years of training and study had given to help peoplenot."

Anxiously awaiting news in Frankfurt, Germany, is Mrs. Jack Davis, wife of the U.S. army captain who, with six other U.S. soldiers, is held by Communist Czechoslovakia. The seven soldiers, all stationed in Germany, were seized by Czech Communist police on July 7 when they drove to the border in an army weasel-carrier and got out to take a look. Aga Khan's Wife Took Fashion Stakes in Breeze

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—The Aga Khan didn't run a race at the Royal Ascot meeting this year but his wife took the fashion stakes in a breeze.

Ascot's Ladies' Day, third day of the annual four-day meeting, drew a simple dress of white lace, the pattern picked out in embroidery, and trimmings all in the same shade from wide hat to lacy shoes.

"Why is it that one woman wins the Ascot fashion stakes year after year?" Eileen Ascroft asks in the Evening Standard. The fashion secrets of the tall, striking brunette are disappointingly simple, she adds. They include simplicity, plenty of black and white and only two pieces of jewelry at a time.

The Queen's cortege on Ladies' Day was also in white lace, with the pattern picked out in the narrowest of ribbon braiding. It had a wide-brimmed skirt, over many petticoats, that merely swayed encharmingly in the breeze.

Both the Queen and the Queen Mother chose for warmth. The Queen wore a two-strand white fox stole and the Queen Mother's cape was of white fox.

QUEEN'S HAT

Chilly instead of the Queen's fourday fashion wardrobe was the hat worn the second day. A large pastel pink wide wavy straw hat trimmed in yellow silk and a starshaped cream of dark green velvet, it seemed a cross between an Elizabethan boy's cap and the perky hat worn by Sir Winston Churchill at the Knight of the Garter ceremony. It swelled Tudor rose pinned over one eye increased the illusion.

Chilly conditions brought out many classic suits in silk and wool. Stoles in fur and wool were the most monotonous if a little warm touch to the dresses. Two new fashion points were eyelashes colored to match a dress, hat, shoes and a fur stole of the same shade.

Ascot hats "worn with studied carelessness and elegance" by the men rated mention in the Daily Express. The reporter wrote that English men wear clothes better than their women. Grey topped a worn at just the right angle with the right haircut give the impression the men are standing — squiring a crowd of frumpish women. . . .

Is Going to Be Smart To Be Slouchy Next Fall

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK — It's going to be smart to be slouchy next fall, the international fashion press learned today at the opening of the New York wholesale collections of fall styles.

Comfort also is given a large play by American designers, who are introducing the blouson silhouette after a season in which the tight midriff and princess lines made women suffer for the sake of fashion.

All the newest dresses shown by leading designers have an easy, loose look above the belt, retaining the slim skirt for daytime. However, skilful use of pleats and flares has been made in some skirts, allowing room to move while preserving a slender appearance.

RETURN TO THE CASUAL

The blousedback dress showed up in the Paris spring collections but was not generally adopted by American designers until now. It suggests a return to the casual styles of the 1920's, and American women love, and also makes the wearer look slim above extra bulges around the middle.

The tight-skirted empire line is still present in many collections but a choice is offered now, with the casually comfortable look the newest and therefore the smartest in the line-up.

Suits for fall offer a wide variety of jacket styles, with the slim skirt. Some jackets are loose sweater and hemline about the same or occasionally a little shorter than worn last spring and summer. One leading suit designer shows the blouson jacket as the highlight of his collection, but the "blouson" bridge construction from earlier times to the present.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A NEIGHBORHOOD PROBLEM

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We are growing desperate in our neighborhood. We have only one a childless couple in our midst who hate children.

Our yard we can't have any normal play because the man comes out and yells at them for shaking leaves or even for just healthy children who weren't noisy! They never set a foot on this man's property, yet no matter whose yard they are playing in, he goes out and yells at them.

What would you do in a case like ours?—K.M.

Dear K.N.:

First, I think you neighborhood people might select one or two mothers and fathers to act as a committee that would call on this man and his wife and take this matter up with them in as friendly a way as possible. The members of the committee should say that they have come to see and work out the problem in a spirit of cooperation and fair play. They might ask if there are any rules or suggestions which they might all talk over together.

Possibly such an approach might help smooth out the difficulty but, if it doesn't, then I think your committee should go to someone in your local government, and discuss the problem with him.

Unless your children are abnormally noisy, which they probably are not, there is no reason why they should be subjected to the treatment of this sort. So if you can't settle the matter among yourselves, the town authorities should step in.

WHEN YOU'RE AT FAULT, ADMIT IT AND APOLOGIZE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Bob and I stopped seeing each other the latter part of last year. Actually, it was partly my fault as, even though we weren't going steady, I knew that Bob was a "one girl man," I went out with another fellow, knowing what it would mean to Bob. On the other hand, Bob was most unreasonable about it.

Now he doesn't even speak to me. All he ever does is just stare at me. I have tried to talk to him but with no luck.

Is there some way I can let him know that I still like him? — C.M. Dear C.M.:

Since you admit that you really brought on the trouble between Bob and yourself by doing something you knew would hurt him, I should think the first step toward reconciliation would be an apology from your side.

You say you have tried to talk to Bob but he would not respond. I assume your attempt at talking to him was limited to speaking of casual things, and that you made no effort to assume any blame for what happened. In any event, I suggest that you write him a note and tell him you are sorry for whatever part of the trouble was your fault and that you would feel very badly if anything you did put an end to your friendship.

Don't be either sentimental or emotional in your note, and don't make a big thing out of it. Just be friendly and casual, but, of course, sincere. Then see if he gets in touch with you. If he doesn't you've done all you can, and the next move, if there is to be any, should come from him.

In the meantime, devote yourself to your other friends, but in order to avoid other misunderstandings, make it perfectly clear that you want to be free to go out with anyone you please and that you're not in a hurry to "go steady."

The Calorie-Count Is Important

By Mary Moore

Quick turnover describes what happens to the low-calorie menus in this column.

When I run out of a stack of them instead of making a reprint on the mimeograph machine I write a new one, and make a few hundred copies of it for you. You write to me for reprints and when of you enclose stamped addressed envelopes I send them. GOOD MANNERS

LETTER SETS FORTH SERIOUS PROBLEM FOR OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS

In today's mail I received the following extremely important letter, which sets forth straightforwardly and with none of the impatience and bitterness the writer might have felt, an awkward and thoughtless situation that is apparently growing more frequent these days. The situation is having the church ceremony in the morning, often very early, then scheduling a reception for the evening (or even late-afternoon) and making absolutely no arrangements for taking care of relatives and friends who have come from out-of-town, and who are left stranded for those long weary hours between ceremony and reception. It's an incredible lack of decent consideration, lack of courtesy, a basic lack of the natural demands of hospitality.

Dear Mrs. Berekman:

Recently my husband and I were invited to the wedding of my husband's niece. (This niece is very dear to my husband—and I am her godmother.) The ceremony at the church was at 9 o'clock in the morning, and the reception was at 7 o'clock in the evening. We live three hours' drive from our niece's home town. This reason that we not only had to start very early, but had to spend all day there to be at the reception. Now, because we did not receive any invitation to the reception and didn't expect it, we had to look up a restaurant where we could have lunch, and then we spent the afternoon by ourselves till time for the reception.

Now we'd like to know if the family of the bride was supposed to make some kind of arrangements not only for us but for the other guests from out-of-town. Or even if naturally we very much wanted to be present at the ceremony, since this niece is so dear to my husband, and since I am her godmother, would it have been better for us to have planned to come to the reception only? — Reader

How could the bride's family have been completely lacking in consideration for their guests particularly for an uncle and aunt, the uncle who is the honored uncle by the bride, and you, the aunt, the bride's godmother? Their behavior lacks even common decency. When there are to be so many hours between ceremony and the reception, the bride's family should always make definite arrangements to provide luncheon or dinner for out-of-town guests, who, naturally, are hungry and weary - from - traveling - and - waiting. Often a buffet luncheon or dinner is provided at the bride's home: sometimes in-town relatives "come to the aid of" the out-of-town guests, offering the hospitality of food and a place-to-rest; sometimes a suite is reserved in a local hotel, for the convenience of out-of-town guests. If no hospitality-provision can be made, these out-of-town guests should be invited only to the ceremony or only to the reception. I doubt if you could have had the foresight to have come only to the reception, for anyone, and certainly such close and important relatives, would naturally have taken it for granted that provision would be made for your happiness and comfort.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

FACIAL ERUPTIONS

Every age has its beauty problems. In youth it is often the complexion that is especially cursed with blackheads and pimples. Conditions leading to this tragic state of affairs can be found in face washing that is too casual or a diet that contains too many fats, starches or sweets.

During the teen-age period the sebaceous glands are overactive. Instead of just flimsing the skin surfaces, the exudations thicken, bank up in the pores or pick up atmospheric dust.

With the pores clogged, the walls may break, inviting bacteria that form pustules. The first rule in treatment should be "hands off." Pressing and pinching can spread the infection, result in scars. Twice a day there should be a thorough face washing with fairly hot water and a bland soap fluffed to a thick, foaming lather and frictioned into the flesh with the finger tips. Some specialists recommend the use of a high grade shaving soap—one that is mild and lends up quickly.

The rinsing should be with warm water as cold water does not remove soap as quickly. After the slightly rinsed, hot moist compresses should be applied, then the flesh laved with a saturate solution of boric acid—a teaspoonful of powdered boric acid dissolved in a cup of warm water.

Diet is important. Fried foods must be avoided, cream and butter cut down, fruit eaten in place of sugary desserts. Chocolate is forbidden by doctors who specialize in disorders of the skin and scalp. Tomato or orange juice must be taken each day for their vitamin content.

If home treatment is not effective, a medical man should be consulted.

SHANNONVILLE W.A.

The members and friends of the W.A. of Shannonville United Church were pleasantly entertained on Thursday at the summer home of one of the members, Mrs. Fred Wilson. A delicious pot-luck dinner was enjoyed by 22 in the dining room as it was quite cool outside.

The president, Mrs. Harry Sine, took charge of a short meeting in the afternoon and welcomed the members and visitors to the meeting and thanked the hostess for her kind hospitality. Mrs. Frank Dodgson, Belleville leader, gave a reading "A righteous nation and offered prayer.

In the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Robertson took the minutes. Mrs. Everett Sirrston reported $15 cleared on June 29th by catering at Scott's live stock sale. The W.A. is to cater again on August 24th. Mrs. Sine suggested that all the members bring flower or useful articles to the next meeting for a start on the annual bazaar.

Pictures were taken and visiting enjoyed before the gathering dispersed.

Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Sam Elliott, on October 14th.

FOREST DWELLER

Strictly a forest animal, the porcupine is never found on treeless plains.

AN EASY to improvise game with lots of grown-up possibilities in Backseat. Save all kinds of seals for stamps, start advertising specialties to add to "official" list, and provide old envelopes and paper with a pencil or ballpoint pen. A cap and bag make it more fun, too.

No More Property Leases Will Be Issued in Algonquin Park

TORONTO — Algonquin Park, showplace of the Province of Ontario, is to be returned to its primitive condition under plans of the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests, the 2,790 square miles of part wilderness, larger than Prince Edward Island, will, over a period of years, be gradually brought back to where it was when it was first established in 1893.

Administratively, this is a long-term plan. But, henceforth, no new leases will be granted for cottages or tourist camps. The return to the park's natural state is to be gradual, with nothing arbitrary about it. As present lease-holders and their tenants, they will sell property back to the Crown or, in some cases, donate it to the people.

At present, no lease are granted in other Provincial Parks such as Quetico in the northwest section of the Province, and Sibley Peninsula in the Port Arthur-Fort William District.

COMMERCIALISM FEARED.

Fearing that commercialism might enter Algonquin Park with the encroachment of so-called civilization, the Government has decided to return to the original policy as laid down by a Royal Commission in 1893. In the Algonquin Park Act as passed by the Legislative Assembly of the following year, a summary declared: "The proposed Act was intended to provide a public park and forest reservation, fish and game preserve, health resort and pleasure ground for the benefit, enjoyment and advantage of the people of the Province."

Vast changes have taken place since that Act was passed. A highway has been built across the southern end of the park and about 500 leases for construction of cottages and camps were granted.

But, even so, control has been maintained over the years. There are no unsightly billboards, honky tonk refreshment booths or gasoline stations even today in the big park area. There are numerous cottages on the lakes adjacent to the highway but few off the roads and, by following the age-old canoe trails leading to the north from the highway, holidayers can still be in relative wilderness within a few miles.

By reversion to the original plans, however, it means that no new roads will be built leading off the main highway, no cottages with private facilities which would prevent the ordinary citizen of the Province from camping where and when he chooses.

RECOMMENDATION.

James Dickson, then inspector of sweys, in his original report to the Royal Commission of 62 years ago, declared:

"I would strongly urge that neither moose, deer nor any furbearing animals should be either hunted, taken or killed in the proposed Park for all time. By doing this, the province will have a large breeding ground and harbor of refuge for her game. As the Park becomes stocked, they would naturally spread into the surrounding country and the whole province would be better stocked than it is at present."

That was one policy which has always been followed. Hunting is still prohibited in the Park and bear, deer and other animals walk fearlessly on the road and around present cottages and camps. Fishing is allowed, however, and, in accordance with the original plan, streams and lakes have been stocked over the years. In addition, some years ago, a plan of alternate closure of lakes was inaugurated and Nature's methods of propagation have made fishing as good today as it ever was.

Lands and Forests officials emphasize that there will be no drastic measures taken to bring about the return to the original plan. Presence at present owning cottages or camps in the Park will be allowed to remain.

It is estimated that it will take 40 years before the occupied or leased land will revert to the Crown. But the day will come when Algonquin Park again will be owned and controlled by all the people of Ontario and "no trespassing" signs will be ended forever in one of the continent's most noted wonderlands.

Little Benny's Notebook

Pop's cold felt worse instead of better this morning, and today he came home from the office ma said. Do you feel any better, William?

I suppose I must, because I could get feel any worse, pop said, and ma said, Oh of course you could. Sit down and relax, you'll feel better after you eat, she said.

I may never eat again, pop said, and he flopped down in his private chair and ma went back to the kitchin and I said, C, pop, I bet you really could feel worse.

Possibly, but I doubt it, and I simply haven't the energy to try, pop said, and I said, Well heck, just imagine ma had met you on the front steps when you came home, and told you your dinner was all burnt?

I wouldn't of batted an eye or gritted a tooth, that's how I feel about dinner, pop said, and I said, But suppose your dinner wasn't the only thing that was burnt, because the whole kitchin caught on fire?

I'd feel bad, but no worse than I feel now, pop said, and I said, But suppose ma told you the fire had spred to all the other rooms, and the only reason she was meeting you on the front steps was because she knew the only part of the house that hadn't went up in flames

Yee gods, you win, pop said. I realize that I feel comparatively like heaven.

Which just then ma called us for dinner, and it was liver and onions so pop took 2 helpings, and when he got through eating he actually did feel better.

Proving ma was rite.

65 Canadians In Indo-China, 15 in Hanoi

OTTAWA (CP) — There are at least 65 Canadians in Indo-China, 15 of them in Communist-threatened Hanoi.

Seven of those in Hanoi are nuns and the eight other, priests, half of them members of the Roman Catholic Redemptorist Order.

The external affairs department previously listed 18 Canadians in Indo-China and it added another 47 today. Nearly all are missionaries.

The department said evacuation of the Canadians in event of an emergency would be conducted by United Kingdom ingation officials at Saigon. Canada has no diplomatic representatives in Indo-China.

The British foreign office in London has warned British citizens in Hanoi, threatened delta city in northern Indo-China, to be ready to leave should the military situation deteriorate further. The Communist Vietminh ring around the city has been tightening the last two weeks.

In the new list of names supplied by the department, no Canadian addresses for the 47 persons were available. In many cases, first names were not known.

The 15 in Hanoi are: Sisters Marie Areds, Alma Blaquier, Rose Hirtes, Rosilda Brunelle, Alice Fontaine, Bertha Georges, Aurore Lesage; and these members of the Redemptorist Order, Patrice Gagne, Romeo Gagnon, Michel Lalberte, Francois Lalliberti and these four others, priest William Gagnon, Friar Norbert Lacerte, Friar Jean Marie Larrivee and Friar Bernard Gaston Samuel.

In Saigon are Redemptorists Boizsonault, Cote, Dampbousse, Laplante, Lapoinz, Marquis, Olivier Roy; missionaries Mr. and Mrs. D. Jeffrey; Mr. and Mrs. Lafontaine.

Others in Indo-China were listed as: Redemptorists Benoit, Boucher, Dube, Charles Eugene Raymond and Tremblay at Dalat in Viet Nam; two priests, Brouillette and J. R. L. Plante, in Laos; Redemptorists Drouin, Labonte, Lecrouche, Paquette, Proulx, Albert Raymond and Trempe in Hue; Redemptorists Charles Gagnon and Gerard Gagnon in Octave; and these persons whose whereabouts was not known, Laurent Hubeedeau and Alex Trepanier and missionaries Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Reside.

New Legislation Would Set Up Better Market

NEW YORK (CP)—Pending legislation that would set up a new Canadian money market is seen by the New York Times today as a move to bolster the rank of Toronto and Montreal among world financial centres.

The money market—a complex of lending, discounting and trading fact liter through which short-term securities are pledged or exchanged for cash, and idle money is used to earn interest in marketable securities—will represent a step away from British banking practices and a move more in line with United States fiscal techniques, the Times says.

The Bank of Canada will have the authority to change the reserve requirements of commercial banks in line with business conditions—a practice followed by the U. S. federal reserve system.

Other financial moves suggest the revised Canadian procedure will not be a complete swing from British practices.

RIGHT EXTENDED

For example, the privilege of selling prime short-term investments to the Bank of Canada at the official rate of discount—in England a right extended to bill-brokers—has been granted to the major Canadian investment houses. There is no U. S. parallel to this procedure.

At the same time the Bank of Canada will be permitted to enter into lid-cover agreements with investment dealers, by which the central bank will take over temporary ownership of short-term treasury securities.

The nucleus of the money market, however, is the government's short-term debt instrument—the bills sold weekly by the Treasury. In the expected new moves, the short-term market will be enlarged so that banks and investment houses, which participate in the sales, will feel free to market these securities in response to fluctuating needs, as is done in the United States.

This liberalization of the financial practice may well spurt investment capital to move in and out of Canada more frequently, which might result in the development of Canada's position as a world money centres, similar to pre-war London, the Times says.

CATCH MONSTER SHARK

This 4,000-pound, 26-foot shark, dwarfing the man and boy beside it as well as a dory in the background, was captured after a four-hour battle with fishermen off Chance Harbor, on the Bay of Fundy coast southwest of Saint John, N.B. The monster became snarled in a salmon net and hauled a 32-foot power boat two miles before other vessels helped tow the shark to shore. Wendell McAllister, one of the fishermen, is shown here telling seven-year-old David Thompson all about it. (CP Photo).

Three-Man Petroleum, Natural Gas Board in Full Command

By GRAHAM TROTTER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

CALGARY (CP)—Watchdog of Alberta's vast oil and gas resources is the province's three-man petroleum and natural gas conservation board.

Created in 1938, when the last of Turner Valley's series of free-flowing booms was in full swing, the board introduced conservation measures which were later to put the Leduc boom of 1947 on more solid footing.

Essentially, the board's duties are to conserve oil and gas, prevent waste, regulate drilling of wells and production from them.

PRORATES OUTPUT

It also prorates, or shares, the output in such a way as to obtain the maximum possible ultimate recovery from a field while also ensuring each operator receives a just and equitable share of production from any pool.

The board's first major problem was the all-stops-out practice of Turner valley wells, where billions of cubic feet of natural gas "incidental" to recovery of oil was dissipated.

The "waste" gas was flared off, lending a fiery glow to the skies that could be seen for years from Calgary, 35 miles northeast. Wasting of great quantities of natural gas by drilling every time a well brings oil to the surface, meant much otherwise-recoverable crude was lost.

Despite some opposition from operators who resented imposition of production quotas and a reservoir pressure program of returning gas to the ground, the conservation board prevailed. An unsuccessful attempt was even made to have the act establishing the board declared unconstitutional.

BUSY BOARD

Besides figuring daily production allowables each month, the board keeps a continuous record of each of Alberta's more than 5,000 oil and gas wells, makes exhaustive studies of all characteristics of a well or field, and holds public hearings on export and pipeline applications.

For more than 4½ years the board was occupied with hearings of gas export applications, which began outstripping the available markets.

Under this sharing system, the board bases purchasing committee make monthly nominations of their Alberta crude requirements so that it can arrive at the total demand. This is separated into light, medium and heavy-oil categories, with each pool in the province being assigned to one.

"ECONOMIC ALLOWANCE"

Then an "economic allowance" is calculated for each pool in each category. Intended as a return on capital investment and for defraying current operating costs, or a "minimum living wage," it has a base of 30 barrels daily for each well which rises in direct relation to well depths.

The total "economic allowance" of the province then is deducted from the total demand, and the remaining market is allocated to pools which can produce in excess of the allowance. This allocation is made in direct ratio of the pool potential to the total provincial potential.

The conservation board, supported on about a 50-50 basis by the Alberta government and the petroleum industry, has expanded from a staff of 35 before Leduc to 120 today, with headquarters in a three-storey Calgary building. It maintains eight field offices which keep a close check on drilling and producing regulations in major areas.

When they also came into the oil picture, the other prairie provinces followed Alberta's example and set up their own conservation boards. Saskatchewan in 1952 and Manitoba in 1953. They follow much the same practice as Alberta.

The board's first two chairmen were United States petroleum engineers but now it is staffed entirely by Canadians.

HEADS CONSERVATION BOARD

I. N. McKinnon of Calgary is chairman of Alberta's three-man petroleum and natural gas conservation board — watchdog of the province's vast oil and gas resources. From his headquarters at Calgary, Mr. McKinnon, a former banker and broker, and members of the board regulate all phases of oil and natural gas production, prevent their waste, regulate drilling of wells and production from them. The board was created in 1938 when the last of Turner Valley's series of free-flowing booms was in full swing. In this Alberta government photo, Mr. McKinnon sits before a map of the province's oil resources. (CP Photo.)

NEED THIS ONE!

The Batas fell down badly on Saturday in "pulin' 'em whose they ain't," as Willie Keller was wont to remark, and tonight will journeyman as the official Viadoct League Opposition. Coach Vern Geyer intends to do something about it. The Pelcs have suffered a couple of severe reverses in their last two outings and they won't be in any Alphonse-Gaston mood, and you can lay to that.

The Batas can consolidate their hold on third place in the league standing with a win. If the Petes cop the verdict, the teams will be all tied up for the show spot with seven wins and nine defeats.

The game scheduled for July 17, next Saturday, with the Toronto Maulcats has been washed out and will be played in a double-header in Toronto on Saturday, July 31, subject to change. The Batas play a twin bill in Oakville on Friday night.

Dan (New York Mirror) Parker swirls into doggerel ament that defeat of the Brooklyn Dodgers last week at the hands of the Giants when Maglie won his 19th victory over the Flatbush Fusiliers, he dedicated to "Frave" Frank, the "Bakelite Brooklynite," (the "Bums" best friend in Belleville). Here 'tis:

There's sadness along the Gowanus;
In Greenwood they kneel in their gin.
Six guys from Bay Ridge
Jest legt offa the bridge
Them Lyrix trounced all our Dodgers agin!

The bolds have stopped choipin' in Prospect;
They're even desolitn' the town.
What's fly in the environment
Such a crool disappertinment
Our Bums once again left us down!

The game stotted off kinda t'rifling
When the Duke got a holt of Sal's colve,
Wit' two men on bases—
The foist pair he faces.
Could Maglie be lostin' his nolve?

Wit' two runs that Duke slipe the Preacher
It looks like old Sal's on the shelf
Wit' the rest of the person
And the home crowd's rejerzin'.
It's now everyone for their self.

The way Preacher's slow colve was breakin'
Over three frames it looked like a fleece.
They'd whiff or just herst her
As Roe bruried their enter
And made Maglie look like a cheese.

'Twas a nice, barmy evenin' in Flatbush.
Everyone was enjerring the fun
Excepting them spoilers

Who ain't saw their berze on the run.

Wit' heart rend'rin' cries they entrested

Or back to the Polo Grounds strayed.

Then he nones the crooshul fourt' ending
And that's when the Jyants wpim toined.
Wit' one on, Al Dark
Conks it outa the park
It's a tie, to our sorrow, we loined.

And if that ain't enough for poor Preacher
Along comes Mays and Gilmays
The 'frosh- wit' annudder
That was Darkses twin brudder
And the Preacher limps off in a haze.

Now the smott guys turn loose on Old Smoky
For bankin' on Roe for this game,
"What terrible straggedy!
'Tis toins into tragedy!
They's no one but Alston to blame!

They shouldn't of fired Cholly Dressen.
His job should've never been changed.
"He asks for more dough
"And O'Malley says 'No!',
'Fernt bleeds. It was all free-arranged!"

In the meantime what happens to Maglie?
The crumb bun's as cool as the Sphinx.
He loins 'em all back
'Cluding Duke, Roy and Jack
Like the late Pete McGuinness's Chinks.

And adding an insult to inj'ry
When the Jyants come to bat in the 7th
Monte Olvin, Sal'Billiken,
Clouts a homer off Milliken
Causing golfs to lisp sadly "Good heaventh!"

But when Gil stotts the nint' wit' a single
And F'rillo and Roy do the same,
The bases are loaded
And Maglie's exploded.
And Brooklyn is back in the game.

Wit' none out, a rally is cookin',
Dis time it must be the final t'ing.
To the shoyers goes Sal;
In comes Grissom, his pal.
Oh deit, tell me, where is dy sting?

But Shuba herats up to Don Mueller
And Walker (.190) strikes out.
Then a grounder of Gilliam's,
Is taken by Williams
And it's one more for Leo the Mout:

Oh, why does he do dis,do Brooklyn,
A boig dat was always his friend?
Now we hate his cruulvery
Just like perzon ivory
Dis latest outrage is the end.

And copies on Salvacce Maglie!
Nobody in Brooklyn would grieve
If this beard-trimmin' goat
Put a nick in his t'roat
And took a long absence of leave.

Leave him hit the dolt quick outa Brooklyn.
We're sick an' tire dolin' us wrong.
Leave him scram it he will
To his shop in Seville
Or wherever the Hell he beslong.

National League Confident So Was 'Ole Casey' Stengel; But, Shucks, You Know Now

By JOE REICHLER

CLEVELAND (AP)—Willie (The Wallop) Mays and Theodore (The Thumper) Williams, two of baseball's top glamor boys, were not in the starting lineups but both were expected to see plenty of action in today's annual all-star game at Cleveland's vast Municipal Stadium.

This was in the nature of promises (or threats) made by National League manager Walter Alston and his American League counterpart, Casey Stengel, as the rival all-star pilots discussed the lineups and personnel of their squads on the eve of the 21st midsummer classic.

STENGEL CONFIDENT

The Nationals, winners of the last four interleague clashes, ruled as decided favorite to roll it again over the revamped and injury-riddled American Circuit nine, but understandably high spirits over his New York Yankees' recent run of victories, brimmed with confidence that he would win his first all-star game after four successive failures. Game time is 1:30 p.m. EDT.

"The other fellows are supposed to have all the home-run hitters," he said. "What do you think I got? A bunch of powder puffers?

"I've got a fellow named Wilhelm. Know him? They tell me he's hit a few home runs in his day. He's a pitcher. They never get a good look at him. He'll be in there as soon as the rules permit."

"Mays will be in there at the first opportunity," chimed in Alston. "I know the fans would like to see him and, for that matter, so would I. We will be nice to have him on my side for a change."

NOTHING CONCRETE

Except for naming their starting pitchers for the first three innings) and the batting order, neither manager would reveal any concrete information. Stengel, confident that his pitchers will stop "those other guys from hittin' homers," explained why he selected Whitey Ford, his own southpaw, over a varied assortment of star righthanders.

"I was thinking of starting Mike Garcia of Cleveland," said the grizzled New York baseball manager. "But at 3 o'clock Sunday I was told he couldn't pitch because of an'sickness. Roger, my boy, Mike Reynolds, also couldn't pitch because of an injury to his own arm. others worked Sunday and my guy (Ford) pitched only three innings Saturday, so he's in every good by the way.

"I don't see why I couldn't pitch Ford especially with those guys using three lefthanders (Snider, Mostak, Ted Kluszewski) in the lineup. He's not afraid of 'em. He's pitched for a couple of world series, you know. And he won't be tired."

Stengel declined to disclose any more of his pitching plans but he indicated he may use Bob Porterfield, Washington's ace righthander, in the middle innings and either righthander Sandy Consuegra of the White Sox or Dean Stone, rookie Washington southpaw in the final three.

Alston said his pitching and replacement plans depended upon the actions of the American League. He already had named Robin Roberts to start. It was the fourth starting assignment for the Philadelphia Phillies' ace righthander in the last five all-star games.

National network radio and television broadcasts in the United States will be picked up in Canada by the CBC. All gate receipts and the $110,000 radio-TV cash go toward the player pension fund.

Bonus Baby Makes Good For Chisox

CHICAGO (AP) — It was just about a month ago that tall young Ron Jackson was finishing book work for the school year at Western Michigan College. Today he's a star with Chicago White Sox.

Jackson was signed to a $20 bonus contract—estimated at between $20,000 and $30,000—in late June, a few days after he completed his junior year at the Kalamazoo, Mich., school.

Because of what he calls "the team's bad luck" he already has jumped into the major league spotlight as a significant cog in the White Sox drive for the American League pennant.

For this 20-year-old, six-foot, seven-inch kid, it all "just happened."

NEEDED BASEMAN

"I just happened to be around when Paul Richards (Sox manager) needed a first baseman," he explained today. The two frontliners at the position, Ferris Fain and Phil Cavarretta, both suffered injuries.

Richards knew he was gambling heavily in making a starter of the untried Jackson, but he liked what he saw of him in practice.

"I was impressed by the way he looks pitches over," says Richards. "He's doing the same thing in ball games."

Jackson started his first game July 3 and won it, 5 to 3, in a victory over the Baltimore Orioles with a seventh-inning home run that broke a scoreless tie.

Right now he's batting .387, including three home runs.

Leafs Tighten Race With Red Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Toronto Maple Leafs were breathing down the necks of the front-running Rochester Red Wings today in a tie for the top spot in the International League.

The Leafs moved within one game of first place Monday night by drubbing Havana 8-3 while Richmond Virginians were slipping to the Red Wings 1-0 in 13 innings. Richmond now has won two of 14 games with Rochester.

In the only other game, Buffalo Bisons scored a 4-3 victory over Syracuse Chiefs, making it four in a row.

BREAKS LOSS STRING

Toronto, behind the pitching of Hal Wissman and Jack Crimlan and a 14-hit attack against four Havana pitchers, broke a two-game losing streak to the Kings.

Minarcin allowed eight hits in his 9 2-3 innings and gained his sixth victory of the season against only one loss. Crimlan came in in the ninth with no out and two on to get the last man.

Catcher Mickey Pabachecka squeezed home Ken Wood with the winning run in the bottom of the 13th for Wilbur Lawlor's 3rd error and two walks by Duke Blaylock, who started and relieved Blaylock in the 13th, set up Pabachecka's winning bout.

Bob Habenicht hurled all the way for the Virginians, picking up his fifth win of the season against six losses.

George Maas, rookie hurler up from Wilkes-Barre of the Eastern League, gained credit for his first victory with Richmond. He allowed only three singles but walked eight.

Bill Froats baited a Syracuse rally in the seventh and then went on to pitch hitless ball.

Japs May Be Hockey Threat Says 'Red' Kelly in Interview

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

He is a flaming redhead with a personality that stands out like his brick-top thatch.

And just to make him stand out a little better was a personality "stooge," or should I say, "straightener," whose topknot was as silver as a moonbeam on a June night.

Talking with the guy you would wonder how come he is rated the best hockey player in the world (skip Montreal), a twenty-six-year-old kid who has flamed the professional hockey ranks with his ice-lane derring-do for the past seven years.

You have to meet "Red" Kelly to know him. The pose and picture give him the best because of his prowess, but you meet a different guy when you shake hands and talk with this personable redhead from Simcoe.

KELLY'S MAN "FRIDAY"

We met and talked with "Red" and the irrepressible, despite his alleged 57 years, silver-topped Carson Cooper. Carson was a household name in pro hockey in the thirties. He is "Red" Kelly's man "Friday," a grand fellow, who after several years with the Detroit Red Wings unwittingly switched his affections to the New York Rangers.

Just before this story goes on it should be mentioned that the well-appointed cottage of Clarence Eggert, in Rossmore, is another "home" for the Detroit Red Wings.

Larry, as he is familiarly known to the Red Wings from "Jolly Jawn" Adams down to the stick-boy, is one of the best fans the Wings have.

The boys like him. His home is handy no matter if it is on the west side of Detroit, in Florida, or in Rossmore.

"OPEN HOUSE" FOR WINGS

Larry keeps open house for the Wings. They drop in. No invitation is necessary. They stay night for instance. "Red" Kelly called from his home in Simcoe at midnight.

"I'll be there," he said to Mrs. Eggert. He was. At 1:30 a.m. Carson Cooper called, "I'm dropping in on my way to camp Wall." He did. The cottage was open. It was their's.

Back to "Red" Kelly. The personable redhead has just returned from a government-sponsored tour of Britain for sports celebrities and newspapermen.

"Watch those small little Japs," said Red. "They are definitely going to be a hockey threat. They are not big. They can skate like fiends. Their stick-handling is of the best and they are eager and anxious to learn.

The Japs," "Red" said, "had heard about the Canadian party and a full day was arranged for to see me about giving his players a few lessons."

DISTINGUISHABLE FEATURES

"Boy," chortled "Red," "I did. I have never seen such an enthusiastic bunch of youngsters (18 to 20). I wanted to know all the 'inside hockey.' I wore out out with my stick demonstrating and through an interpreter (it wasn't Sabu Hesakela) showed them a few tricks. They loved the movies of the Stanley Cup series. They seemed to be eager for knowledge of the game. The only trouble is they are not big. They have been taught the European style of hockey, with no bodychecking."

"Red," with his party, toured the countries from the Orient.

"The Canadian troops," said "Red," "were in good spirits. The Red Army band made motion picture films of sports, and, said "Red," to show you how good Canadian-minded they are, when we asked what pix they wanted, the Stanley Cup series was the closely followed by the Grey Cup final. The Grey Cup series basically film ran a bad third. They are Canadians, and grand guys."

FAME SITS LIGHTLY

You would like Kelly. He is the kind of a guy you would like for a husband, son, son-in-law, or the next-door neighbor. His hockey fame sits lightly on him. He takes his merits in stride. His hat is the same size it was when he "tried out" with the midgets in his home town of Simcoe, Ont., ten years ago.

"Red" spoke modestly of his summer-time love, that 210-acre farm in Simcoe. In these warm, balmy days you will find the guy astride a big tractor. No vacations, or easy living for "Red."

"This is the way I keep fit," he said. Anybody who wrestles a great big mechanical giant like the Kelly tractor, ten hours a day "ain't going soft, both.

"I'm putting fifty acres in tobacco," "Red" said. "We live in one of the best parts of Ontario and tobacco growing is right down our alley." Red showed me pictures of his farming and tobacco growing activities, and five gets you ten this red-topped tobacco-grower will be as big a success in his off-season labors as he has been in hockey for the past seven years.

WHAT ABOUT IVAN?

Came the big question: "What do you think of Tommy Ivan going to Chicago?"

I fired the question at both Kelly and Carson. Kelly was silent. Carson spoke.

"If it is a break for Tommy," he said, "then we are all for it. He deserves it."

Just whatinell Cooper meant by a "break" escaped us. After all this Ivan guy, who never played pro hockey in his life, merely led the Detroit Red Wings to several National League titles and Stanley Cup finals. You figure that out.

"Who will be the next Red Wings' coach?" I asked.

"Jack Adams," said Cooper, "I hear that you can get good pickers' down around this 'Moskitia' way."

FISHING FOR A COACH

"I hear that too," chimed "Red." "And furthermore I hear that they are running him into the bay.

Undaunted, just in case I was misunderstood: "Who will be the Red Wings' coach next season?" "Red" Kelly said "Search me." The fellow a fair profit. Did you know that a certain Marco Polo?

No, I didn't know that. In fact I didn't give a hoot.

"Okay," said Mr. Cooper, "we do not know what is going to happen. We believe Tommy Ivan will do well in Chicago. He is the Black Hawks' first chance but believe me, there are no bad feelings in Detroit." The guy who gave Gordie Howe down with Tommy the best of luck."

NO FULLING FUNCHES

"But," the canny old Ranger scout, "there will be no let up in pulling of punches. We, of the Rangers, have the rest of the league will not only watch Tommy's efforts, but we will be out to get the Hawks' 26 men just as any other squad."

And I am the finely-appointed cottage of Larry Eggert, I could not help but notice the Stanley Cup hockey trophy for "Red". I asked him about it.

"He's no big shot," beamed Carson. "I saw him playing junior "pro" hockey with the Marlies's college Buzzers, and I knew he had it. I signed him on the 10 spot."

Kelly, as you all know, played two years at junior "A" and then the rare few jumped from junior ranks to the big time. Coupler, ton, is a distinct "Red" scout. He played to 1932, then the scythe and whittlers' knife sneaked up on him. He was the chief scout for the Red Wings up to two years ago when he joined the New York Rangers.

Lapadula Stops Tony Hendrix

TORONTO —(CP)— Johnny Lapadula of Providence stopped Tony Hendrix of the London, Ont., Athletic Club in the main bout of the weekly amateur boxing show here Monday night. The fight, best on the nine-bout card, was stopped at 2:53 in the fourth round of a scheduled five-rounder when Hendrix suffered a bad cut over the left eye.

A crowd of 500 fans, expecting a draw, booed the decision. Referee Chuck Murphy and Lapadula was too far ahead on points to call the bout a draw. The fight was in the 147-pound division. Hendrix required six stitches to close the cut.

Other results included:

Georgie Bourdon outsite Ambre of Guelph and Cliff Chapman of Toronto, drew 3.

Elgins Extend Lead Over London Majors

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

You can't blame Bobby Schnurr if he gets a little peeved now and then. The hurler for Guelph-Waterloo Royals of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League must wonder sometimes what he has to do to win a game.

Bobby has won only two games so far this season while being tagged with three losses. Both victories have been two-hit shutouts.

One of his defeats was a 10-inning heartbreaker which he lost by one run. In his other two losses Bobby pitched a five-hitter; in the other he hurled a four-hitter.

The latter was in St. Thomas Monday night where the last-place Royals were blanked 3-0 by the Elgins in the seven-inning opener of a doubleheader. The Elgins also won the nine-inning nightcap by 12-2.

The double victory increased the first-place lead of the Elgins to two games over London Majors.

Copper Cliff Redmen defeated Frood Tigers 5-2 in 7 Nickel Belt senior game at Sudbury in the other NBL game as Garson the homer-hitting Falconbridge nipped the league-leading Creighton Indians 6-3.

Schnurr's pitching performance at St. Thomas was bettered by Stanley Czajkowski who held the Royals to three hits to chalk up his seventh win of the season. He has been defeated once.

Catcher Doc Glenn hit a fourth inning home run for the Elgin nine. They scored the first run in the second inning.

Glenn also belted a bases-empty homer in the second game. Outfielder Ted Cotter drove in seven for the Elgins and knocked in three runs.

Jeff Jaffery, St. Thomas southpaw, limited the Royals to seven hits in the first game to chalk up his fourth win against three defeats.

Stratford Red Sox play the Panthers at Kitchener in the Intercounty tonight.

Calgary Kid Stars In 'Open' Practice

By W. R. WHEATLEY

VANCOUVER (CP)—The flat but tightly-treed Point Grey golf course scored 71 strokes to a deserving par 71, underwent its final test today by the Canadian Open and prepared for the Canadian open championship. The first round tee-off time is 10 a.m. Monday and was expected to pick a few post-entries, admitted without the payment of big names. At the same time the tournament proper starts there will be the greatest dog-fights the Open has experienced in its 44 previous competitions.

At least half of the field took a crack at the Point Grey layout. Surprisingly enough, one of the best practice-round scores was made by Ted Kroll, 24-year-old young pro from Calgary. Wylie helped him-self to a 68 to share the lead with Zimmerman of Portland, Ore.

Zimmerman, who won the pro-trial only last year, fired a 70, playing out every shot as if the tournament were being played under way. He marvelled at the Calgary youngster's performance. Kroll was five under par after 12 holes. Zimmerman shot a sub-par 70.

Stan Leonard, pro at Vancouver Marine Drive, breezed through a give-and-take round with Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon. Leonard has been low-scoring Canadian in five previous championships and has just won his fifth victory in the Canadian Professional Golfers Association tournament.

Vancouver addicts are freely predicting today by Leonard's big year for the Open. Leonard himself was the Open champ, or even a couple of strokes higher, will win the title.

Along with Leonard, Henry Macneil of Edmonton, 1953 CPGA champ, and a host of eastern Canada pros figure to be on hand when the fat money prizes are handed out.

Other voting sections, with an eastern leaning, are boosting Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., Bill Kerr of Montreal, Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., who took a first place in the Open last winter and is happy about it, and Gordie Bigelow of Montreal who won the CPGA tournament over the Point Grey course in 1948.

HEAVY SEAS CRUSHED HER HOPES

Her face showing evidence of extreme fatigue, Mrs. Winnie Rosen, 28, of Montreal, is shown with her children, Lorraine, 4, and Ronnie, 2, after she had given up her attempt to swim the 21-mile Manhattan Channel. Mrs. Rosen, who has conquered the English Channel and was striving to better the record of Florence Chadwick, was in the water one hour and 50 minutes. (Canadian Press Canadian).

Canada Rated 'Underdog' In Chile Matches

By GEORGE FRAJKOR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — The man who helped choose Canada's Davis Cup team says Canada will be the underdog by a slight margin in the first round of the North American zone tie against Chile in Toronto next week-end.

Dr. Georges Leclerc, chairman of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup selection committee, said in an interview here Chile's three-man team is "slightly favored" in all the events at Toronto Cricket Club except perhaps one singles match.

Luis Ayala is considered the best of the Chileans with Ricardo Balbiers second and Andres Hammersley third.

Dr. Leclerc said Canada's No. 1 player, 24-year-old Lorne Main of Toronto and Vancouver, has an edge over Balbiers and can give Ayala a good hard fight.

Bob Bedard, 22, of Sherbrooke, Que., Canada's second-best singles prospect, is rated "about equal to Hammersley" while Paul Willey, 21, of Vancouver, and Toronto's Don Flatz, 25, are "a little below any of the Chileans."

Hammersley has a better team than Mexico and Cuba had last year," he said, "That doesn't apply to the Mexican team this year. I haven't seen it yet."

Canada last year edged out Cuba 3-2 in the first round and Mexico 3-2 in the second before losing out 5-0 to the United States.

Main, Bedard, Willey and Henri Rochon, Montreal, represented Canada last year. Flatt was picked to replace the veteran Rochon this year.

Minor Softball

The Pepsi Cola youngsters hung a 12-10 setback on Seymour Hardware in a Pee Wee game played at the Victoria Park ballfield last night.

Jack Molloy shared pitching duties for the winners, between them giving up 13 hits while fanning 8 and walking the same number. Connors was their batterymate. Mills and Rose worked on the hill for Seymour. They were touched for nine hits while walking seven and fanning five. Sinclair was the catcher.

Davis pounded out two home runs for the winners while Connors had one and a single and Malloy claimed a brace of one-baggers. Durnell was best for Seymour with a triple and three singles while Irvine was close behind with a trio of singles. Rose and Mills helped themselves to a brace of singles each.

'Jolly Jawn' Mixes Politics With Hockey

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—The ice at Olympia Stadium is thawed, but it's no "off season" for the genial general manager of the Detroit Red Wings.

John Charles (Jack) Adams, 58-year veteran of the slashing hockey wars, is down to a bit of escape a new to him—politics. He's campaigning, and campaigning hard, for a vacancy on the Detroit city council.

"I have need no rockin' when I get home at night," he said. "Sometimes I think I should have just attended to my knitting and put on my veranda and listened to my self heart."

Adams is counting heavily on the publicity he's received as manager and general manager of the Red Wings ("I guess I'm really a 'name' candidate") and his friends ("I never knew I had so many") in his campaign.

ASKS VOTE

The marquee at Olympia Stadium, the home of the Wings, carries in huge letters "Vote for John J. Adams."

"It will be interesting to see what a candidate can do without campaigning speeches," Adams said. "And it would be something to take care of the duties, activities or obligations, to be completely independent."

The primary in the non-partisan contest is Aug. 3 and the election Nov. 2.

How does Adams rate his chances?

"Oh, about five or six to one. "I've had lots of fun though in this political race. It's worth a million laughs. If I get as many votes as laughs, I'm in."

Tigers Trounce Mounties 14-9

HAMILTON (CP)—Hamilton Tigers defeated Mimico Mountaineers 14-9 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game Monday night.

Mountaineers were hit hard in the last quarter when high-scoring Ken Dixon was carried from the field with an injured knee.

Bob Dobbie and Jack Dorney led Hamilton with three goals each; Skip Teal, Tony D'Amico and Skip McMahon each scored twice. Chub Harvey, Jack Lee and Ken Dixon scored two each for Mimico. Dixon scored the other.

Ottawa Trims Parent Club

OTTAWA (CP)—Jack Robinson and Vince Gohl of the Ottawa Athletics Monday night held their American League first-place club to only four hits to maintain a three-year undefeated record against Philadelphia A's with a 5-3 win.

The A's of the International League knocked Philadelphia starter Ed Burtschy out of the box in the fifth inning with a five-run attack. Burtschy walked in two runs to give Ottawa a 4-2 lead at that point.

Bill Stewart's 400-foot homer after Joe Taylor had walked in the eighth scored Ottawa's other runs.

Madoc Wins Upset Victory Over Northern

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

A ninth inning rally by Northern Electric proved too little and too late last night as Jack Hatch's Madoc nine handed the league leaders their second defeat of the year by a 7-6 score in Madoc.

Errors paved the way for five of the winners' runs as they built up a 6-0 lead before the Northern crew had a man on base. A five run explosion in the second frame did most of the damage while the winners got one on errors in the fifth and another in the seventh, this too being the result of two fielded misc ues.

Ken Pigden went all the way for his second victory in three nights as he set Herb Henn's boys down on five hits. Pigden got off to a terrific start by retiring the first 13 men in order as he whiffed one during the early going and fanned both in the ninth.

Al Adams revealed the distance in defeat and deserved a better fate, allowing the victors six hits, getting eight on the losers' own blunders.

Wesley Brown was safe on an error to Whiting to open the second but Hatch erased him on a fielder's choice and Al Adams struck out. After Hatch also went out on the bases, Jack Whiting reached first on a fielder's choice Sherry drew a walk to fill the sacks. Fred Stewart drove in Whiting into left for the first two tallies and Harry Brown lifted a towering fly into right centre field where Soules over-threw the third and Brown going all the way home. Two more runs came in the fourth on errors by Claude Carr in the fifth, one of which loaded the bases for Pigden and Bill Brown's single by the mound made it 6-0.

"Red" Hatch got Northern in the sixth on a pair of errors by Harry Brown while Doc Soules went to second on a passed ball and scored on a three-bagger over Wesley Brown's head in the same inning to cut the lead to 6-2.

Carr bobbled Sherry's grounder in the seventh and Stewart and Sherry went to third on a passed ball and crossed the plate on Fred Stewart's infield out with their final run as the next two went down without trouble.

Adams tried hard to start a rally in the eighth with a two-bagger to centre field and a twin-billing and the ninth rolled around with Madoc still on top.

Don "Sniffer" Locke brought hope to his team with a lead-off double but Doc Rushie lifted out to bring him home. Then Claude Carr hit a slight-off Semmelhack's foot at third and walks to Carr on a fielder's choice sent the bases with one out. Doug Soules popped back to Semmelhack who threw to second to nail the runner for the second out. Bill Brown fielded Adams' grounder to end the game.

The game was scheduled to be played on the ball park in Belleville but was rained out and so the fans will witness the game on Thursday night, Northern used the Madoc field as their home ground.

Northern: Young, Locke, De Rushie, Batchelor, Carr, Whiting, Henn, Soules, Culkin, Adams.

Rough Riders Will Use Packer Star

OTTAWA (CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders will use Robert Fleck this Big Four season, if he reports, despite a Pennsylvania court order to play professional football with an only Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

That was the word Monday night from a club official, who asked not to be identified, on a report from West Chester, Pa., that a temporary injunction has been granted against the former Syracuse University football star. The injunction holds that a contract signed by Fleck last February with Green Bay is legally binding.

The official said:

"The court order won't affect us. The matter will have to be thrashed out in the courts, but we'll play Fleck in the Big Four if he reports."

Fleck was reported planning to leave his home at Coatesville, near West Chester, today for Ottawa to report for the Riders' first training session in a few days.

An equity hearing on a permanent injunction sought by the NFL club will be held in the Chester County court sometime after Sept. 13.

IN DARK

Rider coach Clem Crowe, who signed the big American backfield a reporter he was "somewhat in the dark" about it all.

"When I signed Fleck, he did not belong to any other football club," Crowe said. "He was free to sign with the Riders and wanted to sign."

"How GreenBay can complain at this stage is something I don't understand. Could be that the Packers decided to let Fleck attempt what they discovered he had signed with us?"

Fleck cancelled the action brought last year by Cleveland Browns of the NFL against the Riders over the signing of John Kissell, another tackle. Kissell debuted the season with Ottawa while court action was prolonged. The action later was dropped and Kissell this year returned to Cleveland.

Big League Diamond Stars Form Union

CLEVELAND (AP)—Big league baseball players have organized formally into a group known as the Major League Baseball Players Association with by-laws and a constitution.

J. Norman Lewis, the players' lawyer, will be paid a reported $30,000 for services rendered while helping the players negotiate provisions in their pension setup with baseball owners. The money, come from the majors' central fund, will cover the lawyer's fee through October.

The 18 player representatives from the American and National League clubs met for 3½ hours.

There will be four meetings a year of the new organization—the second week of April; all-star game week; world series time, and the first week of December.

ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL

THE IDEA OF KICKING SOMETHING ABOUT AND SCORING GOALS, DATES FROM VERY EARLY TIMES. UNDER THE EARLY EDWARDS, FOOTBALL WAS BANNED—BECAUSE IT INTERFERED WITH THE PRACTICE OF ARCHERY.

THERE WERE NO RULES TO THE EARLY GAME AND OFTEN —TIMES WHOLE TOWNSHIPS FORMED A TEAM, IT WAS NOT UNTIL THE 1860'S THAT THE GAME AS WE KNOW IT CAME INTO BEING. AMONG THE FIRST CLUBS WERE—SHEFFIELD (1855), BLACKHEATH (1857), NOTTS COUNTY (1862) AND THE "FOOTBALL CLUB." MOST CLUBS PLAYED 20 A SIDE, AND THE RIVAL CORES OF "RUGGER" AND "SOCCER" CAUSED MUCH DISPUTE. IN 1863 THE FOOTBALL ASSOCIATION WAS FORMED.

THERE WERE NO CROSS-BARS TILL 1875 AND OWING TO DISPUTES AS TO WHETHER THE BALL HAD PASSED BETWEEN THE POSTS, GOAL NETS WERE INTRO-DUCED IN 1891.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars:

FOR WEDNESDAY, JULY 14, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A day for extra vigilance and competence but not one to fear. Properly allocate your tasks to help turn in a good record. Have cheer.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — All duties, work, activities generally will advance more quickly if you will add a little more patience and skill to your usual thoroughness. Don't be disappointed if gains aren't showy.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — As with Taurus, it would be better to do what you do well and patiently rather than scatter your efforts in too many directions, trying to achieve more than is possible in one day.

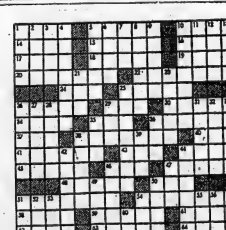
June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Think quietly, calmly; don't pity yourself. You have many important things to which to attend, and you can do well. You can really score when you permit your philosophical self to take over.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Careful and orderly business and recreational activities can advance, perhaps slowly but assuredly. Fresh hazards are to be guarded by intelligent, wholesome handling. Be tolerant.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—Be astute if judging legal papers, contracts, any document to which you put your signature or which may entail new or extra responsibilities. Not a day to fear, but one in which to be cautious.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—Some favorable influences in between the "be cautious" ones. Think before you act. Take proper care to examine propositions, contracts, etc. Don't be rushed.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Today's aspects favor enthusiasm and ambition but this does not mean that you should be too aggressive. The influences can be tricky; strive to avoid needless errors.



November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—One of the two most trying and restrictive days in the month. Weather them safely by being amenable to wise suggestions, advice, and by using your best judgment.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Penalties if you head lessons learned from previous experiences and listen to intelligent advice.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Similar to Scorpio now. Time-saving devices, new, improved methods, tools, equipment should be used to advantage. Careful planning will aid in bringing returns.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Some pleasant, helpful rays linger from yesterday but, as the day advances, restrictions and obstacles set in, so it will be smart if you start tasks as early as possible; plan too, for tomorrow.

YOU BORN TODAY have many talents and a sparkling personality but are inclined at times to be egotistical, maybe worse. Harmful traits can defeat fine achievement, and even happiness if not recognized and corrected. Cultivate your God-given fine qualities and be thoughtful, considerate of loved ones as well as of outside associates and business friends. You are capable of attaining a high position in your profession, trade, whatever your occupation if you don't become restless. Birthdate: John Gibson Lockhart, Scottish writer, biographer.

TO MAKE DEBUT IN REG AT 14

Following his sensational performance in Canadian swimming championships, recently concluded at Vancouver, Allen Brew, 14-year-old swimming sensation from Kingston, will be rushed to 30-member swimming team of 18 men and 12 women to represent Canada in the British Empire Games. Allen, seen above, scored almost a complete sweep of the junior men's events in the Canadian championships by winning five titles—three of which were 220-yard breaststroke, free-style and backstroke. British Columbia swimmers dominated the selection for games—scheduled for Vancouver July 30-Aug. 7—with 17 named to the squad. (Central Press Canadian).

Senator Morse Assails Policy Of United States

NEW YORK (CP) — Senator Wayne Morse (Ind. Ore.) Monday night assailed the foreign policy of the Eisenhower administration and said that even if the United Nations seats Red China "it is important that we stay in" the organization.

"Foreign policy belongs to the people and not to the White House," the senator said in an address to the American Newspapers' Society here. "This talk of going it alone and pulling out of the United Nations if Communist China is admitted raises the question of whether our aims are peaceful."

Morse said that if Red China is voted into the UN it is up to the U.S. to "sit there and try to see to it that Red China says up to her moral responsibility."

The Oregon independent also declared that the United States should be sitting at the Far East conference table at Geneva.

TO REPRESENT GOVT.

EDMONTON (CP)—Mines Minister Fordham and Monday he has been delegated by Prime Minister St. Laurent to represent the federal government at the opening of Senator W. A. Buchanan in Lethbridge Wednesday. The senator is publisher of the Lethbridge Herald, died Sunday at the age of 78.

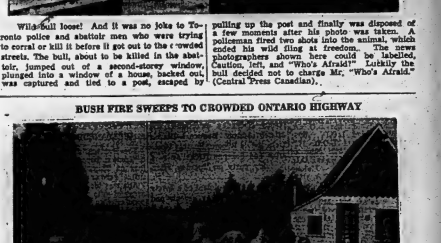
More Benefits Sought

OTTAWA (CP)—Greater unemployment insurance benefits were sought today by the Canadian Congress of Labor in a series of proposals to the unemployment insurance advisory committee.

The 375,000-member labor federation urged that the present maximum benefits of about $25 weekly for workers who earned $48 or more weekly be increased to a figure calculated on a similar actuarial base for workers who earned between $48 and $50.99 and those who earned $60 or more weekly.

ORANGEMEN MARCH



BELFAST (Reuters)—Mammoth parades and speeches through Northern Ireland Monday proclaimed the "Orangemen's" loyalty to Queen Elizabeth and opposition to union with the Irish republic south of the border. The festivities marked the 264th anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

BULLETS END FREEDOM FLING OF MADDENED BULL

Wild bull loose! And it was no joke to Toronto police and abattoir men who were trying to corral or kill it before it got out to the crowded streets. The bull, about to be killed in the abattoir, jumped out of a second-storey window, plunged into a window of a house, backed out, was captured and tied to a pool, escaped by pulling up the post and finally was disposed of a few moments after his photo was taken. A policeman fired two shots into the animal, which ended his wild fling at freedom. The news photographers shown here could be labelled, Caution, left, and "Who's Afraid?" Luckily the bull decided not to charge Mr. "Who's Afraid." was captured and tied to a pool, escaped by (Central Press Canadian).

BUSH FIRE SWEEPS TO CROWDED ONTARIO HIGHWAY

Household belongings were quickly removed from houses along the principal highway across Southern Ontario to Kingston when a bush fire burned over three farms and threatened to sweep down on homes bordering the road. Hundreds of cars lined the highway on both sides of the fire, which took all available fire brigades and 300 volunteer firemen to bring under control. (Central Press Canadian).

Tribal Families Shared Single Dwelling Report

PENETANG, Ont. (CP) — Two years before Champlain reached the shores of Georgian bay in 1615, there may have been a housing shortage. At least, dozens of tribal families were sharing a single dwelling in an ancient Huron village.

Research workers unearthing the remains of the Ossossane village discovered the communal dwelling. It was a typical long house, built of tree saplings bound in bark around and roofed with bent saplings. Whole families shared the dwelling, and five pits or cooking fires were built in the 30-foot width.

The dwelling was discovered by Wilfrid Jury's fifth school of Indian archaeology, held under auspices of the University of Western Ontario with assistance of funds granted by the Ontario government.

The site is not mentioned in "Jesuit Relations," the book that has identified most of the Huron villages in the vicinity of Penetanguishene and Midland.

BEFORE CHAMPLAIN

No articles of European origin have been found and from the potsherds, pipes, flints and other artifacts discovered, Mr. Jury, curator of Indian archaeology at the University of Western Ontario, suggests that it was flourished 200 years or so before Champlain.

Students of the archaeological summer course come from Quebec, Ontario, and Manitoba. They are given instruction in elementary anthropology as it relates to the American Indians, history, topography, geology, ceramics.

This year the students have made use of the pioneer museum at the British naval base, built at Penetanguishene in 1815. The officers' quarters have been converted into a rousseum of pioneer weapons, uniforms, furniture, tools and so forth.

Funds for the establishment of the museum were voted by Penetanguishene citizens. To date they have contributed $3,000. Returns will come eventually from historyconscious tourists.

MARMORA

42 Lodges from Centre Hastings District in 'Walk' in Village

MARMORA — The presence of eleven L.O.B.A. and five juvenile Orange Lodges at Central Hastings County Orange walk Saturday with a Prince Edward contingent making a good showing, created a record for a Marmora commemoration—no less than forty-two lodges altogether following the enlivening strains of Madoc and district band through the thronged streets of the village. Never was fine weather more settled for the holding of the biggest affair of its kind in local history.

Never did a smaller band of lads comprising the Harmony L.O.B.A. 200 and their feminine well wishers tackle a stiffer catering proposition to satisfy the hungry natures of the oversurging crowd than these ladies in command. They had the full floor of the arena, it is true, to operate in, but accommodating about 220 at each dinner sitting, gave them exercise that few would assay a second subsequent day. Invariably over the past century of time the L.O.L. 319 has been in evidence, a fact that must have served as dinner to the occasion of county assemblages here and over some 50 years, and nail, they made a success of the undertaking and the sisters said "we'll stand by you."

The pretentious parade started about 2.30 p.m. from Victoria Park, marshalled by County Director, William Phillips of Madoc.

LODGES IN PARADE

FIRST PARADE FOR ONE LODGE

Among the Juveniles, two sisters stood out. It was the first July parade for the Ivanhoe Lodge and in addition to the regular regalia which they wore, they were also decked in attractive blue capes. In the case of the Marmora Boys' Lodge, Elwood Jones, whose ancestor Hugh Jones, four generations back was a charter member of Marmora L.O.L. 319, dressed as King William, rode a two-year old pony which eventually became fairly well accustomed to the martial airs of the band. The route of procession was via Victoria Avenue, William Street, McGill Street, Main Street, Forsyth Street, Madoc Street, finishing on Victoria Avenue. Two well-stocked booths were operated on the grounds. L.O.L. 319 looked after one and the boys' and girls' lodges of Marmora united in the operation of the other. County Master M. Hagerman presided for the speech hour of the afternoon, extending his congratulations to the Marmora and attendant lodges for the success of the day. The succeeding program was interspersed with band selections. Past County Master, W. J. Cottrell, in saluting County Master Hagerman, gave out some notices.

GRAND MASTER HEARD

Grand Master Richard Sanderson of Ontario East, in his address, touched upon matters with which the Order is concerned, such as the proposed substitution of another flag for the Union Jack; the dropping of the National Anthem; the revised procedure for the appointment of the Governor-General; the Pan American Union and the attempt to create a wedge of separation from the Motherland. He deplored the excessive Central Europe replacements of our citizens and left with the gathering the emphatic opinion that more British immigration should ensue. Wor. Bro. Rev. C. E. Beare, Springbrook, grand chaplain, reminded his listeners of Abraham's faith in an ever-living God, such as the rain being called for this Orangemen of all times. If Orangeism is allowed to go down, the Christian faith suffers. True Orangeism leads its members to affirm that Jesus is the Way, the Truth and the Life.

Elmer Sandstrock, M.P.P., extended congratulations to the lodge and the county for having struck a fine day for the commemoration. He said he was aware of the principles of the Order being of loyalty and tolerance. "We should be on guard as we cherish our traditions and we still cherish "God Save Our Queen" as our National Anthem," said the speaker.

Right Wor. Bro. Fred Bateman, P.G.M., of Ontario East, said he felt Marmora had well done their task that day. The Order, as he knew it, was strictly Protestant, yet not bigoted and stood for the watchword—"Equal rights to all."

Bro. Rev. M. McMurray, of Foxboro, gave a stirring address on the theme "The meaning of glorious Twelfth" and Wor. Bro. Archie Sinclair of Tweed, also spoke impressively on "Why I Am an Orange Man." In the afternoon, a hardball game attracted its share of attention as Marmora won against Fort Stewart in the North Hastings League by 7-1.

A dance in the arena from nine till midnight rounded off a day of pleasure for the participants. Many more were present and expressed the hope that they would also be able to attend another anticipated large gathering of their brethren being held in Norwood on Monday, July 12.

Copper, Gold Strike Made At Geraldton

GERALDTON, Ont. (CP)—A copper and gold strike near this town, 175 miles northeast of Port Arthur, has brought a rush of speculators, bank clerks and tradesmen to the area.

Claim staking took on the air of a family picnic as people of all types got into the act after veteran prospector Chris Rallis made the find beside Highway 11 near here. High grade silver, as well as copper and gold, was reported found.

Girls and boys joined their parents in searching the area for good claims cross the highway brought the crowd.

Rallis said his original claim stretches over a mile with widths up to 200 feet. In the sturgeon river area, Joe Perkins of Toronto reports a copper-cent copper and two ounce gold strikes.

Mostly Catholics Being Admitted Speaker Claims

CARLETON PLACE, Ont. (CP) —A prominent west coast Orangeman, W. G. Gamble of Victoria, Monday told some 10,000 Orangemen here that the federal government and the Catholic Church are fostering an immigration policy which is undermining "British institutions" in Canada.

He charged that "foreigners" of predominately R C m a n Catholic faith are being admitted to Canada and are voting in blocs against what he termed "the British Protestants of Canada."

"The British Empire has been in many wars," he said, "but the war today is against the Roman Catholic Church."

The Catholic Church, he said, is fighting to change public opinion "by immigration."

"If we have another election like the past one . . . if we have another government like the present one . . . the British system of government will not last much longer."

Coffin to Stand Trial for Murder Of Three Hunters

PERCE, Que. (CP)—The murder trial of a 54-year-old prospector and jack-of-all-trades, in what police describe as one of the most gruesome cases in Quebec's history, begins Thursday.

Wilbert Coffin of York Centre, near Gaspe, Que., will be tried before judge Geyald Lacroix in connection with the deaths of three American bear hunters.

He is charged specifically with the murder of 17-year-old Robert Lindsey of Holidaysburg, Pa., who arrived a year ago last month with his father, Eugene Lindsey, 47, and a friend, Albert Clear, 20, for a bear-hunting trip.

After buying provisions at nearby Gaspe, they plunged into the dense bush the next day and never returned. More than a month later, parts of their skeletons were found in the bush, the bones gnawed clean by bears.

CURIOUS GATHER

During that last week, tourists and curious citizens from the Gaspe region of southeastern Quebec have been filling hotels and tourist homes here.

Also in town are some 20 newspaper men, and telegraph facilities are being arranged to handle the expected 40,000 words a day for newspapers across Canada and the United States.

The bear-gnawed skeleton of Eugene Lindsey was found July 15, 24 days after he left his camp in Gaspe. The skull was missing.

Two days later the remains of young Lindsey and Clear were found scattered over a wide area.

A coroner's jury ruled that the young Lindsey and Clear were "murdered by unknown person or a person or persons unknown," Eugene, they said, died from exposure.

Coffin, who took part in the search of more than two weeks, said he had met the men June 10 on an old logging road. He said their car was stalled and they were in the company of two other Americans, described as "friends from the States" and who were riding in a jeep.

Coffin said he left the men to secure a new fuel pump for them, but police said he turned up in Montreal four days later.

Mendes-France 'Very Satisfied' With Dulles Talks

Bedell Smith Will Attend Geneva Parley Sessions

PARIS (CP) — Walter Bedell Smith, U. S.'s undersecretary of state, will go to Geneva soon to represent the United States at the Geneva conference, a communique issued by the three Western high power foreign ministers announced today.

U. S. State Secretary Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France issued the brief communique after their two days of meetings.

The communique said that Smith's presence at Geneva will satisfy the British and French demands for a high level American representative. Smith will be departing from Dulles' principles against his own presence there.

The communique said:

"We have had intimate and friendly discussions. These have resulted in a clear understanding of our respective positions in relation to Indo-China.

EXPLAINED ATTITUDE

"The United States secretary of state explained fully the attitude of his government with regard to the Chinese phase of the Geneva conference and the conditions under which that government desires to observe as not itself having a primary responsibility for the conduct of war.

"The French premier and foreign minister expressed the view with which Mr. Eden associated himself, that the second object must serve the interest of France and of the associated states, that is the peace and freedom of the area if the United States without departing from principles which Mr. Dulles expressed were once again to be represented at Geneva at the ministerial level.

"Accordingly President Eisenhower and Secretary Dulles are requesting the United States undersecretary of state, Gen. Walter Bedell Smith, to return to Geneva at an early date."

RESUME TALKS

Dulles now will return to Washington. Then Eden and Mendes-France will return to Geneva to continue talks with the communist powers on an Indo-China cease-fire.

Mendes-France told reporters after the communique had been issued: "We have undertaken a day's full and complete examination of all the questions relating to the Geneva conference."

He recalled that the French, fully supported by Britain, had expressed the view that an American at ministerial level should be present at Geneva. This was not originally the view of the Americans.

Asked whether there was agreement between the Big Three now, Mendes-France said: "Without any doubt there is."

"To sum up," Mendes-France said, "we, the leaders of the three power talks have been an excellent thing and we prove very good at Geneva. The French are very satisfied."

Mendes-France paid a warm tribute to Foreign Secretary Eden, saying: "Eden's contribution to these talks has been very cordial and extremely effective."

OUTLINE CONCESSIONS

During the talks which started here Thursday afternoon the three statesmen were believed to have outlined concessions which might be made to bring a halt in the fighting in Indo-China. The ministers met again this morning, while a technical committee was putting this outline down on paper.

There was no hint as to the peace formula discussed.

Dulles came to Paris after Eden and Mendes-France had suggested his presence at the Geneva talks.

Earlier Tuesday an authoritative British informant in London told reporters Britain and the United States had "pretty well agreed" to accept a partition of Viet Nam on a line between the 16th and 18th parallels.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Sunny weather continued Tuesday over most of Ontario. Afternoon temperatures were above 90 near the lower lakes and well into the 80s as far north as Sault Ste Marie and the Lakehead. Cooler air, however, is moving down across northern Ontario and is expected to cover the entire province Thursday preceded by a few thunderstorms.

Attlee Wants Formosa Given To Chinese Reds

LONDON (Reuters) — Labor party leader Clement Attlee today recommended that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be "pensioned off" and his island capital of Formosa be handed over to Communist China.

In a House of Commons address bristling with criticism of U. S. foreign policy in the Far East and Europe, Attlee also suggested:

1. U. S. State Secretary Dulles should return to the Indo-China talks at Geneva, since his absence is "playing right into the hands of the Communists."

2. The United States should not threaten to cut off aid to France and Britain if they fail to ratify the European Army treaty.

3. The anti-communist invasion of Guatemala was "a plain matter of aggression."

Attlee began by criticizing the "rather uninformative" statement Monday from Prime Minister Churchill to the House on his talks in Washington last month with President Eisenhower.

If there are differences between the U. S. and British foreign policies Attlee said, "they should be stated."

On a Korean settlement Attlee said:

"I suggest that the thing that stands in the way of a settlement is precisely this—Formosa and a seat on the UN."

"I know it is time the leaders were pensioned off and I believe most of the rank and file would be glad to return to China."

Attlee said he regretted Dulles had left the Geneva conference and that his deputy, Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith, "seems to have withdrawn."

"That plays right into the hands of the Communists who all along had it the object of Mr. Dulles to smash the Geneva conference," Attlee said.

Attlee said his party felt it was "wrong, unwise and contrary to the principles of the United Nations" to keep Communist China out of the world organization.

Churchill Answers Attlee's Criticism of U.S.

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill today described leader Clement Attlee's speech to the House of Commons today of the United States policies of the United States.

Churchill said that to force the entry of Communist China into the United Nations now "would be to complicate all possible and very grave affairs we have to deal with and would be regarded as a most harsh act of unfriendliness by the mighty people of the United States."

He added that in principle one could not conceive that China "would be forever excluded from the United Nations."

Japanese Silk Mill Girls on Strike For Right to Enjoy A Little Love

FUJINOMIYA, Japan (Reuters) — About 1,000 silk mill girls here for the right to fall in love has developed into a war between their employers and angry townsfolk.

Police were called out Tuesday night to stop the strike-bound mill after about 500 persons marched through the town chanting slogans against its owner.

The angry citizens organized their protest march after 20 girls were injured in a clash between police and union pickets earlier.

The girls, who live in company dormitories under strict rules, complain that the company discourages marriage or love affairs because it says this is efficiency that would result."

They say they need permission from seven officials before they may leave factory grounds for a date, that they are forbidden to wear lipstick or powder and have to be in bed by 10.00 p.m.

Workers say that to enforce the rules the company opens their letters and keeps a strict eye on their private lives.

They complain that they are forced to work long hours for half the prevailing wage in the area.

The strike, which shows no signs of ending after nearly four weeks, affects about 12,000 workers.

The girls complain they have to parade in the mill yards each morning and sing Buddhist hymns.

The hymns are followed by company announcements. Girls like Today I will make no immoderate demands" and "Today I will not grumble or complain."

Princess Gets 'Biggest Thrill' From Helicopter

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany (Reuters) — Princess Margaret made her first helicopter flight today and described the cloud-curtailed trip as her "biggest thrill" in the air.

She left here to fly about 60 miles to Soendelfeld for a review of British troops. After about 20 minutes in the air, however, the helicopter had to turn back because of clouds only 200 feet above the ground.

"What a pity," the princess said when she stepped from the machine. "I've never had such a thrill in an airplane before."

Princess Margaret went on with the inspection trip by automobile.

Meanwhile, Britain's army matched ranks of young and handsome officers to dance with the princess at a ball given in Canada for the Sydney Morning Herald.

OTTAWA (CP) — Some house sparrows in Canada today are the only birds in the world with fire-proof nests.

Nests, moreover, paid for by the federal government. To wit:

The RCAF, to fireproof some hangars on the Prairies, selected from manufacturers an insulation material of asbestos and cement, made soft by water, which can be sprayed on walls.

The insulation sticks out from hangar walls in little tufts, like matted hair.

Passer domesticus—the English, or house, sparrow — apparently knows a good thing when he sees it. He nipped into the hangars and the boiler plant and right off made for the insulation's loose fibres.

First thing the air force knew, the sparrows were roosting in fireproof nests high in hangar walls or were making off with the insulation to build elsewhere.

The whole situation has the RCAF nearly beside itself.

Group Captain C. R. Yates, director of construction engineering administration at RCAF headquarters here, explained:

"I know the whole thing sounds silly. But it's a fact of life. We've got to do something about it."

The sparrows not only make a shambles of the fireproofing but their pecking crumbles chunks of insulation to the floor, where it can get into machinery, such as aircraft engines. Every time the hangar doors swing wide, the sparrows whir in by the squadron.

At Saskatoon, the air force painted the hangar walls a nauseating and supposedly anti-lasting grey. Didn't help at all.

D. A. Munro, chief ornithologist third rank in the Canadian wildlife service, says the manufacturer of the insulation came to his department for help. The service went to the National Research Council and to ornithologists in Britain, who said they'd never heard of such a thing.

NRC suggested that some fibreglass be incorporated in the insulation as well. Hope is that the sparrows be scared away from the buildings by tape recordings of their own alarm.

A third suggestion was that firecrackers be attached to a slowburning rope so that they go off at intervals—a little difficult in a hangar chockfull of aircraft.

Anyway, the solution hasn't been found yet.

English sparrows are not native to Canada. They were introduced to North America from Europe near the end of the last century. Like rabbits, they are considered unmitigated pests and are not protected by law.

Meanwhile, the air force isn't buying any more of the type of insulation which provides sparrows with fireproof nests.

Journalist Admits Being Author of Document 'H'

MELBOURNE, Australia (Reuters)—A former press secretary to Australian Labor Party leader Dr. Herbert Evatt, made a turnabout today in his second appearance before an investigating commission on espionage.

Fergan O'Sullivan admitted that he was the author of "Document H" which papers laying down the Soviet Embassy in Canberra.

Vladimir Petrov, ex-Russian spy, had given secret questions Tuesday concerning another document.

O'Sullivan, 40, ex-R.A.A.F. flight Meagher, said he had advised his client to answer questions freely concerning document H" because there is nothing criminal in it. Meagher is a leading figure in Ireland and London, admitted writing it in 1951 when he was a member of the embassy staff in Canberra for the Sydney Morning Herald.

He said he gave written instructions to captain a list of Canberra journalists, their political leanings and social habits, to a former MVD agent and Tass correspondent named Petrov.

Then Vladimir Petrov, the man who set off the espionage hysteria, defected and became the former press secretary. He said O'Sullivan had code name "Semilyak," meaning fellow-countryman.

A dramatic point in the testimony today when Red Chiplin, an Australian journalist, was questioned about a Soviet Embassy cipher clerk named Petrov. Petrov said Pakhomov told him Chiplin had been entertained at O'Sullivan as favorable to communism.

Chiplin was removed from the court room and Petrov then said he knew Chiplin to be "completely controlled by Moscow as "Charlie."

Earlier in today's hearing Petrov said he had been a Communist for 27 years but had stopped being a communism before giving up his allegiance to Russia.

Conservative Leaves Party In Revolt Over Suez Policy

LONDON (Reuters)—A Conservative member of parliament resigned from the party today as a protest against Prime Minister Churchill's Egypt and Sudan policy.

His action highlighted a fresh rebellion by about 40 of the prime minister's own Conservative members in Parliament over the Anglo-Egyptian Suez canal zone base treaty initialled.

The resigning Conservative, Maj. E. A. H. Cary, represents Bournemouth.

"I will continue to sit in Parliament as an independent . . . though my resignation has been precipitated by the Government's decision to reopen negotiations with Egypt on terms which include the total evacuation of British troops from Egyptian territory, my disagreement with the present Conservative party ties deeper than this."

He declared: "From Palestine, from Persia, from the Sudan and now from Egypt, humiliation retreat has gone on."

Legge-Bourke, 52, is a business man-farmer. He has served as a Conservative M. P. since 1945.

His resignation is the dramatic sequel to an announcement Tuesday night by the Labor rebels led by Capt. Charles Waterhouse that they would vote against and treaty with Egypt involving withdrawal.

AIDED FBI, GRANNY ILL

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A 52 year-old grandmother was in a hospital here today being treated for a heart condition which she and relatives attributed in part to services for the FBI as an underground agent in the Communist party for 11 years. She is Mrs. Marie Natvig, wife of Peter Natvig. Tribune said her testimony in Detroit last year helped put six Communist party leaders in Michigan to prison.

Plane Reported Down in Rugged Bush Country

OWEN SOUND (CP)—A plane was reported down today in the rugged bush country between Big Beach and Oliphant, Ont., about 25 miles west of this centre of the Bruce Peninsula resort area.

It was not known immediately if the aircraft had crashed or if the occupant had been killed or injured. The type of plane was not known.

A reporter investigating reports that flares had been seen in the area said he had confirmed that a plane was down in the area but had no further immediate information.

Earlier provincial police said they were investigating reports from vacationists at Red Bay, which is 30 miles northwest of here, that flares were seen over Lake Huron about 11 p. m. Tuesday.

The vacationists suggested that the flares might have come from an aircraft in distress. A twin-engined OPP aircraft was flying over Saulde before dark Tuesday night.

However, a check with airline companies flying the route and with the department of transport showed that no aircraft had been reported missing.

HEAVY DAMAGE IN MAN. FLOOD, CREST TO COME

30,000 Acres Near Pipestone Covered

PIPESTONE, Man. (CP)—The second flood in this southwestern Manitoba district within three weeks has caused thousands of dollars of damage to more than 30,000 acres of fertile farmland and the worst is yet to come.

The first flood around July 1 caused extensive damage to some areas but was minor compared to last week-end when twisting Pipestone creek, swollen by heavy rains in the headwaters, overflowed its banks. About 15 farmers were forced to evacuate. No fatalities have been reported.

Wheat board officials at Winnipeg and farmers at many points throughout the flooded area could not "safely guess" the total amount of damage, though all agreed it would be in the "thousands of dollars."

EXPECTS CREST TODAY

Bert McKay, editor of The Weekly Western Star spectator at Moosomin, Sask., said if the flood crest there is anywhere near the previous flood, the crest should reach Moosomin sometime Wednesday and Pipestone possibly Thursday.

Flooded Saskatchewan government employees had tried unsuccessfully to dike the creek at Moosomin.

Flood damages in this area are not too high as made new five-minute runs with two groups of youngsters without incident.

On the 18th hole, a wounded a diving raft some 100 yards from shore, a wave passed over the boat. The children became panicky, some of them leaping into the water, and Phil Harrison, a counsellor at the day camp, attempted to pull them back into the boat, it capsized.

RESCUE FOUR

Horrified vacationers on the beach leaped into the water and rescued four children. The others were in an estimated 10 feet of water.

World Court Says U.N. Must Pay $179,000

THE HAGUE (AP)—The World Court rejected U.S. arguments and ruled Tuesday that the United Nations must pay $179,000 in compensation to 11 Americans fired by the world organization in connection with the U.N. loyalty check system.

The 11 refused to answer questions asked by a federal grand jury and other U.S. investigating bodies as to whether they had ever been Communists.

This issue was the centre of a bitter controversy in the 60-member UN General Assembly last fall, as a result of strenuous U.S. objections to the awards. They now goes back to the assembly for another round of debate.

$15,000 Fire At Gananoque

GANANOQUE, Ont. (CP) — A $15,000 fire that swept the waterfront here destroyed four boats and the four-storey boat house they were housed. One man suffered minor burns.

The blaze started Monday when John Laska, who delivers mail between here and Rockport, 12 miles Lawrence river, attempted to start his motor boat. An explosion set a fire on the fire and Mr. Laska suffered minor burns.

Postmaster John Logan said a bag of mail is also missing. Gananoque is 20 miles east of Kingston.

Only Tiny Desert Scar Marks Spot of First Atomic Blast

By STEVEN LOWELL

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — The eyes of the passengers searched the hazy distance. Then the low, dun-tinted finger of the ashlarc's pilot.

Under the shoulder of bleak, barren Oscuro range, they finally saw what he was trying to point out.

It wasn't much, just a little disturbed spot on the desert — a little darker than surrounding land.

Not much — except to a few thousand persons for the world-shaking events that happened there in the predawn light of July 16, that remains to mark the first atomic explosion on July 16, 1945.

Some months ago a construction outfit finished scraping up the glassable substance formed of the surrounding sandy top-soil as the intense heat of the blast melted it.

The Atomic Energy Commission didn't want to take any chances that the desert wind might stir up radio-active dust from the trinitite at the desert floor.

The contractor scraped it up and buried it in a large pit nearby, soon to get into the area.

Then the soil conservation service stepped in and planted grass it believed would fight with the desert.

Apparently it was right, for that grass is a little greener than the surrounding area. Maybe it gets a little more water, too, for it's at a 1,100-foot wide, 10-foot-deep saucer pocketed into the desert by the momentous blast.

Gallant Floyd, a partner in Campbell and Floyd, Albuquerque construction firm which buried the trinitite, says it will be years before when we went in there to see that spot just as green as could be with rain, grass and flowers, except the cracks in the glass — it looked like a big spider web — and that only green spot on the desert."

Apparently nature will have to continue as the only marker of the spot — maybe for years to come, for the area is part of White Sands proving ground, a prime rocket development site.

The spot eventually is to be opened as a national monument, but the two national park service officials must obtain special permission to get into the area.

12 Children Drown Near Montreal As Boat Capsizes

Become Panicky As Wave Hits Boat, Jump Into Water

By MEL MORRIS

MONTREAL (CP) — Twelve Montreal children on a picnic were drowned in the wind-tossed waters of Lake of Two Mountains Tuesday when they became panicky and capsized a heavily-loaded pleasure boat.

Only four bodies had been recovered when police called off dragging operations at dark. But officials of the Negro Community Centre, sponsors of the picnic, said another eight children were unaccounted for and presumed at the bottom of the picturesque lake, 20 miles northwest of Montreal.

Listed as drowned were: Margo Fonseca, 7; Marilyn Fonseca, 9; Cecil Leek, 8; Lorna Sullivan, 6.

Missing were: Denzel Alleyne, 8; Estelle Walton, 11; Leon Headley, 5; Diane Springer, 10; Edwin Springer, 7; Alan Walton, 7; Brenda Kelley, 9 and Doreen Walton, 8.

SWIMMERS RESCUED

The mass drowning, worst in the history of Montreal and district pleasure boating, was a well-meaning gesture of a holidaying Montreal couple, Jack Seligman, owner of a cottage on the lake, was himself enjoying a picnic with his wife and friends on a sandy inlet on the north side of Ile Bizard when he noticed the boat-load of 62 Negro children, ranging in age from six to 10.

A special treat, he offered to take them for a ride in his 15-foot motorboat. He made two five-minute runs with two groups of youngsters without incident.

On the third run, he rounded a diving raft some 100 yards from shore, a wave passed over the boat. The children became panicky, some of them leaping into the water, and Phil Harrison, a counsellor at the day camp, attempted to pull them back into the boat, it capsized.

RESCUE FOUR

Horrified vacationers on the beach leaped into the water and rescued four children. The others were in an estimated 10 feet of water.

One of Worst Boat Disasters In the Area

BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

The capsizing of a pleasure boat in Quebec's Lake of Two Mountains Tuesday with a possible toll of 12 lives was one of the worst such accidents in Canada in many years. Here are others that happened in the last 17 years:

July 16, 1937—Small boat sinks, near Nelson, B.C., family of five Doukhobors lost.

Sept. 22, 1942—Pleasure launch Wa-Wi-Net in Georgian bay, 25 drowned.

June 4, 1944—Cabin cruiser capsizes in Lake Ontario, five sea cadets and instructor drowned.

Will Drill Lakes For Natural Gas and Oil

TORONTO (CP)—The search for new sources of natural gas and oil in Ontario has turned to the bottoms of Lake St. Clair and Lake Huron.

The Ontario department of mines has granted a permit to Pan Western Oils Ltd to drill both lakes for oil and natural gas. The permit for Lake St. Clair includes 46,300 acres in front of the Walpole Island reserve and the Lake Huron area the company will explore 70,200 acres.

The licence granted the company is for a period of four years, six months, dating from July 2. The province will receive an annual rental of 25 cents an acre.

Royalty will be 10 per cent a year of rentals can be applied against the cost of exploratory work by the company. If it finds natural gas or oil in commercial quantities it may apply for a licence on not more than 50 per cent of the land now being explored.

If the project proves to be commercially feasible, the company will be granted a licence for 21 years on the basis of $1 an acre plus a royalty of two cents per 1,000 cubic feet of natural gas or 10 per cent on all petroleum products.

BONARLAW—The late Murney McInroy passed away on Wednesday, July 7, at his home in the 13th concession of Rawdon, after a long illness, at the age of 68 years. He spent his entire life at Bonarlaw and was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McInroy. He is survived by his wife, the former Gladys Eagle wood and one daughter, Mrs. Glenn (Mary) Mocion and two sons, Wray at home and Ronald of Des Moines, Iowa, also three brothers, Hugh of Bonarlaw; Will of Toronto and George of Belleville and two sisters, Mrs. Harry (Bella) Haslett, Bonarlaw; Mrs. Will (Earlie) Robinson, of Campbellford.

The pall bearers were six nephews, Basil Robinson, Claude McInroy, Earl Haselett, Keith McInroy, Rom Fleming, Bruce Robinson.

The family have the sympathy of their many friends.

MRS. R. BRUCE McMULLEN (Edmonton, Alta.)

In declining health for some time, Fannie Morden, wife of the late Bruce McMullen died in the hospital in Edmonton, Alta., on June 30th. She was the daughter of the late Stanley Morden and his wife, Mary Turner, and her early life was spent at Chatterton, where the Morden and Mordden kept the store and post office. She attended Stirling High School and Model model school and upon graduation, she taught for several years. She also went to the States and took a nursing course. In 1901, she married Bruce McMullen and came to the family homestead at Hallowell Grove. Here her five children were born and while they were still young, they decided to move to the west and finally settled on a farm at Lakesend, Alta.

Following her husband's death in 1941, she continued on the farm until 1944, when she moved to Edmonton. Wherever her lot was cast, she served her church and community well. She was of the Baptist faith, but when she moved to Hallowell she attended the United Church with her husband. For years the student ministers made her Alberta home their home, and all those young men found her a strong Christian faith a help indeed, to them. Although in her 78th year, she was able to attend church and the W.A. of which she was an active member and keep up her keen interest in cultural pursuits. To her many friends in the east, the news of her passing will be learned with much regret.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Virgil Elliott (Helen) of Whitla, Alta., and Mrs. Jack Bury (Molly) of Calgary, Alta., and three sons, Garfield of Airways, Alta., Fraser of Barrhead, Alta., and Douglas of Airways, Alta. Douglas was with her during her illness. There are 11 grandchildren and eight great grandchildren. Also surviving is one brother, Allan Morden of Forget, Sask. Another brother, Bert, died in 1943. Mrs. William McMullen of Harold, Ont., and Mrs. Charlie McMullen of Oakland, Cal., two sisters-in-law, also survive.

The funeral was held on Saturday, July 3rd in the Baptist Church, Edmonton. Burial was in the family plot in Raphenon, Alta., beside her late husband.

Marina Scene of Bustling Activity As Yachting Season Approaches Peak

If you landlubbers want to know how the nautical half lives and what it does, drop in some of these July mornings at Pete Wills' Marina, probably the only shoreline service station on the northern shore of Lake Ontario between here and Toronto.

This observer dropped in at the Marina the other morning on a typical ordinary day in the life of the station. The harbor was a picture of nautical beauty, with the sun glinting off gently rippling waters, handsome yachts moored to buoys in midstream and rakish streamlined cabin cruiser beauties "gassing" at the Marina berths, or waiting their turn.

LEAFY SKYLINE

Across the harbor tall maples form a leafy skyline, the only thing marring it being deadwood that should be cut away. Bare branches stretch skeleton-like fingers above the foliage tops of the trees lending away some of the green beauty.

It was a busy morning at the Marina, with Bill Wills in command from the Inland Yacht Club of Wilmot, New York, had put in for gas and supplies. The handsome fifty-foot sloop "White Wings" of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, Toronto, eased into a berth. Her owner—Percy Grant, Toronto, arrived shortly after with his crew.

The "Nordola", a sleek Chris-Craft cruiser from the Old Orchard Yacht Club, New York, had run into a little difficulty due to an unusual occurrence. It appeared the boat's gasoline tank is adjacent to the water tank, and in the hurry and bustle of refuelling, gasoline was pumped into the water tank by mistake. The crew discovered the error right away and ordered a right jolly time draining, flushing and using various methods to get the gasoline out. The job finished, it was clearly evident the two do not mix.

Across the harbor, apart from the area reserved for visiting yachts lay the trim craft of the Belleville Yacht Squadron and Belleville Power Boat Association. Trim Y-Flyers snuggled close to the retaining wall while sloops rigged and ready for sailing added their color to the scene.

BUILDING REPUTATION

Thanks to the facilities and fine service offered by the Marina, Belleville is rapidly becoming a small known port in yachting circles on both sides of Lake Ontario. Visiting Americans always come and return again highly of the Marina's fine location, modern equipment and great sailing facilities.

"The 1954 season bids fair to better that of last year," Pete Wills said in his well-appointed office. "We have had many boats drop in so far as we had all last year and the season is scarcely started yet. I understand a large power squadron will visit Belleville in the near future. That, in itself, speaks for the fine reputation we are building here as a boating city."

Many fine new additions have augmented the Marina services this year. A roomy boathouse capable of housing some 30 craft has been constructed on the wharf proper. Here are displayed the many fine new models featured by the Marina sales service.

A new "motor" room has been installed. Here outboard motors are repaired and tested in a large tank. Some dozen motors were undergoing repairs that morning.

The sales and service departments stock practically everything that the modern yachtsman or power-boat owner desires. You can get practically everything from an eight-inch screw to a gleaming boat or powerful heavy horse-powered motor.

One of the reasons the Wills' Marina is able to give such fine service to its customers is Lou Crouse better known as "Cap". Cap knows everything about the water and is greatly interested in boats of every description with the result that he is able to satisfy the needs of the visiting yachtsmen in a most expert manner. No job is too small or too large for the amiable "Cap", in the winter he lives in Florida.

The Marina, along with the yacht club and power squadrons is making a fine contribution towards bringing Belleville to the fore with sportsmen in nautical circles of this part of Ontario, not to mention American friends and clubs.

Driver Killed Instantly When Car Hits Tree

STIRLING (Special) — James Edward Fitton of Frankford received fatal injuries when his car left the Campbellford - Stirling road at Mount Pleasant Wednesday morning and struck an elm tree. Fitton died a few moments after a Mount Pleasant resident, Raymond McConnell, reached the scene. Cause of the accident is not known, but it is believed possible that Fitton fell asleep at the wheel of his small English-type car. He was alone. Provincial Constable Thomas Lumsden of the Madoc detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police is investigating.

Mr. Fitton was employed by the Ontario Hydro as a meter reader in house at Frankford. He had been in Frankford for about a year and boarded at the home of Mrs. Harry Bailey. A young Englishman, at his twenties, he has a brother and sister in England and an uncle residing at Barrie, Ont. It is believed that he may have been visiting friends at Colchester, or his uncle at Barrie, and may have been on the way home, to resume his work, when the accident occurred at 6.30 a.m. Wednesday.

The road is in front of the accident four miles northwest of Stirling, is paved and smooth. The car left the road, tore out several guard rail posts and plunged down a deep embankment, crashing into an elm tree. The car, a late model, was a total wreck.

Member Asks Frost to Hurry To Get Pinery

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — C. E. Janes, member of the Ontario legislature for Lambton East, said Tuesday he has asked Premier Frost to "hurry up" the move to acquire the Pinery near Sarnia as a provincial park.

Earlier this year the Ausable River Conservation Authority passed a resolution urging the provincial government to expropriate the 4,000-acre Lake Huron shoreline tract and then sell the inland forest section back to the authority for $17,000.

Mr. Janes said he had presented the authority's resolution to the premier but so far had received no report from him.

ARCA's proposal would leave the entire lakeshore area — a stretch about 4½ miles long covering more than 7,200 acres—under provincial ownership. The remaining portion would be owned by the authority.

Merchants' Head Maintains Police Sidestepping Duty To Supervise Dock Parking

TRENTON, (Special) — Lyle Carr, president of the Trenton Retail Merchants, charged at a meeting of the local businessmen yesterday that the Trenton Police Department has sidestepped the responsibility of supervising parking on the government dock despite the possibility that the Department of Transport may prohibit parking in that waterfront area unless orderly parking is enforced. He claimed that an engineer with the department at Ottawa had advised council of the department's intention in a letter three weeks ago and that council had neglected to answer the communication. He said that in the meantime his enquiry at the police station regarding supervised parking was answered: "Call the Senator. Call Bill Fraser."

Herb Smith, secretary of the chamber of commerce noted that he had been led to believe that the police would not have anything to do with the proposed regulated parking in the dock area.

Chamber of Commerce President Jack Goldberg appeared to be surprised, "I can't get their attitude," he observed.

"Surely you've been around town long enough to understand," another businessman offered.

Mayor Ross Burtt insists that there is nothing in Mr. Carr's statements. He feels there is no purpose in answering the letter from the government engineer. "If the government doesn't want parking on its property what can we do about it?" he asked. Mayor Burtt indicated that the letter from the government made no mention of supervised parking.

Mr. Carr said that because the traffic was very light the police, council, as the representatives of the taxpayers, should issue the orders. "If council is not going to see that the police do their job then there is something wrong," he said.

Councillor James MacDonald informed the businessmen that council had not officially asked the police to supervise parking. "But I think their attitude is poor," he added.

Mr. Carr came up with an idea to provide more parking space in the downtown area. He figured there would be room to park 35 cars if an old boat house behind a restaurant on Front street was acquired and torn down and the vacant space was levelled off and a retaining wall on the river's edge.

Some businessmen expressed concern about the lack of parking in the business section. They think that a parking project may be too late and that they will be sadly awakened some of these days by the announcement that a shopping centre by unlimited parking space has been started on the outskirts. One member suggested that council set aside parking meter money for parking expansion purposes, so much every year. It was decided to call together representatives from the town council, town planning board, police force traffic committee and retail merchants to discuss parking problems.

Exporter Pays 5 Cents For Skunk Licence

If you would like to become an exporter to the United States, it will cost you five cents for an export license if your merchandise happens to be skunks.

Carson Elliott, who collected six scents last week under a barn on Burnham St., forked out five cents for the licence to become Canada's first skunk exporter.

His first shipment was sent off to Mrs. R. M. Wittig, 420 Delaware, Penn., on Monday of this week. The little stinker, deodorized before departure, was shipped C.O.D. in a small, attractive crate with a wire front.

Accompanying the crate were two cans of medium and a note to the expressman asking his kind co-operation in feeding the skunk. A note explaining that the skunk was deodorized was pasted to the crate to reassure railway personnel and customs officials at the border.

Skunks, apparently, are classed as a luxury in the United States because American money have to pay 7½ per cent duty on them.

Before Mr. Elliott's shipment this week there was no precedent for the shipment of skunks to the United States and it is feared that red tape might tie up the shipment of the skunk.

However, having heard nothing to the contrary, Mr. Elliott believes that his first venture as an animal exporter has succeeded and that the skunk has been delivered to Mrs. Wittig in Scranton.

Mayor Reaume Will Likely Resign Seat

WINDSOR (CP)—Mayor Arthur J. Reaume apparently intends to resign his seat in the Ontario legislature some time in the next future.

The mayor, Liberal member for Essex North, was not available for comment on a Toronto report he would resign this month.

Some weeks ago, Mayor Reaume said if by-elections were held in the province this fall, he would resign his seat. He said the pressure of his job as mayor of Windsor made it impossible for him to devote adequate time to his legislative duties.

Mayor Reaume said at the same time he would not resign and put the province to the expense of an election if other elections were not scheduled.

The government is expected to hold elections in Nipissing, Russell, Leeds and Sudbury, the later the seat of the late lands and forests minister, Mr. S. Gemmell.

Outbuildings at Sidney Cottage, Trent Road, Burn, $5,000 Loss

An unknown man, passing on Highway No. 2 early this Wednesday morning is responsible for having saved from probable destruction by fire one of the oldest houses in the district.

An estimated $5,000 damage was caused in the residence of Mrs. W. N. Ponton, on Highway No. 2, east of the OSD, when fire gutted an old two-storey carriage house and garage, behind the house. Mrs. Ponton's late-model automobile, which was in the carriage house at the time, was completely destroyed.

Quick action by Mrs. Ponton's gardener, Mervin Wilkins, and a neighbor Robert Pringle, who played hoses on the roof of the main building, prevented spreading of the fire into a possible loss of the entire structure.

The alarm was first given about six a.m. Mr. John Hyilek, who with his wife and three young children moved into the back portion of the house two weeks ago, said he was awakened at the usual time by his alarm clock. He was dressing for work, when he unidentified man knocked on the door and told him the outhouses were afire. Mr. Hyilek immediately awakened the household and turned in the alarm.

Mrs. Ponton said: "When they woke me up the whole thing was day.

a mass of flame. I can't imagine how it started."

Four pieces of equipment under fire chief G. Vance were on the scene in a short time and extinguished the blaze in about a half hour. Traffic was diverted for nearly two hours.

The buildings were mainly used for storage purposes and housed a large quantity of lumber. A power mower and some agricultural implements were also destroyed. Mrs. Ponton said some antique furniture and a number of "historical military and Masonic documents" were lost in the blaze.

As yet there is no indication how the fire started but both Mrs. Ponton and Mr. Bylick were known to know the identity of the man who turned in the warning.

The original building dates from about 1805 and is believed to have housed General Sir Isaac Brock and part of his army en route to the subsequent battle of Queenston Heights in 1812. One of the troops is supposed to have died there. Later, in 1854, the grandfather of Mrs. Ponton's husband built the present extension and the house which now fronts the highway. It was the carriage house built with this extension that was burned down today.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House of Representatives agriculture committee Tuesday approved a Senate-passed bill to permit U. S. experts to go into Canada and Mexico to assist in controlling outbreaks of insect pests or plant diseases.

The Painful Mile . . .

Asked why he climbed Mt. Everest Sir Edmund Hillary is reported to have replied, "Because it's there."

Sir Edmund's statement reminds us of an "escape" story of World War II. There were three young soldiers in a prisoner of war camp in Africa and two of them had climbed mountains as a hobby. The camp was on a hot arid plain, almost a desert, and off in the distance there was a mountain. Like all prisoners the young men dreamed of freedom. But the nearest friendly lines were over a thousand miles away, so they transferred all their thoughts to one thing : : : to escape in order to climb that wonderful mountain.

After months of ingenious, secretive effort they had fashioned their climbing equipment, and one night escaped. They walked and walked, painful mile after painful mile over some of the worst country imaginable, but they reached their mountain : : : and climbed it too.

To reach friendly lines was impossible : : : but just to give themselves up didn't seem a fitting end to their adventure. So they walked all the way back to the camp. They arrived at night . . . "escaped back in," : : : and the next morning with complete nonchalance reported for roll call.

They had 'a goal and they made it.

In this business of investing too it's a good idea to have a goal : : : not only a goal but a guide. That's where we come in. There is no need for you to make the mile painful. Here you will find friendly experience ready to help you.

NEW GERMAN THREAT

German competition in the shipbuilding industry is threatening British supremacy.'

This is not so much a new story as history repeating itself.

In any case, Britannia no longer rules the waves. The United States Navy now surpasses the Royal Navy. When, on the same day that one news story tells of the German shipbuilding industry, another story threat to the British shipbuilding industry, another story relates that Britain's giant new jetliner, Comet Mark III, is ready to take the air, the temptation is strong to make some reference to changing times and changing ways. If Britannia no longer rules the waves, she is making a strong bid for leadership in the air.

Unfortunately, any such a reaction dismisses too lightly the importance of ships and shipping. Big though today's planes are, bigger though they may become, there is no prospect of them replacing ships as carriers of bulk cargoes.

In peace or in war, ships will continue to play a major role in any that trade which is her lifeblood flowing to and from Britain.

If there were any certainty that peace would be permanent, it would be possible for Britons to suffer nothing worse than a blow to their pride if they relinquished all claim to leadership in the shipbuilding and shipping industries.

But, however, war should come again any dependence on foreign shipbuilding yards and foreign shipping would prove a formidable and possibly a fatal handicap.

It may be argued that the atomic bomb and the hydrogen bomb have wiped out any chance that Britain would survive the next great war. The answer to such a contention is that, if there is any sound reason why Britain should be spared any effort at all to save herself, then this effort must include maintenance of her supply lines across the seas. Perhaps she would not be able to survive even with a powerful Navy, Army and Air Force and Merchant Marine and a powerful war and of commerce, but of a certainty she would not be able to survive without such a fleet.

For this reason, when British shipyards face the possibility of a return to the poverty of the thirties, more than the fate of a few individuals, shipyard workers and shipyard owners, is at stake. The shipyards of Britain are as much a part of that nation's defence set-up as are the Army and the RAF.

Ironically enough, the present prosperity of German shipyards is founded, in a sense, on the destruction of the U-boats during the Great War. So many merchant ships plunged beneath the grey waves of the Atlantic that, when the war was over, British shipyards were flooded with orders. Now, as any prudent man enjoying a sellers' market, the shipyards paid too little heed to costs or promptness in filling contracts. Shipyard workers found it easy to win wages increases. Thus, and other factors, sent costs rolling. While foreign buyers were not quoted fixed prices and were left guessing about delivery dates.

German shipyards, put out of business by war bombs and post-war decrees, have since been rebuilt and we may take it for granted that their efficiency has been increased by the fact that they are enjoying the benefits together with the lower costs for which the Germans work, has resulted in these yards undercutting British prices. They have also been prompt in making deliveries.

As in so many problems, prevention would have been easier than the cure will be. It may prove imperative for the British Government to provide some assistance to the shipyards. Subsidies have an unpleasant sound, but when it comes to shipbuilding subsidization is much to be preferred to stagnation.

TV VS. TAN

Almost two weeks of the summer vacation have elapsed for school children this year and one of the most noticeable features of this summer's vacation is the tan. The younger children are out cavorting in the great outdoors in anything like the same numbers as former years.

Banishment to summer camps or cottages and chilly weather seems to be a reason for their absence than an avid interest in TV.

It is an awe-inspiring and somewhat frightening thing to watch a group of 10-year-olds break up a sandlot baseball game in the middle of the afternoon so that they can get home in time to see the Giants and Dodgers on TV.

We presume that all these future big leaguers are reaching for the stars and that they will be sprinting to the cathode tube to catch a televised "soap opera" we might be moved to comment on the ultimate triumph of machines over man. (The conquest of bloodless Canadian youth forsaking a summer's tan for the pale warmth of a TV tube and the palpitations of a typical "suffering" heroine are so unpleasant to contemplate that we shall console ourselves with the comforting thought that the little fellows are really perfectionists at heart, learning the secrets of a great game by watching major leaguers in action. Please do not correct us if we are wrong.

DROWSY DICKS

An Associated Press dispatch from Orebro, Sweden, tells of a policeman suffering from a "modding disease" believed caused by carbon monoxide seeping in from a garage beneath the police station.

Some policemen said they had felt sleepy for 20 years.

Despite this relaxed attitude on the part of the gendarmerie, we can take it for granted there are still many citizens of Orebro with more than a nodding acquaintance with the law.

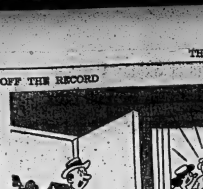
LAWYERS

Two lawyers in a simple case
Or as it seemed to be)
Ne doubt in any other place
Would on the facts agree,
But, one was hired to prove the white
The other to prove the wrong;
And, as they made of it a fight
They talked over long.



To tell the truth each witness swore
They questioned pro and con,
Till late at night from early
They'd wrangled on.

The argument went on.
To clear his client one would try
The other him to doom.
But never once in the two agreed
On who did what to whom.

I like with lawyer-friends to be,
With them at golf I play,
I like to sit with them at tea
And chat an hour away.
I like their comradeship to share
(But final this report:)
I like to meet them anywhere
Except when they're in court.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

ANSWERED

The Book of Job is one of the literary masterpieces of the ages. An ancient writer challenges the mysteries of life and the problem always produces heath, wealth, and happiness, and that evil always produces the opposite. This says the writer of the Book of Job, is all right as a general proposition, but there are exceptions. Sometimes the righteous are under misfortune to come upon us that our lives may be tested. Behind the scenes God is carefully watching and planning to bring our lives to maturity through experiences and by means that we have to be disciplined, and the loving Heavenly Father has to let us fall into trouble that we may know the splendors of glory.

This is not the whole answer to the matter. The complete answer is Jesus Christ—His incarnation, dying, resurrection, and eternal presence in the midst of His followers.

The writer of the Book of Job was ahead of his age by many centuries. He did not know what we know. We know that the Word was made flesh and dwelt among us, full of grace and truth. We know that although God permits our lives to be tested, behind the scenes God is carefully watching and planning to bring our lives to maturity through experiences and by means that we have to be disciplined, and the loving Heavenly Father has to let us fall into trouble that we may know the splendors of glory.

Job raises a question; Jesus answers it.

Of adversity and the tides of opportunity inevitably waft us.

Along the way we pick up what sustenance we can, as the rat voyagers will attempt to gather their food from the sea; we enjoy such beauty as we are able, as the seafarers do; we delight in some of the storm and the peace of the sea at night; we assemble our stores of knowledge and experience as we may, as the adventurers will record their observations of ocean life and human endurance.

But in the end the stories of the voyagers and the human individual must be about tales of a little courage and a little fear, a little love and a little hate, a little stirring and a little dying, something of life and something of death, in the vast and trackless loneliness of the cosmos.

Deplorable Situation

(Kingston WhigStandard)

It is deplorable that in so many cases the difference between right and wrong is identical to the difference between what a person ought to do and what he wants to do.

Cereals Man's Main Food

(Windsor Star)

Though Canada has a surplus of more than 600,000 bushels of wheat and other exporting countries pro-duction has increased, there is little no anxiety about the long-range prospects of our main agricultural crop. Cereals still are the principal oats, and cheapest, form of human food.

Professor W. MacKenzie of the University of Alberta estimates that Canada's immense capacity to produce cereals may be the "all-important factor in helping to feed the world's growing population." That is rather an obvious statement of the situation.

Unless decimated by atomic warfare the world's population will continue to increase. But it is unlikely that any great land areas will be added to those already in production. We may, in the future, get more food from the sea, but generally speaking, food for the larger population must come from land already under cultivation.

It is something of a platitude that our world's people will rely on major bread baskets of the world. But it is a truth which will remain true. And the countries will become of larger importance in the world food picture. The less favored countries' tastes are varied. We have appetites for cereals, meats and fruits and vegetables, and dairy products. All these contribute to a healthy diet. But for many millions of the world, population, cereals will continue to be the main food.

There are reason for this. Grains quickly can be processed into edible foods. Cereals are light to ship and more food can be obtained from an acre of land than from any other else produced off that same acre. Though an entirely cereal diet is not recommended, it will sustain life.

The world has the advantage, apart from the volume in which it can be grown, that it will keep. Grains require little care and little space and the financing of growers until it can be sold, if there are surpluses.

In a better-ordered world a system of storing and the financing of grain surplines may be evolved. Instead of having to dump them on world markets at bargain prices, they will be kept in storage against the inevitable lean of short crops, or even of famine in some areas.

Our fruit fields and their products will appreciate in value to the world over the coming years. The benefits will accrue to those who till the fertile soil, and to those at home or in distant places who need the grain to keep alive. People can do without a lot of other products. They cannot last long without food.

Watch Boy On Moving Day

(Washington Star)

These are moving days, and a reminder to those who are transferring his chattels to a new neighborhood. For the rush of preparation and anticipation often causes one to overlook matters that he fails to consider the importance of dealing properly with the gas, electric and water in the neighborhood.

The utilities secretary, is of course to be watched as carefully on its journey from truck to house as the rest of the family and its trip from house to truck. Directions must be given for the disconnecting of meters, boxes in the proper rooms, to minimize the confusion. The gas and water heater must be turned on, and items of immediate need searched for in the disconnected.

In all this activity, however, the householder must not overlook the small boy who stands near the truck, or near the door, watching the men carry the box as it is carried into the new home. He has come from some other part of the neighborhood, and he intends to learn what sort of folks are moving in. If he is overlooked, or told brusquely to stand aside, the new tenant is in for a bad start.

The small boy, as one should know well, carries weight in his own household. He will make his report to others in the neighborhood and if he knows how to follow is either a regular guy, who might be approached to fly a kite or wheel, or a stuffed shirt to be shunned.

Curiosity peering from behind a curtain across the street can be ignored. But it is important, since this young one's curiosity full rein, and to treat him courteously and with respect for or against. It is best to give him full consideration.

Welcomed

(Fort Arthur News-Chronicle)

The summer campers, going by plane to the wilderness, are welcomed as usual by the insect orchestra with the mosquitoes playing the leading parts and the black flies in support.

Bread Stuck Together

(The Printed Word)

The mother of the family being away, the 13-year-old daughter cheerfully undertook to prepare lunch (tin of soup cheese and lettuce sandwiches) for herself and younger brother. Father purchased bread etc. and left for the office with mixed feelings of pride at his sprout's efficiency and misgivings at the rate his little girl was approaching womanhood.

About noon came a tearful voice on the telephone. The bread was "all stuck together" what was she to do?

Father, you see, should have known better, had bought unsliced bread and life had not prepared the young chatelaine to deal with so fearsome a relic of a bygone age.

Assuming that there was nothing wrong with the bread and the rallying around of the younger brother with his Scout hunting knife solved the particular problem, he left father with some long, long thoughts. The real problem lies in the story told by a neighbor who reproved his 13-year-old for wearing her hair like a sop. "Daddy, what's a mop?", she asked.

Electricity Uses Grow

(Atlanta Constitution)

America's light bill has gone up.

Average residential bills for electricity moved down steadily for 20 years until 1947, then they started up.

The Federal Power Commission says they have gone up slightly each year.

The reason is not merely a rate increase, although there have been rate changes. The larger electric bill reflects an increase in consumption.

Since 1947, the TV, the garbage disposal unit, the air conditioner, the self-defrosting refrigerator and the air conditioner have come into their own.

It takes only a casual count to reveal six to eight electric motors in the average home, a average equipment. The coils in the toaster, the stove and the current iron take more current than the motors.

The power companies will tell you the per-capita use is low.

For a penny, at New York rates, the housewife can toast a slice of bread or watch television two and a half hours. For a penny she can get five and a half hours of "Cross Over the Bridge" out of the television set.

"Honor the Light Brigade!" says the wife when she considers the family household gadgets that lighten her labor and her day. "Oh, what a burden we have!" says the husband may complain when he goes to pay the bill.

The fact is that electric labor is cheap labor. Furthermore, it's clean labor. How did we ever get along without it?

Tells Writers To Read Bible

(Hamilton Spectator)

Mr. Charles Morgan, the eminent English novelist and essayist, gave some good advice to the literary critics, particularly writers — when he addressed the English Association in London the middle of day. He counselled them to read the Bible, and from it learn the beauty, expression, euphony, economy and clarity which are the secrets of good writing and speaking.

How excellent is this advice in these days of slovenly expression in speech and writing. Mr. Morgan recommended the James Authorized Version, that treasure house of the English language, and the Bible next to Elizabethan scholarship. It has unstudied simplicity and unconscious, unfailing choice of the right word and rhythmic grace in its sentences. Read aloud any verse from the 23rd Psalm, or any night after night, your ear will become so experienced in the rhythm and sweetness of our language that it will intuitively reject what is false, flat or dull, in consequence write great prose, but at least you will have a standard by which you will have grasped that the first principle of narrative is movement; of prose, lucidity; of drama, conflict; of vision, attack," said Mr. Morgan.

Indeed, a literary standpoint the great charms of the Authorized Version is its beauty and euphony. The first conveys the meaning to both mind and heart and the second is music, a delight to the ear.

It may be because this treasure is so easy of access that so few avail themselves of it, and so the level of good expression is allowed to wither away and its place is filled by the vocabulary that spring up as a result of a limited vocabulary.

TALK PEACE AS FRENCH WITHDRAW

A French Union convoy, which had just crossed a bridge in the Red River delta during the current big withdrawal in Indo-China, pauses to watch French engineers blow up the structure to stall the advancing Communist Viet-Minh forces. Airmen Learn Gasoline Can Be Expensive

TRENTON, (Special) — The 5-year-old son of Town Clerk C. W. Larry escaped without serious injury yesterday when he fell under the wheels of a horse-drawn wagon on Sidney Street.

Young Patrick was climbing up on the wagon when he lost his balance and dropped to the pavement. One of the wheels passed over his right leg.

Examination at the hospital revealed that the limb was bruised at the joint and cut slightly on the knee cap. He appeared none the worse for his experience and was permitted to return home with his parents.

EXPENSIVE GASOLINE

Three young RCAF men learned that five gallons of gasoline can cost $30.16 and according to Magistrate T. J. Wills' calculations they will think twice before they pay that price again. In fact if they run foul of the law again within the next six months they can rest assured that the cash will exercise the full penalty on pasting them. Airmen Robert Allan Shore, Charles Sherlock and Robert John Sloan were each fined $26.72, including restitution which amounted to $2.15, the price of replacing the stolen gasoline. In addition the magistrate had this warning to give the trio: "If you can't find enough money to buy gas then you shouldn't drive a car. I think they have had a very expensive lesson," he added, indicating it was his intention to give them a chance this time.

The youths were spotted with a hose and a five gallon tin full of gasoline by the side of a car owned by James McFee of 19 Ontario Street. All of them pleaded guilty to stealing the gasoline. Six month suspended sentences were imposed on all of them.

ADMITS BEING DRUNK

Ray Hawkins was out to celebrate the glorious twelfth. According to local law officers he was doing a good job at it when they picked him up. But Hawkins hesitated for some time before he admitted that he was drunk and not "just drinking," as he insisted.

Magistrate Wills directed the Madoc resident to pay the usual $13.50.

FIREMEN BUSY

Trenton firemen were going in all directions to fight grass fires yesterday. The first one started behind 194 West Street. It was soon drowned by forced water.

Grass fire No. 2 had burned furiously behind Stan Weaver's in north Trenton by the time the firemen arrived. Needless to say it was taken care of in methodical fashion.

The last run of the day for the smoke eaters took them to the town dump area. The smoke was really thick and flames in one place ate their way into a pile of poles and ties belonging to the railroad. A larger and more stubborn blaze the firemen took longer to bring it under control.

TWELVE CHILDREN

Seligman told police the children "swarmed into the boat like bees" on the third run after seeing the fun their companions had had.

Det.-Sgt. Roger Falement of the provincial police homicide squad said the boat, washed up on shore a short while after the accident, would hold "six adults, maybe seven." There were 16 children and two adults in the boat when it capsized.

Seligman said more children kept leaping into the water as he and Harrison attempted to pull their companions back to safety. He said the manoeuvred the boat so that they could hang onto the sides and be towed into shallow water but the terror-stricken children failed to grasp it.

PICK UP TWO

Seligman pulled two children to safety with him. They were picked up by Arthur Robichon of Mont Robert, Que., who rushed out in his motorboat after seeing the accident from the beach.

Two more youngsters were saved by Gordon Hendres, 36, of nearby Ste. Geneviève, Que., who towed from the beach to the spot where the children were floundering in the water.

Canadian Press Staff Writer

"When I reached those who were still afloat they were clutching and grabbing each other to stay up," Hendren said. One little boy had grabbed a woman rescuer by the throat and was choking her "so I had to slug him until he let go and the woman towed him away."

FOUND TWO

He said he found two little girls floating face down in the water.

"One of them had her arm around the waist of the other but neither made any movement. I towed them inshore and handed them over to someone else."

He said he and other men swam around looking for other victims for another 20 minutes. They plunged to the bottom several times "but the water was so muddy it was impossible to see anything."

Mrs. Robichon, another eyewitness to the tragedy, said the motor of the boat appeared to stall before the wave struck it.

"All of a sudden the children started leaping into the water. I could see their arms threshing about. Their heads were bobbing up and down in the waves, then they began to disappear one by one."

Parents and friends of the tiny victims sobbed openly as provincial police crews dragged the lake until dark. Three of the bodies were recovered about two hours after the accident by persons on the beach. Another was fished out of the water by police.

WILL HOLD INQUEST

Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Fonseca, who lost two daughters in the accident, watched the dragging operations although the bodies of their two children had been recovered hours earlier.

Other parents went to the Negro Community Centre and left crying as they were told their children were either dead or missing with no hope of survival.

A spokesman for the Negro community said the youngsters all lived within a few blocks of each other and were almost always together, both at day camp and around their homes.

An inquest will be opened into the accident today, police said.

EXERCISE ENDS

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP) The 3rd Canadian Infantry Brigade, in training here for nearly a month, ended exercise "Crescendo" Tuesday. Brig. J. M. Rockingham termed it an "exceptional success." The operation began last Friday with theoretical landing of 10,000 enemy troops at Saint John, N.B., and Halifax. Atomic bombs were supposedly dropped on several Canadian and United States cities.

On Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Burton, 23 Octavia Street, celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

The happy occasion was celebrated with a picnic near Salmon Point on Lake Ontario, with immediate relatives and several close friends being present, who included Mrs. Burton's mother, Mrs. A. W. Fry, of Gananoque; also the sister and brother-in-law of Mrs. Burton, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Tyrow, bridesmaid and best man of 25 years ago; Mrs. Burton's brother, Mr. William A. Fry and Mrs. Fry; Miss Marilyn Fry and Mr. Deane Fry, of Adolcourt; Mrs. William A. Fry's mother, Mrs. D. Rornbeck, of Picton; Mr. and Mrs. Morley Rornbeck; Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peckett, and Miss Keitha Bodell of Gananoque, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Pitt and family, of Madoc.

At the close of the picnic lunch, a toast was proposed to the bride, of 25 years ago by Mr. Tryon.

The picnic table looked pretty with its white cloth, centred with a low basket of pink and red roses and the anniversary cake.

Before the repast was over, Mr. Fry was presented with a surprise birthday cake, by Mrs. Fry, his birthday having just passed on Wednesday. Everyone sang "Happy Birthday" to Mr. Fry.

Mrs. Burton and Mrs. Tryon were each presented with a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Burton received some lovely gifts including a silver tea service.

Tea was served later in the afternoon, and the picnic party then broke up, after a day enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Burton, the former Kathleen Fry and Mr. Burton, were united in marriage, 25 years ago, at Christ Church, Gananoque, by the late Canon A. H. Creggan.

Mr., Mrs. F. L. Taylor Honored by Relatives On 25th Anniversary

On Saturday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Taylor, 116 Pinnacle Street, were most happily surprised when 60 friends assembled in a body, including relatives from Detroit, Toronto, Lindsay, Peterborough and Madoc, to wish them every happiness on this, their 25th wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Taylor, the former Hazel Denyes, were married at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Denyes, Front Road, by the Rev. J. A. Plant, a former minister of the Bayside charge. They were attended by Miss Louise Taylor, sister of the bridegroom, and by Mr. Walter Denyes, brother of the bride.

The tea table was prettily appointed by a hand crocheted lace cloth, and centred by a lovely anniversary cake, and summer flowers.

For some time Mr. Taylor has been employed in the Civil Service, at Mt. View. Both are enjoying good health, and as hobbies, Mr. Taylor is a follower of Izaak Walton, while Mrs. Taylor finds needlework a relaxation.

They have one son, Roy.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were the gracious recipients of a lazy-boy chair, as well as many other useful and pretty gifts. Cards of good wishes and congratulation, were also received.

Mr. George Sharpe, of Peterborough, proposed the toast to the bride and bridegroom of twenty-five years ago, wishing them much happiness, health and prosperity for the future, and for the golden wedding anniversary to come.

Refreshments of sandwiches, fruit punch, and the anniversary cake, were served by Mrs. Roy Taylor and Mrs. Walter Denyes.

Vacation Desserts

By Mary Moore

If you ask me (and you did) I could think some readymade desserts in the refrigerator are about the greatest comfort a cook can count on in the hot weather.

She can wrestle with the meat and vegetables, and if she's lucky, call on some of her helpers to make the salad—but on a hot day is that dessert dilemma is often the last straw.

And another thing, so many of you are either on vacation or getting ready to go you just may be facing the problem of a reliable supply of milk.

Read on and see how the recipes I've selected will fit into your summer routine—whether it is without a milk route, without much money, without much ambition—for the only "with" factor you can be sure of is big appetites!

JELLY SPONGE

One package jelly powder—lime, lemon, orange or strawberry, 1 cup boiling water, 1-4 cup sugar, Pour boiling water over the jelly powder and sugar and stir until they are dissolved then let chill until mixture thickens but not until set. In a cold bowl put 1-2 cup ice water, sprinkle 1-2 cup milk powder over and whip with rotary beater until stiff. Then add 1 tablespoon each lemon juice and white sugar and beat again until smooth. Gradually add the whole whipping the partially set jelly mixture and whip until smooth. Pour into mold which has been moistened with cold water to chill and set firm. When ready to serve turn out on large dessert plate and garnish with cherries or fruits in season—cocoon balls, raspberries, clusters of small green grapes are all pretty and good.

FROZEN RASPBERRY FLUFF

(With skim milk powder)
One tablespoon gelatin, 1-4 cup water, 1-3 cup crushed raspberries, 2-4 cup sugar, 2-4 cup ice cold water, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2-4 cup skim milk powder. Soak the gelatin in 1-4 cup cold water 5 minutes. Mix together the raspberries and 2-4 cup sugar and heat until sugar is dissolved. Remove from heat, stir the soaked gelatin into it, then chill until mixture is slightly thickened. In a cold bowl put 3-4 cup ice water, sprinkle over the skim milk powder and whip until thick. Add the lemon juice and whip until stiff. Fold in gelatin mixture. Pour into freezing tray and cover with wax paper. Freeze until firm. This amount will serve 8.

CHOCOLATE MINT ICEBOX CAKE

Instead of using skim milk powder, in this one we use evaporated milk.

Two-thirds cup evaporated milk, 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate chips, 2 eggs-yolks and whites separated and beaten, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon peppermint essence, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 16 medium-size vanilla wafers (or lady fingers). Chill the evaporated milk in the freezing tray until ice crystals form around the edge. Melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Cool. Beat egg yolks with the sugar and flavoring and then mix the cooled chocolate with them. In a chilled bowl whip the evaporated milk until stiff then add lemon juice and whip until very stiff. Beat egg whites until stiff in another bowl with a clean beater; fold into chocolate mixture with whipped cream and pour over wafers. Line a shallow pan with wax paper then with vanilla wafers and lady fingers. Add mixture in over them, smoothly. Chill at least four hours—better still overnight. This amount makes 6 or 8 servings.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

A YOUNG WOMAN IN TOO MUCH OF A HURRY

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl of 18 and divorced six months. I have a little girl not quite two years old.

Now I have fallen in love with a very nice fellow of 31. We often talk about marriage, but he won't set a date. He says he wants to have more freedom before he gets married.

If he really loved me, don't you think he would want to marry me right now? — H.J.

Dear H.J.:

No, I don't think it necessarily follows at all that this chap would marry you immediately if he really loved you. On the contrary, I would say that if he really loved you he naturally wants to have enough money to enable him to take care of you properly right from the beginning. Instead of taking the attitude you do, I should think you would be very thankful that this young man seems to have such a sense of responsibility.

Frankly, I think if you were as mature as he is, you would want to wait more than six months for a second marriage. Obviously, you must have been extremely young and immature when you married the first time, and your impatience to get married again indicates that you haven't grown up very much since then, or learned much from your first mistake.

My advice to you is to go out with this young man when he invites you but stop talking of marriage with him. Go out, also, with other friends and give yourself a chance to acquire enough judgment to be sure you know what you are doing before you give serious consideration to another marriage.

IS SHE "TOOLISH"? SHE CERTAINLY IS!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

For about three months, I was going steady with a boy who asked me to marry him when I reached 18. I told him I would. I am 17 now and he is 18.

Then one night, when he took me home after a date he said good night, he told me, as usual, that he would call me, but I have not heard from him since. I see him quite often as he lives near me, but he does not speak.

I have been invited on other dates but I have refused them all because I still like the boy very much. Do you think I'm foolish, and should I accept these other dates and forget this boy? — M.P.

Dear M.P.

Of course you're foolish. Very foolish indeed. You're never going to get anywhere, either with this boy or any other boy, by refusing dates and mooning around over someone who has apparently given you a brushoff.

Certainly that kind of behavior is trying to impress a boy who's lost interest in you, in case you thought it would. All he's going to think is that nobody else is interested in you, either, which is as it you want on all the dates you can get, he might decide he's missing something and ask you up again.

Anyhow, why would you want a boy who has given you the kind of deal he has? Let him see that if he doesn't want you, there are others who do, and don't go on dates just to show him, either. Go on them because you're sensible enough to realize that it's silly and stupid to cut off all your good times, and that you realize, too, that there may be other boys in the world more worth your friendship than this one.

CENTRE-VICTORIA

REDNERSVILLE W.M.S.

A pleasant afternoon was enjoyed on Wednesday when the W.M.S. of the Redneraville charge was entertained for its July meeting at Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman's cottage, Wellington. There were 24 in attendance.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. R. F. Towlsend, the 3rd vice Mrs. M. G. Pulver, conducted the business.

Mrs. Don Spencer led in a series of games which all enjoyed, many winning prizes for their purse accumulations, for steady nerves, memory tests, skill and speed.

At the close of the fun period a worship service was held, opening with the hymn, "O Worship the King all Glorious Above," and the Lord's Prayer. The Church's request Thanksgiving was read in unison. Some thoughts on Jesus' great parables were given, concluding with:

Christ talked of grass and wind and rain,
And fig trees and fair weather;
He made it His delight to bring
Heaven and earth together.

He spoke of lilies, vines and corn,
The sparrows and the raven;
And words most natural yet so wise
Were on men's hearts engraven.

Yeast and bread and flax and cloth,
And eggs and fish and candles—
See how the whole familiar world
He most divinely handles.

The Scripture lesson from Matt. 7 was read by Mrs. R. L. Redner, followed by "Thoughts on the Lesson," and a reading by Mrs. George Kellar, "Our Canadian Heritage". "Ours is a great Canadian family, colorful in history with a great diversity of racial strains yet knit together by appreciation of our country's homeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Brickman and Audrey served bountiful refreshments, including sandwiches, pickles, cake, ice cream and watermelon.

All present appreciated Mr. and Mrs. Brickman's kind hospitality and felt that a pleasant and profitable time had been spent. It is good to take time to realize that man is both human and Divine.

GOOD MANNERS

BY MRS. BEECHMAN

PROPER TO WRITE BIRTH-ANNOUNCEMENTS ON INFORMALS

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

1. I am going to have a baby soon. I would like to use my informals (I'm enclosing one) for the birth-announcements, writing either a short note on the inside pages, or just the baby's name and the date of birth. Would this plan be proper?

2. As you see, only my name Mrs. Richard is printed on the front page of these informals. Should I have new ones printed with "Mr. and Mrs." on the front with the hymn, "O Worship the King all Glorious Above," and the Lord's Prayer. The Church's request Thanksgiving was read in unison. Some thoughts on Jesus' great parables were given, concluding with:

1. I am going to have a baby soon. I would like to use my informals (I'm enclosing one) for the birth-announcements, writing either a short note on the inside pages, or just the baby's name and the date of birth. Would this plan be proper?

2. As you see, only my name Mrs. Richard is printed on the front page of these informals. Should I have new ones printed with "Mr. and Mrs." on the front page, or may I add "Mr. and" before my name? — R.

1. Yes; it's entirely proper for you to use your informals for the birth-announcements. They lend themselves graciously to this kind of note, and I think give a more personal touch and more dignity than the usual printed birth-announcements. To relatives and intimate friends you should write notes of announcements. To less-close friends and to acquaintances you could merely write (by the two items, the baby's name and the date of birth) as is done on formal birth-announcements.

2. No need to order new informals . . . simply write "Mr. and" in front of your name.

LET YOUR ESCORT MAKE THE CORRECTION

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

I know it's the rule that when a girl and her escort are dining in a restaurant, she tells him her order and he gives both orders to the waiter. I've tried this several times in your column, and since you explained so clearly that the girl does this to make a proper gesture to her host, I've followed this rule most carefully. Now I have a follow-up question: When, as so often happens, the waiter or waitress forgets, how is to have what and sets the plates down in the reverse order, she should explain to the waiter or waitress?

— Rita W.

Here too the girl should give her host the opportunity to be the host, should let him make the correction. Your on-the-alert host simply says, "The fruit cocktail is for my guest," or "The jellied madrilene is for my guest. . . I'm having the consomme."

WHEN WIFE CANNOT GO TO WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

My husband, our 17-year-old daughter, and I were invited to the church wedding and reception of very dear friends of ours (the bride and groom, and their families). The wedding is to be in a suburb, quite near here. I had already sent our acceptance, when I unfortunately caught up with a virus, and my doctor told me the day that I mustn't think of going. My husband and daughter would like to go, and although they feel it would not be correct for them to go without me, I maintain there is no reason for them not to go (my sister has promised to come in to stay with me). What's your advice about this? — Anne B.

Since you think they should go, I think so too! Obviously there is nothing they can do for you by staying at home, and it is entirely proper for them to go, explaining the hostess and any mutual friends about the virus that "caught up" with you, and relay to the bride your very best wishes, and to the groom your congratulations.

PROPER FOR HER TO BE MATRON OF HONOR?

Dear Mrs. Beechman:

A friend of mine, a teacher with whom I have worked for some time, has asked me to be her matron of honor, I am divorced, and older than she. Do you think it is proper for me to accept this role? — A.

I'd like to have you have this honor and happiness that the bride wants to have you have. . . and it would be proper if the regulations of the bride's church permit, and if the difference in age between you and the bride is not particularly noticeable.

Bronze Tablet To Be Unveiled In Girl's Honor

By PETER BUCKLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

MONTREAL (CP) — Almost 300 years ago, a 24-year-old Indian girl died of the effects of a childhood attack of smallpox that had left her scarred and almost blind.

Next month, in the neighboring Indian reservation of Caughnawaga, a six-foot bronze monument will be unveiled in honor of Kateri Tekakwitha.

Kateri discovered no continents, built no bridges, penned no masterpieces. But within 20 years of her short life passed before she was baptized a Christian, attempts are being made to have her canonized a saint of the Roman Catholic Church.

Thousands every year visit the Caughnawaga shrine dedicated to the Iroquois maiden.

A granite cenotaph, encircled by a wrought-iron railing and surmounted by a cross, bears her name, the date of her death—April 17, 1680—and the inscription "onkwewenweka katsititio teotsitsiakaron," Mohawk for "the loveliest flower that blossomed among the Indians."

Born in 1656 in the Iroquois village of Ossernenon, near what now is Albany, N.Y., she was stricken by smallpox during an epidemic that killed her mother, father and younger brother.

The effect on her sight forced her to spend the rest of her life in retirement, hiding from the glare of the sun.

She was introduced to Christianity by a travelling priest, Father Jacques de Lamberville, and baptized on Easter Sunday, 1676.

Among the pagan Indians, her modesty was a object of such scorn that she was forced to flee in the night with an aged Christian Oneida chief, to Roman Catholic Caughnawaga in 1677.

There she spent the remaining few years of her life, praying and devoting herself to humble household work.

It is said that when she died, the features that had been scarred and pock-marked throughout her life suddenly cleared. Villagers flocked to see the beauty of her face.

Since then she has become almost a patron of Indians throughout eastern Canada and the United States. At Caughnawaga, besides the shrine, a hall and a school are named after her.

The monument, to stand in front of the school, was done in Paris by Canadian sculptor Emile Brunet.

Church and government leaders and representatives of a number of Indian tribes will attend the Aug. 8 ceremony.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON
DANCING FOR BEAUTY

Square dances going on all over the country, in big towns and little ones. Fine and dandy! It helps the universal project of keeping young, nimble and on the toes. They are a wonderful boost to the woman who has a notion that she is "getting along," is acquiring a settled look. If she is a bit muscle-bound, due to lack of exercise, her fibers will relax, and she will regain grace of movement.

Dancing is the most marked example of appeal through rhythm. It is the highest form of physical education. It creates high spirits and that is why it is prescribed for psychological as well as physical benefits.

Here is a routine that is used in remodeling salons where the customers are taught how to move with grace; you can follow it easily, will find it good fun and excellent exercise:

Do a mazurka hop sidewise to the left, then a step forward, then a step backward. Stamp your foot three times, take three glide steps to the left, walk half a dozen turns, back to the first step and repeat. This is not as complicated as it may sound. It brings into play all the muscles from the waist downward. A glide means sliding the left foot to the left, following with the right foot on the floor. Try it out sometime.

When the radio gives you a waltz, do it in the old-fashioned manner to get the most possible muscular action into the effort. Extend your arms out at the sides on a level with your shoulders. Come up high on the toes.

If the family income permits, every little girl should have dancing lessons. They will help her to be graceful. She will cultivate body balance and perfect posture. All of which means that she will develop pleasing outlines at an early age. As she grows into her teens she will have an ease of manner and deportment that will be an asset in social life.

Casual Designer Anticipates 'Slouchy Look'

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—The "swan neck" sweater, with an outsize turtle neck which pulls up over the head to form a hood, is Claire McCardell's contribution to the fall fad line-up.

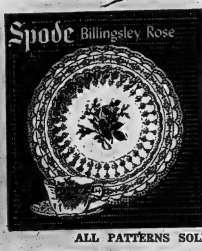
This casual designer long has anticipated the "slouch look" so important in the fall collections, and has been training her models to slouch for years. This time she underscores the sweater dress, which is simply an elongated tube sweater, worn with or without a narrow belt.

The bloused waist-length jacket is a particular pet of the careless Claire, who likes it so well that she shows two in one costume—one over the other, with a matching skirt.

Outstanding are her tweeds in unusual muted colors and her amber beads, wood and bamboo pieces combined with soft pink or bright red blouses and matching amber "junk jewelry," also designed by Miss McCardell.

FEATURES PINTED SHAPE

The "clochette" silhouette is the high note in Hannah Troy's collection, designed by Bruno. This is a fitted princess shape, with pinched waistline achieved by darts that are released to form rounded hipline and shaped bustline.



This house ignores the relaxed look of most fall collections and continues to stress the fitted midriff, the princess silhouette and the nipped waist. The coat dress is a favorite here, being shown in many fabrics up to an including white satin embroidered in rhinestones.

These showings marked the opening of a crowded week of New York fall fashion openings, shown for the benefit of the international fashion press.

"BEAR-WALK" CURSE

Smokey the Bear appears on posters across the continent as symbol of forest-fire prevention. But on Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron the bear has aroused an ancient Indian superstition about the "bear-walk" curse. Posters near Indian reservations have been mutilated and foresters believe it has been done by Indians who fear the bear-walker, a legendary sorcerer who can put a curse on its victims. (CP Photo).

'Smokey' Posters Are Mutilated By Indians

GORE BAY, Ont. (CP)—The Indians of Manitoulin Island and "Smokey the Bear," symbol of forest-fire prevention, have clashed apparently because of an ancient native belief in the "bear-walk" curse.

Smokey was created by the United States forest service to carry the message of protection against forest fires. Provincial governments and the pulp and paper industry in Canada have adopted him as a symbol.

Posters showing Smokey and his two cubs leaving their fire-blackened forest home are as familiar to New York's subway riders as they are to foresters in Canada's northern woods.

POSTERS MUTILATED

But here on Manitoulin Island the Smokey posters have been mutilated. Foresters believe it is because of the Indian belief that the bear-walker is a sorcerer who can put a curse on his victims.

John F. Walker, resident manager here for the Ontario Paper Co. Ltd., first noted destruction of Smokey posters near the Shashegwaning Indian reserve.

"Our chief ranger reported these signs were immediately defaced or torn down, and upon being replaced suffered a similar fate," Mr. Walker said. "The portion on which the bear was, in some cases, torn out of the poster, leaving the fire-prevention message intact."

Then the company learned of the superstition and hired Art Racey on a hunch, replaced the Smokey posters with Canadian Forestry Association signs using the beaver as a symbol.

"They have never been touched and we can only conclude that the Smokey bear signs were destroyed on purpose by the Indians," said Mr. Walker.

Attempts to catch anyone mutilating Smokey posters failed. Nor could foresters get the Indians to talk about the bear-walker.

Frank A. Myers of Scotland, honorary president of the Manitoulin Historical Society, said the Indians won't talk about it to white men because the latter laugh at the superstition.

Mr. Myers said he learned, however, that some Indians believe the bear-walker is a person who can appear in another form—animal, bird or ball of fire—and "can put a curse on a victim which may eventually cause death.

Prince and Princess Wield Influence Among Nursery Set

By MURIAL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Prince Charles and Princess Anne, following the fashion lead of their royal elders, wield a big style influence among the nursery set.

It doesn't take long for their latest outfits to appear in children's styles selling at home and abroad.

Latest example is the buttercup yellow coat, with rows of horizontal tucking, worn by the golden-haired three-year-old princess for the Queen's homecoming and the ceremony of trooping the colour.

Not long ago Prince Charles, 5, wore a double-breasted coat with a breast pocket. It was copied the same week and became the season's best seller.

SMART FOR SAILING

Charles won instant popularity for a detachable linen collar worn over the wool collars of his classic coats. Demand jumped for long trousers and middy blouses after he donned the outfit aboard the royal yacht Britannia.

Royal influence was noted at a recent children's wear show given by well-known manufacturer Hercrochet who supplied off-the-peg cottons for the Queen's recent tour.

The princess line is back and accentuates simplicity. Her little girls like Princess Anne, there's lots of smocking in nylon, chenille and soft pure wool.

Styles for the young mix are both smarter and less expensive, such as a smart needlecord dress with front opening, panelled bodice, puff sleeves and tie belt priced from $3s. to $6s. according to size.

Colors range from white and pastel shades to red, royal blue, green, tan and peacock blue. Corduroy and velvet are popular in the leaf green shades worn by Princess Anne and her mother.

TARTANS POPULAR

Tartan styles are back for boys and girls. A tartan pinafore skirt with round, fringed neckline, fringed pocket and pinafore skirt with side buttoning, is worn with long-sleeved, collared blouse. For boys there is a tartan lumber jacket with zip front, elasticized corduroy waistband, corduroy collar and cuffs and long cord slacks with tartan puffs and patch pockets.

Spotted voile, smocked at the collar and pockets, is smart styling for the kindergarten miss and striped nylon, used horizontally is chosen for a teen-age party dress. With puff sleeves, front-button bodice and cuffs, the teen-age number has gored skirt with godets of vertical striping.

Master Tailor Presents New Suits for Fall

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—The North American woman's first love, the suit, gains new glamor as presented by that old master tailor, Ben Zuckerman, in a trend-setting collection for fall.

The longer (wrist-length) semi-fitted suit, in high-color tweed, with matching satin lining, revolkit, revers or ascot, is the star of the collection. It is shown in vivid ceramic blue, ruby red, jade green and purple, as well as in the less sensational viscous and steel grey tones. The flat round collar is a signature this season.

The semi-fitted, carefully-shaped silhouette emerges at its best in this collection in both coats and suits. There is an ease and smoothness to the line that denotes perfect fit and room to breathe.

Next to the, long-jacket suit in importance is the suit with tapered loose jacket that ends under the hips. Many of the dressier suits are collared in white mink or dark sable while a number of fur scarfs are shown with coats. Embroidered touches such as jewelled buttons and pins add a feminine touch to many of the suits

BLOUSON HAS VARIETY

The "blouson" suit is starred by Harry Frechtel, who shows it in many fabrics and versions, along with the wide-collared corseted midriff suit and the costume consisting of a sleeveless coat and coordinated dress.

Open, stand-away collars, flat and wide, give a new look to many of the suits. Some are horseshoe-shaped, others square or pointed in line.

Herbert Sondheim places his bets on "palomino" beige and "burnt sugar" brown as favorite colors for everything from suits to evening gowns.

MURAL PAINTER

Tom Lunny, 30, born at Inwood, Man., near Winnipeg, has settled in Britain and makes a comfortable living selling Canada on canvas. Specializing in murals packed with places and people of Canada, he sells them readily, including a commission for more than 200 square feet of mural to decorate a new Cunard liner scheduled to sail this year between Montreal and Liverpool. He is shown at work in his studio, a former stable. (CP Photo).

Manitoba Veteran Making Comfortable Living Selling Specialized Canadian Murals

By RON EVANS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALDERSHOT, England (CP)—Tom Lunny, a young Manitoba veteran who settled in Britain when his fighting days were done, now makes a comfortable living selling Canada on canvas.

The 30-year-old artist, born in Inwood, 50 miles north of Winnipeg, specializes in murals packed with the people and places of Canada. He sells them readily. At the moment, he's turning out more than 200 square feet of work to decorate a new Cunard liner, scheduled to sail this year between Montreal and Liverpool.

Lunny, a 199-pounder of Ukrainian descent who looks like a professional football player, lives and works in an old brick stable in this Hampshire barracks town, well-known to two generations of Canadian soldiers. He and Daphne, his blonde British bride of six months, have converted the two-storey stable into a bright Riviera-like home.

QUAINT STUDIO

Dressed in a worn plaid shirt and paint-smeared blue jeans, he works—sometimes 14 hours at a stretch—in a white-washed, cobble-floored studio, once filled with horse stalls and now cluttered with bric-a-brac, incidding a battered top hat, Spanish wine jars and an Indian elephant bell. Many of Lunny's warm-hued, crowded canvases hang on the walls and a four - foot stack of preliminary drawings and color sketches fills one corner.

This cat-splashed room is a far cry from the one in which Lunny embarked on his current career. Fighting with the Canadian 17th Field Regiment in 1944, he was quartered at an ancient castle on the Ravenna plain in northern Italy.

Lunny found some colored inks in the cellar and set to work on the walls of a huge hall, covering them with murals depicting the wild action and color of war. Later the castle was taken over as a command post and a young officer, now Maj.-Gen. J. D. B. (Dan) Smith, newly-appointed commandant of the National Defence College, Kingston, Ont., saw Lunny's work and liked it.

The young artillery spotter was brought back from the front and placed on special duty. Later he was transferred to the Canadian service newspaper, the Maple Leaf, as staff cartoonist.

CONTINUED TO PAINT

After the war, Lunny decided to continue painting. Earlier in Winnipeg he had taken three years' art training at Kelvin Technical School and had worked as a neon sign designer.

He won a government grant to continue his art studies here and did several canvases for rural Roman Catholic churches. Last year he completed his most ambitious work to date, a series of 10 murals titled "War and Peace," for the London office of the Canadian department of veterans affairs.

Now he is working on the Cunard commission to decorate the public rooms of their new 20,000-ton liner, the Saxonia.

Lunny's ideas on mural painting are simple.

"Murals should be like chamber music. When you're eating you don't want the paintings on the wall to hit you like a brass band; they should be soft like a strong quartet."

He accepts his current success philosophically.

"Right now I'm doing all right," he said, "next year, . . ."

He recently purchased a 20-year-old vintage motor car and he and his attractive wife, who works as a newspaper reporter in nearby Farnham, plan a holiday tour of the continent.

26 Lodges Commemorate Battle Of Boyne by Colorful Parade

MARMORA—Rain falling for the hour of parade at the Orange walk at Norwood on Monday afternoon, failed to dampen the spirits of the members of 26 lodges of the counties of East Peterborough, Durham and Northumberland which patronized the commemoration held by Belmont L.O.I. 277 whose hall is situated about four miles away from Norwood. The parade was marshalled by the County Director of East Peterborough, Wilfred Buck.

County Master Fred Scriven of East Peterborough was chairman for speeches held in the spacious hall on the grounds of Norwood Agricultural Society, when the original intention to hold them on the outdoors platform had to be abandoned through the rain.

The parade was led by the Havelock Kilties Band and the Spencer Kiltie Band was also in the lineup.

OLDEST ORANGEMAN

One of the oldest Orangemen on parade was Henry McMillan, Past County Master of Hastings. He has had over 56 years of membership in the Order, his son John 38 years and granddaughter Dorothy, four year in the Hastings Juvenile Lodge.

Also on the march was another son of this veteran, namely William McMillan and a grandson James. Other old members who enjoyed the annual remembrance of the walks over the many years were as follows: David Leacock, 86 of Havelock L.O.L. 328. He is 84 years of age, and has a membership of 65 years. H. S. Nelson of Hastings L.O.L. 538, a member of that lodge for 48 years; Joseph Pickens, the oldest Past County Master of Northumberland County, who could not be found for an interview. Oldest man on the grounds was said to be George McMillan, 96, of Norwood believed to have been a vanced age occasioned inactivity.

The wives of members of Belmont L.O.I. 277 since they have no L.O.B.A. attached to the lodge, ran a cafeteria lunch in the large building and also a refreshment stand near the grandstand. In addition to this, F. Ellis and William Lucas of Trenton had their own refreshment booths.

Raymond Begg is the Worshipful Master of Belmont Lodge for the present term.

Reeve John Dixon of Norwood, welcomed the gathering adding it was good for children to add to their Biblical knowledge and to know to what Orangeism is related. If they follow the teachings of our Bible, they won't go astray.

Rev. H. K. Wright of Norwood United Church, said, that "everything that was in some way associated with the Orange Order, 'It is known that eternal vigilance is the price of freedom'. Our forefathers were not always free. We have a great heritage from our Motherland. Still there are people within our borders who are ready to applaud such things as McCarthyism. He applauded the carrying of the open Bible by the lodges and wished all well on that eventful day.

R. Wor. Bro. Morgan Brown, Peterborough, Grand Marshal of Ontario East brought greetings and best wishes from Grand Lodge.

"The anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne is a great day in the year, when lives of great men are remembered. There is no nobler thing we can do," said the speaker, "than to support the Christian Church and the Orange Order. Where Protestantism is found there is freedom and liberty for that country." In conclusion he recited one verse of the hymn "Rise up, O Men of God."

SIGNIFICANCE OF THE BOYNE BATTLE

Bro. Rev. R. G. Newman, Havelock, stated his happiness at being present and recalled for his hearers the significance of the Battle of the Boyne. "We, in Canada, can have freedom of worship, thought and religion."

Past County Master W. J. Cotrell of Central Hastings, touched on two hymns of the Orange Order and their significance, namely "Onward Christian Soldiers" and "Abide With Me."

Rev. G. Dyson, Warsaw, put the question to each individual, "are you Protestant?" He answered for himself. It means you are taking a path which is not a new path, but a path some have left. Orangeism meant not being an enthusiasts for one day in the year, but for the whole 365 days. We should go back to the point where our faith means so much to us so that we become more worthy of it."

He concluded, "My prayer is that the Orange Association prove itself worthy to hold its place because of its own doings and not because of what others have done for it in past days."

Also speaking were: Right Wor. Bro. John Hammond of Toronto, of the Insurance Department, and Right Wor. Sir Kt. Arthur Holden, Past Grand Preceptor of Ontario East Grand Preceptory.

And so another glorious commemoration of the 12th passes into history.

MARATIME LINK

The dream of half a century in Halifax came closer to reality when structural workers strung a catwalk across the towers of the Halifax harbor bridge. From this catwalk, steel workers will string huge cables to support the $10,500,000 bridge, linking Halifax with Dartmouth. Patterned after Lion's Gate bridge in Vancouver the new bridge is one of the largest suspension bridges in the Commonwealth. It will be opened late this year. (CP Photo).

French Canada Ties to France Do Not Include Bastille Day Observance in Country

By BERTRAND THIBAULT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

QUEBEC (CP)—French Canada, whose historical celebrations are closely tied with those of her mother country of France, has celebrated the feasts of St. Louis and even the feast of St. Napoleon, but never has it marked the biggest event in the French revolution which holds bitter memories—the fall of the Bastille.

French Canada was colonized during the glorious reign of the Bourbons but when the Bastille fell July 14, 1789—165 years ago today—France had lost Canada to the English for 29 years.

No longer were there any political ties to unite both countries and the Treaty of Paris in 1763 forever severed Canada from France.

It was about this time that a French-Canadian, Eustache Huchereau Duchesnay, went to France and joined Rochambeau's Artillery Corps which in 1799 attacked and conquered Gorizia, the birth place of Napoleon Bonaparte.

Duchesnay joined the army and when the French revolution was under way he held the post of lieutenant-colonel in an artillery unit which had taken over administration of an arsenal at Charleville, some 150 miles northeast of Paris.

CAPTURED, BEHEADED

At the peak of the revolution a mob of enraged citizens Ruchesnay, carried him to the mayor of the town and accused him of betraying them.

The mob grabbed him, dragged him out of the city hall, killed him with bayonets and then beheaded him. They placed his head at the end of a large stick and carried it through the streets of Charleville to the bridge of it into the river Meuse which flows nearby.

News of this French-Canadian's death did not reach his native town of Beauport, near Quebec, until several weeks later. Coupled with the news of his death was the news of the revolution and the accompanying virtual cessation of Catholic worship in France at the time when the Quebec Act had assured French Canadians wide freedom of language and religion.

French Canadians do not celebrate the fall of the Bastille which symbolizes the fall of the Bourbons. But many of them took part in the 1838 celebration of St. Napoleon, And this was when the political ties with France were much more tense than in the revolutionary times.

Napoleon, according to an historian, chose his own saint—who never existed—and forced the Pope whom he had rendered powerless to order the Roman Catholic church to declare this fictitious person a saint of the church.

Reaction to Napoleon Aug. 15, 1836, celebrated the feast of this "saint" 37 years after they had subscribed voluntarily to a collection to help finance British armies fighting Napoleon.

MERRY TRADER

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP),—An automobile dealer here says in an advertisement he's "a having a merry traders sale" and for 10 days will accept "a horse, cow, land, jewelry, boat, car, motorcycle, piano, silverware or what have you" as part payment on a used car.

British Music Critics Praise Concert Given

LONDON (CP) — George Hurst, an Edinburgh-born evacuee to Canada who stayed on after the Second World War, received enthusiastic notices from British music critics after conducting a Beethoven program at London's Festival Hall.

Hurst, 28, and better known in Canada as a composer, was evacuated to Bishop's College, near Montreal, as a 14-year-old in 1940 and later studied at the Royal Conservatory of Music in Toronto until 1946.

The Times described Hurst as "a musical conductor with a consistent and fiery style of interpretation."

The Daily Telegraph said Hurst's "orchestral playing was eloquent—a striking testimony to the undoubted musicianship of the young conductor."

The Star, a London evening paper, said he "provided the drama of the concert."

Hurst, who has taken Canadian citizenship, performed his own work, "Symfonia," over the CBC network from Toronto. He has just published "four dance preludes," which he says are "loosely based" on Canadian folk music.

In an interview he said: "I was much excited of my first when I first conducted the CBC symphony orchestra at Toronto — it was no terrible, but my opinion it's one of the best orchestras in the Western Hemisphere —without exaggeration."

EASE CREDIT RESTRICTION

LONDON (Reuters) — The government Tuesday relaxed restrictions on limited liability buying. The Board of Trade revoked regulations requiring one-third down payment and full payment within 18 months on all instalment plan purchases. Goods affected will include radios, television sets, phonographs, refrigerators and motor vehicles.

Teletypesetter 10 Times as Fast As Ordinary Ones

BOSTON (AP)—Publishers' representatives Tuesday viewed receiving apparatus of a newly developed, electronic teletypesetter method that transmits at 10 times the speed of those now in operation.

The demonstration of the news transmission equipment was held at the Boston Herald-Traveler, where the 600-word-a-minute circuit has been in trial operation since June 30.

For the last month, the Herald-Traveler has received stock market reports from The Associated Press in New York, with the full compilation being transmitted in about an hour.

Over normal speed circuits, transmission of the stock quotations consumes between nine and 10 hours. Standard teletypesetters transmit at 53 words a minute; current highspeed sets at 66-words a minute.

ELECTRONIC METHOD

The new equipment operates much like standard apparatus, with the major exception that both sending and receiving distributors operate electronically as opposed to the mechanical distributors now in use.

For the trial period, perforated tape prepared in The Associated Press office is fed into sending equipment which translates the punched code into electrical impulses sent over a special high-speed circuit.

The impulses received at the Herald-Traveler are converted into perforated tape by receiving equipment and then fed into teletypesetter operating units attached to standard typesetting machines.

PLACES CORNERSTONE

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Dr. A. T. Ultor, chairman of the board of governors of the University of Western Ontario, Tuesday placed the cornerstone of UWO's new administration building—the $235,000 Stevenson Hall.

PURPLE CORN

SARNIA (CP)—Lambton county agricultural representative W. F. Macdonald said Tuesday he has received reports of corn turning purple on two widely separated farms in this area. He said sample plants will be sent to laboratories at Chatham for analysis.

$10,000 an Acre Being Asked For Land in Metro District

TORONTO (CP)—Prices as high as $10,000 an acre are being asked for some Toronto suburban land as housing developments to meet the growing demand push outward through the city's fringes.

Speculators, farmers and, to a lesser degree, property developers are reported reaping a bonanza in profits.

Community planners say the runaway prices for land are among the highest in North America. They blame the inflated prices for increasing housing costs and, in some cases, tax rates by making it necessary for school boards to pay too much for school sites.

The rapid climb in land prices has been general in urban centres across Canada but housing-project developers say that nowhere else has it reached the heights attained in metropolitan Toronto and adjacent areas. The development is no indication prices will level off.

Farm land that only a few years ago was sold for $400 an acre now onably priced land.

Municipalities Plan Huge School Program

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario municipalities are planning a $6,726,500 school-building program this year. This is the total of applications now before the Ontario municipal board for approval.

The building program includes new public and secondary schools, additions to present buildings and purchasing of sites for expansions.

Famed Opera Described As Sexy and Lewd

LOS ANGELES (AP) — George and Ira Gershwin's famed opera "Porgy and Bess" is described as "too sexy and lewd" for this city's philharmonic auditorium, which is owned by a Baptist church.

Directors and co-producer Robert Breen said Tuesday he had received a letter from general manager C. B. Hirshfield, and the philharmonic requesting that some of the scenes be toned down. Breen said Hirshfield's letter described it "lewd, sexy and obscene."

"This work has played without protest for 18 years," observed Breen. "The U.S. state department sponsored one European tour as a cultural venture. Boston and Philadelphia liked it, also, and it's ironic that our first criticism should come from Hollywood, of all places."

The production opened Monday night and was repeated Tuesday night without change, Breen declared, adding that it was decided not to make any of the suggested changes after he had conferred with lyricist Ira Gershwin, Brother of the late George.

Canadian Soldier Charged With Robbery, Assault

WATERTOWN, N.Y. (CP)—John G. Desmond, 19, of Viking, Alta., a Canadian soldier stationed at Barriefield, Ont., was arraigned in county court here Tuesday, charged with first degree robbery.

Bail was set at $2,000 and in default of payment, Desmond was jailed. He will be held until grand jury sittings in August.

The Canadian soldier is charged with the robbery-assault on Robert W. Cross, New York state teacher, in a room at the YMCA here July 4.

Cross, severely injured, was admitted to hospital with body bruises and possible internal injuries. His $150 car, two rings, watch and a sum of money were taken.

Vienna, Austrian Floods Bring New Danger

VIENNA (Reuters)—The flooding Danube defied hopes and predictions today, and continued to rise in Vienna's eastern districts, bringing with it a new danger—disease.

At midnight Tuesday the Danube had passed the 28-foot mark, engulfing riverside houses in the suburbs.

As 12,000 police and firemen and armies of volunteers continued to patch dikes, man pumps and evacuate stranded people, fear of epidemics turned their attention to avert a possible epidemic.

Polluted water supplies made a large-scale epidemic an imminent danger and inhabitants of flooded areas have been warned to drink only boiled water.

Meanwhile, plans are being made to move all children and some adults from certain areas to reduce the risk of epidemics, the Red Cross said at a press conference Sunday. About 20,000 persons are already said to be homeless in this area. American army doctors and Soviet engineers continued to work shoulder to shoulder as the dikes Tuesday night to save 2,000 acres of rich farmland and four villages from inundation.

Central Plains Hot

CHICAGO (AP)—Sizzling 100-degrees-plus temperatures kept the central plains topmost Tuesday among contenders in the United States frying pan derby.

The hot spell rounded out a full week with the temperature reaching 112.2 degrees at Kansas City, Mo., and 110 at Oklahoma City. Ottawa, Kan., which reported a record high of 117 Monday, reported 115 Tuesday.

American Couple Apparently Lost In Lake Superior

SAULT STE. MARIE (CP)—An American couple has apparently vanished in the Lake Superior region about 125 miles north of here.

An intensive day-long air search conducted by Ontario provincial police has not uncovered any trace of the couple, missing since Sunday and feared drowned between Montreal river harbor and Montreal island, 46 miles northwest of the river.

Albert Ginither, 47, and his wife, Edith, 38, of Grand Rapids, Mich., and former residents of Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., were last seen as they set out in a small boat from the harbor for their summer cottage on the island.

A heavy wind blew up shortly after the couple took off in a 16-foot, aluminum motor boat. They had a reserve gasoline supply of 17 gallons. Police were called when the Ginthers failed to arrive.

Beer Drinkers Face Locked Doors at Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Harold Gordon, chairman of the joint executive board of United Brewery Workers' (CIO-CCL) in Windsor Tuesday said he will ask Mayor Arthur Reaume to intervene in the dispute.

Most western Ontario residents, sweltering in 90-degree heat, have locked doors at retail stores and other outlets as the strike passed its 10th day.

Mr. Johnson said Tuesday he is trying to contact the mayor in hopes he can arrange talks between union and management. The dispute began when the union and Canadian Breweries Transport objected to drivers' helpers were removed from trucks carrying barrels. The men were serving, but not employed by, Hradings and O'Keefe's local plants.

The company said the men struck without following a grievance procedure outlined in the collective agreement. The union said removal of the helpers violated the agreement.

Buyers, Drivers Risk Fines For Hauling Beer

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Beer-dry Chatham and Windsor residents who have accepted an invitation to come are risking minimum fines of $100 each, an official of the Liquor control board of Ontario says.

Thirsty residents are reported coming from cross-province to take back as many as 10 cases a load at a cost of $1.50 a case plus 50 cents a load for a driver.

This is "absolutely illegal," say buyers and the maximum fines of $100 for having beer in an illegal place and supplying it is legally, the official said Tuesday.

W. J. Riddell, London district inspector for the Liquor Control Co. Ltd., confirmed that a number of persons driven by the Windsor brewery workers' dispute were stocking up at London and Glencoe stores.

"It's not happening on any large scale but some people are coming here," he said.

Mr. Riddell added it was legal for a person to buy beer anywhere in Ontario but said the illegality apparently consists of buying and transporting for others.

Another Grain Vessel Tied Up

PORT COLBORNE (CP) — The SS. Everetton of the Canada Steamship Lines and Colonial's Bayton which were both here last week.

The lay-up of vessels is due to a reduction in the amount of grain moving from the Lakehead to Montreal because Montreal's elevators are almost filled to capacity.

BURNED-BY BOTTLES

LONDON (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Joyce Farley, 30, was awarded $7,000 damages Tuesday for burns received from hot water bottles placed in her bed by hospital nurses. She told the court the bottles were placed on each side of her while she lay unconscious after an operation.

Fourth Fugitive From Langstaff Hospital Caught

LANGSTAFF, Ont. (CP)—Police narrowed their hunt to one man today as the fourth of five mental patients who broke out of the Ontario Hospital here was picked up in a telephone booth.

Officers recaptured 20-year-old William Elsie early today as he loitered near a phone booth in midtown Toronto, about 15 miles south of this community. They said Elsie, considered harmless, was carrying a hunting knife in a sheath. He offered no resistance.

This left only one youth—Victor Robert Ellis, 18, of Toronto—still eluding police since the five patients escaped from the hospital Monday night by smashing a guard over the head and stealing a truck. The other three were recaptured later. One of them was severely injured when the truck crashed into a ditch near Langstaff.

ONE STILL MISSING

Ellis was arrested by two Toronto police officers who noticed him standing near the booth. They said Elsie was with another youth who appeared to match Roberts' description. The suspect was questioned and later released.

Officers concentrated their search in an area between Langstaff and Toronto. However, they said Roberts has been reported seen since the escape.

The reported ringleader of the group, 36-year-old Vincent Lauzon, was picked up while trying to hitchhike a ride north of here. Constable George Moore, 17, was found Monday night in a field near the spot where the knife was found in the escaped patient, Donald Avano, 16, suffering severe cuts, back injuries and was recaptured at the crash scene.

Police said Lauzon and Roberts may be more dangerous of the escapees. They said they will be questioned by Dr. Pe e r Langstaff Hospital for the criminally insane.

Two Construction Firms, Four Individuals Ordered To Stand Trial on Fraud Counts

FORT WILLIAM (CP)—Two construction firms and four individuals were ordered to stand trial Tuesday following the first of a series of preliminary hearings into charges of conspiring to defraud the Ontario government.

Tomlinson Brothers Ltd., its subsidiary, Tomlinson Brothers Eastern Ltd., and the individuals will stand trial at the fall assizes.

The charges followed an investigation by the highways department into alleged irregularities in highways contracts in the Fort William division.

NEXT IN WHITBY

The next preliminary hearing will open Tuesday in Whitby, Ont., and others are scheduled for Toronto.

Others to stand trial are: William S. Tomlinson, vice-president of the Tomlinson firms; C. W. Taylor, northern Ontario superintendent of the firms; George M. Mills, former head of the Fort William division of the provincial highways department, and R. F. Peturson, federal public works department engineer stationed in Canada highways' construction.

Magistrate W. F. Woodlife, Sudbury, said he was "satisfied" there is sufficient evidence for a committal.

Crown prosecutor C. L. Dubin said he will attempt to prove association between Peturson and E. Leo Kenny Company, to which Tomlinson Brothers Ltd. sublet a contract.

PRESENTS EVIDENCE

He produced an a g r e e m e n t signed by Peturson, which he said indicated Peturson owned several pieces of equipment used by the firm on a bridge project. According to an affidavit tendered by police from the Tomlinson office and presented in court, Peturson was manager of the company.

A memo taken from Mr. Tomlinson's desk was produced and other exhibit.

"Look after Hurrell and Mills before going west," H read.

The prosecution suggested that Mr. Hurrell referred to was Hayward W. Hurrell, former assistant engineer to Mills in the Fort William office.

SAYS ORDERED

Mr. Dubin told the court he was ordered by Taylor and Mills to boost monthly figures on quantities of material put in place on highway contracts by $60,000 per month for three months.

Mr. Dubin read excerpts from sheets of paper showing that although 99,000 .tons of earth had been removed on a road contract, payment had been received for 138,000 tons; another showed 60,000 cubic yards paid for against 20,000 actually moved; another noted 248,000 yards paid for and 100,000 moved.

Tomlinson Brothers had overruns of nearly $1,200,000 on four contracts, said Mr. Dubin. Progress reports authorizing payment were signed by Mills and initialled by Peturson.

K. E. Keller, Ontario financial comptroller, identified two highway construction contracts let to Tomlinson in December, 1952, for adjacent stretches of road on the trans-Canada highway, for which Tomlinson's tender prices were $615,900 and $252,350.

Mr. Dubin produced payment certificates indicating Tomlinson had been authorized to receive $1,-202,234 on the higher contract and had actually received $1,131,000 after allowing for the regular "hold-back."

Two Construction Firms, Four Individuals Ordered To Stand Trial on Fraud Counts

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Gordon Campbell of Toronto has told the annual convention of the Canadian Osteopathic Association that many unexplained automobile accidents might be eliminated if motorists removed comforts installed by car manufacturers.

Here is the way the doctor explained it:

1. Most cars with elbow rests have the rests for the left elbow only. By pushing the left elbow left the left shoulder slightly, throwing their spinal and cranial alignment out of a natural posture. The elbow on the rest also bounces a bit on rough roads causing a jarring and jiggling that often results in such ailments as backache.

2. The adjustable seats in cars allow the driver to adjust the seat so that he can sit there for a long trip. Such an adjustment causes the driver to reach his arms to a position which develops fatigue.

3. Drivers don't use ventilators in their cars properly. The driver opens one ventilator probably on his side of the car, but does not open another ventilator to create a draft. Stale air swirls around him, causing a minor condition of asphyxia.

4. Soft seats cause the driver to slump.

5. In a long trip the driver's eyes become tired and seek a closer view of the road. From a slumped body position he raises his head to peer through the windshield and constricts the muscles at the back of his neck, slowing down blood flow to the brain.

Dr. Campbell said a result of all this is a series of conditions which create fatigue more rapidly and which also lead to more accidents—even on safe highways.

Legally 'Forgotten Men' for Decade, Convicts Finally Win New Trial

By GEORGE SITTERLY

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP)—Two convicts, legally "forgotten men" for almost a decade, have won a new trial after spending more than 11 years in prison.

They received the chance on their plaint that they did not have adequate counsel at the time in the original hearing back in 1941.

Here's the story:

Joseph Montgomery, then 21, and Lawrence Young, 19, were charged 13 years ago with kidnapping, first degree robbery and first degree assault in Lincoln county, Mo. They admitted in court they got drunk and took an older man in his automobile to St. Louis.

On their pleas of guilty the St. Francois county circuit court judge sentenced each to life imprisonment on the robbery and kidnaping charges and five years for car theft. The judge, Frank Fenwick, is dead.

After four years in the state penitentiary here, Montgomery and Young hired a lawyer and filed a petition in the St. Francois county circuit court. Circuit Judge S. C. Blair, upon being told the men did not have counsel in their original hearing, ordered them returned to St. Francois county "to be dealt with according to law."

Back in St. Francois county judge, Norwin D. Houser at that time, said upon the court's order the men took the action of another circuit court. He said the record of the St. Francois court stood unblemished and ordered Montgomery and Young retained in prison. For more than eight years they were forgotten men.

A few months ago Sam Haley, Jefferson City lawyer, heard about the case from inside the prison. He appealed to the federal district court in Kansas City.

Federal Judge Richard M. Duncan upheld circuit judge Blair's ruling that they be sent back to St. Francois county for a new trial.

Name Directors For Community Centre Project

TRENTON (Special)—The Trenton Community Centre project got off to a great start last night when 10 public spirited residents accepted nominations to the permanent board of directors.

News that all service clubs in Trenton were backing the project 100 per cent heartened the representatives of 19 individual organizations present at the meeting in the town hall.

George Richardson, a director of the Trenton Rotary Club, assured the enthusiasts that the Rotary Club had decided to back the centre to the last man and was prepared to co-operate in any way with the committee. Fellow Rotarian Cliff Baker explained that the Rotary Club was anxious to take on a community project because this year was the Golden Anniversary of Rotary International and local Rotarians considered the great event could be commemorated in no better way.

Ex-mayor Roly Whitley represenating the Trenton Lions Club announced that the Lions had already committed themselves for a minimum of $2,000. Denny Cummer with the Kinsmen Club said the Kinsmen had pledged $700, and more could be expected. Clyde Mount offered support from the Trenton Kiwanis Club.

Acting chairman Jack Goldberg encouraged the enthusiasts and called on them to work as they never worked before. "We can do it", he said, pointing out that the towns much smaller than Trenton had built fine Community Centres. He gave the town of Napanee as an example of a place that raised $100,000 for a similar project. "There should be no trouble in getting $130,000 in Trenton," he declared explaining that the representatives from Trenton organizations represented 70 per cent of the town's population indicating the time was ripe to secure the necessary capital.

Community Centre Directors are: Cliff Baker, Jack Goldberg, James MacDonald, Jack Hadley, Lyle Carr, Joe Gould, Bill O'Malley, Roly Whitley, Danny Senik, N. Bingeman.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was watching pop smoking the first half of his 2nd cigarette after she said, Really, William, I mean actually, it's grazzly the things the doctors are finding out about the effects of smoking on the human system.

It's foolish of a doctor to smoke, if you ask me, pop said, and ma said. Now seriously, William, I mean seriously, they've got it down to statistics.

I've been reading them, they're all about cigarettes, pop said. If I was a cigarette smoker, I'd start to wonder, he said, and ma said, How about cigars for land sakes!

Most of the mischif is caused by berning paper, pop said. That's my theory, and there's no paper in a cigar. There's a little paper around it, in the band, but I make a point of taking the band off and throwing it away as soon as I smell it berning. But you're quite rite to worry about cigarette smokers, he said.

Nickoteen is nickoteen, no matter how you spell it, ma said, and pop said, Well as a matter of fact, I've been thinking of smoking one less cigar a day.

Well, even one is better than none, although litterly speeking, one cigar is worse than none, ma said, and pop said. They're very intriuting figures. What I had in mind was, if I smoke one less a day, I can conscientiously smoke one more a nite, and the nite is when a cigar does you the most good, when you can relax and concentrate and really put your mind on what you're doing.

Oh, what's the use, zuich a man, ma said.

Meening him.

Little Benny's Notebook

Mary Watkins was skating in front of her house in a bewly looking new red dress, and I stopped to talk to her on general principals, and a horse came down the street pulling a junk waggon, and Mrs. Watkins called out the window to the junkman and told him to go in the side entrance for a lot of tied up barrers.

Which he stopped his horse and did, and Mary Watkins said, Oh goody, a horse. That means good luck if you get a hair out of its tail. Will you pull one out for me, Benny? she said.

What, rite out? I said, and she said, Of course, you're not afraid, are you?

I should say not, I said.

And I went to the horse's tale and reetched out, and the horse turned his head around and looked at me with kind of red looking eyes and big teeth and I said, Suppose it berts him, you dont want me to bert him, do you?

Oh, you wont bert him, the hairs are just stuck in there easy, and anyways, horses have no feelings that far back, Mary said, and I said, Well, okay.

And I reetched again, and the horse raised one hine foot and put it down again slow, and I said, Hay, did you see that? He's warning me he's got feelings back here whether other horses have or not. I said, and she said, You're just afraid, I know.

I am not, either, I'll show you, but if I bert him, it wont be on my conscience, I said.

And I started to reetch out again Feckless, and just then the junkman came out with the newspapers, yelling, Get away from that horse's tale.

Which I quick did feeling glad of the excuse, and I said, Darn that guy, he just came out at the wrong time, and Mary Watkins said, Ha ha.

Being sourcastic.

TCP Re-powers Your Engine

TCP, a Shell-discovered additive blended into Shell Premium Gasoline, sets free the captive power formerly locked in by lead and carbon deposits. It's the greatest gasoline development in 31 years.

Acts so fast it repowers your engine before you've finished your second tankful.

Did you know that up to 15% of your engine's power is actually trapped . . . that you are paying for power you aren't getting?

The reason is this: Every gasoline sold today contains deposit-forming compounds. And, as gasoline is burned, lead and carbon deposits form on the walls of the combustion chamber and on the tips of the spark plugs. In the combustion chamber these deposits become red hot, especially when you are accelerating, and set off the gasoline-air mixture before the piston reaches its proper firing position. Power works against you, not for you. This condition is called pre-ignition and it not only wastes power and fuel—it is also responsible for a most severe kind of knock—engineers call it "wild ping."

These deposits also cause power loss by short-circuiting spark plugs, causing them to misfire when you need power most.

Now, however, there is a way to release the imprisoned power in your engine—and quickly!

It's Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP, the greatest gasoline development since the discovery of tetraethyl lead. TCP additive actually repowers your engine by changing the character of the engine deposits. In the combustion chamber it "fireproofs" them so they cannot glow and cause pre-ignition. And, because it makes the deposits nonconductors of electricity, spark plugs no longer short-circuit—they fire on time. Power works for you—not against you.

By the time you have finished your second tankful, you'll be getting up to 15% more power. But remember—because these deposits are constantly building up, continued use of Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is essential to retain its full benefits.

Shell Premium Gasoline with TCP is available only at Shell dealers.

Canada's Pro Football Teams To Woo U.S. Fans Through TV

BY WILW GRUSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canada's pro football teams, already embroiled in a player war with the National Football League of the United States, start training this week for a season which offers a golden opportunity to woo U.S. fans through television.

Only the four teams in the eastern Canada Big Four Union will hit U.S. TV screens this fall through a deal under which the National Broadcasting Company will carry one game each Saturday for 13 weeks starting Aug. 28.

If these catch on, it could lead to a similar deal with the five-team Western Interprovincial Football Union once full television facilities are available in western Canada.

NBC GAMBLE

NBC, shut out of football TV in the U.S. when the league network snatched up college and pro football contracts, is gambling that the venture will click because of the basic similarity of the Canadian and U.S. games, earlier schedule opening and the public outcry by NFL teams over Canadian player raids.

The Big Four will be on eastern TV screens not with all the games carried by the CBC subject to a blackout of home games to help guard against possibility it will cut attendance.

Both the Big Four and the WIFU appear unperturbed by the NFL's bitter reaction to loss of top college draft choices and established veterans. The NFL's retaliation has taken the form of threats that there are threats of further reprisals.

The general pre-season training for Canadian teams starts July 15 giving coaches barely a month to get their teams in shape for exhibition games starting in mid-August.

The Canadian schedule opens Aug. 28, a week to one so earlier than U.S. college and pro leagues, with two WIFU games: Edmonton at Saskatchewan Roughriders of Regina and Calgary at Winnipeg. Vancouver's British Columbia Lions, a new WIFU team, has its first game Aug. 28 against Winnipeg at Vancouver. The Big Four opens Aug. 28, with Ottawa at Toronto and Montreal at Hamilton.

IMPORT PROBLEM

Biggest training-camp problem for coaches is selection of imports. Each club has signed 15 to 20 or more Americans. The number must be cut to 10 by the third game of the schedule and only eight may be used in a game in addition to three "Canadian Americans"—imports who have played four successive seasons in Canada.

The number of Canadian-trained Americans was cut to three a team by the Canadian Rugby Union this year to give promising Canadians a chance. Last season each team could use as many four-year Americans as avilble.

The Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tiger-Cats have signed two of last season's top U.S. rookies stars in J. D. Roberts, all-American guard from Oklahoma voted "Lineman of the Year," and Jack (Rocky) Ryan, all-American end from Illinois and No. 2 draft choice of Philadelphia Eagles. Ryan, however, may be inducted into the U.S. Army shortly.

NOTABLE IMPORTS

The other most notable new Hamilton imports include Dick Tamburo, all-A in centre from Michigan State, end Bob Ondilla from Wake Forest, tackle Frank Dempsey of Chicago Bears and quarterback Glenn Dobbs, former Saskatchewan Roughriders playing coach and star, with Los Angeles Dons. Dempsey, 'a signing of the Bears to launch a $150,000 lawsuit against Hamilton.

The biggest catch of Toronto Argonauts is Howard McCants, six-foot-nine end from Washington State and fourth draft choice of Detroit Lions. The Lions have threatened Argonauts with legal action for signing McCants. Ted O'Connor, a tackle from the University of Nebraska and Philadelphia's third draft pick, is among the other imports grabbed by the Argonauts.

Montreal Alouettes' new imports include Larry Grigg, all-American halfback from Oklahoma, and John Carroll from Holy Cross and tackle Jim Lorenz of Cornell.

OTTAWA NEWCOMERS

The top newcomer with Ottawa Rough Riders is end Clyde Bennett formerly with South Carolina and draft choice of New York Giants. Battling for the job of quarterback behind Jackie Parker is Jay Mellor from Dalhousie, a split-T specialist from Maryland and No. 16 draft choice of San Francisco 49ers, and Jackie Parker, another split-T specialist from Mississippi who had been sought by New York Giants. Parker will probably be converted to a halfback to replace army-bound Billy Vessels, all-American halfback from Oklahoma who played for Edmonton in 1953.

The leading new import with Winnipeg Blue Bombers is Evan Sloman, end from Texas and famous pony backfielders last season, Normie Kwong and No. 1 halves Mel Holme from Minnesota, Byron Townsend from Texas and Floyd Eggins of Florida.

Calgary Stampeders, expected to be the most improved team in the WIFU, have cornered several top players. For quarterback they have Eddie LeBaron from Washington Redskins and their halves include Howard Waugh from Tulsa, Eddie Macon from Chicago Bears and Lowell Wagner from San Francisco 49ers. For ends they have Tom Miner, all-American from Tulsa and Ed Barker from Pittsburgh Steelers.

British Columbia Lions of Vancouver, with Annis Stukus as the only Canadian coach in both the WIFU and Big Four, started a legal fight with New York Giants when they signed veteran tackle Arnie Weinmeister. He's the Lions' top import and Stukus will build his club around him and end Bo Hillhouse, an end formerly with Texas A and M and Chicago Bears.

Soccer Results

The Trenton Merchants won their first game of the season in the Bay of Quinte league last night, a 4-3 triumph over Bataw.

Helyer booted two of the winners goals with Smith and Vanwoensen getting the others. Pacas, Sinets and Hawrlyn were the Bata swa scorers.

Electrics Dump Stewart Warner By 19-3 Score

The Northern Electric nine used a fourteen hit attack last night to bury Stewart Warner 19-3 in a scheduled game played at the Alemite Field.

The Northern win was their fourteenth in sixteen starts and allowed them to stay well ahead of Point Anne in the league standings.

The winners broke up a fairly close 7-3 battle in the seventh with six markers and then poured runners across home plate at a mile-a-minute pace in the eight with their remaining seven tallies. Stewart Warner had a 2-0 lead in the first frame but four in the second and singletons in the next three innings made it 7-2 with the losers getting one in the sixth.

Al Adams gained the victory but Lum Carson pitched hitless ball for the last three frames in a neat relief job. Adams gave up seven hits so he turned two back on third and walked only one.

Frank Baldwin and Jack Canning shared hurling problems for the losers, Baldwin giving up seven runs in five innings on seven hits while Canning was tagged for the last seven runs off seven hits. The reliefer got three on strikes while Northern drew eight free passes in the nine inning fixture.

Singles by Murray, Creegan and Miller put the losers off to a good start with a pair of runs while four Northern tallies came on two walks, a sacrifice and singles by Whiting and Culkin in the second inning. De Rushie and Whiting had singles for another in the third with a walk, sacrifice and Adams single netting their sixth. John Batchelor smashed a homer with none on in the fifth while Miller's single, a sacrifice and a base hit by Brooks plated the Warner Crew's third marker in the sixth.

Two errors, two walks and hits by De Rushie, Whiting and Soules netted their seventh inning five runs. Bailey massed three errors, two walks and singles by Young, De Rushie, Whiting and Soules for seven crushing runs in the eighth.

Deacon Whiting and Harry De Rushie supplied the batting power for Northern as they had four singles each with Culkin walking and having a sacrifice for a perfect night. Doug Soules had two singles, Batchelor honored while other hits went to Young, Adams and Culkin.

Shorty Miller and Stan Creegan had two singles each for the losers, Little, Murray and Brooks getting the others.

The line ups:

Stewart Warner: Murray, Creegan, T. Hurst, Dracup, Miller, R. Hurst, James, Brooks, Little, Ashley, Donovan, Baldwin, Canning.

Northern Electric: Heon, Young, Locke, Batchelor, De Rushie, Whiting, Soules, Culkin, Adams, Carson.

Line score:	R	H	E
St. Warner 200 001 000—	3	7	9
N. Electric 041 110 00—19	14	1

Baldwin, Canning (6) and James; Adams, Carson (7) and Young.

TRINIDAD CHAMPION

Pitroy Bates, 26-year-old clerk, holds track and field records for the 400 metres, in 48.1 second, and 440 yards, in 48.6 seconds, in his native Trinidad. His coach said he hoped Bates would do the 440 at the British Empire Games at Vancouver, July 30-Aug. 7, in 47.6 seconds. In March, 1953, he won 400 metres race against Jim Hathers, United States Olympic runner.—(CP Photo).

Flo Chadwick To Swim Fuca Straits

VICTORIA (CP)—Florence Chadwick, famed long-distance swimmer, plans to swim the Juan de Fuca straits during the second week in August, but the event will look more like a full-scale invasion to the casual observer.

Swim officials met Tuesday, laid down preliminary plans for "Operation Chadwick," and listed three naval vessels, a helicopter, and a flying boat as equipment that will be used for the 16-mile Victoria-Port Angeles swim.

The helicopter will carry extra-loud public-address equipment, to warn off any boats that come too close to Miss Chadwick, endangering her with the cross-wash and exhaust fumes.

The Grumman flying-boat, donated by a private firm, will carry first-aid equipment, and will be ready to land on the water in the event of an emergency.

Prize money for the swim, if completed, totals $10,000. It has been donated by a paint company and the Victoria Times.

Penticton V's May Play In World Hockey

KELOWNA, B.C. (CP)—Dr. Mel Bailey, president of the B.C. Amateur Hockey Association, said Tuesday the Penticton V's are being considered as Canadian representative in the next world hockey championships in Europe.

The Penticton team last season won the Allan Cup, symbolic of Canadian amateur hockey supremacy.

Dr. Butler received a telegram from George Dudley, secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, asking if the V's were still interested in defending Canada in the international match.

Thereupon he immediate answer from the team.

Injury Won't Affect Sawchuk's Hockey Ability

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Terry Sawchuk, 24-year-old Detroit Red Wing goalie who has been more than his share of hospital rooms, says his latest injury, from an automobile crash, "won't affect my hockey game at all."

Sawchuk suffered a 20-per-cent cut on his hands and knees Sunday night when he hit a tree while swerving to avoid an oncoming car.

He is in the University of Michigan hospital here, where doctors term his condition "very good" and hope he will be released by the end of the week.

CANADIANS BEATEN

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (CP)—A team of Canadian senior golfers took a trimming Tuesday over this seaside course. They lost all 12 of their foursome matches against rivals from Britain and the United States. Britain emerged on top for the day, winning five of its six matches against the U.S. and halving the other.

Huge Suit Looms Over All-Star Game

CHICAGO (AP)—The threat of a $6,000,000 suit over telecast arrangements for the all-star baseball game in Cleveland Tuesday was made by the CIO National Association of Broadcast Engineers and Technicians.

George Maher, executive secretary of the union, said the suit will charge breach of contract and conspiracy to restrain trade.

He said the first step will be to file grievance against the National Broadcasting Company because the all-star telecast was originated by a non-union crew of Cleveland station WKEL.

He said the grievance will go to arbitration and if the arbitrator favors the union a suit would follow.

Maher said the defendants would include the NBC, baseball commissioner Ford Frick, the Gillette Razor Blade Co., (sponsor of the telecast), the Maxon Advertising Agency, Detroit (agency for Gillette), and the Cleveland Indians Baseball Club.

He said arrangements for telecasting the game at Cleveland breached the union's contract with NBC. The arrangements called for WKEL to feed the telecast to NBC.

Zatopek Out Of Big Meet

STOCKHOLM (CP)—Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's miracle long-distance runner, has fallen ill and will be unable to compete in the 3,000-metre race here Friday, organizers of the meet announced Tuesday.

Details of the Czech's illness were not known and there was no indication whether it would prevent him from participating in the European championships at Bern, Switzerland, next month.

Near-Record Crowd Sees American Leaguers Defeat National All-Stars

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

HEAT EFFORT!

The Bates reared up on their hind legs in that ram-bunctious! fifth inning and their bludgeons really went to work on luckless Gunner Whitehill, for five hits, good for seven runs that smashed the eighth victory out of the loop for the Corycrites. They were trailing 8-4 up to this point after the Petes had made merry at the expense of Johnny Mowat. Enter young Master Robert Bentson, and the blonde right-hander hurled the Petes over the rest of the route for his second piece of sparkling relief work in a week. Bob let the visiting sluggers down with one lonely hit over the four, plus innings he toiled, striking out six and walking five.

The victory put the Bates in solidity at third place, with eight wins and as many defeats for a percentage of .500. The Petes, who defeated the league-leading Oshawa Transporters the night previous, are fourth with the Oakville Oaks, who were beaten mid night by the second-place Toronto Hoskings in the fifth slot.

The Bates play a double feature at Oakville on Friday night with the Saturday night game with Hoskings laid over until July 31 when a twin bill will be played here.

Coach Vern Gaye shuffled his infield again last night and came up with the best combination yet. He put Keith MacDonald at the hot corner and the fleet-footed infielder came up with a fine performance. Tony Petitti finally found his batting eye with a rip-roaring four-bagger and Bob left fielder had a similar double good for a pair of runs. Al Kelleher is keeping up his heavy hitting. The big boy came through with a triple and single last night to boost his batting average.

BAD OMEN!

Judging from the fiery gleam in the eyes of Whipper Billy Watson last Friday night when George "The Zebra" Bollen, interfered in the main bout, things do not look so rosy for the "Striped Man." Whipper and Paul Baillargeon were so de-censed over the interference, especially the big courier de bois from Keebec that they demanded a return bout with Master Bollen taking over the spot alongside the Mighty Ursus, former ace performer of Don Lewis. There will be fireworks, sure as shootin' when the combo clashes in Memorial Arena come Friday evening. A familiar face will be seen, if the sideburns don't fool me, as Big Hi Lee comes back to clash with the popular Ray Villmer in the semi-final.

President Henry Drury of the Canadian National Railways Athletic Association and his hard-working lieutenants, Al Meagher and George Clapper, not to mention Publicist Sandstack, have completed plans for the big annual picnic being held on the Cobourg Park this Saturday. It is expected some 800 will attend. A large and varied program of sports and other entertainment has been arranged and it looks from now as though the outing will be the best in the history of the association. A special train will leave the north station at nine o'clock in the morning, EDT, returning at 6.30 in the evening.

WILD AND WOOLLY!

The American League tipped its figurative glass in a tremendous toast to muscular Al Rosen, tiny Nellie Fox and "Did-He-Talk" Dean Stone, the junior league trio, that enriched victory out of defeat and gave the Case Historical the biggest heart-warming thrill since he won his first world series.

Big Al Rosen drew the here laurels. Playing with a "busted" finger the Cleveland hitting star smashed out two homers in the most dramatic game of the summer classic since Ike Interpiles. He was described by writers and photographers in the junior circuit dressing room after the game. Al matched an all-star record in RBI's set by Arky Vaughan in the 1941 game and tied by Ted Williams in 1946.

The Nationals bested, griped and argued about the attempted pilfering of the plate by "Red" Schoendienst. Stone was caught flat-footed until Rosen shouted to him from first base. Stone whipped the ball to Ted Lepcio, who barred the sliding Cardinal. Then the war broke out.

Leo "The Lip" Durocher summed the game. "Balls crashing all over the park, and out of the park, and a 9-8 foot hit ruins us," griped the colorful Giants' manager.

Fox' Bases-Loaded Single In Eighth Inning Turns Tide; Injured Rosen Hits 2 Homers

By Joe Reichler

CLEVELAND (AP)—A slowly-mounting finger, a thing called pride and a big bonehead bat all played a prominent part in the American League's return to the winners' circle. The finger, pride and bat all belonged to one person. . . Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians.

The box score of Tuesday's 11-9 American League all-star victory over the Nationals shows it was a baseball game for the fans. But in the eighth inning — a real "classic" that fell into the category of being runs to end the war of 13 pitchers in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

But the 69,751 cash customers who came to see baseball and the thousand of setting a new all-star attendance record knew what was happening to the finger for the Americans. They had cheered themselves hoarse in appreciation of their boy, the prematurely gray-thatched Rosen, who, with a painfully swollen index finger, had crashed two home runs and drove in five runs, including the annihilation of six of the National League's best pitchers.

MINDED HIS MANNERS

Rosen's visible demonstration of power was far from the whole tale, however. The real story was a behind-the-scenes drama of which none of the fans, or even the newswriters and players, had any inkling. It didn't come to light until later that Rosen had asked manager Casey Stengel to be taken out after the first inning because he felt he "might hurt the team."

"Pride got the better of me," said Rosen in an interview after the game. "Instead of begging off altogether, I asked Casey Stengel that I give it one try. . . I told Casey I'd like to go up to the plate and tell him how I felt.

"Well, I struck out in the first inning and felt terrible. The finger hurt like the dickens. . . but I didn't say anything to Casey. . . I didn't want to bow out that way. The next time up I hit a bone one. You can't strike out that way. And would you believe it, the finger didn't hurt . . . not much, anyway."

TELLING BLOW

The homer, off starter Robin Roberts in the third inning, came after the Philadelphia righthander had walked Chicago's Minnie Minoso and given up a single to Cleveland's Bobby Avila. Ray Boone of Detroit followed with a home run to give the Americans a 4-0 lead but the Nationals fought back with five runs against Chicago's Sandy Consuegra and Cleveland's Bob Lemon in the fourth, and added two more runs on a homer by Cincinnati's Ted Kluszewski in the fifth to forge ahead 9-4. But the Americans had the scrap again in the fourth.

Rosen was not through yet, finger and all. After Yogi Berra had singled in the last of the fifth, the big guy who'd corrected first baseman walloped a second home run, even longer than the first. This drove Lemon and Berra home as Rosen got his third hit in the ninth, a hot single off the third baseman's chest which didn't figure in the run the Americans made in that inning to go ahead 10-9.

Al's walk, however, played a major part in the eighth when the Americans tallied three times to overcome a 9-8 deficit. The Nationals had taken a one-run lead when pinch hitter Gus Bell of Cincinnati hammered a home run off Bob Keegan of Chicago, the sixth of seven pitchers used by Stengel and Durocher.

HOME-TOWN BOY

Trailing 9-8, the Americans tied the score on Larry Doby's punch hit homer off Gene Conley of Milwaukee. Singles by the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra preceded the walk to Rosen. Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, also pitching for the Nationals, walked Alston, replaced Conley and fanned Mickey Vernon for the second out but Fox blooped a Texas leaguer in back of second base, just out of the reach of shortstop Alvin Dark, to chase in the winning runs.

The victory ended the National's four-game victory streak. It was the first triumph for Stengel who had now won one in four previous tries. It was by far the widest of the 21 games of the series which the Americans lead 13 to 8. New records were set for hits (24 by both teams), 30. The six homers tied a record set in 1941 for the American; most hits by both teams, 31; and most runs-scored by both teams, 20

Batas Blast Seven-Run Explosion In Fifth To Defeat Peterborough 13-8

Trail 8-4 in Early Innings Before Loosing Big Rally; Pettitt Hits Homer, Double

By GEORGE M. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

Trailing 8-4 going into the fifth inning, the Belleville Batas exploded a seven-run blast against the Peterborough Petes, that not only won the game 13-8 but consolidated their hold on third place in the Viaduct-Ontario Senior Baseball League standing, here last night.

The veteran Gunner Whitehill essayed to give the Petes their second victory in as many nights but after being touched for ten hits for nine runs, gave way to playing coach Joe Lowrey in the fifth. The Petes' lefty was nicked for four hits for as many runs over the rest of the route.

Bobby Buxton came through with another brilliant piece of relief pitching. He took over from Johnny Mowat in the fifth after the "Duke" had yielded eight hits for as many runs with one out in the fifth. Buxton stifled the Petes' bats allowing but two hits for no runs. He struck out six and walked three.

The win was the Batas at 8-4 record for .500 while the Petes who whipped Oshawa the night previous now boast a 7-10 mark.

STRUCK STRIDE.

The Batas struck their hitting stride garnering 14 clouts off the two Petes' hurlers, one a towering home run by Tony Pettit who added a double to his record. Claude Carr paced the pack with three hits while Al Kelleher had a triple and single.

Bill Edgar led the Petes hit parade with three clouts, one a double, while Kearns contributed a triple.

The Batas ran wild on the bases, tabbing the Petes catcher for no less than seven pilfered sacks to put runners in scoring position.

Three walks off Johnny Mowat in the first innings paved the way for a pair of Petes' markers. Single by Bill Edgar and Ferguson drove in the runs. A walk, Paget's double and Young's single were good for two more in the fourth and Kearns triple, singles by Whitehill and Redmond, plus a walk gave the Petes four more in the fifth, and that was the end for Mowat.

BUNTON'S FINE JOB.

Buxton went in and that was the end of the scoring for the Petes as the big righthander clicked them with two singles and no runs for the rest of the game.

The Batas scored a single in the first off Keith MacDonald's lusty blow, a sacrifice and Gerow's out and nibbled another in the third when Peter Jones and Mowat combined singles. They tied the score in the fourth at 4-all when Claude Carr and Doug Hall merged successive hits to shove two runners across the plate.

The roof fell in on the aging Gunner in the fifth when three Batas walked, a glaring error, a four-sack smash by Pettit, Bunt's double and singles by Buxton, Kelleher and MacDonald sent seven Bata runners across the plate. The Gunner figured he had it, and Joe Lowrey took over.

The Lefty held the Batas to one hit and no runs until the ninth when Al Kelleher blasted a triple and scored on Claude Carr's sacrifice fly. Tony Pettit came up with his second clout, a stirring double and scored the second run on an infield out and a Peterborough infield error.

The Petes came up with six servers, four of them being credited to the catcher. The Batas played fine defensive baseball with their only bobble coming in the first innings. Keith MacDonald, playing his first game at third base appeared to be the answer to Coach Vern Geroy's prayer.

Joe Scudero Argo Standout

TORONTO (CP)—Joe Scudero, speedy little back, stood out among the 35 players who attended the first football practice of Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four Tuesday night.

Steve Karrys, veteran Argo player, didn't show up at the practice.

"I'll have to consider that Steve isn't a candidate for the team," coach Frank Clair said. "We contacted Steve twice and asked him to drop down and see us. . . Well, here's our first practice and he hasn't shown up. If that's the extent of his interest, I'll have to consider he isn't a candidate."

'Hurricane' Meets Valdes Tonight

NEW YORK (AP)—If Hurricane Tommy Jackson ever is going to raise a title shot at heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano, tonight should tell the story.

The Hurricane, a restless 22-year-old New York Negro, boxes Wins Valdes, the Cuban giant, in an important 10-round heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden. The match will be televised.

Valdes, a 6-foot-3-inch 227 pounder, is rated No. 2 among Marciano's contenders, right behind Erzard Charles although he beat Charles last year at Miami. Despite the high ranking, Jackson, the No. 6 boy, is favored.

Deplores Cutting Cycle Team

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jim Davies, vice-chairman of the British Empire Games cycling committee said Tuesday Canada is throwing away points by cutting three eastern riders from the team.

Selection of Bill Whittaker of Toronto, Gaston Langlois of Montreal, and Walter Willaert of Delhi, Ont., was not ratified in the list of 12 team members released by the Games society Monday.

Dave Matthews, chairman of the Games cycling committee, said he wrote Bert Sharp of Toronto, president of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, last February suggesting the team be enlarged. He gave as reasons the number of flag raisers in Canada.

The cycle squad has actually been increased by two since only 10 men originally slated to ride.

Jack Davies, chairman of the Games society, said the cycle squad is fortunate in numbers 13 and considers the master closed.

American Grid Star Barred By Injunction

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bert Bell, National Football League commissioner, says he is pleased with a court decision ordering a college player to stay in the NFL instead of jumping to Canada's Big Four.

But Bell declined Tuesday to speculate on the effect the temporary injunction issued against former Syracuse lineman Bob Fleck might have in the NFL-Canada fight with the Canadian league for top players.

After the injunction was issued in a county court at nearby West Chester Monday, Fleck agreed to play for the Green Bay Packers. The Packers, in turn, consented to drop legal action against the 25-year-old Fleck from Coatesville, Pa.

Bell emphasized that the court ruling was an "out-and-out" opinion on the NFL player contract. "I understand it, the judge's temporary injunction quotes the contract."

LIKES DECISION

"I believe that every boy should live up to his moral and legal obligations," he added.

Fleck was reported to have received a letter in offer of $8,000 and a $1,000 bonus for signing with the Ottawa Rough Riders of the Big Four.

Fleck, six feet, two inches tall and weighing 260 pounds, was the second draft choice of the Packers. He was named to several all-star teams while playing for Syracuse.

Track Team To Cut 72

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canada's track and field squad in the British Empire Games was cut to 72 Tuesday when Jack Carroll, U.S. collegiate quarter-miler from Montreal quit the team.

Ken (Hooker) Wright of New Westminster, coach of Canada's middle distance men, said Carroll developed leg trouble in the weekend trials here.

Leigh Miller of Halifax, head track and field coach, said "Jack felt he wasn't in shape and decided the team would be better off without him."

The Montrealer was Big Ten indoor and outdoor champion with the University of Michigan in 1952.

Miller said the Canadian team, now standing at 53 men and 19 women, has more depth than any previous one and should do "very well."

Meanwhile, Sam Rosen, ticket boss of the Games, said only 2,000 tickets remain for the mile final Aug. 7 although there are still plenty of ducats for the mile heats Aug. 5.

Some Vancouverites are betting Roger Bannister of England will take John Landy of Australia in the mile on the strength of Bannister's 3.58.8 final quarter in the recent British mile championship. No one will risk any odds against the two in the preliminary heats.

Behind the four-hit pitching of Ted Batchelor, Elliott's Motors whipped McDougall's 7-3 at King George School last night.

Batchelor worked the route for the winners striking out 12. Huddleston hurled for the losers striking out 1 and walking 2.

Batchelor aided his cause with a home run and two singles while Dick Moore also exploded with a home run and a single. Thrasher, Huddleston and McKay also hit.

For the losers Elliott, Huddleston, Sills and Walmsley hit safely.

WILL WILLIE MAKE IT?

The big baseball power this season is "Will Willie Mays Make it?" The big-hitting slugging star of the New York Giants recently blasted his 81st homer of the year, which put him 10 games ahead of the record pace set by Babe Ruth when he hit 60 in 1927. Ruth hit his 31st in his 94th game. Here, Willie ponders over a photo montage of the great home-run hitters of yesteryear who threatened the Babe's mark. They are, top left: Jimmy Foxx, who hit 58 for the A's in 1932; top right, Hank Greenberg, 58, for the Tigers in '38, Ralph Kiner, bottom left, 54, for the Pirates in '49, and bottom right, Hack Wilson, 56, for the Cubs in '30. Grantland Rice Dies Suddenly, Was Dean of Sportswriters

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Outlined against the blue-gray October sky, the four horsemen rode again.

Perhaps there will be better leads written on sports stories, but there probably will never be a more widely-known one. It was written almost three decades ago in describing the Army - Notre Dame football game of 1924 by Grantland Rice, the dean of American sports writers, who died of a stroke Tuesday night at 73.

Notre Dame went on to win the game on that murky day and the famous backfield of Elmer Layden, Harry Stuhldreher, Jim Crowley and Don Miller became a legend.

PERFECTIONIST

Rice was a perfectionist of his profession and many is the youngster who tried to pattern himself after this veteran of more than a half-century in sports.

Granny, as he was known in the trade, was one of the first erudite sports writers. When he started after his graduation from Vanderbilt University with a Phi Beta Kappa key, sports departments as they are known today, were nonexistent.

In fact, his first job with the Nashville News in 1901 combined covering sports with the state capital, county court house and cultural offerings at $5 a week.

FAMED LINES

From the start, his flair for verse manifested itself and almost anybody can quote his most famous lines, although no doubt not everyone knows the author.

When the great scorer comes To mark against your name He'll write not "won" and "lost"

But how you played the game.

Rice's explosive prose always sought and he never could decide whether Babe Ruth or Ty Cobb was the greatest athlete he ever watched. He was certain that the greatest, the right or Ty Cobb point to the flagpole in Wrigley Field into hitting the ball in fast, exact spot for a home run, during the 1932 world series.

He said the Thorpe-Virpo fight of 1923 was the greatest fight he ever saw and that Bobby Jones' grand slam of 1930 was his biggest golf thrill. Jones, one of Rice's closest friends, said: "His death is the worst news I have heard in years."

Rice was stricken in his office about noon while working on his syndicated column, "The Sportlight." With him when he died were his wife, Katherine Rice, and his secretary, Katherine Mecca.

Certainly, Rice played the game of life to the hilt.

Born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., he was an all-around athlete at Vanderbilt, where he captained the 1901 baseball team.

He played semi-pro baseball briefly after he left college then went to work in Nashville as a shipping clerk. But his flair for sports—was still his strongest and he lasted on his job only a few days.

Foot Injury Robs Pirie Of Big Chance

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A shoelace has shattered Gordon Pirie's dream of destroying Emil (the Incredible) Zatopek of Czechoslovakia.

Pirie, the tall, 23-year-old runner from Coulsdon, Surrey, said Tuesday a foot injury will keep him out of the European championships next month at Bern, Switzerland—his target for the last two years.

Pirie, of Britain's great runners over 5,000 metres, Pirie turned down an invitation to represent England in the fifth Empire Games at Vancouver starting July 30. Pirie said he wanted to concentrate entirely on the European games and his anticipated "dream" race against the grimacing Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's iron man.

A couple of weeks ago Pirie developed an infected left foot, believed caused by over-zealous tightening of a pair of shoelaces. The result was the lanky runner withdrew from last week's track meet at London's White City Stadium, then changed his mind—and failed to complete the five-mile event won by Peter Driver.

SAYS WILL WIN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Doug Freeman, prominent New Zealand diving coach, predicted Tuesday that Patrick of Calgary will bring the British Empire Games diving championship to Canada. He said Patrick "isn't anyone in the Commonwealth who can touch Patrick." The diver won the Canadian championship here last week.

Americans Trim Ontario Golfers

TORONTO (CP) — A Washington, D.C., team of junior golfers retained the Simpson Cup Tuesday, whipping a team of Ontario juniors 10-1 in the fourth annual competition.

The Washington juniors won three of the four Scotch foursomes and seven of the eight singles matches, with one of the singles events ending in a tie, for their 10-point total.

Ian Capra of Hamilton and George Bullas of Toronto scored Ontario's only win when they defeated Warren Erick and Deane Beman of Washington in the 18-hole Scotch foursomes matches for 18-year-olds, 4 and 3.

Gary Cowan, Ontario juvenile champion from Kitchener, made the best showing for the Ontario team in the singles matches. Cowan tied John Redman at the end of the regulation 18 holes in one of the 2-year-old bracket matches, by winning the final hole at the Toronto Mississauga course with a par four.

There was no play-off and no points were awarded for a tie match.

Yankees, Giants Loom As Contenders For Forthcoming World Series?

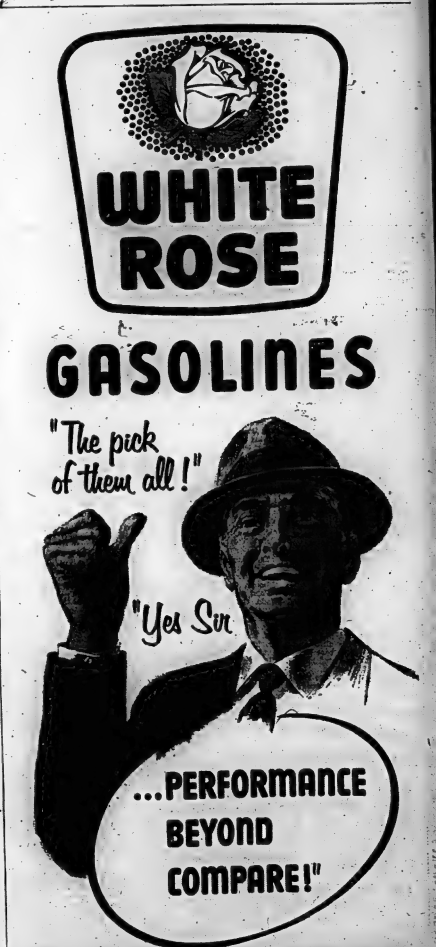
By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — Now it's back to the mines for baseball heroes, with all the big questions still be to answered before the world series next fall.

Are the Yankees, working on a nine-game winning streak before the all-star game, at last making the major moves which will send them toward their sixth straight championship? Their opponents fear so.

Can the Giants maintain their dizzy pace, which has included six straight over Brooklyn, and sail on to an almost-uncontested National League flag? Injuries, some of a serious nature, have hit key players, there is strong opinion that Leo Durocher's club can do just that.

Has age suddenly caught up with the Dodgers in pace-setter Jackie Robinson in particular, or has the club merely been caught in a slump which may lift any day now and transform it again into the almost unbeatable team that clinched the flag on Sept. 12 last season?



Getting back to the first one, the only possible reply has to be a reluctant yes. The fans for the most part are terribly tired of seeing the Yankees win year after year. So are seven other clubs in the National League. But there appears to be nothing anybody can do about it.

The upcoming schedule, in which the Yanks play 13 games in their home stadium in the next 21 days, looks bad for the leading Cleveland Indians' hopes. Official odds now favor the Yanks.

There is no obvious reason why the Giants should not maintain their present pace. The club has enjoyed some luck, true, in pulling a lot of games from the fire in the late innings, but that is accepted as the hallmark of a good, sound outfit, which the Giants are.

Possibly the key question concerns the ability of veteran Sal Maglie to continue pitching with the same regularity and effectiveness through the second half of the race. If he does, the Polo Grounders will be tough to overtake.

Assessing the Dodgers' chances of retrieving in the second half, there are some interesting figures. A year ago the club had won 32 games and lost 31. Its standing to day was 51-32, or a difference of only one game.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
and KIBBITZER

Despite its similar vocabulary a language of bidding covers a wide range of information. By special combination of the bidding words a player can ask and receive unusual advices.

Partner is not forced to bid in answer to an opening one bid. So, when partner has a weak hand any special information desired from him must be drawn out with a suction pump; a high opening.

There was the deal shown here:

NORTH
♠7 8 4 2
♥A 8 5
♦J 10 9
♣8 5 4

WEST EAST
♠J 9 ♠K 10 8 5
♥10 7 4 3 ♥9 8 5
♦Q 8 6 3 2 ♦A 5
♣7 6 ♣Q 10 9 3

SOUTH
♠A Q 3
♥A K 2
♦K 7 4
♣A K J 2

With the hand south has it is not likely that partner in the north may have much. In fact, north may not have enough to make a voluntary responding bid to an opening bid of one.

On the other hand, south has enough in his own hand to make a game if partner has no more than one good big card. Therefore, the most important information south needs is: "Have you a big card?"

North will not volunteer such information if he does not know this is all the opener wants to know. So, south gives north a signal which requires north to divulge this information.

Thus, south starts with an opening bid of two no-trump; the signal that says: "Bid three on trump if you have a high card or more." Only thus would north know what is required of him.

Keep in mind that an opening bid two no-trump does not force north to bid. It permits north to pass if he has no high. But he is ordered to bid if he has as much as a queen or better.

If south opens with a bid of one in any suit, north need not bid unless he has more than his expected two tricks. Only if south opens with two no-trump should north bid with a high card only.

Does north have such a high card? Yes. The heart queen. It is the only trick he can count in his whole hand. But it is enough for a response of three no-trump. Just what the doctor ordered.

AT THE CATTLE

Top Stars In Big Musical 'Those Redheads From Seattle'

Add to the growing list of Hollywood "firsts" the brand new Paramount film, "Those Redheads From Seattle." Due to open Thursday at the Capitol Theatre for its first city showing. "Those Redheads From Seattle" is the big Technicolor musical. Produced by those two talented gents, Howard Pine and William Thomas, it has a top-notch cast consisting of Rhonda Fleming, Gene Barry, Agnes Moorehead and some of the nation's outstanding new singing sensations, Teresa Brewer, Guy Mitchell and the Bell sisters.

The film, which is reportedly one of the singiest, zingiest extravaganzas to come along in many a year, is set against a background of the Northwest during one of its most exciting eras—the gold rush. The story concerns a devoted and musically inclined family, Miss Moorehead and her daughters, Rhonda Fleming, Teresa Brewer and the Bell Sisters, who upon their arrival in turbulent Dawson to join the head of the household find that he has been murdered.

Before his violent demise, the family's husband and father, had been the editor of a crusading newspaper which under the guidance of Miss Fleming is soon back on a paying business as usual. Meanwhile Rhonda has become romantically involved with Gene Barry boss of a rip-roaring night club. When Barry is suspected of having murdered her father, Rhonda drops him but before the final fade he brings in the real killer and all ends well.

Interspersed throughout the exciting goings-on in "Those Redheads From Seattle" are many songs that were written by the outstanding songwriters in America today, Hoagy Carmichael, Ray Evans and Jay Livingston and Robert Merrill. These lively tunes are sung and danced to by the entire cast and advance reports herald the musical numbers as "tops."

"The Redheads From Seattle" also boasts some stunning scenery. In the ranges of the Colorado Rockies, a perfect substitute for the story's Yukon background, advance audiences herald this scenery as a thing of breath-taking beauty.

On the same program Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis in "The Caddy" a colored cartoon completes the big family bill.

AT THE McCARTHY

Rudolph Maie, who completed his fourteenth screen directorial stint with Panoramic Productions' Technicolor adventure drama, "The Siege at Red River" starting Thursday at the Odeon McCarthy Teatre, was one of Hollywood's top cameramen before he took up directing. He was born in Cracow, Poland, earned his cinematographic reputation in France and reached America in 1936. He joined the ranks of French classic, "The Passion of Joan of Arc."

As a Hollywood cameraman he won five Academy Award nominations for "Cover Girl," "Sahara," "Foreign Correspondent," "That Hamilton Woman" and "Pride of the Yankees." He waited so much to be a director that he took a salary cut from his customary $1,000 weekly to direct his new feature, "The Dark East," starring William Holden.

In the course of his career, Maie has functioned as a star maker as well as a money maker. He was instrumental in discovering Terry Moore, Piper Laurie, Tony Curtis and Peter Hanson.

The tenderness in Maie's pictures is the unusual and imaginative use of the camera to provide excitement and suspenseful drama.

Maie prefers to be called Rudy. He can't work'ing he's fishing. His passion for the trout stream has resulted in his building a home in Bishop, Cal., to which he migrates during the season to practise his skill with rod and reel.

"3 Coins in the Fountain", Romantic Comedy-Drama Filmed in Rome, Venice Locales

With six stars heading the cast and the historical beauty of Rome and Venice as a background, "Three Coins in a Fountain", one of the year's romantic Century-Fox major efforts in the new CinemaScope form, comes to the Belle Theatre, Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire, Jean Peters, Louis Jourdan, Maggie McNamara and Rossano Brazzi essay the principal roles in this triple love story by L. Scorsdari's best-selling novel and to give the picture added dramatic power, John distinguished author transposed the story to film.

For the first time audiences will see in beautiful color, through the expanded power of CinemaScope, which encompasses broad vistas, such wonders as St. Peter's, The Coliseum and Forum, the Villa Madama, the Spanish Steps and the fountain de Trevi in Rome. In Venice the Palazzo de Doges and the Grand Canal were filmed as backgrounds for important scenes in the story. Much of the Italian countryside also came into the range of the CinemaScope camera as well as the natural grandeur of the Italian Alps which stand as a magnificent backstop for the little village of Merane where scenes were filmed.

The story deals with the romantic yearnings of three American secretaries working in Rome. Wearying of 15 years of unrequited affection for Clifton Webb, an American author who is an expatriate, Miss McGuire thinks of going home. Finding Italian economics an impassable barrier to marriage, Miss Peters also decides to return to the U.S. until Rossano Brazzi, in the role of a young translator in the U.S. Distribution agency in Rome, changes her mind. Miss McNamara is the new arrival who dreams of capturing Louis Jourdan, an Italian prince, but finds him extremely elusive. How the girls, each in her own way, manage their romances gives the story its poignancy.

Point Anne Trims Frankford For Tenth Win

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Overcoming a 4-3 deficit, the Point Anne Cementmen racked up their tenth win of the year by a 10-5 score over Frankford to strengthen their grip on second place in the Belleville and District softball league last night.

The Cementmen took a 1-0 lead in the second frame but blew it in the fourth when Ken Radley hit a three-run homer and another tally scored for a 4-1 lead by Frankford. The homesters rallied for a tie score in the fifth and went out front to stay with a pair in the sixth. They plated a trio of insurance runs in the seventh while Frankford's final marker came in the last inning.

Bobby Hunter was credited with the victory in six innings plus as he was touched for nine hits leading to four runs. He got two on strikes while walking one and hitting two. Pat Maracle protected his lead the rest of the route while allowing six hits, one whiffing four and hitting one batter.

Hunter drove in the Pointers' initial tally with a single after Gilmour's base knock and an error to the Merchants third sacker in the second.

With one down in the fourth, Gilmour of Frankford stroked a single to centre, Cooke reached base on an error and pitcher Doug Radner drove one to right centre field for a round-tripper and a 3-1 score. Dafoe kept the rally alive with a single and two more base hits by Austin and Radin plated him before the side was retired.

It was Hunter again who started his team on the way to scoring as he singled in the fourth with Wardhaugh following suit. Hull was hit by a pitch after Hunter scored on a throwing error and Jake Wade pushed one into centre with both base runners scoring on the hit for a 4-4 score. John Gilmour drew deep to left field with Wade trotting home after. Cooke and the Cementmen were once more in the lead.

Pat Gilmour increased the winners lead in the sixth with a home run that carried close to the woods in very deep left field while singles by Mulholland and Wardhaugh plus Hunter's error gave the way for another. Sam Mulholland salted the verdict away in the next frame with a single to centre and Gilmour of the visiting team had a homer for his team's final run in the ninth.

Doug Radner went the route for Frankford, allowing 12 hits, fanning two and issuing a free pass to one and hitting one batter.

Pat Gilmour led his team at bat with a homer and two singles in four trips while Mulholland homered and singled. Jack Wardhaugh and Bob Hunter claimed a brace of singles each while Hull, Wade and Maracle also hit safely.

Top man for Frankford was Gilmour with a homer and single as Austin added two singles. Radner claimed a homer with singles for Dafoe, Cosgrove, Rankin, Leavitt and Wickson.

The lineups:

Frankford: Dafoe, Cosgrove, Austin, Rankin, Leavitt, Wickson, Gilmour, Cooke Radner.

Point Anne: Wardhaugh, Hull, Wade, Green, Bob Strahan, Gilmour, Bradshaw, Mulholland, Bill Strahan, Gwyer, Hunter, Maracle.

Line score:

	R	H	E
Frankford	000 400 001—	5	10	5
Point Anne	010 042 30x—10	12	5

Batteries: Radner and Wickson. Hunter, Maracle (7) and Green.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A certain amount of self-assertion may be needed if you would have others fall in line with your wish. However, gushing or forcing issues will hinder—not help.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — One might call this a "homespun day," one wherein evidences of friendly spirit and co-operation will reap rewards. Stick to facts, not fancy.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Face matters resolutely and with sincere confidence and you will have nothing to fear. Gemini folks can at times be too cocksure. Don't, even if you do know the answers.

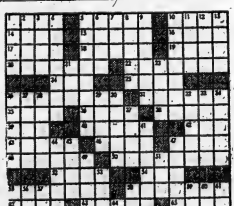
June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — You will do alright by yourself if you follow your best instincts and use your versatile talents to their utmost.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — The stars indicate that certain activities have a better outlook than others. Be alert, ready to take advantage of good opportunities. (Movement may entail more study, quicker action, but the results will be worthwhile.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—With your innate courage, keen sense of right and wrong and natural perception, you should find the going smooth. Some checking in financial matters may be in order. Generally you should gain.

September 24 to October 22 (Libra)—A fairly balanced day. No time for a too forceful attitude; a diplomatic, give-and-take manner will carry you farther.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—Single out the essential, vital issues; bear down on worthwhile matters. It's no sin to ask advice, assistance, and be sure to use it if you need it.

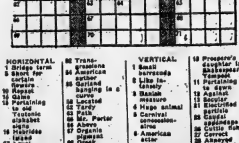


November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—A better day than you may realize at first glance. You will find opportunities if you look sharply, investigate farther than usual. And don't pass up the "little" ones.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—Don't lose time with time-wasters, but don't be an all-work-and-no-play person either. That happy medium is important. Keep your sense of humor.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Take time for real, relaxing; also use some of your leisure for study, investigation and research so as to eliminate a repetition of past errors. Eat sensibly.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—Do things for yourself; attend to obligations for others; make this a generally well-rounded day in order to achieve true happiness. Do not do any one thing for too long a time.



YOU BORN TODAY have some complexities in your nature, but that is principally because you are interesting and full of talent. You have the gift to sell your wares and self, are a good mimic and enjoy music; probably are artistic in an especial way. You make friends readily, too. Sometimes you are inconsistent, fickle and may let temperament grip you. You can be jealous or gloomy, but only if not living up to your natural buoyant, loving and dignified nature. Don't look too often into the past, except in recalling and appreciating happy incidents. Pray often. Birthdate of: Rembrandt (Harmenszoon van Rijn), famed Dutch painter.

SCULLERS FROM 4 CLUBS WIN BERTHS ON TRAIN

These University of British Columbia scullers made their long trip to the RCG trials at Perth Dalhousie, Ont., a profitable one, for they gained the right to return home and represent Canada in the heavy eights at the British Empire Games in their home city. The crew are, from right, Coxie Ray Sierpin, Stroke Glen Smith, Mike Hartis, Tom Toynbee, Doug McDonald, Laurie West, Herman Klokilkowtis, Ken Drummond and Bob Wilson. Although some of the oarsmen had never rowed until four months ago, the UBC boys picked up valuable experience competing against top U.S. collegiate crews, including Navy and the University of Washington.

Stoliker was touched for one run off the Orse hits in seven innings while Bob Hull took the loss for the Ox-Pointers, giving up eight hits for all six runs.

Bill Foster led the city crew at bat with two triple and single while Thomas also claimed a brace of hits. Wright, J. Ryan, Stoliker, and Hull had a hit each. Bugman had a triple for the losers while Green and Lucas also hit safely.

Bobby Thomson Ready to Play

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bobby Thomson probably will swing a Milwaukee Braves' bat for the first time in a National League game during a series opening tonight against Brooklyn. The team he knocked out of the 1951 pennant with a playoff home run.

The big outfielder, who fractured his right ankle in a spring training slide four months ago Tuesday, was back on the active list today and said he was ready for a few swipes as a pinchhitter. Actually, he took one swing in a pinch role Monday against Brooklyn, an exhibition against the Braves' Toledo farm club—and hit a 400-foot home run.

NEW BLACK HAND CHIEF

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Sicily's newspapers said today the island's notorious "black hand" secret society Mafia has a new chief. Giuseppe Russo. He succeeds Calogero Vizzini, who died Monday at 77. Dapper, soft - spoken Vizzini, wealthy owner of farms and sulphur mines, headed the powerful society for 25 years but denied for most of his life that he knew anything about it.

Canada, Chile Start Cup Series Thursday

TORONTO (CP)—Chile, a newcomer to Davis Cup competition in comparison to most countries, will be playing in the North American zone eliminations for the first time when it meets Canada in the international tennis event starting Thursday.

The last year Chile entered a team in the Davis cup was in 1952 and only once other year before that in 1949—did it make a bid. South American countries have the option of playing either in the North American or European zone rounds and both in 1949 and 1952 Chile chose the European zone.

The fact it would have better success against the European countries played a part in Chile's decisions. This year convenience more than anything else led it to enter the North American zone.

FINANCE LACK

Two of the three-man Chilean team have been living in the United States and to travel to Europe wouldn't have been feasible, principally because of the lack of finances. These two are playing-captain Ernest Balbaneda and national champion Luis Ayala. The third member is veteran Andres Hammersley, who goes to Toronto from Europe where he had been playing in the top winter tournaments.

Ayala, attached to the Chilean consulate in Los Angeles, is the top man on the squad. Only 21, the sturdy, 170-pound net star played on Chile's 1952 team and his fine all-round game has drawn enthusiastic support from observers watching him work out on the grass courts of the Toronto Cricket Club.

He is certain to play in one of the two opening singles matches Thursday, the doubles on Friday and in one of the two remaining singles Saturday. Balbiers, 37, a slender, wiry player who played for Chile in 1949 and 1952, will likely name himself as the team's other singles entry. The 6-year-old Hammersley will probably be chosen to pair with Ayala in the doubles.

Captain of Canada's team is expected to name Lorne Main of Toronto and Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., for the singles.

CAMPBELLFORD

Bear Trapped, Shot on Farm Near Havelock

CAMPBELLFORD — A black bear that residents of the district claim stole more than $100 worth of honey and considerable damage to bee hives was trapped and shot on Saturday morning on the farm of Harold Mack, of R.R. 2, Havelock.

The bear is believed to be the mother of three young cubs which were caught by the Mack family in March. At that time the mother bear was reported to have deserted her three cubs when they were discovered in a hollow tree on a woodlot owned by Harold and Kenneth Mack.

News of the capture of the bear travelled fast, and soon a dozen or more cars converged on the Mack farm to see the animal, its left front paw held securely in the jaws of a large steel trap.

James Gordonier and his son, Roy, of Marmora, take credit for catching and destroying the animal. They have trapped many bears, and Mr. Gordonier, Sr., said Saturday that he had trapped 15 bears in the same trap.

The bear, which had been taking honey from the hives during the past six weeks without the owner's consent, was finally killed by a single shot from a .22 calibre rifle in the hands of Jas. Gordonier. A score of onlookers watched as the bear tried valiantly to free itself from the trap and got at the men who stood about the circle, taunting it.

Finally Mr. Gordonier, Sr., put a .22 bullet into the left ear of the animal; it gave a final convulsive leap and toppled over. The bullet had penetrated the brain, but the animal continued to breathe for many minutes.

After a few minutes, the animal emitted several loud roars and went limp, although it still breathed. One or two of the women present asked Mr. Gordonier if he would fire another shot into the animal to end its suffering, but he explained that the bullet had penetrated the brain and that it was not suffering, although it still breathed. He said he did not want to spoil the hide.

The animal was later loaded on Mr. Gordonier's truck and taken away.

Two Accidents Over Week-End Cause Damage

CAMPBELLFORD—OPP Constable Archie Eady of Campbellford, was called to investigate two accidents in this district over the week-end which resulted in property damage but no injuries to the parties concerned.

George E. Begg, 21, of Centre St., was driving east at 9.30 p.m. Saturday when he failed to make a turn at Percival's Corners, 3 miles east of Campbellford. His car skidded across the road and struck a bank of earth, causing $100 damage to the front of the vehicle.

Sunday afternoon, minor damage was caused to a car being driven by Glenn C. Taylor, 20, of R.R. 2, Indian River.

Taylor was travelling west on the Hastings Road, west of Campbellford, when his left front tire blew out causing the car to skid and run into the ditch.

CANADIAN, U.S. FORCES COMBINE TO "SAVE" MONTREAL

At the end of Exercise Check Point, it was found to be the biggest air-defence exercise ever conducted jointly by Canada and the U.S. The purpose of the exercise, involving thousands of volunteer observers and elements of the Canadian Army, RCAF and the U.S. Air Force, was to test defences against an air attack on Montreal. Here soldiers, alerted by an air warning, rush out of their tents to man anti-aircraft guns situated near Montreal. (Central Press Canadian).

Worth Remembering

The Belgian hare is not a hare but a rabbit. The so-called North American "rabbit" is not a rabbit but a hare. An interesting contrast worth remembering!

FLOOD ROLLS ON TO BRATISLAVA AND BUDAPEST

Danube Peak Passes Threatened Vienna

VIENNA (Reuters)—The peak of the Danube flood threat has passed Vienna and today rolled on to threaten Budapest and the Slovak capital of Bratislava behind the Iron Curtain.

Bratislava radio said today the Danube has risen to 32 feet and already has flooded vast areas of low-lying land.

Troops and the entire civilian population in the area worked all night evacuating people and cattle from threatened areas and rushing materials to danger spots.

In Budapest, troops fortified river banks, evacuating flooded houses and hurriedly harvesting crops nearest the river.

In Vienna, officials have warned that hundreds of thousands of sand bags and more than 1,000,000 tons of clay and rock plastered on the dikes at the peak of the week-long emergency still need watching.

Flood headquarters said that the raw-swollen Danube, Inar and Zo-genbech rivers in nearby regions of Germany has announced a cautious victory today.

About 3,200 square miles of Bavaria have been covered but the danger now seems past.

Flood damage in Austria has already exceeded $40,000,000, according to unofficial estimates.

Boy Dies While Having Four Teeth Extracted

OTTAWA (CP) — A 12-year-old boy died under anesthetic Wednesday while having teeth extracted in the office of a dentist in suburban Eastview.

An autopsy was made immediately on the body of the victim, Raymond Wesley Hall, Eastview.

Results of the post-mortem were not immediately announced but a coroner, Dr. Harry Lemaire, said an inquest will be held.

Nothing in the document reflects upon Dr. H. V. Evatt, the leader of the federal Labor opposition party, the judge said.

"What is disturbing is that three members of his staff are mentioned as sources of information, some of it confidential."

Violent Storms Crack Season's Worst Heat Wave in U.S.

CHICAGO (AP)—Violent storms suffer its worst baby chick shortage in history.

in the east and an expanding cool wave in the midwest partially cracked the season's worst heat wave in the United States today as the death toll from record heat a week of scorching temperatures nears the 100 mark.

The thunderbreeding storms left a multi-million dollar trail of hail and lightning damage across New England, eastern New York, New Jersey, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio and northern Michigan.

Winds of near hurricane strength accompanied the storms, felled oil roofs, snapped power and telephone lines and blocked highways.

The mercury hit a sizzling 120 degrees at Fort Scott, Kan., before the cooler air began moving into that state. Temperatures of 100 degrees or higher were common in certain departments if Dunning were jailed.

Dunning's work is so classified it couldn't be disclosed in court, Bryant added.

FARMHAND FAILS TO COMMANDEER AN AIRLINER

Wanted to Go to Africa To Live in Jungles

SEATTLE (AP)—A farm worker who said he "wanted to go to Africa and live in the jungles" attempted to commandeer an airliner Wednesday but finally surrendered to officers after tiring of being a stewardess.

Eddie Marmur, 21, entered the 28-passenger Trans - Canada Air Lines plane at the Seattle-Tacoma International airport. Only the stewardess was aboard.

Marmur, who makes a hobby of weight lifting, fired two shots from a pistol as the stewardess fled.

HOPES ENDED

The quick spring of the terrified stewardess, Isabel Abraham, 24, of Vancouver, B.C., from the empty, parked airliner, led to the end of the Tacoma's hopes to make a hasty exit from the United States.

Marmur entered the cockpit and stood on the apron at the airport approximately midway between the two cities. Only Miss Abraham was aboard.

She returned from inspecting the forward part of the plane to find the youth seated in the front seat of the craft. He mumbled something and pulled a heavy pistol from his pocket.

"He told me to sit down," Miss Abraham related later. "Instead, I ran down the aisle. Don't ask me how I did it. Just as I rounded the last seat he fired the first shot.

"I think I felt the bullet whistle by. I thought he had me."

HIT DOOR

The bullet pierced a rear baggage compartment door.

Then as the stewardess ran down the steps from the cabin, another shot was fired, tearing a ragged hole in the plane's fuselage near a window.

Police soon arrived and at their command, Marmur tossed his weapon through the door and came out with his hands up. The pistol discharged a third time as it struck the concrete.

Marmur explained to police and reporters he had planned to force the plane crew to fly him to Africa and live in the jungles.

"I thought she'd stop if she heard a shot—and she just went faster. I didn't shoot at her, I shot by her."

No charges have been filed against him.

Labor Chief Maker of Paper Bullet Because Aircraft Firms Need Him

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A brilliant young mechanic who wounded a boy with a "paper bullet" was granted probation because, witnesses testified, he went to jail two aircraft firms would have to curtail operations.

Thomas Dunning, 24, pleaded guilty to a charge of assault with a deadly weapon. He was accused of firing a paper wad from a blank cartridge in an antique rifle as a gag. It struck Warren Willcox, 17, over the heart, seriously wounding him.

A witness, George M. Bryant, representing the Utility Metals Corporation of Pasadena, told the court Wednesday that Dunning is "one of the outstanding young mechanics of the nation" and that the Convair Aircraft Corporation is one of two firms which would have to shut down manufacturing in certain departments if Dunning

Reds Lose Fight To Get Control Of Nazareth

NAZARETH, Israel (Reuters)—Local Communists today lost a fierce three-month struggle to dominate the Biblical city of Nazareth by capturing the post of mayor.

The 15-man municipal council, in which six Communists form the largest single party, today voted down a Communist-supported Moslem candidate and elected a Greek Orthodox Christian as mayor of the little town where Christ spent his youth.

The new mayor is Amin Jarjurah, a former Israeli parliament member.

The six Communists were elected to the council in a hard-fought contest last April. Joint efforts of Moslem, Christian and Jewish voters barely blocked a Communist election sweep in a council majority.

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dulles returned from three-power talks at Paris today saying "we have found a formula for constructive allied unity" which will strengthen the anti-Communist position at negotiations of Indo-China peace.

Dulles flew to Paris Monday night and held emergency consultations with British Foreign Secretary Eden and French Premier Mendes-France. One of his decisions was that Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith should go to the Geneva conference to help the French round of talks with the Reds on Indo-China.

In a statement upon his arrival, Dulles said the Paris talks "have brought about an understanding concerning Indo-China much more complete than has heretofore existed."

This, he added, enabled the Western ministers "to demonstrate anew the solidarity of the Western powers in the face of Communist hostility and intrigue."

Dulles went immediately from the airport to the White House to report to President Eisenhower.

Undersecretary Smith will take off for Geneva late Friday for the talks.

5 Amateur Sailors, Drifting to Hawaii, Rescued from Raft

Urgent S.O.S. Ends Attempt To Make 2,200-Mile Voyage

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Five wet and weary amateur sailors who had hoped to drift to Hawaii were plucked from their foundering, powerless raft 60 miles off central California early today.

The freighter Metapan radioed at 7:25 a. m. EDT that all of the men had been rescued despite high seas and strong winds.

Presumably all were in good condition. Details of the rescue were not available.

The 32-foot six-sided raft Lehi was cast adrift by the Metapan, but the Coast Guard said the cutter Alert would find it and destroy it as a menace to navigation.

Search for the fragile raft which put out from San Francisco last Friday ended off Morro Bay 36 hours and 25 minutes after the Coast Guard answered an urgent S O S that the craft was sinking.

The Metapan was in the area and joined the search.

Raft skipper Devere Baker flashed his first SOS at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The message repeated weakly at 9:44 p.m., said:

"Taking water. Now opened during heavy seas. Need tow. Slightly condition. Raft Lehi."

The call followed four days of private searching and two days of radio appeal by the raft's radio operator, Dan Smith, who is due to be taken from the Lehi.

The Lehi is manned by five amateurs who set out from San Francisco Friday hoping to drift 2,200 miles southwest to Hawaii. Skippered by Devere Baker, a Mormon preacher, they took no food or water. They hoped to catch fish and are using a solar still to make sea water drinkable. They have reported snaring one salmon and one shark for food.

The raft drifted south instead of southwest.

Big Business Leading Country To Depression Says CCF Leader

TORONTO (CP) — Donald C. MacDonald, Ontario CCF leader, said today that big business leaders, aided and abetted by old party politicians, are leading us to a depression.

The statement was included in a report of a speech issued to the press before delivery.

"Hidden behind the seasonal pick-up in employment is the development of new and serious unemployment in a wide range of industries," he told a plant gate meeting sponsored by the Canadian Garris-Ferguson plant here.

He said the result is twice as high unemployment in Toronto now than a year ago and 135,000 more men out of work across the country.

He described as "propaganda drivel" the recent statement of Rhys M. Sale, president of Ford Motor Company, "Too much money talk has had its effect on some people and caused them to put off buying cars and other things."

Mr. MacDonald said "people have not put off buying cars because they haven't the money. The growing need is one for more and more sufficient purchasing power into the hands of those who will use it.

"That means, instead of siphoning off multi-millions from corporation earnings to expand plants and equipment to provide unmarketable capacity, the need is to maintain, pay and increase wages, and stabilize them through some such technique as the annual wage.

"Here we have farm machinery workers laid off at a time when the production of the family lives on the verge of starvation because they haven't sufficient production machinery.

"Yet our government toys with the idea of providing underdeveloped countries with adequate purchasing power, for example a loan to Argentina for the new Colombo Plan, about the cost of a fall-sized warship."

Princess Margaret's Aching Feet Keep Her Sitting During Army Dance

BAD EILSEN, Germany (AP)—Princess Margaret stayed until after 3 o'clock this morning at the lavish British officers' dance but her feet, tired from last fatigue and aching feet kept her off the floor most of the time.

The usually vivacious 23-year-old held her line-up of young and handsome partners she was tired and somewhat footsore after the strenuous round of official appearances and parties since she arrived Monday for an official visit to the West German government and a tour of British units.

The glittering ball was a combined operation, given by the officers of the British navy, army and air force.

The princess danced only five of the 25 numbers and asked that the vigorous Scottish reels on the program be cancelled because of the chimney lounge, chatting with the officers.

No one was surprised that the royal feet hurt. She had stayed up until 2 a. m. on the night before at a party given by Air Marshal Sir Harry Broadhurst, and danced until late Monday at the home of Gen. Sir Richard Gale, the British commander in chief.

Another full day was lined up for the princess today.

No More Forecasts

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Uganda's government radio station is dropping its broadcast of weather reports.

Lightning Bolt Blacks Out Two Hydro Stations

Despite a soaring mercury elsewhere in Ontario yesterday, Belleville experienced a routine summer temperature reaching a high of 83.3 degrees. A wave of humidity following in the wake of Tuesday's hot spell brought on thunderstorms in the morning and early afternoon.

A sudden bolt of lightning at 12.50 p.m. burnt off a hydro conductor on the Elm Metro lines at Elm Street, blacking out two hydro stations. The Sidney Street station was out for 10 minutes, while the station at Reid Street was inoperative for 45 minutes.

Rainfall with yesterday's storms registered at .06 inches while a further .04 inches fell during a sudden electric storm shortly after midnight.

Many French Prisoners Die During Long 'Death March'

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—The French high command said today many of 11,000 French Union prisoners captured at Dien Bien Phu died during an exhausting 450-mile "death march" to Vietminh Communist prison camps.

Sick and wounded prisoners released by the Communists today told of a harrowing, five-week march through jungles and saddle-deep mud after the fall of the Dien Bien Phu fortress last May, the high command said.

MEN WORN OUT

The men were totally worn out after two months of desperate fighting. But they were forced to go on through torrential rain with almost no assistance from Vietminh Communist rebel guards.

Exhausted prisoners who slumped into the oozing mud were usually left without aid, the released soldiers said. There were frequent cases of prisoners who died as though a few men got rides on water buffaloes.

Dien Bien Phu, isolated French fortress in northwest Indo-China, fell May 7 after 55 days under siege by overpowering Vietminh rebel forces.

BY TWO GROUPS

The 10,000 French Union soldiers captured there were then split into two groups, a high command spokesman said. One column was marched to the Thanhoa region south of the Red river delta around Hanoi. The other went to the mountains in the Yenbay region, 100 miles to the north. Word came today from prisoners who went with the Thanhoa column, that the ordeal lasted from May 7 until June 18, when they finally reached their prison camp destination.

Wilbert Coffin's Trial for Murder Opens Thursday

PERCE, Que. (CP)— A packed court room was expected today for the opening of the much-publicized trial of Wilbert Coffin, a 43-year-old prospector charged with murder in connection with the deaths of three American deer hunters in the Gaspe bush last autumn.

Selecting a jury was expected to take up much of the day's proceedings but Crown lawyer Raymond Maher hinted he might have a surprise in store. He said he would present a motion at the opening of the trial but would not elaborate. Coffin's counsel, Jean-Jacques Bilodeau, and Albert Conway, Q.C., were not found last July, more than a month after they vanished in the bush. All were from Holidaysburg, Pa.

Tree Stops Truck From Smashing London House

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Cuts and bruises were the only injuries received by three men involved when a transport spilled its cargo of tons of fruit and vegetables at a downtown intersection early today and jackknifed around a tree on top of a car after the two collided.

Released after treatment at hospital were: Ray Bourion, 24, of London, abrasion on nose and scalp; Henry Edger, 22, Kingsville, a passenger in the truck, numerous cuts and face and lacerated scalp and William Sinss, 38, Kingsville, driver of the truck, eyebrow laceration.

Only the tree around which the truck wrapped itself as the corner of the intersection prevented the heavy vehicle from crashing into the bedroom of the house in which Mr. and Mrs. Jack O'Farrell were sleeping.

Both car and truck cab were a total loss. Police said the truck transport fell apart when towed away. Firemen hosed thousands of gallons of water over the street to wash away gasoline which poured from the truck.

Bourion, driver of the car, was charged with dangerous driving immediately on release from hospital. Police said he made a left turn into the path of the truck, the load on which was valued at $5,000.

German Divorcee Ordered Deported By Inquiry Board

MONTREAL (CP) — A shapely German divorcee who came to Canada from Frankfurt, Germany a year ago has been ordered deported by an immigration department board of enquiry.

An immigration department official said today the woman — Ursula Schmidt — has been held in immigration detention quarters here since the board issued its order Thursday. The official said the reason for the deportation order is "confidential."

He said Miss Schmidt has appealed the order to Immigration Minister Pickersgill in Ottawa.

The Montreal Herald says today it learned the order was based on a warrant sworn out against Miss Schmidt in Germany on suspicion of passing secret information to Communists in East Germany.

Miss Schmidt denied the charge in saying in an interview that immigration department authorities had told her they had no case against her she shouldn't be allowed to remain in Canada.

"It was from the U.S. high commission (in Germany)," Miss Schmidt was quoted as having said. "They said I had given secrets to a man named Kubisch.

"I have never heard of any such man. The name means nothing to me. The case is ridiculous. I am to be had said I helped him."

Miss Schmidt, said the newspaper, blamed her troubles on Erwin Falker, a German who met her on a train with her at the big U.S. air base in Frankfurt. She said that during their friendship Falker had shown extreme jealousy and he had not wanted her to come to Canada.

May Develop Toronto Island As Playground

TORONTO (CP)—A long-range plan to develop Toronto island as a summer playground will go before the metropolitan planning board for endorsement, it was announced Wednesday.

The scenic tourist and amusement park would be moved from its present westward location, to become a little Venice, complete with gondolas, on the island. The plans include a tunnel and bridge to the island and a parking lot for 2,500 cars.

An amateur baseball stadium and football field is planned along with more than 100 tennis courts and a 200-yard sun bathing beach. The existing Hydro terminal would be widened and lengthened.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market began a hesitant climb in light forenoon trading today after two sessions of lower movements.

Trading at 11 a. m. totalled only 218,000 shares, lightest of any first hour yet this year. It left Indus trials with half again as many gains as losses and a few 1954 highs, base metals with some fair gains, western oils steady and golds mixed to stronger.

Senior base metals were up with a major-fraction gain, juniors ahead pennies.

Uraniums moved down and Manitouwadge and Bathurst stocks drew little interest.

Trading in the lower-priced mining issues fell off and the lack of interest contributed a great deal to the lower market volume.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter print prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was quiet at unchanged prices. Receipts were in excess of a slow demand.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs in fibre cartons, graded. A large 55; A medium 50-51; A small 39; B 33; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 60; A medium 55-56; A small 35; B 26; C 31.

Butter solids: Cream, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 55¾-56 (nominal); non-tenderable Western 56¾.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO (CP)—Trade continued dull at the Ontario stockyards today. A few good to choice grades offered were selling at steady prices to Wednesday's close. Common to medium quality was fair to numerous and saw little action. Receipts: Cattle 175; calves 15; hogs 200; sheep and lambs 75; holdover from Wednesday 1350 cattle.

Prices: Choice steers, all weights 21-22; good steers 20-21; mediums down to 19; good heifers mostly 19; mediums down to 18; common light steers and heifers down to 11; good cows 13.50-14.50; canner and cutter cows down to 8; choice fed yearlings 21-22; a few at 22.50; mediums down to 19.

Calves steady at 21-23 for good to choice vealers; mediums 14-20; common light grass calves down to 8.

Hogs brought 23.50 for grade A with 265 selling out on Monday at 23.75; sows 19; stags 14.

Lambs sold for 25 for good ewes and wethers; bucks discounted 81 a hundredweight; a few sheep 4-6 according to quality.

New York State Got Full Force Of Violent Storm

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The face of New York State was pockmarked by fallen trees and debris today in the wake of a series of violent storms Wednesday night that caused damage estimated in the millions.

The storms, accompanied by high winds, crackling lightning and sometimes hail, popped, skipped and jumped across the state, leaving some communities untouched and battering others.

The village of Penn Yan in the Finger Lakes region appeared to be the hardest hit. Mayor Lewis A. Gracey estimated the damage at $1,500,000 and declared a state of emergency.

NEW YORK CITY HIT

In Utica, the damage from high winds that felled an estimated 1,200 trees was expected to reach $300,000.

North and south, east and west, wherever the boppishing storms struck, the story was the same: power failures, fallen trees, wind damage and fires blamed on lightning.

New York City was jolted by hurricane velocity winds and Syracuse was pelted by hailstones said to be as large as walnuts. Farmers in the Syracuse area reported extensive crop damage.

Rochester was deluged by a brief, heavy rain which ended the city's driest drought since 1925—38 days. The rains wetted parched grass between the city and Niagara Falls.

Albany and Buffalo had brief electrical storms, but there was no appreciable damage.

Elsewhere, the storm, which struck in early evening, collapsed the roof of a dugout at the Little League baseball park, injuring two boys. It tore the roof off a Penn Central express company building and demolished a refreshment stand, blowing the stand's cash register away.

TORNADO WINDS

Gracey claimed the winds were of tornado proportions, but the U.S. weather bureau in Albany said it has no station near enough to have recorded the wind speed.

The mayor reported at least 300 homes damaged by the violent winds. Numerous automobiles were damaged by falling trees, which littered streets everywhere.

Utica reported some sections of the city and fire hospitals were without power for several hours. Mohawk Airlines cancelled one take-off and one landing at the Oneida county airport, between Utica and Rome.

In Utica itself, dozens of houses lost their roofs and heavy damage from the felled trees was high. Traffic was snarled for hours.

The storms brought quick relief from temperatures that had climbed into the 90s during the day.

Kingston Pairs First, Second In Bowling Tourney

Despite a shower just before game time, the mixed doubles tourney staged by the Belleville Bowling Club on Wednesday afternoon was a complete success. There was a full draw of 32 rinks gathered from Kingston, Campbellford, Trenton, Colborne and Belleville.

The draw had been completed and the bowlers were ready to take the greens when the rain came. As soon as it was over, the greenkeeper, Jack Smith, hauled out the big roller and rolled both greens and when play was started the greens were as "slow" as mustard and some of the best bowling of the season was witnessed. The three-game draw was over before the mosquitoes put in their appearance so that the bowlers had a most enjoyable afternoon.

Eddie Dennison and Mrs. Ralph Hinton, Kingston, were the three-high game winner of the tourney and this pair won the trophy that accompanies the event, while Dick Edney and his wife, Mary, were second high. Two Belleville rinks followed with three-game wins. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Edwards and W. R. "Skit" Vandervoort and Mrs. W. Gilbert.

Fred Harper and Miss Margaret Fairbairn won the two-game high score while Mr. and Mrs. G. Bailantyne, who live in Toronto but summer in Campbellford, won the one-game high score. The lucky no-win prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. J. Bell of Colborne.

The next tournament for the bowlers will be on Saturday, Some of the Belleville players will go to Trenton for the district playoffs in the Trebles for the Cavalier trophy, while a number of mixed doubles rinks will journey to Cobourg to play for a new trophy, that has been donated by W. A. Koskin in memory of his wife, who was an ardent member of the Cobourg Bowling Club for many years.

W. B. "Skit" Vandervoort, chairman of the tournament committee, and Gordon Edwards successfully and efficiently conducted the draw for Wednesday's tournament.

Ray Grant, immediate past president of the local club, welcomed the bowlers before start of play.

Bancroft Trims Marmora 4-2

MARMORA. — At Marmora on Wednesday evening, the home baseball team tasted defeat for the first time of the season, losing a hard fought game, to Bancroft by 4 to 2. The opposing batteries gave a fine account of themselves and while the visitors played errorless ball, they received help from the infield errors of the homesters.

Marmora's scoring came in the first inning. Mantle and Drummond crossed the plate to tie the lead taken in two innings by W. Brough and Adams. But in the sixth Bancroft took the lead again with Adams getting another run and E. Brough also crossing the plate. The latter's triple which scored Adams was a spectacular three bagger to centre field.

Unproductive of a merited homer was Killian's terrific clout to left field in the seventh only a two-base hit allotted because of difficulties the fielding outfielders ran into at the grounds.

Strike-outs were at a minimum Marmora obtaining six and Barker five.

DIESELS — KEY TO PROGRESS

Belleville is a railway city.— The welfare of railways —and railwaymen—is of vital importance to the city as a whole.

Nevertheless, we decline to join vocal forces with Harry Smith, president of Division No. 4, Railway Employees Department (AFL), of Montreal.— Mr. Smith, if we read him aright, is wailing for the good old days of the Prairie Billys, when Diesel was the surname of a German inventor and nothing more.

A Canadian Press story reports Mr. Smith as complaining that thousands of jobs are going out the window now that Canadian railways are switching to diesels.

We will not dispute that statement—but we would like to record our hunch that thousands of new jobs may be coming in the door.

Mr. Smith quotes facts and figures to support his contention. On the basis of experience in the United States, he says, of the men who today service locomotives in railway shops will be jobless when the conversion to diesels is completed, he says. — The steam locomotive spends about one hour out of 24 in the roundhouse; a diesel does run 22 hours out of the 24 and require a roundhouse check only once a month, instead of once a day.

If this were the whole picture, there might be cause for deep concern among railwaymen and in centres like Belleville where railroading plays such a major role in the municipal economy.

Fortunately, however, Mr. Smith is telling only half the story. The lessened maintenance work on diesels, which Mr. Smith appears to see only as eliminating jobs for railwaymen, is the railways will mean increased efficiency and lower costs. This will enhance the railroads' ability to compete with other forms of transportation, which should result in more business for them, making it necessary for them to hire more employees.

Even if this were not true, the battle which Mr. Smith is fighting was decided long ago. In the very earliest days of the industrial revolution, workers in England smashed the new looms which they feared would doom them to permanent unemployment. But the looms stayed —and Britain's industrial power grew ever larger. Horse-traders must have voiced similar concern to that expressed by Mr. Smith, when the automobile started to push the old grey mare off the highway.

Every machine threatens the interests of some people—and always the claim is raised that jobs are being wiped out. There are two answers to these complaints. Firstly, it never seems to work that way. These machines always seem to create more new jobs than they eliminate. And, secondly, if they did reduce the amount of work needing to be done, would that be so terrible? That is why men invented the wheel, to make his tasks easier—and ever since he has been frantically endeavoring to make his labor-saving devices keep pace with his growing labor-making desires.

Of course, some individuals will suffer hardship. The sad truth is that every invention has inflicted casualties, among the hand-weavers, the horse-dealers, the vaudeville actors and now among the locomotive maintenance men. But, while the individual may suffer, the industry benefits. More cloth is woven; more people travel in automobile than ever travelled by horse-drawn buggy; the movies entertain millions where vaudeville played to thousands. So will railroading prosper as the diesel enables the industry to match its pace to the demands of the jet and atomic age.

ANOTHER TORONTO BY-PASS

The recently announced realignment of major cabinet posts in the federal government caused the Ottawa Journal to note that once again the city of Toronto was by-passed in the shuffle. Only a member from its metropolitan area elevated to cabinet rank.

It should be noted at this point that Toronto, once considered a Conservative party stronghold, gave the Liberals 11 of its 19 seats in the last election. If such support could be construed as valid reason for elevating one of the 10 members to the cabinet, then it is obvious that Toronto rates at least three.

However, there are other things to consider, and not the least of them is the question of the suitability of Toronto's favorite sons as cabinet members. For years as possible federal cabinet material but has never made the grade. Croll has always been considered as being of cabinet material, but he has never been given the opportunity, in cabinet posts, to prove it.

Probably the only federal member from Toronto with the outstanding qualifications necessary for cabinet rank is Donald Fleming. Unfortunately for Toronto, the fact that he is a Conservative makes it impossible for the Queen City to enjoy cabinet representation during the present session, and indeed, in the foreseeable future.

APISH BEHAVIOR

"Apish Algiers" is being broken its cage at Chicago's Midway Algiers and eluded pursuers for four hours by swinging from hangar rafters, was lured into custody by a pet female ape which sat quietly in the centre of an open cage.

There may be an opportunity here to comment on the appropriate name of the airport but we shall pass it up.

And while we hold no brief for the Darwinian theory it seems that if man descended from apes, the behavior of the grey ape in Chicago's airport would indicate that he has not descended very far. The whole incident sounds very much like the same old story of the gay young blade being trapped by a pretty face.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DRY HOLES AND STRIKE-OUTS

Before me lies the report of an oil company which is doing very nicely, as oil companies go, and is a credit to the value of its stock. I notice that last year they drilled 101 wells, but one quarter of them proved to be dry holes.

Are you a salesman? How many dry holes have you encountered recently? Are you a minister? How many sinners have slipped through your fingers and gone down the highway which leads to destruction, despite your pleas as an old fogy? Are you a lawyer? a physician? a farmer? You know frustration and failure, do you not? Think of the Lord Jesus; he started out with thousands, and perhaps tens of thousands, hanging on his words. He ended with a miserable crying, "Crucify him; crucify him;" with his disciples fleeing and even after his resurrection, with only about 120 people gathering together in the upper room in Jerusalem.

If an oil company allowed itself to be frightened by a few hundred age of dry holes, it would never even get started on a successful career. The best of baseball players strike out, or are put out, much more often than they get a hit.

Don't be afraid of strike-outs or dry holes. Keep on drilling with the expectation that there will be a considerable percentage of these— and plenty of strike outs.

Will Tag Fish To Catch More

(Port William Times-Journal

A fisherman conceived what he thought was a good idea last week-end — and has promised himself to do something about it next week-end.

This fellow fishes for wall-eyes on a large lake. While fishing from his boat on Sunday he said to himself, "These fellows go in schools. If a man could only know how to locate these schools quickly he'd be all set." Right there came his idea. He planned to catch one walleye, tie a long, education on the North American light fishing line to its tail, and then release it to swim away. Cincinnati.

Wandering Gardener

(By William Chapman-White in New York Herald Tribune)

He came to the front door and said: "Good day, I could use a weeding if you'll excuse me saying so". "No one around that," I'm a gardener," he added, "and I'm looking for work by the day. How about it?"

He was a tall cadaverous man past sixty, as thin as a flower stalk. To judge from his appearance he wouldn't last an hour in the hot sun. He was the oldest of fair hair and coat sweater over a flannel shirt that hung like a sack, and so often that it had faded to the palest grey.

In spite of that costume, he managed an air of elegance, slightly bored, like all a man who had been everywhere and seen everything and wasn't the slightest impressed.

Because the weeds were high he was hired. Not only did he survive the first four hours in the sun but he did a better work as any two men might be expected to do. The weeds were out, and neatly piled, and showed where he had passed.

As he rested for a few minutes in the afternoon he pointed to a white, "I'm going to Florida, up North in Summer, as far north as Key West in winter — winters in Florida"— and he made that sentence sound as if he travelled that big circle — "as any way. I come north. I work at a place until I have $3 for bus fare, and $10 cash in my pocket, then I move on. I keep out of the big cities — that's where you get into trouble.

"I work a little while in Savannah, Georgia, and then in Virginia, the Carolinas, and on to Florida. I'm going as fast as I can get, right to Key West. In the spring I head north the same way.

He refused a cigarette. "Cuts my wind for my journeying, I find. I'm a miser. That's why there's no place in America I haven't been. I've come near town, and I'll tell you the name of its main street. Bismarck, North Dakota! First would be Main Street, Diver, New Hampshire; Second avenue, Corpus Christi, Texas; Broadway."

He picked up the rake and looked over the garden. "I'm a gardener, a plumber, a farmer," he continued. "But I've been many other things.

"I've tended horses on a fancy ranch in California and took care of a sick man for three days in Bisbee, Arizona, while his wife went off to care for a sick mother. I've sold tickets in a roadside stand below Palm Beach and worked with a popcorn stand in a carnival until the wife of the owner got mad at him one day and stipped in cold cream and left a burger.

"I've helped trap eels, and I worked for a lady once in Jersey tending a little lawn where she kept a dollar. I've roasted coffee in a weed.

"I've never owner a thing in my life but my clothes, and never wanted to."

After the third day of work he asked to be paid. He said as he left: "See you in the spring."

He didn't show up the next day nor ever again. His key was on the other night," the neighbor said, "and I never gave it to him because I heard him say at the bus ticket window: "Mister, I'll be up to New York for five dollars? That's where I want a ticket to."

Personal Health Talks

A SCHOOL FOR FAMILY DOCTORS.

A physician I know and admire has a son and a daughter, both in College. The son is completing eight years of college work and expects to receive his M.D. this month. His dad has been waiting for the day when the boy will finish his internship and return home to become a partner and gradually take full charge of the practice.

Dr. Brady

But that's not the only idea at all. Dad has been practising about a third of a century, and it seems to me has has kept well abreast of the new developments of proven value in practice.

Poor dad now finds that the boy has been indoctrinated by the more prominent members of the medical school faculty with the idea that the neophytes with the idea of entering immediately upon special practice and not wasting their precious time on general practice. Which seems quite right, though in words it is plainly evident that the boy regards dad as perhaps fit to get up with some local trivia but that would be no career for him.

Perhaps the medical school instructors do not put the thing in the words either, but they do thoroughly convince the tyros under their quietage that it is just not good business investing ten years in training and then confining to service in general medicine. After all, when a doctor gets his license from the state he may practise any branch of medicine or surgery he prefers — and the M.D. public is prone to pay specialist three or four times as much as an "ordinary" doctor would charge for the same service.

I believe it would be better for American medicine and better for the people if young men who propose to begin fitting to become physicians were admitted to medical school on completion of high school and graduated as Doctors of Medicine, on completion of four years of medical school and a year of internship. The M.D. degree should entitle the owner, without any state board or other examination, to practise general medicine only. If a physician wished to specialize he or she should be required to take a prescribed course of postgraduate instruction in the chosen field, after having spent at least five years in general practice. As matters now stand in the administered today, the schools turn out specialists only, and wonder the graduates are reluctant to become mere family doctors.

Under the law now in effect in California the state will license only those fine kind of work where physicians examine and treat patients without charge, before medical students.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

THE DEMOCRACY OF WORK

Work is work, whether of low or high estate! And there are but two kinds of work—good and bad. There is no room for snobbery, no pride to good work in a mine or in a shop as in the pulpit or farm. All useful work is important.

—I often walk into the crowded areas of my own metropolis and everybody manages to live. But when factories, offices, and our business houses are visited, there are to be found the workers who make the city's blood stream flow.

Visiting a great automobile plant recently, I was amazed at the number of workers and the variety of work performed, especially in the research department, where workers are always planning on ideas far ahead of the present. And how smoothly these great organizations work together! Not every sort, each concentrating on his chosen type of work.

On my way to my office I often meet the workers in deep holes repairing lines and cables, and I am impressed with the importance of such work. How few of us ever give that kind of work any thought! It is all important. Storm damage recently put out many institutions because the phones in the part of the city where I live were out for days. It was all restored. We owe our gratitude to all workers.

I like to look at the faces of every nationality and individual tasks working together. There is no de-grading in the genuine as that of work together so as to contribute to the greatest success and happiness of each, all thoughts of war would end, and there would be universal prosperity such as has never before known! Why should there not be? It is all up to us, each in his universal peace and good will?

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

A young man of my acquaintance has made a great success of himself in the personnel management of a big industry has received a most flattering offer from a rival industry with a big increase in salary. He came to see me about it.

"Do you know anybody in this new outfit," he asked, "who has been fired recently or who is going to be?"

I didn't, but I thought I could count someone who could tell me of such a man.

"Are you afraid you are taking somebody else's job?" I enquired.

"Oh, no," replied the young man." But I want to talk to somebody who can give me the advantage of knowing what I am buying for will hate everybody's guts around the place."

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT

On This Point

Franco Right

(Toronto Telegram)

Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain has opened his mouth again and has declared that in the times since the 1930s and surprised those attending by saying that he is glad that he didn't believe in the freedom of the press. The wisdom of that remark can certainly be doubted, but the wisdom of another of his statements is not. It was to the effect that the western powers had been trying to live peaceably with Russia for the last ten years, yet "we are in a worse position now". Let us see how much worse.

Since 1945 Russia has annexed Esthonia, Latvia and Lithuania (Baltic States), Eastern Poland (Galicia), Finland (Petsamo), Germany (NE Prussia), Rumania (Bessarabia and Northern Bukovina), part of Sakhalin). She has forced, or permitted, Communist governments in East Germany, Rumania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Albania, China, and increasing the Communist empire from 170,000,000 to 800,000,000.

She has connived at the overrunning or seizure of Korea, Indo-China and Tibet. She has fomented trouble in Kenya and Malaya, and has given support to Communist guerrillas in Greece, Persia, Egypt and Cyprus.

Her increasing grip on Communist parties, trade unions, popular fronts and the like is seen in the gaining free countries of the world. In Italy and France alone Russia has been operating at an increased pace. In Japan, Indonesia, Australia and Western Germany.

When all this is added to Franco's statement that "we are worse off now" is seen to be almost an understatement.

Fly You Swat Has Relatives

(Hamilton Spectator)

Wherever one goes in the world, where the climate is hot and moist, one finds the same common housefly. Although mankind pursues this pest with insecticide and swats it by the several jumps ahead and it will probably be in the land until the end of the world.

An American author, Lucy W. Clarke, has written a book entitled Insect Fact and Folklore in which one of the leading "characters" is the common fly.

Miss Clausen says that a pair of flies setting up housekeeping in spring could, during the next five months, produce 191,000,000,000 offspring, or enough to cover the earth to a depth of 47 feet.

This fantastic piece of statistical information fills us with a sense of hopelessness in our personal war with the common fly. We feel that 191,000,000,000 calmly contemplates the umbrella of flies that hover over the food, knowing that what there is nothing he can do about it.

Perhaps we may recover, but it is doubtful whether we shall ever forget the experience that righteous triumph we felt when having wielded the swat we saw the fly's dead corpse fall from the window pane. After all, it was only one of 191 trillions.

Cannot Be Both Ways

(Ottawa Journal)

A despatch to the New York Times from Guatemala says that Guatemalan army officers as saying that some of the arms shipped recently from Canada to Curtain to Guatemala were duds, worn out or entirely wrong for use there. It adds:

"The fact that the arms were useless was one of the important reasons why the Guatemalan army failed to put up any worthwhile resistance to Colonel Carlos Castillo Armas' rebel forces, army officers said."

If this be true, what becomes of all the talk about arms for a Russian plan, carefully worked out, to establish a Communist beachhead in Guatemala as a base for South America?

If the Russians had such a plan, were really bent on a Communist foothold in South America, why should they be content with Guatemala, their agents and instruments in such a plan, dud weapons?

Certainly we can't have this thing both ways: One day indict the Russians for attempts to extend their power in South America, threatening the U.S., the next day charge them with selling some obsolete weapons to the Guatemalans.

Actually there seems to be much about this whole Guatemalan business which doesn't smell too sweetly; so much so that we should wait and see what the new government attempts to do before extending it its blessing.

Union Accuses Another Union Of Falsification

GALT (CP)—The United Textile Workers of America (AFL-TLC) has been accused by a rival union of falsifying documents in trying to take over certification at a textile mill here.

The charges were made Wednesday by the Textile Workers Union of America (CIO-CC) during a hearing by the Ontario labor relations board into an inter-union dispute at the Riverside Silk Mill.

David Lewis, counsel for the CIO union, accused Vernon Mustard, an AFL organizer, of acting under oath when he testified before the board that six women employees at the mill paid him $1 each in AFL union dues. An unknown person in the AFL union was charged with forging six signatures on duplicate receipt forms and sending them to the labor board.

MUST DECIDE

The three-man board must decide either to accept or reject an application by the AFL union asking that it be ordered among the mill workers. The CIO union has represented the employees since 1948. The board reserved decision.

Mr. Lewis told the board that signatures on six membership receipt forms were forged by the United Textile Workers Union in order to win certification. The six are vital to the AFL case because they will decide whether it represents more than 45 per cent of the mill workers.

Mr. Lewis said:

"The evidence heard today clearly shows evidence of both forgery and perjury."

CLAIM NEVER SPOKE

Three of the six women declared under oath that they had never spoken to Mr. Mustard. One of them said she did not know who he was until "defendant." Another produced a customs receipt from Fort Erie to show she was in Buffalo on the day Mr. Mustard said she paid him $1 at her home in Galt.

The three said they had been approached by Mr. Mustard to pay $1—the legal minimum required to prove union membership—but all said they had refused.

The six women said they had signed AFL membership cards earlier but had never paid any money to the union, nor signed a receipt. They said they had later changed their minds about joining the AFL union.

"REGRETTABLE"

George Ferguson, labor board member, said after the meeting: "It is regrettable that union activity in this case has provided all the unfortunate ingredients of evidence which places the board in a position which it must decide that either a trade union organizer has perjured himself and committed fraud, or, in the alternative, that six employees of a company, many of whom have long service, have all lied to the board."

Jack Robinson, Ontario director of the AFL union, said that the evidence of Mr. Mustard and the six CIO witnesses "dovetails in all respects." He said the witnesses denied paying the $1 and denied signing a receipt because they were afraid of losing their jobs, a fear founded on CIO propaganda.

Saunders Cancels Secret Meeting After Protests

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Leslie Saunders Wednesday cancelled a secret meeting of the city's board of control.

The cancellation apparently resulted from protests by other members of the five-man board, the executive body of city council.

Mayor Saunders, who took office recently following the resignation of Allan Lamport, called the secret meeting as one of his first official acts.

Angry voices rang through city hall as the mayor, in his 16th day in office, threatened to call police to eject three reporters who entered his office to report the meeting.

Controllers Roy Belyea and David Balfour walked out of the meeting in protest of the mayor's action.

"NO RIGHT"

Said controller Belyea: "This is a democracy, not an autocracy and the mayor has no right to keep the press out of a meeting of the board of control."

Mayor Saunders countered with charges of autocratic conduct, addressing the reporters who had entered his office he said "this is the kind of tyranny I won't stand for."

"In the future, you will not come in here until you are invited. You wouldn't be able to barge into my home. This is my office. You are not acting like gentlemen at all. Perhaps you want me to get a policeman to throw you out."

The meeting was to discuss the resignation of parks commissioner Oscar L. Pearson, operations of Toronto harbor, Malton and Island airports and the Canadian National Exhibition.

The mayor said he wanted the meeting held in private because the press would report arguments that occurred but not the decisions reached.

'Three Freedoms' Mark Fall Styles by Adele Simpson

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Designer Adele Simpson bases her fall fashion campaign on a platform of three freedoms: Freedom of mobility, freedom from fussiness and freedom from alterations.

Previewing her fall collection for the international fashion press, this diminutive mogul of high style introduced a number of new and easy silhouettes most prophetic of which probably was her new semi-fitted suit, carefully shaped to give a smooth, supple line, but allowing the wearer room to take a deep breath without popping a button.

Jackets of these new suits are fitted in front, straight in back, and sometimes have a half belt at the jacket hem in back. Skirts are slim, but with room for easy walking. Collars are wide and often open. Colors start with the basic greys and browns and include a rainbow of vivid colors.

The "princess back" silhouette is another new note in the Simpson fall line-up, being shown in afternoon and cocktail gowns, featuring a waistline fitted at the back with side skirt fullness. One of the most spectacular is a white satin in relation green satin—a pastel so pale it looks silvery.

Furnis accents "the shape" in a fashion editors.

Bird-Color Tweeds Highlight French Designer's Fall Showing

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP) — Bird-color tweeds, employing the hues of the orioles and the peacock, the bluebird and the cardinal, make news in Pauline Trigere's notable collection for fall, highlight in a crowded week of fashion press showings.

This French-born designer has a subtle way of shaping the silhouette to flatter the feminine figure, whether she presents the skin-tight sheath and Empire silhouettes of last season, or the bloused look that is new for fall.

Her high - colored tweed suits have semi - fitted short jackets, gentle curved to flatter but not conceal the natural lines of the figure, teamed with skirts having a slight flare. Also in the group are handsome cheviots and reversible tweeds in which pastel nubs enliven black.

Deserting the straight and narrow silhouette, trigere shows almost all skirts with some fullness and even adds flare to coats.

FREEDOM WITHOUT BULK

Her bloused-jacket suits are done with finesse, employing a pleat on each side of the back to give freedom without bulk.

The "easy" waistline is present in all models, relieving women of the necessity of wearing a cinch.

Also new is the use of little fur collarets on dresses worn with collection notable for beauty of fine and richness of fabrics. She introduces the "command neckline," advises women not to look "overdressed" by mistaken ideas, highlights a series of "triple alliance" costumes. They consist of matching jumper, blouse and jacket which look like a one-piece dress but become almost a complete wardrobe with the "off again, on again" jacket technique. A notable example of this outfit is in violet tweed with a waist-length blouse-back jacket, plain matching jumper and jersey blouse.

Nettie Rosenstein, high priestess of the "little black dress," endorses the bloused, youthful silhouette for fall, shows harmless slightly shorter. Skirts are uniformly narrow except for afternoon wear. Her suits feature short belted blouse-jackets, often fitted in front, matching blouses, and a variation in the form of a straight box jacket worn without a belt. Her dress necklines are shown on dresses for afternoon or cocktail wear, with the decolletage often made more startling by an almost invisible fill-in of skin-color net.

These three pivotal-setting collections by three of New York's most important women designers, provided a busy morning for visiting fashion editors.

Re-Organized Church Of Latter Day Saints Holds Church School

Forty-three children enrolled in the 4th annual Daily Vacation Church School of the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints held at 119 Dunham Street, from 9:00 to 11:30 a.m., July 5th to 9th inclusive. The children ranged in ages from 3 to 13 years.

The school was under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Cannitt assisted by Mrs. C. Else. Mrs. Cannitt taught the primary grads children, and Mrs. Else taught the Junior Grade children. They were assisted in the handicraft periods by Mrs. Steve Gully, Mrs. Jean Hoskin, Mrs. Ruby McIntosh, Mrs. M. Willson, Mrs. A. Gilroy, and Mrs. S. McAllister.

GOD'S WORD

The theme for the week was "treasuring God's Word", with daily themes as follows: "Gift of God's Word," "Feast on God's Word," "Reverence the Scriptures," "Follow God's Word," and "Pioneers of the Word."

Each day the object lesson, Bible lessons and stories centred around the theme, and attempted to portray to the children ways in which they could show they treasured God's Word, through such character building efforts as studying the Word, obedience, love, courage, and living lives worthy of "Kingdom Builders."

Mrs. Cannitt led the entire group in the worship programs which followed the daily theme. An absentee worship centre was chosen for each day.

CANDLELIGHT SERVICE

At the conclusion of the school there was a candlelight service at which time seven girls briefly presented the thoughts of the daily themes. The children throughout the week were: Betty Else, Stewart McAllister, Catherine Smith, Janice Hobbs, Norma Horsburg, Lynne Taylor, Patricia Bradford, Lila Bradford, Beth Countryman and Donna Large.

Time was alloted to the singing of action-songs as well as the handicraft period in which each child worked to make interesting articles to take home, such as pipe cleaner flowers, plaster of paris, glitter paint pictures, paste portrait pictures, book marks, baskets, memorandum pad covers, fans and string of beads.

Advance Preparation for Guests

By Mary Moore

Sure you want to entertain, but your husband wasn't given an extra bonus and you didn't win a sweepstakes so the budget has to stretch to cover beautiful meals for week-end guests for you don't happen to be a magician.

Because veal is in good supply now, and because jellied veal has that delicate flavor and texture combination so difficult to achieve, and because it is inexpensive, it is my special recipe today. Amounts will serve at least 20 people, or three average-sized meals. This keeps well if refrigerated. Make it the day before your guests are expected.

HOMEMADE JELLIED VEAL

Buy two veal shanks. Mine cost 38c per lb, and totalled $1.75. Bone should be sawed through at centre. Wash and cover with cold water in large kettle and add 1 bay leaf, 2 tablespoons each chopped parsley, onion, celery, carrot and 4 whole pepper berries or 1-4 teaspoon pepper. Bring to boiling, reduce heat, cover and simmer until meat falls from bones—about 2 1-2 to 4 hours. Strain liquid. Lift meat and bones and rind out onto large platter or tray and carefully pick out all of the bones. What is left, rind and soft cartilage you have left put through fine knife of grinder. Some of you will want to leave the lean meat in large pieces, others may prefer to grind it coarsely and add to fine-ground rind and cartilage. Put all ground or chopped meat together. Measure the strained liquid. Do not use more than 4 cups. It is wise to add gelatin to make the finished loaves slice neatly so soak 2 tablespoons gelatin in 1-2 cup cold water for 5 minutes, then dissolve it by slicing over hot water. Stir it into the 4 cups veal liquor, add the ground and chopped meat. Now add—about 2 or 3 teaspoons. The salt flavor is subdued when food is cold so taste that into account when you are tasting it when hot. Add pepper to taste too. If you want to garnish your molds place sliced hard-cooked eggs in the bottom and pour 1-4-inch layer of meat liquor over them to fix them and chill until set. Fill molds up with the meat and liquid. Chill until set. Then store in refrigerator. This will keep 4 days at least if refrigerated. Delicious served with homemade mustard pickles.

Since there seems to be some trouble in the spice cake department I am giving you

OLD-FASHIONED SPICE CAKE

Because it is different and because it is a good summertime cake.

Sift cake flour and measure 2 1-4 cups and sift it again with 1 teaspoon soda, baking powder and salt, 3-4 teaspoon each baking spice, cloves and cinnamon, pinch of black pepper (don't omit the pepper). Sift light brown sugar and measure 3-4 cup firmly packed. Also measure 1 cup white sugar, 1 cup sour or buttermilk and have ready three eggs. Into large mixing bowl measure 1-2 cup shortening or butter or margarine and begin creaming the shortening until it is so light it looks like whipped cream. Now begin to work in the brown sugar 2 tablespoons at a time, being patient as this mixing is important in a spice cake. Slowly add the white sugar and 1 teaspoon vanilla. It should be creamed until you cannot see the granules of sugar. Add unbeaten eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly between additions. From here on everything speeds up. Add sifted flour mixture 1-3 of it at a time, alternately with the sour milk, stirring, not beating, finishing with flour addition. This batter will make 3 8-inch layers or grease pans with unsalted shortening and dredge lightly with flour, knocking any excess flour from pans. Bake at 350 deg. Fahr. 30 to 35 minutes, or until cakes shrink from sides of pan. Do not turn out of pans for 5 minutes after removing from oven. This is good with brown sugar boiled frosting. If you do not have my recipe for that please write.

Beauty

By HELEN JAMIESON

REDUCING LOCALIZED FAT

When adipose tissues form an even blanket over the lumps and bumps, they are generally disappear if one stops feeding them. Cutting down on fats, sugar and starches will send them into a state of dissolution in the course of time. The localized fat presents a difficult problem. It is strange how fat settles on little girls' feels, one part of the body. Hips may develop like the spreading chest of the male, but the rest of the body remains "normally slender. That condition calls for exercise that will strengthen the muscles. On strong muscles fat cells will not linger.

If this is your problem, lie on your back on the floor, lift the left foot high, send it far to the right, rolling the body as your toes touch the floor. Tense the fibers of thigh and hip. Six times with one foot, then six times with the other. Do that for fifteen minutes every day. Take measurements of hips, thighs and calves before starting on this campaign. In two or three months your reward will be gratifying.

Any over-developed bust is a burden to some women who, otherwise, are of normal proportions. While it is quite impossible to develop the bust, it is possible to reduce it by jogging exercises. Fibers can be toned by an arm swinging exercise.

Stand tall, feeling one fist, and it in high, wide circles as if you were trying to land a haymaker forward, out at the sides, high and far back to first position. Half dozen swings with the right arm, the same number with the left and repeat.

For fatted calves: get a child's jumping rope and use it for ten or fifteen minutes every day. This is not recommended for women over forty who have had no exercise for years. But for younger women it is a perfect corrective exercise for legs that have expanded beyond normal measurements.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

AFRAID HER FRIEND WILL TAKE HER PLACE IN FAMILY

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am 14 years old and have a problem that seems to be hard for me to solve.

There is a girl staying with our family who is the same age as myself. We get along swell, and I've always got as echo in my heart thinking that she has taken my place in the family. She calls my parents "mom and "Dad," and whenever she goes any place, she kisses Mom good-bye.

I know this seems like a small problem, but please give me some advice. — P.L.

Dear P.L.:

I don't think you need to worry for a minute that anybody could take your place in your family. If your mother is the kind of person you would make a visitor in her home feel so warmly toward her as you say she does, I think you are most have a heart big enough for both of you. Moreover, no matter how fine Mary may be of this other little girl, you would always come first with her because you are her very own child.

If I were you, I would just be glad that you have a mother who can make others feel so welcome in the home. Show your mother all the time how much you love her, and treat this other girl as though she were a sister. I'm sure you get on with her very well, so just have good times with her and be happy together.

THERE'S SAFETY IN STICKING WITH THE CROWD

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a boy of 16 and have been going with a certain girl for a year and a half. I am so crazy about her it is pathetic.

Usually, when boys and girls get into trouble, it is a boy who has started it but, contrary to the usual procedure this girl is constantly trying to get me to make love to her. I love her so much that I don't want to get her in trouble, but she is always after me and it is getting very difficult for me to restrain myself. What do you think I should do? — S.H.

Dear S.H.:

As I see it, there are two things you can do. the first, which I doubt very much if you will be willing to go through with, would be for you to tell this girl plainly that if she doesn't behave herself, you're going to break up with her. Tell her that intimacy between teen-age boys and girls almost invariably leads to trouble of one kind or another in the end, and not only can such a friendship, but far worse, can ruin lives.

The second thing I might suggest, which is less drastic than breaking off your friendship entirely and so might be more acceptable to you, is to avoid seeing this girl alone. Spend your time together with a group of friends or at least with "another couple, when you go out, and you'll find temptation much easier to avoid than if you are by yourselves.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NO WONDER THIS BEST MAN IS "BEWILDERED"!

Dear Mrs.-Beeckman:

I have been asked to be best man at the September wedding of a friend of mine. I must say I was quite surprised to be asked, but very surprised I was when I accepted "on the spot." The groom-to-be is one of my very close friends of mine, although I've always enjoyed his company very much, he's not a man I would choose for a fine man who, I should think, would naturally be asked to be his best man. The Groom-to-be is not of my nationality, although of my nationality I deeply admire, and we have several mutual friends of his nationality who are beginning to "inform" me of many things about the wedding the best man is responsible for—flowers for all the bride's attendants, the gift to the priest, the orchestra and extra liquor for the reception, and so forth, and so forth. Help, help, Mrs. Beeckman! Am I really responsible for all these expenses? Although I have a good salary, I can't that good. Please tell me just what are the expenses the best man has? — Bewildered Best Man

I should think you would be "bewildered"! Your groom-to-be forward letter certainly explains why. Perhaps I'm wrong, but I'm inclined to think he may have been elected best man because of that letter. If so, I'm sorry, and perhaps you reputation for being a generous man. Otherwise you'll be the goat for sure, so should do, give this honor to his older brother?

No one of the responsibilities you list is your responsibility. You, the best man, have only two expenses: (1) you supply your own attire (or the clothes you are prescribed by the groom), and if you don't own this attire, you should buy it, as was customary today rent it; and (2) you send a wedding present to the bride-to-be. (I'm sorry to have to leave the rest of this problem with you . . . but only you sir can decide whether or not to go on with an assignment so distasteful to you.)

BRIDE WRITES THANK-YOU NOTES FOR THESE GIFTS, TOO

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Although our wedding invitations have been out only a week, I have already received several presents from close friends of my fiance. Should I write the thank-you notes for these presents, or may my groom write them? — Bride-to-be

You should write the thank-you note to each of these friends, and of course including, in the body of your note, an enthusiastic appreciation of your fiance.

INVITATION TO CEREMONY ONLY, REQUIRES NO REPLY

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My husband and I have received an invitation to attend the Catholic church wedding of our doctor's daughter. We are not personal friends of the family, and I am wondering if it is proper to acknowledge the invitation, or, in the event we cannot attend the wedding, should we send a gift or regrete. Also would a card of congratulations or a small remembrance be in order? — Mrs. H.

Since you do not mention being invited to the reception, I take that the invitation is to the church ceremony only. If so, it is not necessary to reply to this invitation. You may, if you wish, send a small remembrance as a wedding present. . . of course the bride would be delighted with this thoughtful gesture, or they would both appreciate a card of congratulations and best wishes, or a telegram of best wishes to arrive during the reception.

Three Persons Fatally Burned In Gas Explosion

LAKEPORT, Calif. (AP)—Three persons were fatally burned Thursday in the explosion of two 30,000-gallon tanks of butane gas shortly after they had warned 20 others to stay from the danger area.

The dead are Bess Gibson, 38, who owned the gas plant with her husband Irvin J. Garner, 51, resort operator, and his son Don Garner, 21.

They died some hours after the blast. Two others were severely burned. Mrs. Gibson's husband, Leo, about 38; and Charlie Baum, 49, who was driving by.

The explosion occurred at the Lake County Gas Co. plant 20 miles southeast of here. Damage was estimated at between $75,000 and $100,000. A spark, possibly from an electric motor, ignited the gas.

It caught the Gibsons and the Garner men. It also demolished two nearby houses and wrecked four automobiles.

Guard Officers Will Not Wear Bowler Hats

OTTAWA (CP)—The army's reply: A ringing "No."

The question: "Will officers of the Regiment of Canadian Guards wear bowler hats and carry umbrellas as part of their off-duty dress?"

"You can rest assured that our officers will never appear in any such get-up," an army spokesman said Tuesday. "Why, the civilians would laugh them off the streets."

Though the Regiment of Canadian Guards, formed only last October, takes its wegue of dress—scarlet uniforms and bearskins, for instance—from the British Brigade of Guards, the bowler hat and umbrella for junior officers are not included.

The British now are steamed up over an order that members of the Horse Guards on sentry duty at the entrance to their parade square in central London must salute every man who passes wearing a bowler hat and carrying a tightly-furled umbrella.

Bowler hats and umbrellas are the traditional off-duty garb for young officers in the British Guards.

N.B. Foresters Carry Out Successful Holding Operation Against Spruce Bud Worm

By GERALD FREEMAN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

RENOUS, N.B. (CP) — New Brunswick foresters believe they have licked a tiny yellow caterpillar with a million-acre appetite, but it can cost up to $3,000,000 a year to keep the pest under control.

Armed with spray planes and the latest scientific know-how, they're carrying out a successful holding operation against the spruce budworm, nemesis of New Brunswick timber owners for 40 years.

This year more than 40 planes operating out of this Miramichi river village and four other southwestern airstrips deep in the woods sprayed a million acres of spruce land with 300,000 gallons of insecticide.

GENTLY BUSINESS

The poison costs about $1 a gallon landed at the airfield, and sprayed half a gallon to the acre wipes out more than 90 per cent of the budworms.

Budworms will soon be back in the area again, however, and the ecologists — about 30 in all—are lining up next year's attack at spots where the infestation is expected to be severe.

Dr. R. E. Balch heads the scientific staff on the budworm war from Fredericton.

"You can't try to stop the outbreak," he explains. "We hope that by hitting it at the right time we can save the trees over the hump of severe defoliation and keep them alive."

He says outbreaks last five or 10 years, then concurrently die out for 30 or 40 years.

The misnamed spruce budworm feeds mostly on balsam fir, especially the over-mature stands pulp companies like to have in reserve.

WORSE THAN FIRE

The budworm has been feared worse than fire since it went on the rampage from 1914 to 1923 and killed practically every tree in hundreds of square miles of the Miramichi river area.

In 1951 an alarming number of trees put up the budworm danger signal—reddened twig tips. From the air it looked like a huge red-brown blanket thrown over the green of northern New Brunswick forests.

Budworms chew needles off at their base. Then they tie them to their webs with the gooey fibre they secrete. Rains eventually wash off most of the dead needles and turn the trees green again late in the summer.

The New Brunswick government and paper companies heeded the signal and gave support to foresters who said spraying would end the menace.

H. W. Flieger, an ex-forestry professor at the University of New Brunswick was borrowed from his job as adviser to a paper company to head the operation.

After hasty practice on the budworm city airstrip and supply depot was hacked out of the woods, planes hired and supplies moved in.

BIG SUCCESS

About 300,000 acres were sprayed in the much publicized first operation. The job was more successful than expected: 99.4 per cent of the budworms were killed.

But the cost was high at $3.05 an acre and it was decided to halve the amount of insecticide used by flying the spray planes higher and covering a wider area.

In 1953 the federal government joined the provincial government and the paper companies, each pledging $1,000,000 yearly for five years, in Forest Protection Ltd., headed by Mr. Flieger.

The 1953 operation was the biggest spray job in history—1,800,000 acres were covered and more than 95 per cent of the budworms killed.

Spraying has to be undertaken during the three weeks in June when both bud and worm are at certain stage of development. It can only be done in the calmest weather, usually just after dawn and just before sunset.

CUT SPRAYING COSTS

Including pilots of the Stearman spraying biplanes who clear about $1,500 during budworm time, about 100 men are involved in the project during the height of the battle.

Spraying costs have been cut to little more than a dollar an acre.

The woods are alive with birds which flocked to the area to feast on the budworm. Like mammals they're immune to the spray. Reptiles such as frogs fare badly, but running streams carry off the insecticide before it can kill fish. Pilots are careful not to spray lakes.

Some say spraying upsets nature's balance, but Dr. Balch has a ready answer: "Nature's out of balance when she does this. We just put it out of balance another way."

MUTINEER SETTLEMENT

Pitcairn island was discovered in 17— but was not settled until 23 years later, when mutineers of the Bounty landed there.

Navy Torpedoes Rumor Cruiser Sighted Japs

OTTAWA (CP)—After nearly 13 years, the navy has torpedoed a rumor that the Canadian auxiliary cruiser Prince Robert might have sighted but failed to warn the Americans of the approach of the Japanese fleet toward Pearl Harbor.

The Crownest, monthly navy publication, has published an article entitled "Tag with the Enemy" sub-titled "An answer to the wartime question: Did HMCS Prince Robert sight the Japanese battle fleet in the Orient?"

A navy spokesman said Wednesday this rumor got around the west coast after the Prince Robert reached Esquimalt Dec. 16, 1941. The cruiser had escorted Canadian troops to Hong Kong the previous month.

The rumor got into print in a British Columbia newspaper in December, 1952, but the navy did not deny the story then or was unaware of it.

NEVER NEAR IT

The Crownest article says that at no time was the Prince Robert within 500 miles of the Japanese force which attacked Pearl Harbor Dec. 7, 1941, and sank or damaged 20 U.S. warships.

Even if the Prince Robert had sighted Japanese warships in the South China Sea after leaving Hong Kong, no special significance could have been attached to their presence there because the general area was one in which the fleet would be likely to conduct peacetime manoeuvres.

Actually, the Japanese fleet which struck at Pearl Harbor without warning assembled in the Kurfles, north of the Japanese mainland, and 1,400 miles north of the Prince Robert's course.

Unions Reject Board Report On Requests

TORONTO (CP) — Officials of the United Auto Workers (CIO) say the bargaining committee of the local unions at the Massey-Harris-Ferguson plants have recommended the rejection of a majority conciliation board report brought in Wednesday.

The recommendation will go today before about 8,000 employees at membership meetings at the five Massey - Harris - Ferguson plants in Toronto, Brantford and Woodstock.

The majority report, drafted by Judge R. S. Clark of Guelph, chairman of the board, and company nominee W. L. Farrar of the Central Ontario Industrial Relations Institute, rejected all monetary demands of the employees.

ASK INCREASE

The employees are asking for a 10-cent hourly increase, an additional week's holidays with pay and other fringe benefits.

The basic wage of Massey-Harris-Ferguson employees is $1.36 an hour. They now get eight statutory holidays a year.

The company said the total cost of the monetary demands of the union would be 35 cents an hour.

Locals involved are 439, Toronto; 458, Brantford and 624, Woodstock.

The majority report also backed the company in rejecting a clause that would prohibit discrimination in employing Communists.

The report said there would be no problem if the union used embarrassing tactics on those who followed political principles which retain the support of the Crown and security of the nation. However, inclusion of those who prefer loyalty to a foreign power in a bargaining unit might be detrimental to the security of both the company and the employees in relation to securing defence contracts involving secret projects, the report said.

In a minority report, union member Elmer Fell said he could not agree that any group of citizens have the right to prevent citizens from earning his livelihood because of his political affiliations, so long as the political party is a legal organization.

100th Anniversary To Be Celebrated By Fergus Folk

FERGUS, Ont. (CP)—A century of growth on framework laid by sturdy pioneers will be reviewed by 45,000 Wellington county residents during a three-day celebration starting Friday.

One hundred years ago, the log from Mount Forest to Guelph. Today, from the stout Scottish settlers who gave it birth, Fergus has grown into a prosperous centre of industry engaged in everything from shortbread to the manufacture of washing machines.

Throughout the county, buildings which went up in settlement days still stand. Lecrosse and curling are "the" sports and in Fergus, where many families are in the fourth and fifth generation, the average passer-by on the main street has a name beginning with Mac.

Dotting the banks of the Grand river, which bisects the county's rich central Ontario farmlands, are old flour mills. Many of them operate in the way they did when grain was pulled by horse-carts.

Adam Fergusson will be honored by court and speech this weekend. He was the fiery Scot after whom the town was named, the man who discouraged beer but fostered matters from building in the region which he had decided would be a second Scotland.

There will also be a toast to the year-old Scout troop, headed by youth a skating champion and still a curling enthusiast. He remembers the first car that came to Fergus. "It didn't seem to be the real article," he said. "It looked too much like a buggy."

To commemorate the centenary, a new museum is being opened at Elora, and beauty queens are being chosen for Miss Wellington County, 1900 and 1954.

Bathing suits have been ruled out in the modern contest—only evening dresses will be worn—the girls entering the 1900 parade will have to bring their own crinolines.

Such relics as muskets, rocker cradles, high - button shoes and faded parchments will be displayed in the new museum now being whitewashed for the inaugural.

McCarthy May Face Demands From His Committee Members For 'House-Cleaning' of Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Joseph McCarthy (Rep. Wis.) called his Senate investigations subcommittee to a meeting today which could boil up a fight over demands for staff firings.

He is seeking permission at the closed session to launch at once a new public investigation of what he calls infiltration of defence plants by 130 subversives. But a majority of the sub-committee's seven members have declared that a "house-cleaning" of the staff should take precedence.

This is the group's first meeting under McCarthy's chairmanship since its 36-day hearings into his row with top army officials, at which the sub-committee has not yet handed down a report.

At the windup of the hearings four weeks ago today one subcommittee member, Senator Charles Potter (Rep. Mich.), announced he believed each side had proved main charges, and that employees on each side should be dismissed. In advance of today's meeting, he told reporters he still thinks so, and added that some staff changes should have priority over any other sub - committee business. Potter has not mentioned any names.

Two of the sub-committee's three Democratic members, armed with proxy votes to cast for the absent Senator John McClellan (Dem. Ark.), declined to say what moves they planned. But senators Henry Jackson (Dem. Wash.) and Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.) said they have not receded from their demands for "a house - cleaning" among McCarthy appointees on the staff.

McCarthy reserved comment on the meeting, and on new developments in efforts by Senator Ralph Flanders (Rep. Vt.) to have McCarthy fired from the chairmanship of the investigations sub-committee and its parent government operations committee, which McCarthy also heads.

Senator William Knowland of California, the Senate republican leader, announced Wednesday he will oppose Flanders' move. But Flanders told a press conference he thinks he has "an excellent chance" to get Senate approval of his resolution to strip McCarthy of his chairmanships.

Aquit Seaman Of Manslaughter

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A federal court jury Wednesday acquitted Oliver Lomar Lee, former seaman, of a manslaughter charge in the death of Harry T. Dunlop, 28, a Canadian, aboard a tanker in the harbor of Kure, Japan, last year.

In his three-day trial, he admitted he struck the blow with a wrench that fatally injured Dunlop, but maintained it was in self defence. Dunlop died in a hospital in Kure.

Lee, who weighs 154, told the jury he obtained the wrench and a hammer in a 200-pound deck hand, during a fight.

Scorching Heat Wave Breaks Some Records

TORONTO (CP) — A scorching heat wave in southern Ontario broke records in some areas Wednesday, while the rest of Canada enjoyed fine, breezy weather.

The mercury rose to 91.2 degrees in Toronto, the city's hottest day this year and tethered the record for the same day in 1908 by .3 degrees.

Residents sweltered through all-time highs of 96 in Windsor and 94.3 in Hamilton, a Canadian Press survey showed.

It was 91 in London, Ont., where water consumption hit record 24,735,000 gallons Tuesday, nearly 1,000,000 gallons more than any previous peak.

Weather officials said cooler air from northern Ontario may bring relief from the hot spell today.

Reds Hand Over British Yacht Held Since June

HONG KONG (Reuters) — The Chinese Communists have handed over the British yacht Amor which they had held since June 1 when she landed on Samsun Island.

The nine British sailors arrested aboard the yacht returned here last Saturday after negotiations between Communist authorities and British officials.

Lt. Lawrence Sloane, who was in charge of the captured party said Tuesday that after their arrest they suffered mistreatment by the Chinese who questioned them incessantly on their "spying mission." He said they had been lost in fog and drifted into Communist waters.

Start Proceedings

WHITBY (CP)—Extradition proceedings were started Tuesday to bring Nicholas Marchuk, 36, of Brantford back to Whitby to face trial on a second charge of car theft.

Marchuk fled from the Ontario county jail in 1952 while awaiting transfer to penitentiary. He had been sentenced to two years on a car theft charge.

Marchuk is alleged to have stolen a second car after he escaped.

He was picked up in the United States on a charge of impersonating a police officer. He is being held at Detroit on a charge of illegally entering the United States.

Kitchen Fatigue Duty Now Thing Of Past in Camp

QUEBEC (CP)—Kitchen fatigue duty has been a thing of the past for five years at nearby Valcartier military camp, an army official said Tuesday. That is, for all units except the hardy Royal 22nd Regiment (Van Doos).

He was commenting on a Chicago report that the United States air force is trying catering companies instead of kitchen police at an Oklahoma air base.

Canada Catering Company has been operating six kitchens at Valcartier for between 2,000 and 6,000 men and for reserve units that train during the summer.

The army said the Royal 22nd has its own cooks and kitchen staff but in other units catering companies were employed because of a shortage of trained kitchen personnel.

Catering companies also operate at camps in Longue Pointe, Que., Petawawa and Camp Borden.

Six Canadian Firms Combine For Seaway Bids

TORONTO (CP) — Incorporation of Iroquois Constructors Ltd. with six all-Canadian firms with a view to obtaining St. Lawrence Seaway contracts was revealed Tuesday.

The other companies are Angus Robertson Ltd., Canadian Comstock Co., Ltd., Foundation Co. of Canada Ltd., Penlugon Construction Co., Ltd., Rayner and Armstrong Ltd., and Rayner Construction Ltd.

All specialize in large-scale, heavy construction operations.

20,000 Watch Military Parade At Hanoi

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — A crowd of 20,000 Viet Namese watched 10,000 French and Viet Namese troops and hundreds of tanks and guns parade the streets of Vietminh-threatened Hanoi Wednesday.

Officially the military display honored France's Bastille Day, but obviously it also was designed to show the city of 600,000 that the French still are here in strength.

It was calculated to reassure pro-French Viet Namese who fear Hanoi will be given to the Communist-led rebels in the negotiations in Geneva or lost to them in a mass Red assault on shrunken French defenses.

The parade also served to warn Vietminh sympathizers and extreme nationalists that the French are ready to put down any revolt that might flare if a cease-fire is signed.

For an hour and a half the pavement shook under marching feet and rumbling machines of war, the latter an impressive display of American war aid.

As the parade ended, a DC-3 transport roared low over the reviewing stand and a squad of parachutists balled out and landed in the small lake just across the street.

The Vietminh meanwhile increased their pressure on the northern and northwestern sides of the French defence perimeter of the Red river delta.

PARACHUTE SUPPLIES

Between Luc Nam and Phu Lang Thuong, about 28 miles north of Hanoi, the French-held post of Camp Erulin was encircled, Arms, ammunition and food were parachuted Tuesday to the French garrison, a French Army spokesman said.

Between Vietri and Vinh Yen, 20 miles northwest of Hanoi, several other posts were under strong rebel pressure. Sixty Vietminh were reported killed in mop-up operations in that area Tuesday.

More Vietminh infiltrators also were reported in the Son Tay sector, 20 miles northwest of Hanoi.

Director Will Return Next Year

STRATFORD (CP)—Dr. Tyrone Guthrie, internationally-known director, will return next summer for his third year with the Stratford Shakespearian Festival, it was announced here.

Dr. Cecil Clarke, also connected with the festival from its inception, said he cannot return for the 1955 season.

Dr. Guthrie is directing two of the three plays to be presented this year. Mr. Clarke is artistic director and is directing the third play.

Mr. Clarke's decision not to return means that his wife, Jacqueline Cundall, in charge of construction of all properties and jewelry for the two festival seasons, also will not be back.

This year one of her major tasks was the creation of the remarkable masks to be used in "Oedipus Rex," the one non-Shakespearian play on the list.

Marmora

MARMORA —Five young men of the Marmora district bended themselves together five months ago into what is purported to be the largest semi-commercial underwater club in Canada and is designated the "Marmora Underwater Association."

The five are: John Fraser, who was elected president; Robert Sanderson, who took upon the duties of secretary-treasurer, and Donald Shannon, Jr., Bert Gray and Douglas Vilneff.

OBJECTIVE

The objective of the club, the only one of its kind between Montreal and Toronto, is stated to be the promotion of a deeper understanding of underwater life, assistance, if possible, to those who have lost valuables in waters which they would like to reclaim, and rescue work in the case of those in swimming difficulties if opportunity presents itself.

Each member is new to the occupation to which they are giving ardent study. Their equipment consists of compressed air tanks and diving gear, which has meant an investment for each member of approximately $250.

ADD RAFT TO EQUIPMENT

Each club in the Dominion is similarly equipped, but to their equipment the Marmora quintet has added a raft of 10 feet by 16 feet, with a winch and ladder attached.

Their efforts thus far have taken in diving in waters at Crowe Lake, near Boonter Park, Marble Point, Glen Allan Park, Crown River, Belmont Lake and Trent River.

Upon request they retrieved a valuable fish pole and reel from 43 feet of water in Crowe Lake. Through swiftness of water they were unable to recover a glass eye from Deer Lake. Rough water deterred their efforts also to reclaim an outboard motor from Trent River at a depth of about 25 feet but they proposed to return there on Tuesday to use a new method, that of the dip needle.

WORLD'S DEPTH RECORD

The world's record depth to be obtained by a member of an underwater club was reached by Frederic Dumas in 1947 as he dove 360 feet.

Fifty feet is the limit reached thus far by the Marmora divers.

On Sunday afternoon there was a meeting at Burleigh Falls, which was attended by representatives of 30 underwater clubs, including the local one. Ideas were exchanged and a healthy discussion emanated. Some diving was indulged in before the gathering dispersed.

Once a week the Marmora men meet for discussion and operations. They are greatly enthused with their undertaking and refer to underwater conditions as fascinating. They say that the description of underwater life given by Capt. J. Y. Cousteau, as the title of his book; "The Silent World," aptly describes the territory they cover.

REGENTS VS. PICTON!

Bryson Reid's baseballing Regents occupy the diamond spotlight at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday night, since the Belleville game with the Toronto Hostings has been laid over until July 21.

The Picton club will supply the opposition and they tell me Chris Lockyer's crew from the little Spanish town has been going great guns of late. They are said to be a well-balanced club with plenty of power in all departments.

Thanks to Bryson Reid and Chris Lockyer the game was arranged for eight-thirty under the lights. It seems some of the Picton key players are employed at canning factories, and it is hard to get away from work at this time of the year.

• • •

THE MIDGETS!

Houston's baseballers will represent the city in the Ontario Baseball Association Midgets playdowns this year. The Houston's have a record of three wins and two losses and were leading the league on July 13. The team that tops the loop on that date automatically goes on the playdowns. The Schwab's team will go into the bantam playdowns by virtue of their double win over the CNRAA youngsters last Saturday. Houston's management is endeavoring to arrange exhibition games for the team so "they can keep their hand in" prior to the playdown series.

• • •

NEW HOLDS!

Whipper Billy Watson, after an explosive return to the mat wars, will return with his partner, Paul Baillargeon, against a gigantic twosome in the tag team wrestling feature at the Memorial Arena on Friday night. The high-flying Watson-Baillargeon team will oppose the mountainous alliance of the 300-lb. Mighty Ursus and the 270-lb. George Bollas, the former Zebra.

According to the Bollas-Ursus outfit, this match will finish the Watson-Baillargeon alliance. Bollas claims his flying body-attacks will finish off either or both Whipper and Paul; Ursus insists he'll get one of them in his reverse chinlock and ring down the curtain on Baillargeon and Watson as a victorious team. Both Ursus and Bollas don't mention, however, is that Whipper's new Corkscrew hold and Baillargeon's full Nelson and giant swing are a couple of specialties to be seriously reckoned with also.

Ray Villmer, the St. Louis dynamo, will meet Sky-Hi Lee, the Ozark giant, in the semi-final. Leering Lee Henning will wrestle Frank Foti in the first event.

BRITISH RUNNER'S ACHIEVEMENT

Britain's success in the two-mile international event at the White City, London, at the conclusion of the British Games this summer has more than record significance. Apart from the fact that the winner, red-haired Chris Chataway, wearing the British colors, breasted the tape at least eight yards in front of the formidable Jungwirth of Czechoslovakia, it was evident that a new and strong challenge is in prospect during the European championships at Berne in August.

Chataway's achievement was easily the sensation of one of the most important athletic meetings of the season in England. Paced by two familiar colleagues, Roger Bannister—the first man to break through the four minute mile—and Chris Brasher—winner of the international mile event—Chataway almost disdained this help, so great was his margin of victory.

His next international track attempt will be in the European championships when he will oppose redoubtable Vladimir Kuts in the 5,000 metres. This should be a great contest for Zatopec has swept all before him ever since the Olympics in London, and in Helsinki when he also won the 10,000 metres. It will be recalled that Chataway stumbled early in the race and after rising from the ground was eight yards from the winning line when leading Zatopec in the 5,000 metres at the Helsinki Olympiad. Chataway's winning time was 3 mins. 41 sec.—.4 sec. faster than the British All-Comers National and English Native records set by G. Firie last September. His victory fell by only three-fifths of a second below the world record for distances set by G. Reiff of Belgium, in Paris in 1932.

COMPARISON

Although he had enjoyed a good year in 1931, Babe Ruth was asked to take a salary cut for the 1932 season. The decision had affected the gate, explained Yankee's boss Col. Jacob Ruppert, and the management was forced to economize.

Ruth, who was aware of his drawing power, put up a squawk. Depression or no depression, he could see no reason why he should take a cut.

"What salary did you have in mind?" asked Ruppert.

"$80,000," said the Babe.

"$80,000" wailed Ruppert. "Why, that's more than Herbert Hoover gets as President!"

"So what!" said Ruth. "I had a better year than Hoover."

Snider's Two Sacrifice Flies Get Hard-Way Win for 'Bums'; Yanks, Tribe Start 'New Race'

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

The hapless, hitless and practically helpless Baltimore Orioles invade the Yankee Stadium and the Philadelphia A's, equally futile, entertain the Cleveland Indians in what you might call the openers of the "new" American League pennant race.

Prof. Casey Stengel's Yankees, who spent the first half of the season floundering and stumbling, have a nine-game winning streak going and enter the game just a half-game behind the Indians, whose latest mark was dropping four games to the Chicago White Sox.

The concensus around the league is that the Yanks have the upper hand now with one big "if." He is Allie Reynolds, the big chief of the pitching staff, who missed the all-star game because of a pulled muscle in the left hip.

ALLIE ESSENTIAL

Reynolds is essential in the Yanks' plans if they are going to march to that pitch straight pennant. The ailment is a chronic one, but if it bothers him too much he may be forced into the Yankee pen. That could spell the difference since Reynolds is the second place for the Yanks.

Senor Al Lopez, the leader of the Tribe, has whistled along by the graveyard, but he says he is not particularly worried over the events of the past week.

"Al Rosen and Bob Avila have been batting about .400 since their injuries," he said. "... they'll stay out but it and we'll be more dangerous than ever. Look what they did in the all-star game."

In the National League, the New York Giants start a western trip with a five-game lead over the Brooklyn Dodgers, who whipped the Milwaukee Braves 2-1 in 12 innings Tuesday night in the only major league game played.

SOLID CUSHION

The Giants thus have a solid cushion should they go into a slump. The burden of proof is on the Dodgers if they are to win their third straight National League pennant.

The 2-1 victory over the Braves came the hard way before a crowd of 35,470 which boosted the Milwaukee attendance over the million mark. Duke Snider batted in the runs in the first and 12th innings on sacrifice flies. Jim Hughes, who took over for Russ Meyer in the ninth, was the winner.

Bobby Thomson made his first National League appearance for the Braves in the 12th with two out and drew a walk. The loss dropped the Braves into a fourth place tie with Cincinnati Redlegs.

Wings Extend Lead Over Toronto Leafs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

If Emilio Cueche likes work he should have no complaint for his job as fireman for Havana Sugar Kings.

The 33-year-old righthander from Venezuela, playing his first year in the International League, has been called on three times in the last two days. Twice he failed and once he came through to boost his season's record to 11 victories and eight defeats.

The 5-foot-6-inch hurler started against Toronto Leafs Tuesday night and was knocked from the box. But he came back to win Wednesday night's opener against the Leafs 8-3. He was called on again in the second game of the double bill but failed this time as the Leafs scored four runs in the ninth for an 8-6 decision.

AIDED CAUSE

Cueche aided his own cause in his wildest effort as he doubled home the Cubans' second run in the seventh. Paul Smith subsequently bunted the next two to decide the issue. Charlie Kress sent two runs across with a triple and 2nd Stevens two more with a triple in the Leafs' ninth off the second game.

The Leafs, however, dropped 1½ games off the pace as the league-leading Rochester Red Wings defeated Richmond Virginians 5-3 with Lou Ortiz and Pete Riggan banging out clutch singles in the ninth.

Ottawa Athletics snapped their four-game losing streak in the grand manner as they belted five Montreal pitchers for 21 hits and a 21-7 triumph. The Athletics put together three five-run innings with the first one in the fourth powered by Joe Black, Joe Taylor, the league's leading home-run hitter, cracked out No. 17 for Ottawa.

Buffalo and Syracuse split a doubleheader with Bisons winning the second 11-5 after the Chiefs had taken the opener 5-4. Marv Blaylock clouted his 15th homer for one of his seven hits in the two games. Doug Hansen also hit two homers for Buffalo.

Valdes Zephyrs 'Hurricane' In Second Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Nino Valdes fides the glory road toward a 1955 shot at heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano today as Hurricane Tommy Jackson blows harmlessly out to sea.

At Madison Square Garden Wednesday night the Cuban giant scored a two-round TKO victory on the automatic three-knockdown rule.

"I won't fight nobody else until I fight him," Jackson said in his dressing room. He made a stormy scene in the ring before he finally was ushered out.

"He had nothing," said Valdes, through an interpreter. "He clown fighter. Everybody expect us to go to body, we go to head in second round." About Marciano? "I knock him out in four rounds."

Harry Markson, managing director of the International Boxing Club, said: "Valdes rates the next shot at Marciano after the rematch with Ezzard Charles that we hope to run in September."

ONLY ONE FLASH

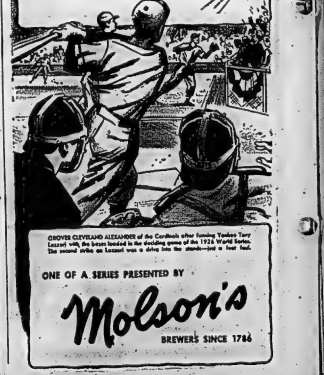
Valdes, an 11-5 underdog, overwhelmed the listless Hurricane who showed only one brief flash of the fiery newcomer who stopped Roy Layne, beat Clarence Henry and knocked out Dan Bucceroni in his exciting rise from prelim boy to No. 5 contender.

In the first round, the Cuban thumped at Jackson's body with both hands. Shifting to the head when the jigging Jackson came out for the second, Valdes drove his mass half through the ropes with a solid right. Although the timekeeper counted four, referee Al Berl ruled no knockdown.

Another right sent Jackson to the floor for an automatic-eight-count. Actually he was up at two. Another flurry and a bull rush drove Jackson to his knees. He was up at one but the count again went to the automatic eight.

The third knockdown that ended the bout under New York rules was disputed by many in the crowd of 4,463 paying $14,286. It looked as though a puffy, following a blow to the neck, sent Jackson down.

It was the first time Jackson had been stopped in 21 pro bouts. Valdes now has won nine in a row and owns a 21-6-2 for 41 fights with 22 knockouts.



Valdes weighed 204, Jackson 190½.

RUGBY FOOTBALL

Frisco's Rosburg Stuns Field In Canadian Open Tourney

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, the hottest thing the Canadian open golf championship has seen in many a year, led a stunned field into the second round today two strokes ahead of the best of 13 other par-breakers.

The bespectacled, 27-year-old San Franciscan tripped the Point Grey course apart in Wednesday's opening 18-hole round with a blazing 63, eight strokes under par, to overcome a brilliant 65 fired by Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon two hours earlier.

Playing late in the field of 125, Rosburg shot 33-30 against par Grey's 34-29 par for the nines and a course record for tournament competition. Doug Ralph, Point Grey amateur, has a 63 to his credit in a club match. It was made before two feet of the course were lengthened.

FOUR BEHIND

Four strokes behind Rosburg with 67 was Fletch, little known pro from Kennewick, Wash., who was four under on the front nine.

Brent Casteel of Portland, Ore., semi-finalist in the U.S. Amateur last year, was low amateur with 68. He was bracketed at that figure with Gordie Erydeen of Toronto who hit the three-under figure with a birdie and an eagle on the last two holes. A 36-foot putt at the 480-yard par five 18th gave Brydson a three and his eagle.

In the 69 bracket were Eddie Hogan of Portland, Ockie Eidsson of Tacoma and Ken Middleton of Toronto.

Thirteen players shot sub-par rounds but some of the pre-tournament favorites found the going rough.

LEONARD DRAGS

Stan Leonard of Vancouver, winner of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association crown in Edmonton last week, was a well back with a 74. His game fell apart at the ninth hole where he drove two balls into the rough and took a three-over-par seven.

Rudy Horvath of Windsor, Ont., had a wobbly 39 on the first nine but made a fine recovery with a 31 coming home.

Ralph Bogetti of Glendale, Calif., and Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., both of whom left the touring pro circuit before last year found Point Grey tough. Blomquist had a 73 and Mayfield, last year matching the score of veteran Lawson Little of Pebble Beach, Calif.

Admitting he was "really playing great," Rosburg said the two powerful drives off the tees and was consistently in close to the pin with his irons. The longest putt that controlled him on the 18 greens was a 15-footer. He missed an eagle at the 18th when his 10-footer missed by two inches.

13 Canadians Qualify For Queen's Prize

BISLEY, England (CP) — The world's longest rifle match started Wednesday—the annual competition for the Queen's Prize, the Empire championship of rifle shooting.

Thirteen Canadians, led by Lt.-Col. Steve Johnson of Calgary, runner-up last year, and Capt. D. G. White of Pine Falls, Man., qualified for the second stage Friday with a score of 99 out of a possible 105.

The Canadians were among 1,300 men and women entered, most of them veterans of two world wars or members of the regular armed forces.

The first stage involved seven shots each at 200, 500 and 600 yards and occupied the whole of Wednesday's 12-hour program of shooting.

SECOND STAGE

The leading 300 scorers will shoot at 300, 500 and 600 yards in the second stage Friday. The surviving "Queen's hundred" will fire the final volleys Saturday at 500 and 1,000 yards.

There was heavy rain early Wednesday. Later visibility was fairly good, despite an overcast sky and a slight breeze. Bright sunshine in the afternoon made aiming difficult on the long ranges.

Other Canadians who qualified and their scores included:

Sgt. R. R. Cabling, Camp Borden, Ont., 98; Sgt. T. R. Potter, Willow Cove, Ont., 97; Maj. F. V. Shepherd, Camp Borden, 97; Lt.-Col. R. Dubeau, Canadian cadet team, 96.

Among five Canadians who scored 94 and will fire in a tie-shoot between 87 competitors for 30 places in the second stage, were Maj. R. W. Hannaford, Camp Borden, and Pte. Sgt. W. H. Wilkinson, Everett, Ont.

Canadians scoring 93 who are not included in the second stage included: F/O. L. H. Edsell, Shrimania Bay, Ont.

Tennis Star Was Baseball, Hockey Prospect

TORONTO (CP) — Rusty Bob Bedford of Kamloops, B.C., may some day get to Glace Bay, N.S., in his travels as one of Canada's leading tennis players and if he does, he'll probably get a better reception than he received as a hockey referee.

The hockey fans of that maritime city practically ran him out of town last winter, he says. It was before he began his seven-month tour of United States and Europe that can be expected to have played a big part in his selection as a member of Canada's four-man Davis Cup team.

The 193-pound French-Canadian star now rates with a smile that is the envy of his referencing career. Not many who will be watching him play today in the two open tennis singles matches in Canada's Davis Cup round with Chile know that he was once a promising hockey and baseball prospect.

THOSE REFEREEING DAYS

His refereed 20 games in the Maritime Major Hockey League last winter. He once accounted Glace Bay fans took exception to his decisions when he handed their team and almost mobbed him when it was over.

"I'll never referee another violent action. After Bedard got into his face he can be in a game a small truck at it, apparently to frighten him. The truck piled into Bedard instead. I'm considered he was lucky to escape alive.

Bedford's big year as a tennis player in Canada was occurred in less than two years. Now only 24, behind Vaughn Mabe as Canada's No. 2 player, three years ago his tournament record in Canada flood to the province of Quebec.

A one-time first baseman in softball, Bedford is considered in Quebec, he was offered a bonus to play baseball with the Class A Montreal Royals but refused. The contract. The Indians planned to farm him out to the Class C Kamloops Elks, Saints of the Provincial League.

His greatest success as a tennis player came this spring in the Italian championships. There he was upset when he beat Sven David, son of Sweden, one of the world's top professionals, 6-4, 3-6, 11-9, 6-3, 6-2. At Wimbledon he reached the third round before losing to Australian ace Lew Hoad.

Oaks, Oshawa Win In Viaduct League

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors are back in second spot in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League after a one-day stint in third place.

Majors regained their footing Wednesday night in the 7-4 win over Brantford Red Sox with whom they now share second place.

In a second game, Galt Terriers downed the league-leading St. Thomas Elgins 5-1 at Galt.

Bob Ballard's three-run homer in the last of the ninth gave London their win and broke up a tight hurling duel between Bob Brake and Brantford's Bob Goldsmith. It was Brake's sixth win this season.

BRANTFORD RALLY

A homer by Clifford with one mate aboard featured a three-run Brantford rally in the ninth after Majors had moved into a 4-1 lead in the fourth inning.

The seven-hit pitching of Mel Duncan paced Terriers to their win. Two walks and Herm Massey's double in the second inning gave Elgins their lone run.

Terriers got to ace pitcher Wilbur Harris in the fourth for a pair of doubles and two singles. Galt clinched the win in the ninth when Ed Sleale drew a walk and Joe Farias homered.

Of three double plays, Elgins had two. Joe Farias paced the batters with a single, double and homer.

In the Viaduct League, Oakville Oaks moved into first place with a 5-3 victory over Toronto Despatches in a game at Oakville. Lefty Ross Paton fanned 13 as he scattered four hits for the win.

Al Cahaws, Oaks' leading Transporters strengthened their first-place position by swamping Toronto Burners 15-1. Lefty Bill Dadson went the distance and allowed five hits.

(Frank) Reagan as head coach to succeed the resigned Art Raino. The past two seasons he served as backfield coach for the pro Eagles.

Bobcats Whip Madoc 19-5 For Second Win

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The Belleville Bobcats pulled out of the league cellar last night with a 19-7 victory over Madoc in a scheduled game played at the C.N.R. Park. It was the Bobcats' second win, both of them at the expense of Madoc.

Ken Dumart had a field day to get to a good start and were leading 5-3 in the fourth when their only available pitcher lost all control, walking five, hitting three and allowing two hits while four runs were added to his troubles. The Bobcats poured it on across the plate before the third out, taking a 11-5 lead. Madoc came back with a pair in the seventh while a seven run explosion followed a singleton in the final two frames to complete the near two-hour marathon.

Dumart was the winning pitcher as he mates stopped making errors and hurled a good game all the way. Bobcats followed just three hits pitcher Bill Dadson of Madoc crew down on strikes and walking two.

Ken Dumart was forced to go the route for Madoc as he was tagged for 14 solid hits, issued walks to eight batters and was relieved with error to Bob Tennis pile combined with Harry Brown's record of 12 strikeouts. Tennis came at first base gave the visitors the only run in the fifth with a walk, sacrifice and a fly ball getting one back for the winners.

Burshaw walked a run in during the second after two errors and Sherman Clarke loaded the bases. A double by Bob Maynes, a walk and a three-base error increased Madoc's lead to 5-1 in the top of the third, while a walk, Dadson's single and Jack Warren's fly got those back in the bottom of the inning.

Bengill walked the first two batters in the fourth, hit the next batter, walked another and then gave up a grand slam single by Dora Dorin lifting one to right field that Sherry dropped for an error. Dumart checked in with officials at the Manakiki Country Club Tuesday and then suddenly packed his bags and left, said Shave.

Play in the competition opens today and most of the nation's top golfers, including 1951 Canadian Open champion Ed Furgol, will participate.

Middlecoff, leading 1954 money winner so far, could not be reached for comment.

He is relieved to St. Paul, scene of the annual PGA tournament next week.

'Pheasant Boy' Fort Erie Winner

FORT ERIE (CP) — Pheasant Boy, which properly may be described as "the most proved horse in Canada" won the $5,000 Niagara Stakes Wednesday, beating a fine field by two lengths in the test of 1 1-16 miles.

Pheasant Boy, owned by M. L. Wilson of Buffalo, has made only five starts this season—all in handicap company—and he has won four of them. He had two firsts at the 1951 Exhibition in Toronto, and since moving to Fort Erie, has registered two stakes triumphs.

Risque Rouge, the four-to-five favorite with the large mid-week crowd, was second and Toy Boy third.

CLEVELAND (AP) — Angry tournament officials, branding Middlecoff as "unfriendly" and "a lousy trick," let loose a bitter blast Wednesday against former champion Open champion Cary Middlecoff for suddenly withdrawing from the $25,000 Manakiki golf open.

"It's a lousy trick," said tournament co-chairman Bob Shave. "He gave no excuse whatever. He didn 'even say anything to me. It stinks."

Middlecoff, winner of the tournament last year, arrived in town Monday night. He checked in with officials at the Manakiki Country Club Tuesday and then suddenly packed his bags and left, said Shave.

Play in the competition opens today and most of the nation's top golfers, including 1951 Canadian Open champion Ed Furgol, will participate.

APPOINT QUEBEC MANAGER

QUEBEC (CP) — Coach Pat Walsh, son of the Junior A Quebec Frontenac Hockey Club has been appointed general manager of the team, it was learned Wednesday. He retains his post as coach.

St. Thomas Will Play Senior 'B'

ST. THOMAS (CP) — Harry MacLeod, manager of the combined steam-automatic senior completion in St. Thomas said Wednesday the city probably will enter a team in the Ontario Hockey Association Senior B League next season.

The entry is subject to completion of negotiations, now under way between directors of St. Thomas Elgin Memorial Community Centre and the OHA.

St. Thomas has been without organized hockey since 1948.

No Money, No Games For Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP) — A £700 financial barrier facing Bermuda's Empire Games hopes at contrants must be cleared by Saturday if this vacation colony is to be represented at Vancouver July 30-Aug. 7.

Three men and a woman have been selected to represent Bermuda at the Games. But the Bermuda Olympic Association says none will go unless expense money for all four is provided by Saturday.

The Olympic Association named Orien Young, Keith Davis, Peter Macky and Thelma Jones to the team, and Wilfred Talbot, manager. But the body said it would not be responsible for the financing, which it said should be handled by the athletes' home clubs.

If financing is arranged, Young will run in the 100- and 220-yard dashes. He has covered the 100 in 9.9 seconds and the 220 in 22.2. Davis is also in the quarter mile, which he has covered in 50 seconds.

Miss Jones, who in 1952 jumped 18 feet 3½ inches in the women's broad jump at the Helsinki Olympic Games, is to compete in that event and the women's 100-yard dash.

Macky is the colony's only acquatic entry, a backstroke expert who also plans to enter freestyle competition. He swam second on the 110-yard freestyle course in Cuba in Bermuda and in two seconds less time in Hayward's freshwater pool. His best in the 110-yard backstroke is 74 seconds.

Cost of sending the team is estimated at £900. Each team member, including manager, is required to contribute £50, leaving £700 to be found in other ways.

Brantford Sox Sign Southpaw

BRANTFORD — (CP) — Mike King, president of the Brantford Red Sox of the Intercounty Baseball League said Wednesday the club has signed left-handed pitcher Barney Brown of Philadelphia, and arrangements are being made to bring him here as soon as possible.

King said another southpaw pitcher, whom he did not identify is being sought.

The Red Sox, in second place with a record of 18 wins and 14 losses, have a six-man pitching staff, but only one southpaw.

HORSE SENSE BRIDGE

By SAM GORDON
The Kibitzer

For someone like Dolly O'Day a difficult hand holds no terror. Whenever she sniffs a tough play no knowledge has she of the error.

South was declarer at three notrump in this deal:

NORTH
♠ 7 6 4 2
♥ Q 6 2
♦ J 10 9
♣ 8 3 5 4

WEST
♠ J 9
♥ 10 7 4 3
♦ 8 6 5 3 2
♣ 7 6

EAST
♠ K 10 8 5
♥ 9 8 5
♦ A K 7
♣ Q 10 9 3

SOUTH
♠ A Q 3
♥ A K J
♦ K 7 4
♣ K J 2

The opening lead from west was diamond three, fourth highest of his longest suit. Dummy covered with the nine and east went up with the ace and thus took the first trick.

South was wise enough to study his prospects before playing to the first trick. He saw that he could taken seven solid tricks with nine aces, three top hearts, diamond king, two top clubs.

Two more tricks were needed by him. The only reasonable chance of taking those two tricks would be with successful finesses; one with the spade queen and the other with club jack.

There is the off chance that a fourth spade or a fourth club will establish. But why are these not considered as favorable as a finesse in the play of plays?

The chances of six outstanding cards dividing 4-2 are better than three times. Whereas, the chances of a successful finesse is 50-50. Therefore, when a finesse offers a better chance.

Two entries are required in dummy for leads from there in the black suits. Once such entry is easy with heart jack to dummy queen. The second entry must be manufactured in some way. But how.

South found the way. He simply sacrificed his diamond king on the first trick that east got with the ace. In this way there was no way for either opponent to prevent an entry to dummy in diamonds.

So, besides his six solid tricks the declarer got a trick in the dummy with a diamond. This entry entry made the second finesse handy. Nine tricks worked out. Dandy.

Britain Defeats Canada, USA In Golf Tourney

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland. (CP) — Great Britain Wednesday defeated Canada and the United States in the three-ball singles division of the Seniors' Selfridge international golf tournament. She thus regained the Derby Cup held by the United States since 1938.

Canada won only one of its 12 matches against Britain, with one match halved. Against the United States she won three and halved two.

Best Canadian performance was by Dr. C. F. Laing of Windsor, Ont., who won one match and halved the other, missing victory when he took three putts on the home green.

Britain's score was 30 points to the United States' 18 1-2. The Canadian team had 8 1-2 points.

Athletics Move To Toronto, Says Writer

NEW YORK (CP) — The Daily News says today the ailing Philadelphia Athletics may move to Toronto next season.

News sports writer Joe Trimble writes that the plight of the American League club was one of the prime subjects of talk as major league officials gathered in Cleveland Tuesday for the all-star game.

"It seems most likely that the Philadelphia club will go to Toronto, possibly by next spring, and that the next United States city to enter the majors will be Minneapolis, rather than the towns which have been talking loudly, such as Houston, Dallas, Los Angeles and San Francisco," says Spring.

BEAT BRITISH BOWLERS

TORONTO (CP) — Members of the 12th District of the Ontario Lawn Bowling Association defeated lawn bowlers from the British Isles 109-106 in an exhibition match Wednesday.

SPEAKER ILL

CLEVELAND (AP) — Tris Speaker, one of baseball's greatest fielders, was in "satisfactory" condition Wednesday at Lakeside Hospital where he is recovering from a heart attack. The "Grey Eagle" now 68, suffered the attack Monday and missed Tuesday's all-star game here.

St. Kitts Win Over Hamilton

ST. CATHARINES (CP) — St. Catharines Athletics defeated the Hamilton Tigers 11-9 in an Ontario Lacrosse Association senior game here Wednesday night.

Jim McNulty, top scorer in the senior series, accounted for five Tiger goals, while Tony D'Amico notched two.

Leading scorers for the Athletics were Ted Howe, Paul Soper and Al Frick, who tallied two apiece.

AT THE BELLE.

Doi McGuire Returns After Two Year Absence.

Dorothy McGuire, who portrays Clifton Webb's secretary in "Three Coins In The Fountain", the new Twentieth Century-Fox CinemaScope production starting today at the Belle Theatre, returns to the screen after an absence of two years, since "Mister 880". She took time out from her film and theatre work to give birth to her second son.

Considered by many to be one of the outstanding actresses of either stage or screen, Miss McGuire has been extremely selective and has made only a dozen films since her first triumph as "Claudia" more than ten years ago. Her performance in "The Spiral Staircase", "The Enchanted Cottage", "Gentleman's Agreement" and other films soon established her reputation and she is constantly sought by producers for important parts.

"Three Coins in the Fountain", is a gay, tender CinemaScope romance, in color Delaxian, and costars Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire, Jean Peters, Louis Jourdan, Maggie McNamara and Rossana Brazzi.

Author Secondari got the title "Three Coins in the Fountain", from the Roman legend in which he tosses a coin into the beautiful Trevi fountain and wishes, will return to Rome. The picture ends with the three girls and their prospective husbands at the fountain, which is one of the show spots of Rome.

Morris Stuart-Pilot, CinemaScope.

A special added attraction on the same program is Cinema-Scope and color, "Movie Stunt-Pilot", revealing thrilling secrets of Hollywood's most terrifying job, and the popular Warner Bros. Newsreel.

AT THE CAPITOL—Mixing mirth and melody, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis pour it out in "The Caddy", Paramount's brand new comedy sensation opening tonight at the Capitol Theatre. Co-comedy sensation opening tonight at the Capitol Theatre. Co-starred with the two zanies and providing the love interest are Donna Reed and Barbara Bates. On the same program and having its first Belleville showings "Those Redheads from Seattle", in Technicolor starring Rhonda Fleming, Teresa Brewer, Gene Barry, Guy Mitchell, Agnes Moorehead and the Bell Sisters. Red-headed sisters admitted free.

AT THE McCARTHY—Van Johnson is selling the wares, to a banjo accompaniment, in "The Siege at Red River," Technicolor spectacle of the old West, produced by Panoramic's Leonard Goldstein and directed by Rudolph Mate for Twentieth Century-Fox release, now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre. Joanne Dru co-stars, Richard Boone supports.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY, JULY 16, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Neither a wholly promising, nor an entirely disturbing day. But it behooves one to be cautious in financial matters, investing, etc., and to be conscientious, careful in all activities.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Some splendid vibrations linger from yesterday, but in lesser degree. Go slowly in some matters and thus avoid having to correct errors. But push ahead generally to achieve gains.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Pleasant if not tremendously encouraging rays. Returns of old and upon your disposition. Be genial.

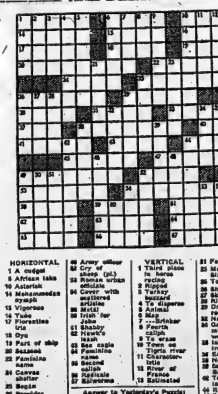
June 22 to July 22 (Cancer) — Your Moon's aspect now stresses broad-mindedness, tolerance of others' faults, and a wholesome appreciation of their good qualities. You can achieve much worthwhile matters.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Restrictions still prevail from existing Sun and other planets' configurations. Try to finish incomplete tasks so as to start with a clean slate Monday. Wholesome advice is okayed!

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Not a spectacular day perhaps, but we believe steady, consistent application to essentials will be rewarding. Don't fret or be too meticulous. Your specific duties can run smoothly if you smile while you work.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Advice to Taurus also pertinent to you. It can be a fruitful, fairly serene period, or just so-so. It's really up to you—and the state of your health. Don't strain; do your best, and don't worry.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — You are very active, perhaps too forceful at times, but always open to kindly and constructive criticism. Be mindful now that slow-but-sure action will bring more satisfaction and gains.

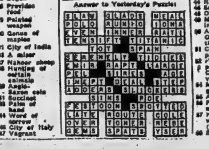


November 22 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — An in-between sort of day, so you will have to supply extra impetus where needed, and handle things generally with your innate skill and deftness. Have faith in yourself.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Saturn's influence may be somewhat restrictive now but this can be helpful rather than otherwise; can keep you from extremes, rashness. Be your sensible self and you won't go wrong.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Mildly encouraging, assisting rays from the Uranus aspect continued from yesterday, but don't take things for granted. You may have to double efforts in some matters. Don't be anxious; go ahead with faith.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — The day may start slowly but vibrations grow better as it advances; tomorrow more promising. Familiar activities should move smoothly and without causing you anxiety.



YOU BORN TODAY are versatile, industrious, generous and sympathetic, especially to the young, old and those in trouble. You are sensitive, fond of home, loved ones; will sacrifice much for their comfort. But again you are likely to show unfounded jealousy and cause arguments you don't mean to start. Be careful lest you build unhappiness instead of the love and contentment you desire. You have much talent, aptitude for success in a religious life, a profession or trade; could make an able salesman, actor, orator, entertainer. Birthdate: Sir Joshua Reynolds, English portrait painter.

Hayfield in Alberta to Be Site of $14,000,000 Oil Project

By JIM SHERIDTON

EDMONTON (CP)—A few days ago, a field of ripening hay stood amid the silvery towers of the Imperial Oil Ltd., refinery in Strathcona municipality, just east of Edmonton.

In a few days, the same field will be alive with the lusty activity of bulldozers and other equipment tearing up the ground for western Canada's first large-scale plant for the manufacture of lubricating oils.

Today, surrounded by bales of newly-cut alfalfa, Reeve A. M. Adamson of Strathcona framed the symbolic first sod on the plant site. Construction is expected to be completed by Sept. 1 next year. Production is scheduled for early 1956.

The new $14,000,000 plant will add 150 more workers to Imperial's present payroll of about 300. It will cover about 13½ acres of the company's 360 acres Canadian refinery, one of the Canadian Kellogg Co. of Toronto.

The plant will be second in size and capacity only to Imperial's lubricating oils operation at Sarnia, Ont. It will make areas west to the Lakehead independent of eastern Canada except for specialized oils for which there is only a limited demand.

About 700,000 barrels of automotive and industrial oils will pour annually from the plant—about 2,000 barrels, or 70,000 gallons, daily.

Oils will be "finished" under a new company-developed process known as hydrofining. Previously, lubricating oils were filtered through clay in the final stages of manufacture to remove any impurities. Hydrogen gas will now be passed through the oils for the same purpose.

Hydrogenation has been used before in treating other petroleum products, but this will be its first commercial application to lubricating oils.

The hydrogen will come from another new unit—a catalytic reformer. This will take 2,000 barrels a day of heavy naphtha oil from the refinery's crude still and crack it down in the presence of a catalyst. The unit will yield both hydrogen and a high octane gasoline.

Beer Supplies Still Lacking As Strike Goes On

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A few cold beers were still being poured today, But many drinkers were learning how the strike will last.

Thirsty residents, many of them trying to beat the heat, were without favorite brands of beer, ale or stout, went into the 10th day of Windsor brewery workers strike with little hope that supplies will start flowing again in a few days.

An official of the United Brewery Workers local (CIO-CCL) had bad news for Windsorites Wednesday night when he said there is no hope of immediate settlement on the basis of present stands by company and union.

STRUCK LAST WEEK

The 17 men struck last week when Canadian Breweries Ltd., port removed helpers from trucks carrying barrels of beer because the company said restrictions made workers made the helpers unnecessary. Union officials said the move violated their agreement and ordered the walkout. It spread to retail drivers when employers refused to unload shipments brought in from Hamilton and Toronto by Brewers' Warehousing Limited.

When union members refused to do the work the warehousing company closed their retail stores here in a counter-action. The union charged the company with a lockout.

The issue was taken before the Ontario Labor Relations Board in Toronto Tuesday night and the union intended to request that Brewers' Warehousing Limited be declared to be an illegal lockout. However, the union withdrew its request.

Joseph Sedgwick, counsel for the company, said he had planned to file the board with data the union for calling as illegal strike but would not press his claim if the union's lockout application was withdrawn.

David Lewis, union lawyer, commented: "It is hoped both sides may be induced to seek other avenues to resolve the issue."

Board chairman Jacob Finkelman said the board's decision would be that the union application had been dismissed but the board would note in its written report that the union had asked to withdraw.

Russian Plan To Alter Weather So Much Hot Air

LONDON (Reuters)—Russia has admitted that a huge plan worked out during the Stalin regime to change the climate over Russian Central Asia was so much hot air.

And the hot air has not been of much even coming from the right direction.

Russian scientists, quoted Wednesday night by Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the "Stalin plan" for changing climate has been proceeding for six years along completely wrong lines.

The huge plan was based, according to the broadcast, on the old theory that dry winds over European territories of the Soviet Union were "masses of hot air from Central Asia."

The statement said that research has revealed there is no connection between dry air in Central Asia and the dry winds elsewhere.

Clear Maryland Town As Explosives Afire

Blast After Blast In Fireworks Plant Rocks Chestertown

Order Residents to Flee; Nitro-Glycerine Is in Storage

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—Blast after blast ripped through a fireworks plant on the west edge of Chestertown today for more than an hour and authorities ordered the town's 3,140 evacuated.

They feared the explosions might reach large stores of nitro-glycerin and other explosives in magazines at the Kent Manufacturing Co. It could not be determined immediately whether any of the plant's 275 workers had been killed but one witness said it would be a miracle if there were no dead. Twenty casualties were taken to Kent-Queen Annes hospital.

HUNDREDS FLEE

Hundreds of residents, including mothers pushing baby carriages, fled across the Chester river bridge to safety.

Chestertown is directly east from Baltimore across Chesapeake Bay.

There was one explosion as late as 11:30 a.m., 50 minutes after the first blast.

Wallace H. Ford, county tax assessor, said he was the only one left in the courthouse by that time and the bridge across the river into the adjoining county was clogged with cars fleeing town.

Rescue workers concentrated their efforts at clearing houses near the plant.

SAYS MUST BE SOME

"There can't help but be some fatalities," said Bill Usilton, Chestertown newspaper man who was a witness.

The series of explosions broke windows in half a dozen homes away. Smoke columns rose into the air for a thousand feet.

The plant occupies 30-acre site at the west edge of Chestertown about a quarter of a mile from the centre of town. It is made up of about 30 or 40 buildings, most of them small and dispersed.

Usilton said first reports from the scene indicated there might be many casualties in one of the larger buildings where women workers assemble the fuses and detonator fuses.

Call for help went out to Easton, Elkton, and Dover, Del. Hospitals there were alerted.

Usilton said one report indicated small houses containing the more powerful explosives still haven't blown up.

Whole bundles of fireworks were blasted into the air and then exploded.

CIVIL DEFENCE ACTIS

Rescue work was hampered by the continuing explosions.

The local civil defence organization went into action to organize operation to help in the rescue work.

State police in Easton said the explosion occurred at the plant of the Kent Manufacturing Co., an explosives firm which has contracts for government flares and other defence items.

State troopers were rushing to the scene.

The sheriff's office said the explosions still were going on at 10:35 a. m.

The chief telephone operator at Chestertown reported:

"People are leaving this town like it had been bombed. People are crying on the streets.

"They just called us and asked us to get any fire help we could from anywhere.

"The explosions have been going on out there since about 10:30."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Afternoon temperatures over the southern half of Ontario were to be in the upper 70's or low 80's today than Wednesday, as north winds swept much cooler air down from Hudson Bay and Quebec. Rain over Sunday will continue through-out most of the province today, but by Saturday temperatures will again be on an upward trend as winds swing around to the south. A disturbance moving eastward from the Prairies will bring cloudy skies and a few showers in central Ontario Saturday then, elsewhere mainly sunny weather will continue.

Left Wing Group Seeks Control Of Unemployed

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A mass meeting of unemployed persons was dismissed Thursday night at a noisy elements, described as "left wing" started a movement to reorganize the Windsor Association of Unemployed Persons.

Hoyt Blakeney, an unemployed Ford of Canada worker, was elected president of the association after the 200 persons in audience demanded that all unemployed persons be elected by the association.

In a statement after the meeting, Babcock said he does not belong to any political party and denied he is a Communist.

The association was started and sponsored by the Windsor Joint committee on unemployment which is supported by the Canadian Congress of Labor and the Trades and Labor Council. Both organizations indicated they would violently oppose what they called the infiltration of left wing elements."

FRENCH LAUNCH DRIVE ON REBELS NORTH OF HANOI

Heavy Fighting Occurs In Two-Prong Thrust

HANOI, Indo-China (Reuters)—Ten thousand French Union troops backed by tanks launched two drives north of Hanoi Thursday to push back Vietminh regular troops which had infiltrated into the Red river delta and were menacing the city.

Heavy fighting took place and was continuing today, the French high command announced.

The drives were near Sontay, 25 miles northwest of Hanoi and Phuly, Thursday, 40 miles northeast of the city.

PLANES IN SUPPORT

Bombers and fighters roared in to support the French Union troops.

A high command spokesman said the Vietminh had filtered deep into the populated area of the delta to try to surround important garrisons, hoping to wipe out the garrisons if they withdrew.

The spokesman said the garrisons "are not withdrawing and strong armored columns were driving into Vietminh-held territory to link up outlying posts.

French columns drove forward after a creeping barrage of shell fire.

The Vietminh responded with violent mortaring.

The spokesman said no figure was available yet of the numbers killed but the losses were appreciable on both sides.

About 5,000 French Union troops were taking part in each drive.

Time Working For Russia Says Adenauer

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer asserted today that "time is working for the Soviet Union" and warned the French that Europe will not wait much longer for their decision on the European defence community.

"The delay in the decision over the EDC is strengthening the Soviet Union," the chancellor said.

The EDC provides for the limited rearmament of West Germany within a six-country European army.

This was the second time this month that Adenauer has publicly expressed his fear that consideration of a further delay on this project to stave off West Europe's defences is against a possible Soviet attack.

In a radio address July 2, he told the French that rejection of the EDC would lead to the creation of a German national army.

Today, in an interview with the French newspaper Aurore, Adenauer declared that he will reject any French move to revise the EDC treaty in advance of French ratification.

Walking from Chicago to Detroit Wrong Way—Finds Self in Jail

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A young Finnish sailor who tried to walk from Chicago to Detroit — in the wrong direction — is in jail but his only shortcoming is that he can't speak English.

Antti Aulio Kivela, 23, was arrested here to await a hearing before immigration authorities. He probably will be deported to Finland because he has been told by jail but he has been told through an interpreter that he is not to feel he is a criminal.

Kivela made his way to the Sturgeon Bay, Wis., police station Monday with five cents in his pocket and only the Finnish language at his command. He was taken to the U.S. immigration office at Green Bay where an interpreter arrived and Sturgeon Bay — about 250 miles from Chicago — his entry was thoroughly and his feet were blistered.

Kivela said he left his ship, the Emblem of the Swedish-American line, at Cleveland on leave and went to Toledo to visit a friend, Wilve Enright. He went to Chicago together, then became separated.

Kivele said was to rejoin his ship at Detroit so, knowing Detroit was near lake Michigan, he began walking. No one could understand him to give directions so he started walking up the west shore of lake Michigan.

The young sailor said he walked for 11 days, living on bread he bought only the much language at his command. He was taken to the U.S. immigration office at Green Bay where an interpreter arrived and Sturgeon Bay — about 250 miles from Chicago — his entry was thoroughly and his feet were blistered.

Molotov's Unyielding Stand Chills Asian Peace Hopes

GENEVA (Reuters) — Britain and France will hold a three-way meeting with Russia today in an effort to reshest Indo-China peace talks cooled during the night by an "unyielding" Soviet stand.

Premier Mendes-France, with only four full days left to make good his peace pledge or resign, will work on the draft of an armistice agreement with Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Molotov.

Mendes - France and Eden requested the meeting this morning after a 4½ hour late-night session between the French prime minister and Molotov ended in an apparent deadlock.

Molotov was reported "polite but unyielding." Mendes-France was said to be "disappointed" with the meeting.

Racing against the clock, tired-looking Mendes-France was in urgent strategy session with his delegation today. He was back in his office by 9 a.m., though he got to bed in the small hours after his fruitless talk with Molotov.

The talk began Thursday night over a two-hour dinner in the president's villa at Bellevue villa and continued privately for 2½ hours in the Grenier.

There both statesmen studied a large map of Indo-China by the light of a small reading lamp, with only their interpreters present. Their advisers waited in a nearby room. Soviet, French and Swiss guards patrolled between them.

The French sources said the conference made no progress toward narrowing East-West differences on key problems. One of the experts said Molotov was "like a wall."

The French attributed this hardening of attitude to Soviet anger at the Western Big Three conference in Paris with the Communists have bitterly criticized.

The key issues Mendes - France and Molotov discussed included where the truce lines should be drawn in Viet Nam (the main battleground), international truce control, and when elections should be held in the state for a unified Viet Nam government.

Mendes-France is understood to have assured the Soviet minister, as Eden had done before, that the Paris meeting with U.S. state secretary Dulles would in no way impede the Geneva peace talks.

On the contrary they had obtained United States participation at ministerial level, with the return here Saturday of undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith.

Mendes-France took time off from his peace talks today to address the United Nations economic and social council, now in session here. He also held a meeting with V. Krishna Menon, India's delegation leader at the peace talks.

They strongly backed by Britain, insists that the temporary division of Viet Nam before elections be on the line of the 16th parallel — across the waist of the country. Bao Dai supporters, who at first suggested the 13th parallel, have now offered a compromise on the 17th, provided their political conditions were met.

Plotting Murder of Mother 'Night-Before-Christmassy'

AUCKLAND, N.Z., (AP) — A court was told today that 15-year-old Mary Jane Parker is accused with a girl friend of murdering her mother, had detailed the plans for the killing in a letter to a boy friend notation "We are both thrilled with the idea."

"We couldn't mother die! Thousands are dying daily so why not mother?" the girl said, the court was told. In later entry noted: "Naturally we feel a trifle nervous but it's for a good cause, humanity is very great."

The Parker girl and her close companion, Juliet Hulme, also 16, were ordered to be tried on a charge of murdering Mrs. Honora Mary Parker, beaten to death in a park last June 22 with a brick wrapped in a lady's stocking.

Today's court session was a preliminary hearing in which magistrates court at Christchurch. The girls stood quietly and smiled whispers during the hearing and scribbled on pieces of paper. The mother was the daughter of Dr. J. R. Hulme, wartime British director of naval operational research.

Witnesses described the girls as friends of Henri Rupert Stanley Reiper, who told the court he had lived as man and wife with Mrs. Parker and was the father of her three children, said he was married to Mrs. Parker but extremely worried by their intense friendship and sought to separate the two.

On June 21, court was told, the girls decided to kill Mrs. Parker, decided to use a rock in a stocking rather than a sandbag. We don't like Mrs. Parker and she's happy event is to take place tomorrow afternoon."

Then on June 22, the court was told, the entry read:

"Day of a happy event. Felt very excited and 'night-before-Christmassy' last night. Don't have pleasant dreams though."

Five Men, Plucked from Raft In Pacific, Had Narrow Squeak

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first mate and second mate became but was 25 pounds overweight.

The 25-year-old mariner, hired in haste, had to repent at leisure because his radio equipment was soaked with salt water and sputtered erratically his pleas, to "get me off this damned thing."

On top of it all, the dream of drifting in the 32-foot life raft for 1,400 miles of Pacific, unknown to any of the five crew members, was doomed to failure before it even started by a pier mishap.

The five men, plucked from the wave-tossed raft — logged raft in the pre-dawn Thursday only 62 miles from shore, told about the misadventure on returning Thursday night aboard the rescue ship Metlakia.

"A leaky seam licked us," said Deverex Berg, Bayside fisherman and Mormon elder.

A week before we left, our bumper crashed loose and the Lehi smashed against the pier. That did it. But we didn't know it at the time.

"Around noon Wednesday she began to take water. By then we were 102 miles out.

"When the water kept coming in faster than we could bail it out, we turned around and headed back to port. There was 13 inches of water in the cabin.

"We sent out the S O S but we were in no danger of sinking. If we could get the Lehi up on the ways and wash that seam, we could try it again. We want to try it again.

"Just the four of us."

Baker made it clear that included everybody but the radio operator, Don Smith.

Smith, a slender outwardly insisted the mishap wound up with friendly feelings all around, there was little unmistakable signs to the contrary.

Smith said he was hired in too much of a hurry by adventurer step ahead of bill collectors. He had no chance to prepare himself or his equipment.

His pleas that he was sick and wanted off began coming over the airways after only the third day at sea.

"All of them were brave men," Smith said. "They could have contained their fears better than others."

Smith wasn't the only sick man aboard.

Ralph Pope, the first mate, passed out Wednesday.

"He was 25 pounds overweight and he became a very sick man," Berger said.

"First aid they call't

"All the boiled shark we ventured," Baker answered.

HAROLD C. BANKS, UNION DIRECTOR, STAYS IN CANADA

Appeal Against Order For Deportation Won

OTTAWA (CP) — Harold C. Banks, Canadian director of the Seafarers' International Union of A. (AFL-TLC), can remain in Canada.

His appeal against a deportation order issued by the immigration department has been allowed, permitting him to stay in Canada, C. H. Smith, director of immigration, said Thursday night.

Mr. Banks' right to live in Canada was questioned several times during the session of Parliament just ended. Originally, the grounds he has a court record in the United States before he came to this country.

Mr. Smith said Mr. Banks' case was reviewed by an immigration board of inquiry in Montreal. As a result of the board's decision deportation order was issued, apparently two or three weeks ago. Mr. Banks appealed successfully.

Last March in the Commons, the late Hazen Argue, then Mrs. Ellen Fairclough (PC—Hamilton West) questioned the appointment of Mr. Banks by the Canadian labor delegate to an International Labor Organization meeting, who at first suggested the 13th parallel, have now offered a compromise on the 17th, provided their political conditions were met.

NOMINATED BY TLC

Mr. Banks, who lives in Montreal, was nominated by the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada as its representative at a meeting of the ILO industrial committee on inland transport in Montreux, Switzerland, Feb. 15-26.

Replying to Mrs. Fairclough, the government said then it was considering whether to review the immigration act and to grant Mr. Banks.

It said the immigration department learned of Mr. Banks' U.S. convictions after he was granted admission to the government.

The department said Mr. Banks entered Canada Jan. 15, 1948, as a non-immigrant. Until May 8, 1952, when he was admitted for permanent residence, he held the status of a non-immigrant.

Mr. Banks' case came up again in the Commons last April. At that time Immigration Minister Harris said Mr. Banks had been in nuisance portfolio in the cabinet, told Mrs. Fairclough the immigration department learned of Mr. Banks' U.S. court record May 2, 1953, after Mrs. Fairclough had left parliament.

Mr. Harris said then that in view of the "ready admissibility" of U.S. immigrants, the minimum inquiries are made of them when they enter Canada.

London Strikers Storm Warehouse, Damage Trucks

London Township Call on Province for Aid

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Tension mounted on the picket line today as 100 strikers anticipated an attempt to move $75,000 worth of fertilizer out of a Kellogg's warehouse in London township.

By 10 a.m. no steps had been taken to finish loading two trucks but strikers, bunched together in front of the warehouse, expected an attempt before noon.

Police fired 25 shots last night to force picketers out of the warehouse after an estimated $1,000 damage was done to two transport trucks.

PATROL ALL NIGHT

A force of about 10 London township police and OPP constables recruited from Woodstock, Sarnia, Tillsonburg, Glencoe, London and Alvinston patrolled all night outside the warehouse in shifts.

Shortly after 9 a. m. Ontario result of the picketing, C. E. "Tiny" Wilkinson discovered a two inch plank spotted with 18 spikes lying in the trunk of a pickup truck car. He ordered the spikes bent over and contacted the police.

Except for this incident the early part of the morning passed peacefully.

Township police said they fired into the ground to disperse a crowd about 150 men on strike from the Kelvinator plant stormed the grounds, broke rocks at the trucks, smashed the windshields and an instrument panel of one and slashed two tires on another.

ONE SAID BURNED

But Irate strikers said they felt bullets whir by their ears. They claimed one suffered gunpowder burns on the hand but did not name him.

About 400 employees of the Kelvinator plant went on strike June 28 against a company proposal that they sign a five-year contract. The United Auto Workers Union (CIO-CCL) proposed a one-year contract.

London township council called an emergency meeting Thursday. In a telegram to the attorney-general's department in Toronto they said their nine-man police force was "defeated" and asked for aid.

Mr. Harris said then that in view of the "ready admissibility" of U.S. immigrants, the minimum inquiries are made of them when they enter Canada.

Prisoners Released by Vietminh Like 'Men from Second Buchenwald'

HANOI, Indo-China (AP) — "These men are from a second Buchenwald."

That was the bitter comment of Jacques Nerpyol, French landing ship captain who Wednesday brought 1,000 sick and wounded French Union prisoners released by the Vietminh under the recent POW exchange agreement.

The skin-and-bones men were carried ashore on litters by the Indo-China seacoast 75 miles south of the seaport Haiphong, in exchange for 100 Vietminh prisoners.

"They are in terrible condition," Nerpyol added. "They are starved and they have had no medical treatment for their wounds or ills."

The prisoners said they many times asked for medical supplies while on the march and in prison camps but were told by their captors of the Communist-led Vietminh: "There are none for you because French planes bomb our supply convoys."

The French Union prisoners gave grim account of a 500-mile death march the Vietminh put them through in starvation rations.

Said one Legionnaire: "Those who fell behind were left to die. Those (left) behind us were in much worse shape than we."

"Sometimes there would be a handful of rice to eat," another said.

Some of the men were on stretchers. Others had to use crutches to walk. Most of the men are suffering from dysentery, malaria, fevers or ulcerated skin drawn like parchment.

A French medical officer who accompanied the prisoners from Son Son said several were not expected to live. He said the daily food ration for the death march was 14 ounces of rice.

A French military spokesman said the high command probably would enter no protest against the conditions of the men. He pointed out that an accord on the treatment and care of prisoners was signed four days ago with the Vietminh.

Two Members Of Family Die After Eating Clams

RIMOUSKI, Que. (CP) — Two members of a Montreal family of seven died early today and four others were in hospital after eating clams picked up on a beach, 25 miles northeast of here.

Roland Girard and his sister, Mrs. Jean Maurice Roy, died in this town on the south shore of the St. Lawrence river, 330 miles northeast of Quebec.

Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alphone Girard, a sister, Collette, and Mrs. Roland Girard, wife of the dead man, were in hospital.

Ten-year-old Daniele Girard, who told hospital officials she didn't like clams and didn't eat any, was not poisoned.

World Jersey Breeders Meet

GUELPH (CP) — Jersey cattle breeders from 25 countries will arrive today to open the World Jersey Cattle Bureau's second biennial conference of a breed association in North America.

The delegates will meet at the Ontario Agricultural College to promote an international program to maintain Jersey standards.

Representatives will be present from Australia, New Zealand, Scotland, England, Jersey Islands, France, South Africa, the United States and Canada.

camera was broken on the gravel road.

Strikers had told photographers they did not want any pictures taken. Crowds around the picketed warehouse said they didn't want "anything detrimental" to be published.

A few minutes earlier union officials said they would not be expected to control any "mob violence" that might break out at the picket line.

Sydney Page, union chairman of the Kelvinator local, also warned photographers and other newspaper people that the union could not guarantee their safety.

Shortly after dark a stone crashed through a window and one of a police cruiser but the officers inside was unhurt.

George Specht, UAW-Canadian representative, affiliated with the CIO-CCL, said the picket was at the picket line throughout the night.

BLAMES POLICE

He said police provoked a great deal of disorder when they fired the shots.

"We have used peaceful means in this strike," he said, "and we have tried to keep it that way."

We think the whole trouble at the garage was provoked by police action."

He said everybody got excited and the picketers got out of control.

"We had no intention of causing any trouble at the garage," Mr. Specht said.

Company officials were not available for comment Thursday night.

WATCHING PLANE DRIVER; MAKES TURN, ACCIDENT FOLLOWS

Damage estimated at $300 resulted Thursday evening when a car, driven by Harold Murphy, 23 Division Street, Trenton, collided with a car driven by Bruce Hannah, Townsville, Penn., on Highway No. 2 at the Trenton air station.

Hannah, interested in watching a plane land, slowed and made a left hand turn across the highway. Murphy, who was following the Hannah car, was unable to avoid the Hannah car as it turned into his path.

There were no injuries.

FIVE BEACHES FOUND UNFIT FOR SWIMMING

Five beaches in the Belleville area have been found unfit for swimming, the city health department reported this morning. The beaches placarded were Yacht Club, Old Beach, Coal Dock, Government Island, and the north-west part of Zwick's Island. Tests were made under the supervision of Dr. A. M. Brezia, city medical officer.

This Is Fishy

A piscatorial "Jonah" came to light the other day near Glen Ross.

It seems William Ashby, Stirling angler, was hauling on the waters of the Trent River and landed a medium-size pike.

While cleaning it, he discovered a small rock bass in the "innards". The little fellow flopped his fins, the story goes, at his new found freedom.

He tossed the bass into some cold water, and in a minute or two it was swimming around good as new.

But its lease of life was brief. A few minutes later it again lured a pike, but this time the pike was the "Jonah" for the little bass."

On paper the 9th Anti Tank Regiment, RCA (AL1) no longer exists, but summer camp training for the regiment this year differs little from that of other years.

Under Major E. Fairman, second-in-command, the first contingent of the honored old regiment, now absorbed into the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment under the new militia shake-up, left Belleville headquarters for Petawawa for annual summer camp training at Petawawa.

The contingent spearheads the main body of 170 officers and men from the regiment's four batteries, which will leave headquarters at noon, Saturday, under CO. Lt.-Col. E. H. Warwick.

Each then goes the Regimental pipe-band which following routine custom, will take over musical duties at the camp.

Scheduled among events will be an inter-regimental rifle meet for classification of marksmanship with prizes for the sharpest shooters.

The regiment, which has won the Leitch Collingwood trophy as the best shooting unit in Eastern Canada for three consecutive years, again will enter the contest this year. A course in mechanical transport also will be taken by the regiment.

Church service Sunday for the entire camp will be conducted by the 9th's Chaplain, Hon.-Capt. W. J. Robinson.

Returning July 24, the entire unit will be guests of the management of the Bella Theatre.

Arthur Hansen, 9, Drowns at Camp At Presqu'ile

TRENTON, (Special) — While swimming in a supervised bathing area at Presqu'ile Point on Lake Ontario 15 miles west of here yesterday, nine-year-old Arthur Hansen dropped in a hole and drowned before Camp Supervisor Douglas Nutter, 21, could save him.

The youth, the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Hansen of 6 Water Street, Trenton, was only under the water a matter of minutes but artificial respiration failed to revive him. Supervisor Nutter after he and brought the boy to the surface soon after he disappeared, while swimming with ten boys and three girls, other children enrolled at the Children's Aid Free-Air Camp at Presqu'ile. The boy arrived at the camp on Wednesday.

The boy's sister, Daisy, 13, also enrolled at the camp, was attending a handicraft class a mile away from where her brother went down when some girls ran up and told her of the accident.

The drowning occurred at 3.30 p.m. yesterday. The parents, boys of Trenton, heard the news of their son's death at 7.30 p.m.

The fatality was followed by tough luck for the last nine months. lived in Belleville, seven years prior to moving to Trenton, one year ago. The father, who has been out of work since before Christmas last year, got notice that he would be employed by work for the government in a few days. In the meantime the three small children have been cared for by the Children's Aid. That is how the boy happened to be at the camp.

Mrs. Hansen had no fear for the safety of her oldest son but she worried about her youngest boy, Frederick 5, who was pulled out of the Moira River in Belleville two years ago and revived after quite a period for the fifth time. Gerald Lindsay made the rescue.

The drowned youth is survived by his parents, two sisters, Kathleen, 13, Daisy, 13, and two brothers, Bernard, 6, and Frederick 5.

Another Remand Given Two Men In Assault Case

The case of Douglas John Parsons and George Storms, charged with assault with intent to rob, was remanded for another week by Magistrate T. Y. Wills in police court Friday morning.

Alan Sprague, acting for Parsons, asked for a week's enlargement. Magistrate Wills was reluctant to grant the enlargement on the grounds that since Storms could not raise the $2,000 bail, a continuing remand would be an unjustified hardship on him.

When Storms stated that he thought his bail could be raised by next Monday, Magistrate Wills granted the enlargement.

Roy Polmanter, who was remanded for sentence last Tuesday, was sentenced to three months in the county jail for assault and one month concurrent for taking an automobile without the consent of the owner.

Magistrate Wills, in passing sentence, stated that he felt the accused had had sufficient warning concerning his irresponsibility and recklessness when intoxicated and that his sentence of three months in the county jail was a warning against similar conduct in the future.

Della Adams, who pleaded guilty to taking $100 from Mrs. Arthur Irish, 193 West Moira St., in police court last Tuesday, was sentenced to one month in the county jail Friday morning when she failed to make restitution.

Several traffic cases were settled on payment of fines.

Minor Sport Trophies Displayed at City Hall

Visitors to the City Hall on Front Street are now able to view the many minor hockey and baseball trophies and cups that their children play their hearts out for, the year around, thanks to the Belleville Recreation Commission.

Under the direction of Lloyd Doran, two very attractive display cabinets have been placed in the lower hall of the building's front entrance, one containing the winter sports awards the other baseball and general summer of baseball trophies.

Some of the kids themselves had a hand in the project. Grade 8 and grade eight boys from Queen Alexandra school, under the capable guidance of Mr. Milton Fowler, constructed one of the cabinets which could be taken for a professional job by almost anyone. It is made of maple and finished with a natural varnish. The other comes from the Arena, where it held the hockey trophies for the past several years.

The public is invited to view these cabinets and their contents.

Take Step Nearer to Playoffs

The Belleville Bowling Club took a step nearer to the playoff for the Governor-General trophy in Ottawa, the last of August, when on Thursday evening they won the eastern section of District 15 by defeating two rinks from Kingston. A Belleville rink skipped by A. E. Wonnacott with Harold Parker lead, Earle Jones second and James Hanna vice skip was defeated by a Kingston rink with Morley Galt skip, Rock Gage lead, Eddie Dennison second and Art Armstrong vice skip by a score of 21-19 at the local greens, while at Kingston a Belleville rink with Gerald Hyde as skip, Claude D. Tice as lead, Percy Graham second and Gordon Watkin vice skip defeated a rink with Jim Duncan as skip, Leo Papil lead, Ron Gage second and H. Swafield vice skip by a score of 28-14, which gave the round to the Belleville rinks 46-33.

The winners of the eastern section will meet the winners of the western section, which likely will be Campbellford and the winners of the play-off will journey to Ottawa for the playoff for the trophy. In both games the bowling was exceptional keen. At both clubs the visitors were served refreshments by the women sections of the clubs playing.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — The stock market developed no trends in light forenoon trading today. First-hour trading was a light 421,000 shares.

Papers and foods led the industrial advance. Banks drew little interest but those traded continued Thursday's decline. St. Lawrence Corp. and Brown touched fresh highs among the papers. Pressed Metals fell off sharply.

Aluminium hit a 1954 high. Power was reported to have started flowing to the company's aluminum smelter in British Columbia.

Senior base metals turned mixed after Thursday's strong advance, following reports President Eisenhower may delay his expected July 21 tariff decision.

Western oils were active. New Superior gained a bit and Central Exploration and Pacific Petroleum eased.

Senior golds were steady with McIntyre one of the bigger losers. Joliet-Quebec was heavily traded in prospects for a penny gold change.

Few uraniums were traded but Nesbitt Labine gained pennies in heavy turnover. Holding companies were a little weaker and Mastiffowadge and Bathurst stocks were mostly ignored.

PRODUCE MARKET

TORONTO (CP) — Churning cream and butter price prices were unchanged here today.

The egg market was very quiet with receipts in excess of a light demand. A small showed fractional declines.

Quotations provided by the Dominion department of agriculture:

Eggs, graded, in floats cases: large 55; A medium 50-51; A small 39; B 32; C 26. Wholesale to retail: A large 60; A medium 55-56; A small 34-35; B 38; C 31.

Butter solids: Ontario, 1st grade, tenderable 58; non-tenderable 55½-56.

Weekly Livestock Review

TORONTO (CP) — Trading opened active on good to choice slaughter cattle at the Ontario stockyards this week. Cattle prices were strong to 50 cents higher at the beginning of the week but by mid-week, trading slowed almost to a standstill with some sale on good to choice grades losing the Monday gain.

Common to medium grades were numerous and saw little action. The few bids offered were sharply lower than last week's close.

Calves gained $1 a hundredweight. Hogs were steady. Lambs opened at $1 a hundredweight stronger but showed a weak undertone at the close, losing earlier gains.

Cattle receipts totalled 9,636 head about 1,500 more than last week. There was an abundance of plain killers offered and this oversupply is expected to cause a fairly substantial carry-over. Almost half of last week's volume, 10 cars, were shipped to eastern slaughters and there were no exports to the U.S.

Choice steers, all weights, ran $21.50-22.50; several lots of dry-fed weighty steers up to $23; good steers $20.50-21.50; mediums down to $19.50; choice heifers mostly $19.50 with some selling for $20; good heifers $18.50-19.50; medium down to $18; common light steers and heifers sold as low as $11; good cows mostly $13.50-14.50; light heifery cows to $13.50; canner and cutter cows down to $7; good heavy bologna bulls $14-14.50; good butcher bulls to $15; common light bulls down to $11; choice fed yearlings $21-22; choice steer calves up to $22.50; good fed yearlings $20-21; mediums down to $19. Good replacement cattle ranged from $18-20.25 with common quality selling down to $15.

Calves totalled 1,787 head. Good to choice calves were $21-23; mediums $14-20; common light grass calves down to $8.

Hog receipts were 2,786. Prices were generally unchanged with the bulk selling at $33.50 for grade A; $32.50 for B; B-1. Several small lots sold for $33.75. Sows were generally $19 with some small sales at $19.50-20; stags were $14.

Sheep and lambs totalled 891 head. They opened at $28 for good ewes and wethers but closed selling steady to $1 lower. Bucks were discounted $1 a hundredweight. Common lambs were mostly $15-20; yearling sheep $13-15; good light sheep $8-10; common sheep down to $4.

Defence Seeking All-English Jury In Coffin Trial

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Mr. Justice Gerard Lacroix was scheduled to rule today on Wilbert Coffin's claim that he has a "natural right" to an all-English jury for his trial on a charge of murder arising from the deaths of three Pennsylvania bear hunters.

Francois Gravel, lawyer for the 43-year-old prospector who speaks no French, was told Thursday that a decision on his motion for an English jury would be handed down today. The law provides for at least six English-speaking jurors for trials involving English-speaking suspects.

Coffin pleaded not guilty Thursday to a charge of murdering Richard Lindsey, 17, of Hollidaysburg, Pa., "between June 1 and July 23" last year. The beam-strangled body of the younger Lindsey was found along with that of his father, Eugene, 47, and Albert Clear, 20, in the Gaspe bush more than a month after they had gone to hunt bears.

MAGAZINE STORIES

Defence lawyers asked Thursday that the distributor of four American detective magazines — True Detective, Front Page Detective, World Criminal Detective and Official Detective—be held in contempt of court for stories on the case appearing in the publications.

Gravel said incidents described were "fictitious." He said he had been informed by the person responsible for circulating the magazines "which were spread widely in the Gaspe area."

Floods Threaten Hungarian City

VIENNA (AP)—The rampaging Danube today threatened to flood the Hungarian city of Gyoer, a lowlying industrial centre of big importance to Communist expansion.

A jurisdictional dispute between two AFL entertainment unions, the American Guild of Variety Artists and the American Federation of Musicians, was blamed for the exclusion of Canadians. Originally, about 120 Canadians were scheduled to take part in the show.

Robert H. Saunders, CNE president, said the new show would feature cowboy star Roy Rogers. Other acts may be imported from Europe.

Robert H. Saunders, CNE president, said the new show would feature cowboy star Roy Rogers. Other acts may be imported from Europe.

Radio Budapest reported that the disastrous Danube floods, sweeping eastward after taking a heavy toll of life and property in Germany and Austria, had burst dams in two vital places near Gyoer.

Senior golds were steady with McIntyre one of the bigger losers. Joliet-Quebec was heavily traded in prospects for a penny gold change.

Few uraniums were traded but Nesbitt Labine gained pennies in heavy turnover. Holding companies were a little weaker and Mastiffowadge and Bathurst stocks were mostly ignored.

Gyoer is almost completely surrounded by marshes. It is the centre of many big industrial plants including a locomotive factory.

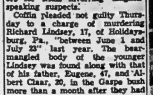
Labor Chieftain Asserts Staff Denies Charges

MELBOURNE (Reuters) — Dr. Herbert Evatt, leader of the Opposition, protested today against "defamatory and libellous imputations" made about his staff at spy probe hearings here.

Justice William F. Owen, chairman of the royal commission on espionage, said Thursday that three staff members were mentioned in a Soviet embassy document as "sources of information."

Evatt, in a telegram read aloud by Owen at today's hearing, said his staff all denied ever giving information to Australian newspaper man Rupert Lockwood, alleged author of the document.



It is one of the papers brought from the Soviet embassy in Canberra by the former Russian secret police chief in Australia, Vladimir Petrov.

URANIUM AHEAD OF LIVES

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. high commission newspaper Neue Zeitung said today the Russians ordered the Soza dam in Saxony opened to protect their uranium mines when floods hit the southern part of the east Zone last weekend. As a result, large parts of the miners' town of Zwickau were flooded and several persons were drowned, the newspaper reported. It said the Russians brushed aside all objections of East German authorities, saying that the uranium mining area was most important.

Thirty Persons Flee from Fire

TORONTO (CP)—A two-alarm fire late Thursday razed part of the second floor of a central Toronto building housing stores and living quarters. At least two persons were injured and a tentative estimate put damage at $35,000.

An unidentified woman was taken to hospital from the scene at Queen and George streets suffering shock and the effects of smoke. Fireman Gordon Selby was injured when he put his arm through a glass door.

Another fireman, Capt. Leon Price, was reported to have suffered a heart attack at the height of the blaze which attracted hundreds of home-bound Torontonians and tied up traffic.

All of the estimated 30 persons living above the stores escaped without mishap.

Food Shortages Causing Crisis In Soviet Empire

NEW YORK (AP) — The Free Europe committee said today that food shortages in Russia and the satellite countries "have brought the Kremlin face-to-face with the greatest crisis since the conquest of its European empire."

The committee, in a study which describes itself as a privately - financed United States anti-Communist organization, said that in view of a breakdown in the Soviet agricultural production, "the last thing Moscow wants at the moment is a war which could conceivably bring about the collapse of the entire Soviet structure."

The people are forced to live under conditions reminiscent of wartime austerity, lacking milk, cheese and other dairy products, the committee reported.

TRENTON PLANS COMMUNITY CENTRE

Trenton is seeking to raise $150,000 to finance the construction of a community centre.

Some may regard community centres as just another new-fangled idea for pleasure-mad generation. Non-sense! In earlier days, every little village had a community centre. It might be a school-house, a church driving shed, an Orange hall or merely the general store, but it was a community centre and served well in that capacity. The need for a community centre is as old as the first settlement of two communities. The trouble starting of mankind into communities. The trouble is that the size of these communities has grown—and the size of the buildings available to serve as centres of community activity has not kept pace.

The fact that Trenton needs a new community centre should not be regarded as evidence of either backwardness or a spendthrift outlook. It does not mean that Trenton never possessed adequate facilities for community gathering; nor does it mean that Trenton citizens are bent on indulging in frills. It merely indicates that Trenton is a thriving, growing community and that its citizens are determined that they shall have the various types of recreation that keep pace with Trenton's growth in other fields.

The sum of $150,000 sounds like a lot of money, but the type of centre envisioned by the citizens who are giving leadership to the campaign will serve Trenton residents for many years. Even if the building needs to be enlarged a decade from now, it will represent an investment of less than three cents per citizen per week for the period of its useful life. Can that be called extravagance? Is that too much money to expend to provide a place for sport and entertainment, meetings and conferences, dramatics and dancing? All these activities, and many more, are the type which are featured in most community centres. The trouble will not be in finding enough things to do—but in finding the time to which it shall be put. The tastes of the community will govern this choice.

DALI'S BATHROOM DALLIANCE

Andalusian Guitar, Arborescent Sun, Noon Star, Carnivorous Plant, Anhelique Birds and Broken Sky are not the names of an Indian sextet.

Since it is the humane thing to minimize suffering we should be pleased to know that these are the names of the latest creations of Salvador Dali. These latest manifestations of an eccentric genius are not destined for the museums of modern art in Europe and America. They are destined for the bathroom.

Dali's latest creations are designs of a new line of ceramic tile. That this is serious is indicated by the fact that this eccentric should lend his dalliance. One's only possible respite hanga on the thread of hope tossed out by the manufacturer who describes his six new tile patterns, as "subdued Dali."

Shades of Andalusia! A "Carnivorous Plant" motif may or may not be nerve shattering, but seeing a Dali version of Anhelique birds all over the walls in the mosquito season may be more than the stoutest heart can endure. Arborescent Sun and Noon Star sound like cosmic confusions to be sure but with the ceiling tiled in Broken Sky one might be excused for wanting to live in a tent. Andalusian Guitar promises a symphony of color, but in the bathroom we rather suspect that the tempo will still be set by the grumblings of defective faucets.

It may well be a relief to know that Dali's tiles will be only eight inches in size.

A BLOW TO JUSTICE

At Usworth, England, a boy scrawled a naughty word on the council-yard school porch.

"Step out, the boy who did the writing," said Headmaster Oliver Whitfield.

Nobody stepped out.

So he caned every one of the 200 boys at the school.

W. N. Linkletter, deputy director of education for Durham county, says there will be no investigation unless a parent complains.

This makes sad reading. It suggests that Mr. Linkletter is as unfit to direct the education of children as is Mr. Whitfield.

A caning blow across the palm of the hand is not going to do any one of those 200 schoolboys any physical harm. But, if schools are supposed to teach a regard for justice and fair dealing, as well as the three R's, then Mr. Whitfield's method of dealing with a crisis may prove costly a few decades from now.

There is a naughty-word-writer in the group. Cane them all.

There is a Communist in the group. Jail them all.

There is a traitor in the group. Kill them all.

Same principle.

THERE MUST BE CRITICS

A society consisting of completely adjusted individuals would be a static and listless society, in which nothing new would ever be attempted.

John Hampden was clearly maladjusted: he objected to government control of the press. Even the august Dr. John Dewey of Columbia was maladjusted: he regarded the educational facilities of his time as inadequate, and in many senses he was right. Winston Churchill was maladjusted in the thirties, with his gloomy warnings about the German peril.

The point is, do we really want to raise a generation which is so contented with things as they are that it will make no attempt to change or improve them? (Calgary Herald).

SETTLED DOWN

Time was late when friends I'd stay,
Didn't want to go to bed.
I could dance the hours away,
Slay at parties 'till dread.
Midnight lunch I could enjoy,
Then I had, both day and night
The digestion of a boy
And a youngster's appetite.

Time was bedtime golf I played,
Strength for thirty-six holes mine.
Boasted of the scores I made.
Now, I'm limited to nine.

Up the stairs two steps for one
Was the way I used to climb.
Those days have forever gone.
Now on stairs I take my time.

Lost the wish for midnight-fare.
Done with dancing round the floor.
Of such joys I've had my share.
Wouldn't ask the Lord for more.

Wouldn't whimper or complain,
Wouldn't even show a frown,
Wouldn't want that fun again.
Glad, at last, to settle down.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

For many years past, science has denied that animals have reasoning powers comparable to those of humans. By often fantastic experiments on animals in insects, science has proved to its satisfaction that animals react to stimuli in certain definite patterns with the result that animals don't seem to be thinking. But in reality, their behavior is largely if not entirely automatic. Even the migration of birds is suspected to be an automatic reaction to changes in temperature. The behavior of animals, even the fast movements of a chimney swift in the pursuit of food in the air, or the prompt getaway of a moose when a human being appears, are not credited with being the consequence of thought on the part of the creature, but merely the normal reaction of the animal to stimuli such as hunger, alarm, fear.

Quite recently, a European scientist has discovered what he claims to be a trace of gray matter in the brain of ants. Those of us who, in our innocence, have watched ants at their chores around the summer picnic rocks and beaches will find it hard to believe that ants do not think. We will be in warm agreement with the scientist who says he found gray matter in their heads. Many of us could wish we had as much intelligence in solving our problems as an ant displays in overcoming his.

Those of us who are kindly acquainted with a dog or cat have had much grumbling at grey matter can think, why can't a dog with a whole dessert spoonful of grey matter? (I am speaking of Pekingese.)

It is not worth considering that maybe we humans do not think, but merely react, in certain entirely predictable ways, to stimuli, like any ant, mouse or mouser? It would be we humans are a little stuck up.

North Lights Eclipsed

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

What turns off the Northern Lights?

Astronomers believe that anything interrupting the flow of cosmic rays from the sun to the earth will do it. And apparent proof of this theory was obtained by a Lancaster bomber patrol crew from the R.C.A.F. Centre Navigation School at Summerside during the recent solar eclipse.

Wing Commander H. A. Forbes, head of this school, and his crew had a ring-side seat for the solar event. To the satisfaction of these experienced observers the Northern Lights are only visible under certain atmospheric conditions and at night. But to the high-flying airmen they are also visible by day.

Flying from Summerside to Goose Bay, the Lancaster crew watched the eclipse from 18,000 feet, (high above the overcast that spoiled the view for most Canadians, including teams of scientists.

Wing Commander Forbes reported that the Northern Lights blinked out as the moon came between the sun and the earth.

Briefcase Losers

(New York Times)

This appears to be a season highly favorable to the losing of briefcases. An unusually large number of sensitive readers of the lost-and-found column know already seem likely to have been relatable, left on buses or in taxicabs, and this suggests that some one in need of a reminder subject might do a little thoughtful inquiry on why, exactly, briefcases "lose" briefcases. There is a good theory about why people leave umbrellas in restaurants, in public vehicles and in other people's umbrellas stands, but it simply that most persons really do not like umbrellas very much, consciously or subconsciously, and therefore "forget" them when the immediate need for lugging them ceases to exist. This theory cannot well be applied or extended, however, to briefcases.

Consider, for a moment, the type of person one might presume is likely to lose a briefcase. It may be a dedicated loser of briefcases are not habitual carriers of same. On the contrary, they come to and from office, or on his rounds, ever day — feeling the weight lightly in one hand or the other—come to accept his burden as a part of himself and it feels curiously incomplete if he starts to move around town without it. But it is also true that briefcases are not lost by the habitual carrier — one owned by the occasional carrier — one who stuffs papers, books or the like into a briefcase for borrowed briefcase for a special mission.

That reasoning might, of course, be questioned in the case of the recently resigned owner of a briefcase that disappeared or was left in Grand Central Station, containing "business correspondence, bulleting, equipment photographs," by the description sounds like those of a briefcase habitually carried by some other than occasional briefcase carrier from the looks. Habitual carriers, however, takes these things in stride and clings to is leather, Of course in time he becomes its loser; then he cannot lose it, nor it him.

Asked Auto Ban Before 8 A.M.

(Brockville Recorder and Times)

We can't help wondering what the Councillors of old would have thought had they been able to look into the future and see the thousands of cars that use the rural highways in this vicinity. It was on June 18, 1906, that the Leeds and Grenville County Council requested the Legislature to prohibit the use of automobiles on rural highways before the hour of 8 a.m. and after noon each week.

It is said the odd car that travelled past a farmer's property or through a village probably caused quite a few kinds of dust, and the roar of the engine alone was enough to upset the horses and lead to a quiet atmosphere. We can quite understand how several of the 24 hours a day, every half hour, especially during the early morning driving hours, would be a source of annoyance.

We may get a bit of a chuckle out of the fact that cars were prohibited on rural highways between certain hours, but in principle prevails with the racket from jet planes today. People were complaining about the noise of the jet fuzzes the town — and the noise of the jet planes is annoying as well as the birds and other creatures must be quite terrifying. In this case it is a natural thing that suffered a considerable loss in the way of numbers. In coming in for a nearby landing, circled several times. The noise from the jets has driven from the highly nervous animals that the residents of the city formerly enjoyed given birth, immediately ate their babies, which numbered some two hundred.

Perhaps in years to come we will look back with nostalgia to the noise of jet aircraft and other similar roars that it will seem very tame to us today. And when there was ever a day when we longed the sound rather frightening!

'Drowned' Their Queen

(Edmonton Journal)

A newspaper in Brownsville, Texas, reports that it will never again use that favorite American expression, "low-headed," to describe a drunk. It's too literal.

The limotype gremlins fell upon the story about a local female star, and produced this: "Strangers and friends alike stop for a second look at the low-headed freckle-faced boy when he works out at the Orlando Tennis Club."

Still, that wasn't quite as alarming as the announcement in a Florida newspaper that, at one time, that the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, at its next meeting, "will drown its membership queen."

Midget Bomber Gadget-Free

(Milwaukee Sunday Journal)

At a time when weapons and military equipment are getting so big and complex that it takes an engineering degree to understand, even to know what makes them tick, the Navy has come up with a jet attack bomber that's truly a midget.

The Skyhawk, it's called, and the wingspread is so small that the Navy doesn't even have to equip it with the folding wings that most navy planes must have to fit aboard carriers. The Skyhawk will fly at about 600 miles an hour, carry a 1,000-pound atomic bombs and present a smaller target for enemy radar, anti-aircraft and fighter planes.

The Skyhawk also answers the complaints of many pilots in the Korea that their aircraft were so over gadgeted that they weren't flying machines, respectively. To the Russian M.I.G. The new Navy plane is simple. It is smaller than a conventional fighter and carried a minimum of extra gear. It is largely developed.

In addition: The Skyhawk is cheaper to build than comparable aircraft.

Now 'Rats' Mechanized

(Winnipeg Tribune)

For decades the electric industry has made use of animals to measure electricity, especially in large conduits. Ferrets and rats or rabbits were usually the star performers.

Conduits were placed in position and the animal was put into the act. First, the rat was let loose in the conduit, then a ferret with a harness on its back was fished and was attached a cord. The rat, seeing its natural enemy, left in a hurry for the far end of the conduit, while the ferret with a hurry for the far end of the conduit, while the ferret with a cry of victory nicked after.

The race through the conduit ended with the animals running into a divided cage. The end of which the ferret had dragged through the conduit was used to pull a light wire and then the heavy cable through the conduit and the job was done.

Now engineers have a mechanical substitute for the rat. Rubber balls are forced with fans into conduit are blown through the conduit and the cable is pulled after. The mechanical "rats" are faster and easier to handle.

INJECTION TREATMENT OF RUPTURE.

Hernia is the medical term for protrusion or bulging of an internal organ or structure through its normal containing wall. It is commonly called rupture or rupture or breach.

Such a bulging under the skin frequently causes much discomfort in the groin (inguinal hernia) or navel (umbilical hernia).

Dr. Brady

Umbilical hernia is a bulging or protrusion at the navel, present at birth or occurring in infancy.

Post-operative hernia occurs through the scar left by an abdominal operation.

Diaphragmatic hernia is a protrusion or bulging or displacement of a portion of stomach, intestine or other abdominal organ or structure through the partition (diaphragm) which divides the great body cavity into thorax and abdomen. Everyday-men's not "stomach", "belly" or "diaphragm". It is the body cavity containing stomach, intestines, liver, spleen, pancreas, gall-and they odds and ends (to the surgeons). Nineteenth century newspaper reporters and editors, some childish remains, called diaphragmatic hernia "upside down stomach," and for a while the eager beaver operator to disavow such nonsense as long as there is a chance to use the term mentioned in the paper.

Twenty years ago when I felt obligated to inform the public that hospitalization and operation is the only satisfactory treatment for hernia I became involved in the costly business of compiling ter authority on the subject.

and maintaining a medical directory service meaning physicians and surgeons who use accidental (office, injection) treatment of hernia. The service carried not only Canada, Mexico, Cuba, Hawaii, Venezuela but the Wide, get out of hand and so I no longer give out information.

All I can tell you is that if I had hernia I'd have injection treatment if the doctor ordered my hernia amenable to it.

Not of a fear surgery I'm a coward about most things, but from experience as patient I know there is less to fear in a major operation or in a minor operation (such, for instance, as extraction of a tooth or removing a suspicious lesion from the lip or dreading a gangrenous appendix than in letting it go untreated; indeed, under aseptic-anesthetics, the present day preparation of the patient for surgery, one is hardly aware without anxiety. But neither the danger of undergoing an operation nor the dread of pain would make me choose injection treatment for hernia if I could be sure. The main factor is the time saved by injection treatment — 5 days, at most, instead of the week's everyday activities. What! Stay in bed a week? I've been up several weeks when I might just as well have fun! - Gowan wilds!

Again, I warn poor souls who face the prospect of playing ostrich that they can't operate while all hands wail and hope the operation proves successful. That the doctor who tells you the injection treatment "has been tried and found wanting" is an ignoramus or a liar. Don't take my word for it. I refer such a doctor to Watson's Hernia, Monopy Co., St. Louis, 3rd edition, '49. There is no better authority on the subject.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

UNHOODED AND UNTRAPPED

Some time ago I had a talk about how we live our days or yesterdays, in which something occurred that caged us for the next day. What a glorious feeling to have upon awakening each morning, realizing that we are not trapped by any previous event or experience, and housed only by the limitless sky overhead.

No worries, no regrets, no apologies to anyone—unhooded and unstrapped. There are those who keep carrying the anxieties of yesterday into each new day, and every day they grow in weight and put new lines of worry in the face. It takes the will to do away with all this and start each day as though it had never even known the memory of a yesterday.

It is possible for most of us to make each new day a notable one. Start it off with new resolves and new purposes. Never indulge in an "just another day," but as a new world, budded with new experiences and new discoveries, and we to reap the harvest. Many a day would be a glorious day. Without fanfare each one of our days may take upon them anatomy that is worth while and more memorable.

This is meant for us to carry our happy memories along with us, giving cheer and hope to us, and the limitless sky overhead, smiles and disappointments. Let us pray for a clean mind and heart as one of the first essentials for a happy and successful day. And may there be no bitterness to carry over from yesterday. Let us also pray for the grace that we may be understood the world.

These are simple things to do, but they have their significance. They comprise a plan and a program that is wonderful to walk in the street with the crowd and know that you live in a free land where you can aspire to what you will, and not be shot at for doing so.

STRENGTH FOR THE DAY

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

THOSE FAR HORIZONS

The higher we climb, the farther out extend our horizons. It is ever possible sometimes to get so high in an airplane that the curve of the earth becomes discernible.

It also holds true, does it not, that the higher we climb in any of life's many aspects, the farther out are the horizons extend? For instance the more we know about people, the more we are willing to be generous in our appraisal of them and of their shortcomings. The more we study music, the better do we appreciate the works of the great masters. The more we strive against temptation and cases of moral triumph the more do we see of life in all its glorious aspects and the more do we value things that really count. The more we pray, the more do we more we pray, the more do we understand the perplexities of life. The more we strive to know our fellow men, the more do we realize the importance of the golden rule. When all is said and done, we realize that life is worth while.

The more we climb above the crowd, the more real heart we have for what others are suffering over and seeking after. The more we climb the greater grows our love for heaven, the more do we understand the sinfulness of human life and the impossibilities of glory.

Up! Up!—and the horizon extends farther out the higher we go.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

Insects Threaten Grasslands, Grain Fields of Ont.

GUELPH (CP)—Army worms are on the march again in Ontario.

The plague of crawling insects which destroyed millions of dollars worth of crops in 1938, 1939 and 1951 is threatening the grasslands and grain fields of the province once more.

At the Ontario Agricultural College here, Professor W. E. Hemming of the entomological department is leading an investigation into three separate outbreaks—two of them reported Thursday.

So far, the worms have struck at farms in Walkerton, 35 miles south of Owen Sound; Thedford, 35 miles northwest of London and Elmvale, 13 miles northwest of Barrie.

Other reports are expected. Professor Hemming assumes that conditions must be right for army worms to rapid development. He has advised farmers, where possible, to hand-spray the affected crop with a poison mixture of bran, paris green and molasses.

Reg Bertram, an Elmvale farmer, has lost large areas of grain, stripped by the small, yellow caterpiller-like insects which invaded his crops, voraciously eating everything in sight.

UP AND OVER

He estimated they consumed enough grass in a 4-acre pasture "to feed a herd all summer."

The worms march in columns from the pastures where they are hatched from the eggs of the 1½-inch miller moth to the grain fields where they dine. Few things stop them.

Bertram saw a mass of worms a yard wide crawl up one side of his barn, across the roof and down the other side. He said they were so thick no fence-posts it was impossible to see the wood.

Professor Hemming said army worms are thicker than about North America but usually in such small numbers that they pass unnoticed. Every now and again, however, conditions are just right for them and they develop in sufficient numbers to make them a considerable nuisance.

Body Discovered In Automobile, Wife Was Slain

REDDING, Calif. (AP). — Tl.e search for Clifford Aberg, whose Canadian wife was found strangled in her apartment, ended Thursday with the discovery of his body.

It was found in a 1950 automobile won in a divorce settlement by Mrs. Beth Jackson Aberg, 33. A hose had carried carbon monoxide fumes into the car from the exhaust.

Police said Aberg, 39, son of a prominent Redding family, left two pencilled notes in the car. One read:

"Lawyers, docs and judges: You did a pretty poor job on this couple. Please try to help people, not destroy them." The other: "A man can stand only so much."

Friends of the Abergs said she was the former Miss Beth Jackson who married Aberg at Edmonton during the Second World War while he was in the army.

Police chief Scott Lincecum said he received a telegram from Mrs. Aberg's brother, Fred Jackson of Smith Falls, Ont., saying "Please wire all details concerning the death of Beth Aberg."

Found Wallet After 11 Years

NEWCASTLE, Pa. (AP)—When Joseph Defelice lost his wallet containing $21 about 11 years ago he looked high and low for it.

Everywhere, that is, except under the seat of his car which he eventually sold. The car has had three owners since then.

The latest owner, Peter J. Serbil, of Lowellville, O., was cleaning out the car the other day when he found Defelice's wallet and money. He turned it over to Defelice and refused to accept Defelice's offer of the $21 as a reward.

PIONEER LAW

Canada's Food and Drug Act, 1874, was the first law in the western world providing for analysis of submitted samples.

Many Scientists Going to Arctic On Patrol Vessel

OTTAWA (CP)—There will be so many scientists aboard the Arctic patrol vessel Labrador on her first northern expedition that the crew may be a little cramped for space.

The 6,500-ton ice ship, Canada's largest floating laboratory, will sail next week from Halifax. She was recently commissioned at Sorel, Que.

Dr. Terence E. Armstrong, on loan to the Defence Research Board from the Scott Polar Institute, Cambridge, England, will begin an eight-months ice study in the Arctic archipelago. He also will review current methods of sea ice reporting and recommend a system for general use.

Dr. D. C. Rose of the National Research Council and senior scientist on the voyage will investigate the major causes of variations in cosmic ray intensity on and near Canada's coasts in the Arctic. He will work mostly in a small compartment fitted with electronic recording equipment near the ship's bridge.

PREPARE CHARTS

D. D. Lellevre and M. Boulton of the department of mines and technical surveys will concentrate on preparing standard charts for navigation in the far north. Canada's increasing activities in the Arctic necessitate more detailed navigation maps. The two hydrographers will use two small craft for operations away from the ship.

Cmdr. E. M. Fenton, a specialist in magnetic compass, will undertake investigations concerning a new navigational aid designed for use in high latitudes.

Dr. William Bailey, an oceanographer, will collect biological data on Arctic marine life. He will be assisted by J. G. Clark and C. C. Cunningham of the fisheries research board.

I. K. Loomer of the Dominion observatory will complete a series of magnetic observations. Much of his work will be ashore and the navy will provide him with small craft and vehicles.

The Labrador will remain in northern waters as long as conditions permit—probably until mid-October.

To Build Brewery

TORONTO (CP)—C. O. Dalton, president of Carlings Breweries, announced that the company has purchased a 117-acre site in suburban Etobicoke for a new brewery.

It was reported unofficially that cost of the new plant might run to $10,000,000 and that a start might be made before the end of 1955.

Mr. Dalton's announcement said when the new plant is finished it might affect operation of the present brewery in Toronto but it would not affect plants in Montreal, Tecumseh and Waterloo.

BIG EVENT

ELROSE, Sask. (CP)—Mrs. E.J. Smith, 85, recently flew back to her hometown from her new home at Buckthorn, Ont. Nearly today's child when she left there three years ago, she underwent operations and returned to Elrose to see the town again.

Committed for Trial

WOODSTOC K(CP)—Velibor Rajic, 37-year-old Yugoslav immigrant, was committed for trial Thursday charged with the murder of Mrs. Florence Boyd of Woodstock.

Mrs. Boyd, Rajic's 34-year-old landlady, was stabbed to death June 19.

Rajic, remanded five times since his arrest, will stand trial at the next Supreme Court sitting.

He was unemployed for three months before his arrest. Previously, he had worked on a farm and as a laborer in a Woodstock factory.

Union Official Accused of Posing As Board Member

BRANTFORD (CP)—An official of the United Electrical Workers (Ind.) was accused Thursday of posing as an Ontario labor relations board representative in an attempt to gain information about a rival union.

William Walsh, a former Hamilton city councillor and now UEW organizer, denied the charge. So did two other union officials, Ross Russell and Mrs. Olga Deluca.

Lorraine Bowden, a member of the new Westinghouse television factory here, testified at the board hearings to decide whether the UEW or the International Union of Electrical Workers (CIO-CCL) will represent workers at the plant.

Miss Bowden said the three officials visited her home Monday night and Mr. Walsh told her they represented the labor board. She said they asked to see the receipt of her membership payment to the rival union.

Mr. Russell told the board the trio had been interviewing five persons who they thought had signed IUE cards but had not paid the required $1 fee. He said Mr. Walsh introduced him as the man who represents "our union" on the labor board, not as a member of the board itself.

"I suggest that's a lie," Mr. Rus sell replied.

The hearing is continuing.

Greek Tragedy Strikingly Staged At Stratford

By JOHN PATERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

STRATFORD, Ont. (CP) — A strangely moving drama from ancient Greece, one of the great classics of theatre, was given its premiere here Thursday night.

Third production of the second annual Shakespearian festival, "Oedipus Rex" was written by Sophocles in the 5th century B. C. when drama had a close affinity with religion.

Director Tyrone Guthrie reached back nearly 2,500 years for some of the semi-religious ritual of the play. Dark-clad figures carried great bowls of incense to the seven-platform stage at the opening, sending dense clouds of smoke through the crowded tent-theatre. Much of the play was under dim lights, with brooding shadows adding intensity to the tremendous tragedy.

SELL-OUT AUDIENCE

External Affairs Minister Pearson and Governor-General Vincent Massey headed a distinguished sell-out audience.

Bank of Canada Burns Up About $2,000,000 A Day

OTTAWA (CP)—The Bank of Canada has always had money to burn, but it is burning it faster than usual these days.

The reason for this stepped-up monetary arson is the new issue of bills due to make their debut sometime after Labor Day.

The bank burns up about $2,000,000 a day in old money, and prints that much or more in new bills; $1,500,000,000 will be "born" in the bank before the end of the year. The same amount will be "cremated" by the gas-fires in the bank's basement, two floors below the street.

Normally, the bank turns out $10,000,000 a week, but in the case of the new bills it isn't sure if this will be enough. A bank spokesman says, "We shall get ready for the public's curiosity about the new bills and satisfy it as best we can."

The new issue has Queen Elizabeth's picture on the front and Canadian landscapes on the back.

FELL INTO TUB

HAMILTON (CP) — A seven-months-old child who tumbled into a washtub of water here was declared dead on arrival Thursday. The child, Brenda Jean McKee, was pulled from the tub by her mother, Mrs. Douglas McKee, who collapsed screaming. Her scream brought neighbors, who called police. The tub had been used by older children as a wading pool.

Cop Combines Clobber Sarges In Softball Epic

McDougall's Marauders of the Ontario Provincial Police and Prober's Probers of the City Police Department, got their softball heads, bats and other paraphernalia together last night and, according to Harold (Hornblower) Reid, public relations expert for the Gendarmerie Combines, administered a 14-4 shellacking to noncommissioned officers of the RCAF at Trenton.

The score is strictly approximate, due to the "dominion" scorer being unable to count past "ten". He used his fingers for a scorebook, and, it is alleged, was still counting on them at 2 a.m. today.

The heroes of the piece from the Gendarmerie standpoint, were Five-Finger Fullerton, a pitcher of many parts, and a graduate of Mickey Mouse School of Knuckleknock College, Ragged Pants, Arkansas, Lefty Donald-McLeod, who had a fainting spell, leaned heavily on his bat for support, hoisted a filet and then proached, then actually fainted when he saw the pill go for a home run.

Tommy (The Blinker) that is spelled with a "B"!) not an "S" Mr. Compositor, Schreider, did a Perry Campanella behind the plate for the law-limbs, and came up with a good job despite the fact he had a glove on both hands, three masks and heavy padding, fore and aft.

"Killer" Kowal, who blasted the ball at least three feet from the plate; "Bonesetter" Brown, Gordon "Porky" Oliver, Wilhelm "Wobblefoot" Williamson and others contributed to the victory.

"Fargilacel" (Turk) Pelissero did a reasonable facsimile of Leo Durocher, but perhaps he is better known by his herculean feat in the realm of hockey last winter when he played 6nd for the "Combines."

The "Turk" won the putty medallion for service above and beyond his own imagination when the opposition fired five shots at him. Four went in and the other hit the post.

Soviet Cruiser, Four Destroyers Visit Sweden

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The new Soviet cruiser Admiral Ushakov and four modern Soviet destroyers sailed into Stockholm today on the first Russian naval visit to Sweden since before the Russian revolution.

Earlier today a Swedish naval squadron of similar strength, including the new cruiser Tre Kronor (Three Crowns), flagship of the Swedish navy, anchored in the Stockholm river opposite the Windsor Palace in Leningrad.

The Soviet naval visit was the most spectacular Soviet gesture so far towards Sweden in the peace offensive of the Malenkov regime.

Kit Tip

Even across the turn of the century, polar and other explorers found that boxes of light, non-rusting aluminum gave their precious first-aid equipment more protection from rough usage and rough weather.

Manufacturers took the tip. Today, especially in factories where industrial processes create humid or corrosive conditions, aluminum boxes are used to keep first-aid kits in good shape.

In fact, aluminum is now popular for boxes to hold everything from tools to trout fly. And for countless other containers that must stay clean, bright, free from rust. Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd. (Alcan).

Two Nuns, Klondike Vets, Admit They're Still Sourdoughs

MONTREAL (CP)—It's a far cry from the sedate convent of the Sisters de Ste. Anne in suburban Lachine to the wilderness of Dawson City in the Yukon, but a gentle pair of Canadian nuns admit their hearts lie in the northern outpost.

Sister Mary Pudentienne, from Joliette, Que., and Mother Mary Ludovic of St. Jean Baptiste, Man., are veterans of the rip-roaring days of '98 but it was the lure of gold that sent them north.

They both spent their time in Dawson caring for sick and injured in St. Mary's Hospital, the most northerly institution of its kind in the world. But, sitting in the convent parlor today, they agreed they became "sourdoughs" at heart.

STARTED SET UP HOSPITAL

Sister Mary Pudentienne went to Dawson as one of a missionary party 17 years ago. She was 23 years old when she helped establish St. Mary's just before an epidemic of typhoid hit the community.

The little hospital continued in service until four years ago when it was razed by fire. In 1952 Mother Mary Ludovic went to Dawson to rebuild the hospital. Today it stands proudly on the former site of a gold mining company executive.

Sister Mary, whose contemporaries included such famous names as poet Robert Service and whose memories include the sight of the first automobile riding through Dawson in the early 1900's, says it's hard to forget the north and the people who live there.

"After such a length of time you're bound to miss it all," she said.

She set out for the Klondike in the summer of 1897. Her party entered the district from the west coast of Alaska and made its way by the frozen Yukon river into Dawson, boom town of the fabulous gold rush.

She recalled that at the height of the rush there were 35,000 persons in Dawson. Now there are only 500.

"But the 98'ers were some of the most wonderful people alive," she says.

Neither expect to see Dawson or the Yukon again but both nuns agreed "you can't keep an old sourdough out of the north."

More Back-Seat Drivers, Courtesy Needed in Canada Says Expert

By PAULINE KENNEDY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—Canadian motorists need more back-seat drivers and more courtesy.

That's the opinion of W. L. Twiness, driving school instructor who pioneered the Alert Drivers League in Toronto, first organization of its kind in Canada.

The league, a volunteer group of motorists interested in learning good driving habits, meet once a month to discuss driving and safety measures. They have been addressed by members of the highways department, Toronto police and provincial police.

WOMEN IN MAJORITY

When the league was organized in January membership was top heavy with women. There was a scattering of housewives but, more career women who drive during work.

Mrs. Lee Watman who took driving lessons last August and got her licence in October said she joined because. "If I'm going to be a driver at all I'm going to be a good one."

She found discussion at league meetings fascinating — especially when police spokesmen were on the program.

"Anyone who comes to one meeting always returns to another," she said.

After several months of discussion the league has come to some conclusions about Canadian drivers. They are based on the experiences of the lawyers, businessmen, salesmen and women who make up the club.

Worst driving hazard is distraction. The motorist has business worries or family troubles on his mind instead of his driving.

Worst driving habit is the ego complex—"Me first, you can wait."

This is where the nagging back-seat driver can rear her head successfully and with full justification. A little "be careful its a red light" and "not so much gas George, we'll make it on time," are often a help, not a hazard.

HOPES WILL SPREAD

Mr. Twiness hopes his idea will spread to other cities and provinces. His optimism is illustrated by the accident totals which mount each year in the Dominion.

During the first three months of 1954 in Ontario there were 17,533 accidents, a jump of 23.4 per cent over the same period last year. A total of 201 were killed.

In British Columbia last year there were 22,096 reported accidents with a death toll of 206. New Brunswick chalked up 111 deaths in 1953 and 1,522 injured.

Music Pupils Pass Exams With Honors

Grade III—Carolyn Carlisle, Frankford, honors.

Grade II—Kathleen Dauncey, Trenton, honors.

'Free and Easy' Silhouette Latest on Fashion Horizon

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—With aching feet and bulging pocketbooks a few of the international fashion press today wound up a hectic week of style showings which promised that American women can breathe easy next fall.

From the welter of collections by New York's designers, visiting editors formed a picture of the shape of things to come, the gist of which is that women can loosen their belts a notch next fall, take off their waist-cinchers and enjoy life.

"The 'free and easy' silhouette is the big news of the fall collections, underwritten by such trendsetters as Vincent Monte-Sano, Hattie Carnegie, Christian Dior, Adele Simpson, Pauline Trigere, Nettie Rosenstein, Claire McCardell, Vera Maxwell, Ben Zuckerman and others who decide each season how American women will look.

Through the canyons and skyscrapers of seventh avenue the weary editors have trudged, viewing new fall fashions from breakfast to midnight, noting the numbers that have been ordered by buyers for their local stores, primed to instruct their readers on what to look for when they go shopping for new fall finery.

They are telling them that the bloused silhouette is the newest thing on the fashion horizon; it is seen in suits, dresses and coats in practically every collection. This is the casual, easy line of the beloved shirtwaist dress, which combines waistline bulges, gives room for action and allows the wearer to breathe without fear of splitting a seam.

They are taking home an exciting story of new tweeds in every weight and tone, showing in everything from suits and coats to cocktail gowns, combined with satins for dress-up wear. Tweed suits that are comfortable wraparounds, worn with matching satin hats.

Tweed coats sometimes have detachable satin lapels or scarfs. And satin touches are found on wool daytime dresses of every variety.

The costume story takes top headlines for fall. Women have taken to their hearts the versatile outfit of dress-up dress and coverup jacket or coat, which looks like a suit during business hours, "pets" to become a cocktail or dinner dress after five. This outfit is done in every conceivable fabric and color for fall, sometimes with fur-trimmed or reversible jacket lining, sometimes with full-length coat, sometimes with skirt, jacket and matching dressy blouse.

In any case the head-to-toe costume look is all important, accessories are carefully keyed to the outfit. A well dressed woman can dress in the morning for a busy day which might include shopping, office, lunch, cocktails, dinner and the theatre.

'Romantique' Neckline Features Dior's New York Collection

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—The dropped-shoulder silhouette and the "romantique" neckline for highlights of Christian Dior's New York collection for fall, previewed today for the benefit of 150 visiting fashion editors representing newspapers throughout the United States and abroad.

Departing from his former custom of building the shape into the garment with stiffened interlinings, Dior depends principally on drape and cut for his new silhouette, which is soft, feminine, slim and unexaggerated.

A climax is found in collars and necklines, which are almost always dramatic. Collars are big and bold, either buttoned flat to the yoke or standing up and cozy. The "modesty" neckline is featured, surprisingly, on afternoon and evening gowns, the latter often with covered shoulders and backs.

MANY-SHADED SATINS

Satin is newly important for afternoon and evening, and is used in a series of rich shades, favorites of which are bayleaf green and mulberry. Dior also likes red in every tone, from delicate pink to deep wine, which he feels is a color vital to the "romantique" look.

Cape collars and sailor collars in every imaginable version are almost a signature of this collection, and fabric was handsomer than ever, running the gamut from shaggy tweeds to sleek satins, often in combination. Satin sacks and blouses are shown with daytime suits, and there are "glace" woolens for daytime wear.

Competing in interest at today's line-up of openings was the collection of Hattie Carnegie, noted for sophisticated fashions beloved by knowing women. For fall she believes in the "complete ensemble" of dress and jacket, dress and full-length coat or suit with co-ordinated blouse or wraith. These she shows in a dazzling range of fabrics and colors ranging from feather-weight wools to sleek broadcloth, from silk - and - wool tweeds to butter-soft flannels. All have the Carnegie touch of femininse detail, unexpected jewels, smooth, easy lines.

Readers' Friday Column

By Mary Moore

QUESTION:

. . . this last cake is the straw that broke the camel's back . . . a lady wrote you a month or so again asking for a spice cake recipe. . . same as she bought at bakeshop. . . you gave her a recipe and I made it soon after and it was lovely—a joy to eat. The next time I made it it had a layer like the sample I've enclosed. Today I tried it again and you have the results. Here is the recipe: Walnut Spice Cake

—Cream together until fluffy and light 3-4 cup soft shortening, 1-4 cup lb. sugar, 1 cup white sugar. Beat in very well 2 eggs. Sift together 3 cups sifted cake flour, 2 1-2 teaspoons baking soda, 1-2 teaspoon allspice (or 1 1-2 teaspoons cinnamon, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 teaspoon cloves), 1 teaspoon salt. Stir sifted dry ingredients into first mixture alternately with 1 1-2 cups buttermilk. Fold in 2-3 cup walnuts. Pour into buttered, floured oblong pan and bake at 350 deg. Fahr for 30 to 35 minutes. . . My daughter has a spice cake recipe that calls for sweet milk and baking powder—it is a delicious but gets the same hard layer. We blamed it on stale baking powder, but this only takes soda. I do hope you have patience to read this and sign me "Worried" or "Perplexed."

ANSWER:

There are seven common reasons for soggy layer in bottom of cake: (1) Lower part of oven not hot enough; (2) too much liquid; (3) damp flour; (4) undermixing of shortening-sugar-egg mixture; (5) shortening too soft; (6) too much liquid; (7) underbaking yolks. There are two questions I would like to ask: Are you sure the thermometer on your oven is registering the correct temperature? And, would you make sure next time you make the cake that you use light brown sugar—not the dark kind that has so much moisture in it. I would suggest too that you beat the shortenings and sugar together in your electric beater for three minutes, then beat in the eggs for another two minutes.

I make this cake and it never has this soggy layer, but if after you try it, orce more it is not completely satisfactory I will send you another recipe, using what I call the cream-lined method of mixing.

QUESTION;

For some years I have wanted to can some maraschino cherries . . . will you please print recipe.

—Mrs. W. B.

ANSWER:

The commercial method of preparing maraschino cherries involves bleaching the cherries. This step is complicated and too risky to recommend to home canners in this column. The following is a simple method that produces pretty good

HOME CANNED MARASCHINO CHERRIES

Because of their pale color it is preferable to use Royal Ann cherries. Three lbs. Royal Ann sweet cherries weighed after stemming and pitting, 3 lbs. sugar, 1 oz. liquid red coloring, 1 oz. almond flavoring, 2 cups water. Soak cherries after stemming in cold water to cover 3 hours. Carefully pit them keeping them as whole as possible. Weigh. Put sugar and water together in kettle and stir until sugar is dissolved. Add coloring and cherries and cook slowly until cherries are red through and syrup is fairly thick. Do not scorch. Remove from heat, cool a little, add flavoring, let stand to cool a little longer, then pack into cold jars and seal. Store in cool place.

QUESTION:

. . . would you kindly send me your recipe for that Scalloped Tomatoes" referred to in your column. . . I must have missed them when previously printed. . . thanks for all your helpful hints and recipes . . . am going to buy a ham with bone in.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

PLANS FOR THEIR SECOND MARRIAGE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am to be married soon. We are both divorced, but we can be married in church, and the wedding will be at 8 o'clock in the evening. There will be about 60 guests. I intend to wear a pastel-shade dress, ballerina-length. Would it be suitable for the groom to wear a light-brown suit? He has only light-colored suits. If not suitable, what color should he wear?

2. Would it be proper for my father to give me in marriage in the church ceremony? If not, do I walk up the aisle alone, or with my attendant, or do I walk to the altar from the Pastor's study, which is just off the altar? If it is permissible for my father to give me away, is it proper to have the Wedding March played? Also would it be proper to have a soloist?

3. May I carry a regular bridal bouquet?

4. It would be in best taste for the groom to wear a dark-blue suit. A light-brown suit would look out-of-place at this evening wedding. Since you are wearing a ballerina-length dress, the groom and your father may, if you wish, wear dinner jackets.

2. You should consult with your pastor as to his advice about the procedure he would suggest. This is important.

3. It would be in best taste for you to wear a simple corsage. You should not carry the traditional white bouquet of the bride-for-the-first-time.

INTRODUCING A STRANGER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance, who is in the Navy, is to have a leave soon, and during the time he expects to be here, a friend of mine is going to give a party. I have not known her very long and she has not met my fiance. But she has asked me to bring him to her party if he is at home at that time. If we are able to go together to the party, who should introduce him to the other guests? — Dorothy U.

When you arrive at the party, introduce your fiance to the hostess. Then she, as hostess, will introduce him to the other guests. However, of course, if it is a large party and she is busy greeting guests and making other introductions, you would introduce him to the other guests after the hostess has made the first introductions.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

DON'T BE FOOLISH FAIRATHOOPER!

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a paratrooper, and 18 years old.

When I was home on furlough some months ago, I found my girl was going out with another fellow. I was so mad that I went down to a bar and started drinking. While I was there, I got talking to the girl behind the bar, and I asked her if she would like to go out with me. She said yes, and we went to such a good time that I guess I fell in love with that girl over night. We had a wonderful time all during my stay at home.

Because of a back injury, I should be going home on convalescent leave pretty soon, and I have a feeling that this girl is going to ask me to marry her. I am afraid, though, that she will turn me down cold when I tell her how old I am, because she is 32 and has a 9-months-old baby. I am deeply in love with her, and I love the baby, too, so I would like to know what I can do. — J.B.

Dear J.B.:

What do you mean, this girl is going to ask you to marry her? Don't you think, perhaps, you're letting your imagination run away with you? Do you really wanted to marry her very much, you'd certainly be the one to ask her, wouldn't you? Or have you been hesitating because of the age situation?

However things may be, you would be a very foolish boy indeed if you committed yourself to marriage with anyone at 18. Furthermore, as a serviceman, you are going to change your feelings a great deal about many things, and you had better let serious romance strictly alone for a while or you may find yourself deeply regretting your impulsiveness.

And one more thing, any inexperienced boy like yourself and any girl of 34, especially one whom, I assume, has been married, make a very ill-mated pair.

I hope that if your idea is correct and this girl does ask you to marry her, you will have the sense to admit your age to her, and tell her you are much too young to marry. Besides all the other objections, you could not possibly be in love with a young woman you have seen as few times as you have this one.

HER HUSBAND DESERTED HER—SHE WANTS A DIVORCE

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My husband deserted me almost a year ago. I don't know where he is. Could you tell me how long it would take me to get a divorce and how much it would cost? — Mrs. A.N.B.

Dear Mrs. A.N.B.:

The grounds for divorce in your state include "wilful desertion for one year." Unless there are factors in the situation that you have neglected to mention, I would assume that this provision applied in your case.

As for how much a divorce would cost you, that would be a matter for you to discuss with the lawyer you engage to handle the matter for you. There is no set price for such a procedure.

TV NEWS IN TV

by Gene Hitchon

Will we ever have TV sets in our cars right next to the radio?

Sounds pretty fantastic, but then TV itself sounded pretty fantastic a few years ago.

If automobile TV ever does come along, it won't be in the Province of Ontario. A little while ago the Ontario government passed a law forbidding the installation of TV sets in cars.

Just locking the barn door before the horse is stolen, the Minister of Highways explained. It hasn't been developed yet, but we don't want to be caught napping.

TV in the front seat certainly would be dangerous. But I really don't see what would be wrong with it in the back seat — might be a good way to keep the youngsters quiet for a long time.

TV in cars would have to overcome a lot of obstacles. Passing buildings and power lines would be a real problem. And, with the horsepower race among automobile manufacturers, you'd be racing out of range of a TV station every half hour or so.

Even in a car, TV set installation needs the careful attention of experts who know the little tricks to get that signal over the hill, consider the wires, to your place, the makers of the great Electrovision set complimented us by making us one of their distributors. They know, as many others have found, that it takes a combination of a good set, good installation and good service to keep TV enjoyment rolling in. Good service and satisfied customers are a by-word at HITCHON RADIO & TELEVISION, 6 Bridge St. E. Phone 854

THE DOUBLE CHIN

When women who are inclined to be overweight discover a slight fullness of the tissues below the chin they should take warning. A spare one may be on the way and that, most definitely, will be one chin too many. In such a case immediate action is indicated since a double chin can develop almost over night.

If such a woman continues to gain weight that hateful little pouch will increase more and more, creeping along the sides of the jaw line. Then there is no overcrowding it except by means of plastic surgery which is an expensive indulgence. The wise thing is to catch it young. Expert facial operators, by skilful manipulations and the use of nourishing creams can tone and tighten the tissues. Much can be accomplished by self-treatment if started early.

After a soapy face washing at bedtime, a rinsing with warm water and drying with gentle pats of a soft towel to bring a glow, a heavy cream should be applied. Start at the collar bones, spread the emollient over neck, cheeks and forehead. At the same time you might as well treat these areas in such a way as to keep the complexion soft and smooth.

While the cream remains on, frisk an ice cube over the portions that have been treated.

To avoid a flabby condition that might result, an astringent should be applied. Keep it in the refrigerator so it is ice cold. You can find these lotions at cosmetic counters; otherwise witch hazel will serve.

Unemployment In Oshawa Heavy

OSHAWA (CP)—Unemployment in Oshawa and district will reach 9,000 within the next three or four weeks, William Rodgers, vice-president of Local 222 of the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL), said Wednesday night.

Almost 4,200 workers now are jobless in the area, he said.

"I don't know how bad the situation has to become before the government classifies the area as being depressed," Mr. Rutherford said at a meeting of unemployed.

R. D. Thomas, CCF member of the legislature for Ontario riding said the automobile industry has reached the saturation point. He said Labor Minister Daley of Ontario will bring up the unemployment issue at a cabinet meeting today.

Bannister, Landy Notwithstanding, New Zealand Will Win Mile—Coach

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N. Z. (CP)—New Zealand is confident it has the British Empire Games mile winner—the world's two four-minute milers notwithstanding.

Track followers here pick 32-year-old school teacher Murray Halberg over Britain's Roger Bannister, first to break the four-minute barrier in 3:59.4, and John Landy of Australia, holder of the record in 3:58.

Bannister and Landy, enthusiasts here say, have made supreme efforts already this season. They set their sights on the four-minute mile and that was their peak. Can they train to reach a similar pitch in time for the games?

NEVER REALLY FUSHED

In contrast, New Zealand's Halberg has had one target, all season —this Empire Games title. His training has been planned to this end. He has attempted only one fast mile this season, that 4:4.4 effort on a badly-shaped grass track.

Halberg's coach, Arthur Lydiard, says the young New Zealander has run his races against opponents, not against time, in pursuance of a carefully planned schedule to reach a peak at Vancouver.

Halberg won the Benjamin Franklin Mile at Philadelphia earlier this season, but he did not attempt fast time, being content to beat his opponents. Since he started serious track running late last season, he has won every race with something in reserve, so no one knows how fast he can go if pushed to the limit.

Lydiard has been seeking a weak link in the running of Halberg's rivals, and he believes he has found it. Landy's best quarter mile is his weakest, he considers, and Bannister has been beaten by men with great stamina. So far as Halberg is concerned, it will be a stayer's race. He has improved greatly in stamina since he ran the 4:4.4 mile and now is a strong runner.

The coach thinks Bannister is the more dangerous opponent. Landy, he says, will find it especially hard to reach a new peak for the Games, but Bannister has had a longer time.

Lydiard admits Halberg will go to Vancouver with a plan of campaign, but he will not reveal it.

"Halberg will step on to the track with a carefully thought-out plan," he says. "And he will carry it out."

As for a world record by Halberg, Lydiard says:

"If he doesn't do it at Vancouver, he is pretty well certain to do so later in his career. That boy astounds me at times. He is nowhere near his best yet and he has got the indomitable spirit of a champion. He'll keep at it until he gets there."

Soccer Gossip

Only one Eastern Ontario Football League game was played last week-end and in this Peterborough UEW increased their lead at the head of the league table and retained their 100 per cent record when they defeated established Peterborough Canadian Scottish by a score of eight goals to one. Stubbs with four, Hoyle three, Strong and Ryan netted for UEW whilst Gilchrist got the solitary Scottish marker.

Due to the annual vacations only one game is scheduled for this week-end. In this Batawa are at home to Kingston United. Both teams are tied for second place with Belleville Northern Electric as the result of this game should break the deadlock temporarily at least. No games have been scheduled for the two following week-ends but all teams come back into the picture again on August 7th when the season breaks.

In minor circles it appears that the Foley Foundry juveniles and Branch 99 Canadian Legion bantam squads will be pitted against Hamilton outfits in their first outing in the Ontario Minor Soccer championships. As quite a few teams have been entered from the Hamilton district these teams will have to play-off to declare a winner to take on the local boys and tentatively the date for the matching between both Belleville entries and the Hamilton winners has been set for Saturday, August 21st in Hamilton.

Trenton Merchants were full value for their win over Batawa on Tuesday evening at the Shoemaker town when they edged the Shoemen by four goals to three. This is the first win of the season for the Merchants who are composed mainly of Canadian born players and should hearten them for bigger things in the forthcoming local cup competitions. One thing these Trenton boys never give up trying. Behind with two, N. Smith and P. Van Wensem got the Trenton goals with D. Pecas, Smith and Bulmer replying for the losers.

In the other fixture played on Wednesday evening Northern Electric trounced a short-handed RCAF United side by four goals to two. Lever and D. Roelfsema got five each with K. Carter three and G. Roelfsema accounting for the others. Bunyan and Jones hit the target for RCAF. Northern Electric are still perched at the top of the league in the Bay of Quinte League and provided Batawa win their three outstanding games, two with Trenton and one RCAF it appears that the league championship will rest on the final game of the schedule when Batawa and Northern Electric meet up on August 4th. Owing to plant vacations the Northern are not scheduled again until that date.

Next week sees Batawa meeting Trenton Merchants at Bain Memorial Park, Trenton on Tuesday whilst on Thursday evening RCAF and Trenton Merchants play off a postponed fixture at the station. Both games are called for 7.00 p.m.

Due to vacation this column will not appear for the next two weeks but will be back again on Friday, August 6th.

This week's tip to the budding soccer star: "When things get hot —keep cool."

Canadians Become More Conscious About Health

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians apparently are becoming more conscious about health insurance.

A health department survey showed Thursday that 2,400,000 Canadians were covered under 14 major non-profit medical care insurance plans at the end of 1953. This compared with fewer than 200,000 in 1946.

Of the total, 1,000,000 persons were entitled to a fairly comprehensive range of benefits, including the cost of medical, surgical, and obstetrical care.

Woodbine Track

TORONTO (CP)—The favorite won the Orangeville pace, feature race at Woodbine Raceway Thursday, and the $1,000 purse.

Harriman Hanover owned by Dr. A. M. Johnston—of Peterborough—and driven by Jim McIntyre took both heats of an elimination event to secure his third consecutive victory at Woodbine. In the first heat, the four-year-old son of Hoot Mon was backed down to 1 to 30 in the mutuel betting.

James W. Brown, the raceway manager, removed him from the betting for the second heat. That justified the confidence of winning handily over Theoras Ensign, owned by Neil Pringle of Sarnia and Wee Atom owned by the Armstrong Brothers of Brampton.

Theoris Ensign paid change for $2.

Empire Games Tickets Sale Falls Short

VANCOUVER (CP)—Sam Rosen, singing a blues obligato to the ringing of his cash register, said Thursday he has to sell $215,000 worth of British Empire Games tickets within two weeks.

Mr. Rosen, head of the games ticket committee, said his group has already collected $180,877 by the sale of advance ducats, but still has a distance to go to hit the $395,000 objective.

Track and field is by far the most popular, with 980,000 worth of tickets already snapped up. Swimming places second with $36,000 worth gone.

Swimming and diving are the only events to mark up a one-day sell-out. Not one seat is left of the 6,000 for the final day of swimming, Aug. 6.

Approximately 23,000 seats have been reserved for the mile run between Australia's Roger Bannister and Australia's John Landy. The mile of the century is set for Aug. 7, closing day of the games. "I don't know why all the stress on this one event," Mr. Rosen said, "because folks will have a chance to see a flock of world champions performing during the week."

Overlooked so far in the advance ticket buying, he said, is the three-mile, opening world record co-eds are Fred Green and Chris Chataway.

MANY UNDERSOLD

July 31 will see the performance of world sprint titlists Hec Hogan and Marjorie Jackson and the same day Jon Hendricks, world record holder in the 110 free-style, will try to lower the mark.

South Africa's Joan Harrison, woman world backstroke champion, performs July 31. The following day Canada's Doug Hepburn has a try at his own world weightlifting mark.

All these events, Mr. Rosen said, have been undersold in the advance list.

His over-all breakdown on ticket sales showed $20,000 worth sold for opening ceremonies; $10,500 for boxing; $7,000 for cycling and $2,000 for rowing. Wrestling has sold $3,200 worth, weightlifting $2,250, fencing $687 and lawn bowling $240.

Ticket prices, varying for each event, run between $1 and $5.

A throwing error in the top of the sixth cost Houston Lumber widgets a 3-2 decision in a scheduled game with Wellington here last night.

The two evenly matched teams hooked up in a real battle all the way with Houston's taking a 1-0 lead in the first, Wellington coming back with two in the top of the fourth and the ctir owe tying it in their turn at bat for a 2-2 deadlock. Pitcher Gord St. Louis made a wild throw with men on base in the sixth to allow the winning run to score.

T. O'Kallan went all the way on the hill to gain the victory and set Houston's down on three hits while St. Louis was touched for eight safe hits in defeat. Both teams aided their pitchers with a pair of double plays to cut off potential rallies.

MacKenzie led Wellington with the wood, cracking out a brace of hits while Foster, St. Louis and Bishop claimed the losers base blows.

HOW TO PARK!

Stop alongside the car in front of the parking space, with your rear bumpers even. You should be about two feet apart.

- Back up slowly, turning your steering wheel to the extreme right position within the first few feet.
- Back into space at about 45 degree angle. As your front wheel passes either car's rear wheel, turn steering wheel rapidly to the left.
- Continue backing until your car is parallel to curb. Straighten wheels while moving ahead to centre of space.

Braves Blast Brooks In Doubleheader; Tribe Retains Lead Over Yanks

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

MIGHT BE TOUGH!

The Batas face a rather stiff task tonight in Oakville when they take on the rampaging Oaks of that town in a Vladsel-Charles Sroder Baseball League doubleheader. The Batas have vivid memories of that twin shellacking handed them by the Oaks last week, and the western club looked anything but stepping stones to playoff spots for other teams in the loop. They had just about everything from the batboy up, and that was plenty to slip the twin shellacking on our side.

Wednesday night the Oaks came up with another victory over the Toronto Dependables that piggy-backed them over the Peterborough Petes into fourth place behind the Batas.

However, the Batas with the infield tightened with the placing of Keith MacDonald at third base, and Tony Petitti back again in the hit parade, are confident they can reverse the signals on the Oaks, or at least come home with a split decision.

Don Grant, pinch-columning for Marse Cec Furbise in the Peterborough Examiner (the old maestro is doing some vacation blacksmanking and fishing somewhere back north for two weeks) says the Petes have added a familiar face to their mound corps in Doug Lawlor. The name rings familiar when talking about Peterborough, and Mr. Loucks should add some strength to the Littlock batting department.

Loucks may have slowed somewhat during the past two years, but, remarks the wishful-thinking Donald, "he is what the Petes' pitching staff needs—experience." Since when has Peterborough sports been a stranger to experience? Since the Lindsay intermediates, taking that team to the Ontario finals.

And, it is reported, the Oshawa Transporters are persistent cusses, to say the least. Deprived of an American import pitcher by popular vote of the other clubs in the league, the Transporters came up with another hurler of parts, who, while not an American, has been basking in the baseball rays of Old Glory for some time this summer. He is one Sid Miller, who hurled for the Sarnia Merchants in 1951 and this year moved south of the border with Jessup in the Georgia State League and then Dalton in the Florida State League.

And according to the results the Transporters were not fooling when they promised to "wreak vengeance" on the Toronto entries in the league, for their part in spearheading the move to oust the "American import." They have defeated both the Dependables and Hookings by double figure scores. Since the "big controversy" and are making no bones in bragging about it.

The official schedule ends on August 7, according to the copy we received, but apparently there are quite a few postponed games to be played. We do not know of any playoff arrangements, so presuming the first four clubs are eligible it should be quite a race to the playoff wire during the next three weeks. The Batas are solid, for the moment, in third position, but they cannot afford to take any chances.

If double win for Oakville tonight will give them ten points and eleven losses for a percentage of .476, and hoist them into third place. The twin loss for the Batas would drop them into fourth position with an 8-10 record and percentage of .444, five scant points ahead of the Petes who have 7 and 10 for .412. However, on the brighter side of the picture, should our side come through with a double win, it will give them a 10-8 record for .556 and send them breathing down the necks of the Toronto Hookings, who at the moment have 11 wins and 8 defeats for .579. Oshawa is leading the league with 14-5 for .737, with Toronto Dependables in the cellar with 7-13, for .350.

IT'S NO YOLK!

Herby Henn's Northern Electric cockerels had better look to their win-lined nest at top of the Belleville District Softball League, for at least to date one they occupied until the Oriole Foisters ruckly pushed them out of it. That's right. The Hennery crew had their tail feathers clipped the other night by Herb Rankin's Frankford outfit. The latter moved into second slot for the first time this year, with their arch rivals from Point Anne looking down at them.

Bob Temple's Bobcats unleashed some plate power, too, mopping the Madoc Hatcheries by a 19-7 score. While it was the Cats' second victory of the season, they still have a long, expensive row to hoe if Madoc crew. Seems like the seats of the mighty are becoming restless, or something. There's many a slip twixt the schedule cup and the playoff lip, and many a top flight squad that had the loop in the schedule hit the dust in the playoff rounds.

Incidentally, the Madoc hurlers seem to have the right sort of dish for Bob Temple's hitters. Marse Robert tells us his Bobcats have scored 47 runs off the village pitchers in three games—more than they have garnered off the rest of the league all season.

FIREWORKS NIGHT TONIGHT!

The wrestling faithful had better gird its loins for some fast, furious, fantastic fireworks tonight in Memorial Arena when the Mighty Ursus and his new-found buddy, George Bollen, alias "The Zebra," tangle with Whipper Watson and Paul Baillargeon. Myles Paul, b'gar, she is gonna boiled up over that treatment handed him by the interlouping Zebra last Friday, and when the Keebec Krusher get's his Francois up, something is liable to bust out all over. And it won't be the Whip-Paul combine, for there is popular Ray Villmer, whel-hooks up with Ski-Hi Lee, the oil derrick that walks like a man. Good show.

PICTON BASEBALLERS HERE TOMORROW!

Coach Chuck Barrage and "Red" Carson are whipping Bryson Reid's Regents into shape for their important tussle with Chris Lockyer's Picton Lightfoots at the Exhibition Park tomorrow at 2.30. It is the only baseball attraction in town and the Regent kids are deserving of some box-office support. They are playing a good brand of baseball and with Picton a strong squad in all departments, there should be a good diamond show when the teams clash.

Brewers Score Six in Ninth In Sensational Bat Rally; Giants Win, Chisox Drop Back

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

The largest crowd ever to watch a baseball game in Milwaukee beheld a sight not seen in almost two years.

An outpouring of 43,633 paying customers—a county stadium record—watched the Braves open with spectacular pitching and close with a sensational batting rally to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers in both ends of a doubleheader Thursday night 3-2 and 9-2.

The double defeat was the first suffered by the Dodgers since Sept. 8, 1952. Since then they had played 27 twin bills, winning 15-and split-tieing 12.

The two losses, combined with New York's 4-0 triumph over the St. Louis Cardinals, boosted the Giants' first-place National League margin over the Dodgers to 6½ games.

Cleveland Indians retained their ballgame edge over New York in the tight American League race, defeating Philadelphia Athletics 4-0 as the Yankees edged Baltimore Orioles 7-6.

SPLIT TWIN BILL

Chicago's third-place White Sox fell four games off the pace as they lost before Washington 3-2. Detroit and Boston divided a day-night doubleheader, the Tigers taking the nightcap 4-3 after the Red Sox had blanked them opener 3-1.

Cincinnati's Redlegs climbed into a three-way tie for third place with Milwaukee and Chicago, sweeping both ends of a twi-night twin bill from the Phillies 9-1 and 4-3 in spite Terry Moore's managerial d e b u t. Chicago's Cubs knocked off the Pittsburgh Pirates 5-1 and Boston Braves 7-6 in the afternoon and night halves. Hank Sauer and Ernie Banks homered in each game.

The Dodgers were limited to only three singles in the opening game by Milwaukee's Bob Buhl, who won his first game of the season after seven defeats. But they squeezed out the tying and winning runs in the bag as the Braves came up for their last turn at bat trailing 3-3. Then with two out and the bases full, the aroused Braves unloaded their heavy artillery in the game out of the fire.

Joe Adcock drove in relief reliever Jim Hughes to score two mates. That made it 5-3. Andy Pafko doubled in Del Crandall scoring two more to make it 8-7. Johnny Logan singled in the tying run and took second on the throw to the plate. Catcher Charlie White followed with a single over second to score Logan with the winning run.

WON PITCHING DUEL

Eddie Mathews slammed two homers, his 20th and 21st of the season, for the Braves.

Pitcher Don Liddle and catcher Wes Westrum contributed their talents to down the Cardinals. Liddle, the lazy southpaw, limited the Red Birds to five hits while Westrum walloped a home run and single to drive in three runs and inflict the fifth loss upon Harvey Haddix, a 13-game winner.

Home runs by Andy Seminick and Jim Greengrass enabled Art Fowler to win a pitching duel from Philadelphia's Curt Simmons in the opener of their twin bill. Gus Bell's bases-loaded single in the eighth drove in the tying and winning runs in the nightcap.

Early Wynn tamed the Athletics with four hits for his 12th victory as the Indians snapped a four-game losing streak. Al Rosen doubled in his first Cleveland run and Wynn participated in the three-run rally later with a run-scoring single off loser Alex Kellner.

10 STRAIGHT WINS

The Yankees scored a run on each of catcher Lee Mossi' two passed balls and added another on Irv Noren's homer to run their victory string to 10 straight. Don Larsen permitted the Yankees only six hits but was charged with his 10th loss against four victories. Rookie Bob Wiesler gained his third triumph in relief assistance but needed help from Johnny Sain in the eighth.

Veteran southpaw John Schmitz pitched a five-hitter and outfielder Tom Umphlett drove in all three Washington runs with a single and triple in their 3-2 victory over the White Sox. Bob Keegan, winner of 13 games, was charged with his fourth defeat.

Leafs, Wings Play To 'No Decisions'

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Power failure and the weather man played a big part in the International League pennant race Thursday night with the front-running Rochester Red Wings and the second-place Toronto Maple Leafs involved.

Rochester and the Richmond Virginians played to a 3-3 tie in a contest that began an hour and 38 minutes late because of the power failure.

The game was called after eight innings by a curfew set before the game to enable the two teams to catch a plane north.

Toronto played seven innings without reaching a decision with the Havana Cuban Sugar Kings although the Leafs were leading 3-2 when the game was called to permit Toronto to catch a plane. The suspended game will be completed at a later date in Toronto.

In other league games, Ottawa Athletics edged Montreal Royals 2-1 and Buffalo Bisons defeated Syracuse Chiefs 8-5.

Minch — hitter Marv Rackley's single drove in the tying run in the last of the eighth for Richmond.

Angelo (Wimpy) Nardella allowed three Red Wings one run in the sixth and one in the seventh.

The Leafs scored two of their runs in the second inning on singles by Charley Kress, Don Griffin and Mike Goliat. A single by Elston Howard and another single by Griffin accounted for the third tally in the third.

Doug Hansen's two-run homer in the eighth inning broke one run in and gave the Bisons their third victory against one defeat against Syracuse.

Bedard, Main, Lead Canada To Singles Wins Over Chile

By WILF GRUBON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—There's nothing that can match top tournament competition to sharpen a tennis player's game and in the case of Lorne Main and Bob Bedard that's just what they needed to put them at their best for Canada's Davis Cup round with Chile.

They learned to the benefit of a seven-month tour of tournaments in the U.S. and Europe by defeating Chile's two top-ranking players Thursday in the opening singles of the North American zone tie between the two countries.

The winner will meet Mexico in the next round, or Canada has to do to qualify is to win either the doubles today or one of the two remaining singles Saturday. On the play Thursday of Main and Bedard whose victories gave Canada a 2-0 lead, Chile's chances appear poor.

Bedard, a brilliant young player to take the first singles, edged out Chile's national champion, Luis Ayala 4-6, 8-6, 6-4, 6-4. Bedard's 6-3, 7-5, 7-5 victory over playing captain Hernando Balbiers was just as impressive.

COUNTING ON AYALA

It will be up to the 21-year-old Ayala and veteran Andres Hamersmeier, 37, a 7-year-old local member of Chile's three-man team to keep Chile in the running when they meet Main and Paul Willey in the doubles. They will be the pairings unless one of them, or each squad decide on a change, permitted by an hour before the match is to take place.

The 36-year-old Main, a product of Vancouver's Kitsilano club now a resident of Toronto, volleyed and served well and made few of the weaknesses he showed in his ground strokes.

In the fourth set, needing a win to extend the match, he broke Ayala's service at 3-3 to go ahead to take a 3-2 lead and held a margin until the 10th game when the Chilean ace broke back with a service break to tie it at 5-5.

Main again cracked Ayala's delivery in the 13th game and ran out the set with a game that went to deuce before landing the decider.

Bedard, 23-year-old French-Canadian from Sherbrooke, Que., was down 4-1 in his second set against Balbiers before coming back with seven straight wins in the sixth and 10th games to tie the score at 5-5. Both games went to deuce set in the next two games, breaking Balbiers' service once more and then holding his own to win.

They followed service in the third set through on two placements and forced Balbiers to hit out on the final two points.

18-Innings Game Features Elgins Twin-Bill Win

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Action in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Thursday night, sprinkled with fine pitching, great hitting and about as much excitement as any fan could hope for, will long be remembered around the circuit.

A record was broken, the longest game of the season was played, one pitcher was credited with two victories and a slugger won a pair of games with a home run in each contest.

St. Thomas Elgins imperilled their first-place lead by losing two games to the third place Donlands Bosox by identical 2-1 scores after 22 innings of baseball in Kitchener. The Panthers took the seven-inning opener 2-0 and won the marathon nightcap 5-4 in 18 innings.

In Brantford, the home-town Red Sox downed the last-place Guelph Maltsters 12-3 to move to within four percentage points of first place.

SECOND VICTORY

Lefthander Bill Allen, a former Triple A hurler, was the pitching star for the Panthers. He allowed only one hit and struck out 10 Elgins in the first game. It was his first start of the season. He relieved Ken Ellacott and again called on the southpaw—this time in relief—in the 18th inning. Allen came through, holding the Elgins runless with six hits in those innings of relief pitching for his second victory of the night.

Tex Kennedy, a rookie from Preston, who was obtained by the Panthers in a trade with Galt Terriers last February, was the first game with a fifth-inning home run and saluted every pitch with another four-bagger in the 18th inning. Charlie Wolf also clouted a homer for the Panthers in the second game.

Highlander Cam Church was the loser in the tough first game, allowing the Panthers only three hits. It was his first start of the season. The Elgin loser of the second game also received a rough time. Lefthander Jack Caffery was charged with the defeat after holding the Panthers to two hits and one run during 8 2-3 innings of relief pitching. It was Caffery's fourth loss against the same number of victories.

Wilmer Hilliker was the Red Sox star during the game in Brantford. He belted three triples to drive in hits to chalk up his sixth victory of the season. Wilmer also hit a double to add two-base blows to his hits. It was his 19th double of the year, eclipsing the old mark set by Bill McCarthy of St. Thomas in 1952.

Aged Briton Wins Famous Golf Trophy

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Henry Nelskon, 60, of Britain, won the Founder's Cup Thursday at the close of the International senior golf competition among Canada, Britain and the United States.

Nelskon shot a 72 over the 7,000-yard Old Course. His 18-hole score was the 72 shot by Brigadier William H. Aiken of Britain, but Nelskon was awarded the cup on the strength of a 35 on the back nine compared with a 36 by Brigadier Aiken.

The defending champion, Dr. F. F. Laing of Windsor, Ont., shot an 81.

Mountie Wins Bisley Prize

BISLEY, England (Reuters)—A sharpshooting Mountie who almost had to give up a trip to Bisley this year because of an eye ailment took second prize Thursday in aggregate shooting scores at the Bisley shoot.

RCMP Sgt. J. H. Hals of Montreal, who was able to make his second trip here after doctors corrected the ailment, had a combined score of 89 out of 100 in the two competitions for service rifles. Just a single behind winner Sgt. J. A. Slocock of Britain.

Leafs Suspend Bobby Wilson

TORONTO (CP)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the International Baseball League Thursday announced the indefinite suspension of second-baseman Bobby Wilson.

The reason given for the official suspension was that Wilson, who is property to Kansas City, a team in the American Association, is a player deal that was pending.

Wilson is at his home in Goldsboro, N.C. He left the club July 10.

He would not fly from Richmond, Va., to Havana.

Electrics Trim Bluebirds 8-1 Behind Boyle

(By GARRY ALEXANDER)

Northern Electric returned to their winning way last night behind the three-hit pitching of Don Boyle, scoring an 8-1 victory over Paul Maxwell's Bluebird Juniors. The game wound up the league slate for Northern with a 15 won, three lost record.

Boyle and Bob Green for the Juniors hooked up in a neat pitching battle for the first innings with Northern holding a 2-1 lead. Each pitcher gave up only two hits in the first six frames.

The winners went out front in the third as Claude Carr led off with a walk and Harry De Rushie blasted a triple to deep left-centre to break the double goose egg. Ken Barclay followed with a double to plate the runner and a throwing error to Paul Russell at third for the decisive play. Boyay lined out to end the inning.

The "Clucker's" boys got to Green for another tally in the seventh when Soules led off with a single. Day sacrificed him to second and was safe on Bovay's error. Carr beat out a drag bunt with Soules scoring but the next three batters went down in order.

The winners added a run on fee in the eighth with their final four. Don Locke started this rally with a single and two walks filled the sacks while none was out. Barclay dropped another single for the two with another scoring on a pass ball but Carr drew his third walk to force in the fifth run while Batchelor singled the final marker home.

Boyle held the Juniors to three infield singles while gaining his fourth win of the year against a single defeat. He fanned four while walking the same number and on one time set eleven men down in order.

Bob Green gave up six hits to the winners, two in each of the third, seventh and eighth innings while whiffing seven of them in the fourth. Seven walks did little to aid the southpaw's bid for victory.

John Batchelor pounded out a double and single while De Rushie banged a triple. Carr reached base five straight times with a single, three walks and once by error while Locke and Soules had similar chores.

Paul Russell had two of the Bluebird's hits while Don B ay had a single.

Lineups:

Bluebirds: Barclay, Russell, Goyer, T. Green, Bovay, St. Denis, Jones, B. Green, Day.

N. Electric: Carr, Young, De Rushie, Batchelor, Locke, Whiting, Culkin, Soules, Boyle.

Trust Fund for Minor Softball Is Established by District League

The Belleville District Softball League executive at a special meeting Thursday night voted to put the substantial amount of money derived from the publication of the 1954 Year Book into a special minor softball trust fund.

President Gordon Stewart named Lloyd Doran, Don Locke and Jack Devine a board of trustees to administer the fund which will be used exclusively for the furtherance of minor softball in the district.

During the business session, the executive moved to refund the expenses incurred by the Point Anne team on June 23 in a game scheduled with Frankford when the latter failed to show up. It was decided the fault rested with the league officials and reimbursement of travelling expenses and umpires fees will be made to Point Anne. The game was ordered played on July 24 at 8 p.m. in Frankford.

It was also decided that the rearrangement of OASA playdown deadline to have all postponed games played by August 6 be allowed. Dates arranged at the meeting included Point Anne at Madoc, Tuesday, July 20 at 8.30 and Frankford at Bobcats, Wednesday, July 21 at the CNR Park at 8.30.

In the battle for the "A" Section Bill Ott Trophy Northern Electric, Point Anne, Frankford and the Bluebird Juniors will battle it out with the first team meeting the fourth and the second the third with the winners playing off.

In the "AA" section, Madoc, Bobcats and Stewart Warner will play a home-and-home round robin series with the two top teams playing off for the Labatt Trophy.

The executive also moved that the game scheduled for June 28 between Bobcats and Bluebird Juniors be awarded to the Bobcats. The executive upheld the Bobcats claim they were not notified of the change in schedule when Ace Holden and his four-man team played here.

Playdown dates, etc., will be drawn up at a special meeting of the Ontario Amateur Softball Association executive scheduled for Hamilton on July 24 and 25. The Belleville Softball League will be represented by nine teams in the playdowns, the largest number in the league's history to date. Executive member Don Lee will attend the meeting.

Fletcher, Rosburg Lead Golf Open With Portland Amateur Close Second

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP)—The possibility that an amateur might win the title for the first time in history loomed Thursday at the halfway mark in the Canadian open golf tournament.

Two professionals, Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Bob Rosburg of San Francisco, shared the lead with seven-under-par 135s, but Bruce Cudd, 21-year-old university student from Toronto, was right on their heels with 137.

Cudd, playing as amateur in the Pacific northwest and one of the finest in the U.S., added a 69 to his opening 68 to remain two strokes off the pace.

The closest amateur has come to winning the Open was in 1919 and 1920 when Bobby Jones and Tommy Armour were runners-up to J. Douglas Edgar of Atlanta, Ga.

Fletcher has the chance of being the first Canadian to capture the title since 1939 when Lawson Little of Ottawa turned the trick.

Cudd's 69 equalled low in the day by Rudy Horvath of Windsor, was the lowest score of the second round set only by Fletcher's second par, compared to 13 on the first day.

Rosburg, who scorched the par-71 Point Grey course with a record-breaking 63 Wednesday, added to a 72 and lost his two-stroke lead over Fletcher.

The big Saskatoon pro, playing some of the steadiest golf of his long tournament career, added a workmanlike 70 to his first round 65.

Playing behind Rosburg Fletcher went one under par on the front nine and then matched par figures on each hole coming home. His 40-foot putt for a birdie and the halfway lead on the 18th rimmed the cup and rolled 20 inches past.

Right behind the leaders at 138 was Bill Welch of Kenilworth, Wash., with rounds of 71-67.

Horvath Gordie Brydson, veteran Toronto professional, were bracketed with 139.

Bob Porter, Vancouver amateur playing his home course, came up with the shot of the day when his second shot on the par five, 485-yard 18th rolled into the cup for a double eagle.

Electric Girls Win Over 6RD

"Lucci" Lucciola's Northern Electric girls' softball team racked up its eleventh victory in the Lakeshore Ladies' Softball League last night, defeating the Trenton 6 RD team 13-3 on the latter's diamond.

Linda Wagg went the route for the Electric girls giving up but six whiffing three and walking two. She hit two singles to aid her cause.

Bobby, 6 RD hurler was tabbed for 19 clouts one a homer over the seven-innings route. She too, came through with a pair of hits in losing cause.

Helen Reeves paced the Electrics offensive with a two-for-four double and two singles. Rita Harder helped herself to three singles; Carol Waite, Lois Batchelor, Fox and Wagg had two hits each.

Spencer and Bobby had two hits each for the six innings.

The Electrics will be idle up for two weeks, and will resume play following vacation. They are leading the league with eleven wins and three defeats.

The score:

WILL QUIT BASEBALL

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Tommy Glaviano, Sacramento Solon in 1951 and 1952, said Wednesday night he will quit baseball immediately to take a local sales job with a brewery concern by Monday.

The 28-year-old former St. Louis Cardinals second baseman one of the highest paid players on the Sacramento roster and was purchased last winter from the Philadelphia Phillies for an estimated $10,000.

Terry Moore Phils' Manager; O'Neill Out

CINCINNATI (AP) — Terry Moore, a "gentleman" player with the Cardinals, St. Louis Cardinals of the old gas house gang days, Thursday was named manager of Philadelphia Phillies, replacing blunt-spoken Steve O'Neill.

Moore, whose previous managerial experience has been confined to two weeks of winter league duty for Marty Marion with the Cards in 1951, took charge of the Phils for Thursday night's twi-night twin bill against the Redlegs here.

Roy Hamey, general manager of the Phils, said the shift—his first major move since assuming office —was made because the Phillies "just decided to change managers."

O'Neill, who had been selected in late 1952, to replace Eddie Sawyer and try to pull the sliding Phillies "back" to the top of the National League heap, turned the reins over to his successor after Phils' game Thursday, to have better luck than I did."

Philadelphia owns the new job was typical of his reticence:

"I hope I can do as well with the club as Steve did," O'Neill."

Moore joined the Cardinals in the waning days of the old gas house gang in the mid 1930s, staying with the club as an active player for 17 seasons, taking time out for three years of active service in the Second World War.

McLaren and Masters threw the winning battery with the burler being touched for five base hits while fanning six and walking twelve. Rushlow burled for the soft drink squad and gave up but three hits while whiffing two and issuing seven walks.

Bull Bond a double for the winners with singles for McLaren and Masters while the team committed four errors. Gross' double and singles by McNevin, Pleau, Howard and Morenst was not enough to win for Hooee Orange as the team made three errors.

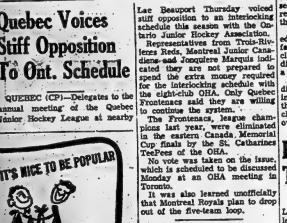
Quebec Voices Stiff Opposition To Ont. Schedule

QUEBEC (CP)—Delegates to the annual meeting of the Quebec Junior Hockey League at nearby Lac Beauport Thursday voiced stiff opposition to an interlocking schedule this season with the Ontario Junior Hockey Association.

Representatives from Trois-Rivieres, Montreal Junior Canadiens and Jonquiere Marquis indicated they are not prepared to spend the extra money required for the interlocking schedule with the eight-club OHA. Only Quebec Frontenacs said they are willing to continue the system.

The Frontenacs, league champions last year, were eliminated in the eastern Canada Memorial Cup finals by the St. Catharines TeePees of the OHA.

No vote was taken on the issue, which is scheduled to be discussed Monday at an OHA meeting in Toronto.



It was also learned unofficially that Montreal Royals plan to drop out of the five-team loop.

WHERE ACCIDENTS HAPPEN IN SAFETY

Bumps, thumps and crashes occur in these automobiles at the rate of an "accident" a second. But all is well, for this is the famous Scooter Ride with The Conklin Shows, where the drivers of these cars need fear no tickets or injuries when they go crashing into each other on the big speedway.

This attraction is one of the most popular of the more than thirty thrilling rides and shows featured on the mile long trail of fun with The Conklin Shows. America's largest Kiddie-Land is also a great presentation with more than ten fine rides for the smaller patrons.

The Conklin Shows will be appearing here at the Belleville Exhibition on August 14, 17, 18, 19.

By SAM GORDON
The Khibitzer

The trouble with a grand slam is that you dare not lose a trick. Therefore, immediate careful planning is usually a necessity. As in the rubber bridge deal you see here:

NORTH
♠7 7 6
♥A 4
♦Q 4 3
♣A K 8 5 4

WEST
♠10 2
♥Q 10 8 5
♦10 9 5 2
♣Q J 10

EAST
♠9 8 4
♥K J 7 3
♦K J 8 6
♣9 3

SOUTH
♠A K Q 5 3
♥9 6
♦A K
♣7 6 2

The players went at the bidding like this:

South	North
1 Spade	2 Clubs
2 Spades	4 Spades
4 No-Trump	5 Diamonds
7 Hearts	Pass

In answer to four no-trump, six diamonds is signal for two aces, and by using Win a Trick known to be missing and a count of less than 13 the pair did not have nearly enough to bid grand slam. But this does not stop some players.

Opening lead from west was club queen. Dummy took it with the king and three trump rounds were pulled. Diamond ace and king were cashed. Ruff was entered with a club to the ace.

Dummy's diamond queen was cashed. On it south was careful to shed one of his own clubs. This enabled south to ruff the third club and exhaust opponent club at the same time.

Dummy was entered with a heart to the ace. On the two long clubs now established south was to see where south can fling his two remaining hearts. South takes the last trick with a trump.

Although some have overlooked easier plays for playing too fast, the key here is sluffing a club instead of a heart on dummy's diamond queen. It is a natural if a player does any planning at all.

The play would have been no different if west had led a heart instead of a club. Dummy would then have two entries with top clubs. The main idea is not to overlook the right sluff.

Easter Moved To San Diego

OTTAWA (CP)—First baseman Luke Easter of the Ottawa Athletics will finish the 1954 baseball season with the San Diego club of the triple-A Pacific Coast League.

Recently he was involved in a dugout argument with manager Les Bell and not long after Bell was replaced by Taft Wright.

General manager George MacDonald of the Ottawa Athletics said that while Easter was hitting well above the .300 mark, he believed his departure would help the morale of the club.

Aging Shute Gives Youngsters Golf Lesson

CLEVELAND (AP) — Denny Shute, Akron's aging pro, made one of his rare tournament appearances Thursday and gave the youngsters a golf lesson in the first round of the $25,000 Manakiki Open.

Shute arrived late at the tee and fired the first hole wearing his street shoes. He negotiated the 408 yards in two strokes, canning a 140-yard seven-iron shot for an eagle deuce. Then he donned his spikes, birdied five other holes and sauntered in with a 31-35-66 over the 6,651-yard par 36-36—72 layout.

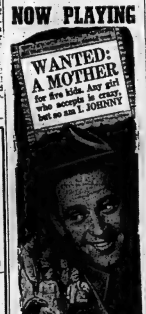
That performance gave Shute a one-stroke edge over his nearest foe.

Shute, now gray-haired and almost 50, won the PGA championship in 1936 and 1937, and the British Open in 1933.

Katie Key Wins Roosevelt Trot

WESTBURY, N.Y. (AP)—Katie Key ranged up in the stretch Thursday night and drew away in the final yards to capture the $50,000 Roosevelt trot for the second consecutive year at Roosevelt Raceway.

The only mare in the race, Katie Key was driven by Canadian Clint Hodgins of Clandeboye, Ont., to a 1½-length victory over Lord Siwand, owned by Ralph H. Kroening of Milwaukee.



As the west money favorite, Katie Key paid $4, $3 and $3.50.

Hamilton Bars Player Move

MONTREAL (CP) — Dave Tomlinson, rugged lineman with Montreal Alouettes last year, wants to play for Calgary Stampeders this year but the move is being blocked by Hamilton.

Lew Hayman, Alouettes' general manager, said Thursday Hamilton Tiger-Cats won't waive Tomlinson out of the Big Four.

Alouettes could deal or trade Tomlinson, a Calgary boy, to Stampeders, if all Big Four clubs passed on him. The player recently returned west after graduating from McGill University.

AT THE BELLE

"Three Coins in the Fountain", In Gay, Tender CinemaScope Romance

In "Three Coins in the Fountain," Twentieth Century-Fox has wrapped up a delightful entertainment package and tied it with gay ribbons in color by Deluxe. When it unrolled on the screen yesterday at the Belle Theatre in full CinemaScope splendor it was something special the first time it radiates with old world charm in which six stars catch the mood of romantic Rome as they are torn between their love for Rome and their love for home.

The players, Clifton Webb, Dorothy McGuire, Jean Peters, Louis Jourdan, Maggie McNamara and Rossano Brazzi, move around in settings that are shown for the first time in all their wonderful and historic beauty. What the CinemaScope cameras have done in bringing such famous Roman landmarks as the plaza of St. Peter's Cathedral, the Coliseum, the old Roman Forum, the Villa Madama, the Spanish Steps, the Fountain of Trevi and the Via Borghese to the screen surpasses any Baedeker description. With Venice and the Italian countryside also added as its backgrounds the pictorial brilliance of the picture is complete.

For such beauty of setting playwright John Patrick, who won kudos for his current Broadway hit, "The Teahouse of the August Moon," has fashioned a beguiling screen play out of John Secondari's best-seller. The three stars in the picture have gem-like sparkle.

Webb was never better than as the delectable author and Miss McGuire, Miss Peters and Miss McNamara are part of the most fetching secretaries to come along in many a moon. Mr. Jourdan is most effective as the Italian prince. Mr. Brazzi makes his American debut in this CinemaScope production and is certain to win as many friends here as he has in Italy.

All the Italian scenes were filmed in the actual locale. Producer Sidney Sheldon sent the company to Rome and Venice for "Three Coins in the Fountain", which turns out to be a real entertainment treat.

Sudbury Buys Maritime Stars

HALIFAX (CP) — Sportscaster Pat Connolly said Thursday Halifax Atlantics have sold all the players they own outright to Sudbury Wolves of the Ontario Hockey Association.

Connolly said over radio station CJCH that this apparently means Atlantics have gone out of business as far as the Maritime Major Hockey League is concerned.

He named the players as goalie Roy McMeekin, Carroll Bloom, Jack (Mickey) Hallett, Bill Ford, Doug McPhee and Bob Bowness.

Connolly said the sale came after negotiations with owner Max Silverman of the Wolves. He said it wasn't known whether other interests would take over the Halifax franchise of the two-time winners of the Allantic Cup.

Sources close to the team owners said the sale of at least some players has been in the offing for some time.

The MMHL, which also included Charlottetown Islanders, Glace Bay Miners and Sydney Millionaires, is the only league which played major hockey in Canada last season.

Your Individual Horoscope

BY FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SATURDAY, JULY 17, 1954

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Take the bitter with the sweet. Don't let criticism discourage you; it could be helpful.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You may have to use considerable caution in money or business ventures, but do have a definite idea of what you are about. Don't act in an undecided manner, and your ability will prove itself.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Concentrate on the new, the unique, even the unexpected, where it could be rewarding, bring satisfying gains. Maritime, property matters, investments, if well studied, can be profitable.

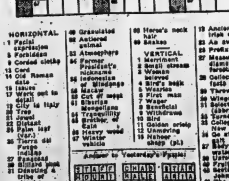
June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — An indifferent day in some ways. It's a better day than you may at first suspect, however. Much depends, as often on how you differentiate between the worthwhile and the useless—and upon your attitude.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — This is a time for rechecking and for allocating tasks according to their importance. You can do wonders when you proceed in a methodical manner and follow through efficiently.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo)—There is a time to keep busy, and an equally important time for rest, relaxation and consideration of health generally. Don't overdo, and you'll be fit to do more.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—A good day for helping others and at the same time, for remembering the things you must attend to for yourself. That old if-you-pace, judicious-distribution-of-work-and-play system, eh?

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio)—A good day for reviewing; to see where you can be more efficient, how to save time and energy; how to rebuild energy through proper diet, relaxation and outdoor exercise.

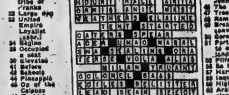


November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius)—You have a great influence on associates, and even those who don't know you personally often follow your lead. So be mindful these days how you act and how you express your opinions.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn)—This is a day of mixed influences, but one that offers a world of opportunity for the gogetter. So don't waste time; but don't overpax yourself, either.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Careful fulfillment of obligations, sociability, deference to authority and social sure are today's "musts." Avoid giving in where you know you should not, but listen, at least to others' observations.

February 21 to March 20 — You can do better if you try! And that goes no matter how well you have already done. We all can improve as we grow older.



YOU BORN TODAY: A vivid imagination enables you to hold others' interest, spark their imagination. Using your gifts rightly, you should have a happy life, and be a delight to loved ones and your community. Mercury, Uranus now tend to strengthen your personality and originality. You love travel, children, acting, and doing the unusual. Activities that bring you in contact with the public to stimulate your ambition and you do. It has plain good. Curb sensitiveness, emotionalism and misuse of your fine energy. Birthdate of: Eldridge Gerry, American statesman; John Jacob Astor, financier.

Undulant Fever Vaccine Has Been Produced

TORONTO (CP) — A United States doctor said Thursday he has produced a vaccine for brucellosis, or undulant fever, which cured every one of 100 test cases of acute infection within two weeks.

Dr. Eugene F. Wise of Kansas City, Mo., told the American Osteopathic Association convention here his vaccine is composed of living organisms, including a secret "anaerococcus z." It produces no illness in human beings but causes the human body to generate antibodies which conquer the infection of undulant fever.

Dr. Wise said pasteurization of milk has wiped out brucellosis as a major health problem in the United States and Canada, but it is still common in Mexico, South America and Mediterranean regions.

Campers' Special Slithers Off Track Near Kenora, Ont.

200 Aboard As Engine, Five Cars Jump Rails

KENORA, Ont. (CP)—An eastbound excursion train slithered off the CPR's main line on a curve 30 miles west of here Friday night, killing two persons and injuring 25 others.

The victims were:

James Szabo, 25, of Norman, Ont., brakeman, and Mrs. Isabel Macdonell, 69, of Winnipeg, a passenger.

Five of the injured were reported in serious condition.

Szabo, who was riding as head-end brakeman in the baggage car, attempted to leap to safety as the train left the rails near Cross Lake. He was severely scalded by steam escaping from the damaged locomotive and died in a farmer's truck taking him to hospital in Kenora.

Mrs. Macconnell was wedged in a washroom doorway as one of the seven cars tipped. She died soon afterwards.

MORE

LOCOMOTIVE JUMPS TRACK

Near Cross lake, the locomotive jumped the track, plowed along the parallel westbound track for 300 yards then plunged down an embankment. The baggage car followed it.

The other five cars swerved to the left and skidded to a halt in the ditch on the left side of the track. The three front cars went on their sides and the last two remained at steep angles.

Cause of the derailment was not known. There was no fire or explosion and little glass splintering as the all-steel cars ground to a halt in the gravel roadbed.

As the locomotive turned over, the steam dome was sheared off. Steam surged out catching Szabo full blast.

The locomotive cut down about four telegraph poles disrupting communications in the area for several hours.

Only the baggage car was badly wrecked.

Mrs. John McIlwaine of Kenora said she was in the washroom with Mrs. Macconnell just before the crash.

"I don't know what happened," she said. "It all came so fast. She appeared to be thrown to the floor way as the car tipped over. The next thing I knew she was wedged in the doorway. I pushed the door open. She died shortly afterwards."

James Secord of Kenora, retired engineer, was one of the passengers. He said there were four persons on the train with considerable medical equipment. They included Dr. Fenton and Dr. Doug Halliwell, both of Kenora.

"They were marvellous," Secord said. "There wasn't much panic. Everything went well."

Mrs. Frank Kenora, engineer, was badly shaken up and suffered a bad bruise on the leg. Her husband of Kenora was fireman. Witnesses said it was a miracle they escaped serious injury in the wreckage of the locomotive.

County Accepts Development Road Proposal

Cost to County Will Be Purchase of Right-of-Way

The roads committee of Hastings County council, Friday accepted an offer from the Ontario Department of Highways for the building of a development Class 3B road from Madoc to Foxboro to link Highway 14 with Highway 62.

Roscoe Robson, M.L.A., for Hastings East and Elmer Sandercock, M.L.A., for Hastings West, in a joint statement, presented the offer of the Highways Department. The offer was the culmination of a series of petitions by county council to the Highways Department for a better Madoc-Foxboro road, which is at present a rough gravel road.

The Highways Department plan includes construction of the highway from Madoc to a point two-and-one-half miles south. This stretch would carry the road past Moira Lake and over the hill on the south side of the lake. Included in this construction would be a new bridge across Moira Lake at, its narrowest point. Cost of the two-and-one half mile strip and the bridge will be approximately $350,000.

The county also accepted an offer to build a by-pass at Halloway.

Work on these two projects will be completed before other work is done on the development road. Completion of the entire work will take two, and possibly three, years.

In return the county will pay for the purchase of right-of-way for the new road.

Mr. Robson also announced that Keller's bridge, north of Madoc on Highway 62, will be replaced by a modern structure. The Bailey bridge will be erected to carry traffic, while the new bridge is under construction. Work on the new bridge will commence at once.

Highways Minister George H. Doucett, who inspected the route, is to be alleged last week in company with Mr. Robson and Mr. Sandercock and early this week made the proposals accepted by county council committee yesterday.

MINISTER INSPECTS ROAD

Mr. Doucett also inspected during his trip the Foxboro-Frankford development road, which Mr. Sandercock arranged for two years ago and the road has been built by way now under construction between Belleville and Trenton.

It was stated that the bridges over the Moira and Trent rivers are pre-cast concrete and as soon as plans were completed. The minister also stated the early completion of the highway is a "must" because of the ever increasing traffic.

Possibly Eleven Dead in Blast In Maryland

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP)—A welcome quiet settled over this Maryland eastern shore town today in the wake of a series of explosions that wrecked a fireworks and munitions plant and left at least 10 dead. An 11th person was unaccounted for and believed dead.

Five of the more than 50 others injured remained in hospital.

Friday's blasts, estimated by one company official as doing $500,000 damage, came in grim coincidence with a fireworks factory explosion in Chicago.

THREE OTHERS KILLED

Three were killed and one injured in explosions in the Melrose Fireworks Co. building in suburban Chicago's Schiller Park.

In Chestertown, while army, FBI and company officials sought the exact cause of the blasts and took precautions against further explosions, national guardsmen patrolled the streets.

They stood guard at the armory, converted to an emergency morgue, where the remains of 10 victims were bundled in blankets. Six had been identified through watches, rings, keys or by other means as five women and a man whose bodies were found among the putting together firecrackers, detonator fuses and army training shells.

FIVE MISSING

Five other women were listed by their families as missing and it was probable the names of four could be matched with the four unidentified bundles on the armory floor. Remains of the 11th victim apparently were still buried somewhere in the mass of smouldering litter that had once been part of eight main buildings and 22 smaller structures development.

While the rumor persisted that two jet planes seen flying over the plant grounds before the first explosion set off the blaze by jarring the highly sensitive lead azide, a nitro-glycerin compound used in detonator fuses, most authorities discounted the possibility.

Army demolition experts hoped today to move the remaining tons of the lead azide from the blast scene. They planned to evacuate persons in a two-mile area before starting on the plant area during the operation.

HALF LEFT

At the height of the chaos caused by the explosions, an estimated 5,000 of Chestertown's 3,100 residents evacuated the town, on foot and by clogging highways in all directions.

Sheriff Burton Vickers ordered everyone out of town after the first muffled explosion about 10:30 a.m. In a chain reaction, the explosions spread through the 65 buildings on the 30-acre site.

PICKETERS QUIET BUT TENSE AT LONDON PLANT

Union Leaders Ready To Negotiate Terms

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Quiet but tense picketing by striking Kelvinator of Canada Limited workers continued for the second day at the Bradley Cartage garage in London today—the 19th day of a strike.

About 400 employees went on strike after 11 months futile negotiations when the company proposed a five-cent-an-hour wage increase.

Feiker, who received a six-month sentence after turning states' evidence, said Miss Schmidt had recruited him into a fled spy ring.

Miss Schmidt, arrested nine days ago, was held for deportation as a person who "in the future may engage in espionage or sabotage contrary to the security of Canada."

Her attorney, Harry Blank, said she had been released on bond after agreeing to return voluntarily to Germany. She is scheduled to leave "within a few days."

Blank said an open warrant is held by American military authorities in Frankfurt for Miss Schmidt's arrest. The 21-year-old former clerk at a U. S. air base in Frankfurt is accused of supplying secret information about American air bases to Karl Jubisch, a German who was sentenced along with Feiker and received three years in prison.

The pretty stenographer said she hopes to clear herself of any stigma of suspected espionage with the Americans and then apply for re-entry to Canada."

German Typist Plans to Give Self Up to Prove She Is No Spy

MONTREAL (CP)—A glamorous German typist, ordered deported from Canada as a security risk, says she plans to give herself up to American authorities in Frankfurt to prove she was never a Communist."

Ursula Schmidt, sultry-eyed brunette, told reporters Friday night at a press conference in her lawyer's office she thinks all her trouble has been caused by "a frustrated lover", Hendy Feiker, who was convicted last year in Frankfurt as a Communist spy.

Feiker, who received a six-month sentence after turning states' evidence, said Miss Schmidt had recruited him into a fled spy ring.

Miss Schmidt, arrested nine days ago, was held for deportation as a person who "in the future may engage in espionage or sabotage

Russians Suddenly Replace Their East Germany Top Man

BY TOM REEDY

BERLIN (AP) — The sudden replacement of Soviet high commissioner Vladimir S. Semyonov by diplomat Georgi Pushkin aroused speculation today whether it might be a prelude to a new scheme for selling the West on East German "independence."

Appointment of the diplomatic reshuffle came as West Germany edged closer to full sovereignty.

The Russians have been boasting for several months that their captive zone is now republic and entitled to consideration in the West as a sovereign state. The West has nobly refused.

Pushkin returns to the East German state he set in motion in 1949 when he served as Moscow's first "ambassador" to the satellite state. He brought the pledging Soviet policy that is being even as he created the Red government in postwar Hungary.

The terse announcement broadcast from Moscow radio said Semyonov would take up new duties there "that his post would be remained a mystery. Semyonov has been a popular figure generally in the Germanss.

Pushkin, on the other hand, has been regarded in Western circles as a man who would not hesitate to resort to force if he thought it necessary.

The switch from Semyonov to Pushkin aroused speculation in Western quarters that Moscow is trying a new approach to the German problem. One U.S. official commented: "The Russians have run up against a stone wall with some solutions to Indo-China just around the corner. If they put a man like Pushkin into Germany now, it may show the French that we have no intention of letting the Germans ever to reach any real stature."

Gloom Grips Geneva Talks As No Real Progress Made

GENEVA (AP)—United States undersecretary of state Walter Bedell Smith was due in Geneva today to bolster sagging French-British efforts toward an Indo-China peace.

Their peace drive bogged down in a deadlock with the Communist over armistice terms, the European Allies are depending on Smith to strengthen their bargaining hand.

French premier Mendes-France and British foreign secretary Eden arranged to confer with Smith immediately upon his arrival.

Glpom spread over the conference Friday night after Mendes-France and Eden left Geneva for parently fruitless hours wrangling with Russia's V. M. Molotov over differences blocking a truce agreement.

SAYS NO PROGRESS

One authoritative source said there had been "no progress at all on any of the real issues."

It was Mendes-France's second day of conference with Molotov in 24 hours. The French premier has announced that if he doesn't achieve a cease-fire agreement by July 20.

Although Western diplomats now are less optimistic about reaching a truce they think the Reds might still come around before the deadline arrives.

"Molotov may be holding out for the best price until the last minute," one Western diplomat said.

The Communists and the Western ministers have failed to reach agreement on where the partition line is to be drawn through the pivotal Indo-Chinese state of Viet Nam.

Mendes-France is reported to want the line cut at the 18th parallel. The Communists want the state divided at the 14th latitude which would give them control of most of Viet Nam including the important city and naval base of Tourane and the old Annamese capital of Hue.

Detroit Dentist Wins Aquittal In Murder Case

ALLEGAN, Mich. (AP) — The love-triangle murder case against Dr. Kenneth B. Small, Detroit dentist who killed his pretty wife's admirer, ended in a directed verdict of acquittal by reason of insanity early today.

A jury of 11 men and one woman returned the verdict at 2:50 a.m. EDT after five hours and four minutes of deliberation.

The verdict in effect held that Dr. Small, 34-year-old society dentist, was not mentally responsible for the shot he killed Lloyd A. Lack, 45, New York playboy-industrialist, at a swank summer cottage near here last Memorial Day week-end.

At the time Small's brunette wife, Edith, 30, mother of three boys, was a guest with Lack at the party. The husband allegedly trailed her to the cottage after becoming suspicious of her story she was with a woman friend in Chicago.

Michigan law requires that Dr. Small be kept in a state hospital until the state decides that he is sane, or insane. This means he could be released at an early date, or never.

PREPARE FOR BEER RUSH AS 11-DAY STRIKE ENDED

Brewery Workers Will Return to Work Today

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—Beverage rooms in three counties were ready for a rush in beer business today to mark the end of an 11-day strike of brewery workers.

Cocktail lounges and bars in Windsor prepared for their first Saturday night of business in beer in more than a week, 12 hours after agreement was reached between union and company representatives in the dispute.

Members of the Windsor locals of the United Brewery Workers Union (CIO-CCL) Friday night ratified an agreement reached in Toronto earlier in the day. Although it is expected to take three or four days before facilities back to normal, hotel keepers were counting on some deliveries today.

The dispute started when 17 men walked off the job in Canadian Breweries Limited's warehouse here when the union alleged that O'Keefe's and Brading's breweries had violated a contract signed by removing helpers from trucks carrying beer.

SETTLEMENT TERMS

It ended with this settlement: The classification of helpers will not be abolished. The men will r longer ride the trucks but they will work at loading and unloading the platforms and be employed by CBT. There will be no loss of status or seniority.

The beginning of the end of the strike came in Toronto, where union and company representatives agreed on settlement terms. The union then took the proposal to its membership in Windsor and the vote was called off.

The trouble affected the centres of Leamington, Harrow, Chatham, Sarnia and Walkerville. When the 17 men struck and the warehousing company began selling beer from Toronto by outside transport, employees in retail stores refused to handle the beer.

Most beer stores in the counties of Essex, Kent and Lambton were closed during the strike. Hotel and beverage room outlets were short of favorite brands and were down to selling liquor, little - known brands and stout.

Two Ottawa Men Killed in Crash

OTTAWA (CP) — Two Ottawa men were killed instantly in a head-on highway collision a few miles west of the capital, the provincial police said Friday night.

Dr. Mickleborough, prominent radiologist, was returning to his suburban home at Hazeldean after an evening at the Ottawa Civic hospital. Mr. Smith was returning to Ottawa on his way home from Hamilton.

Russia Maintains Scientific Stations On Two Floating Ice Islands in North

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians disclosed today they are maintaining "scientific stations" on two floating ice islands in the polar region north and northwest of Alaska.

The Soviet news agency Tass said teams on the islands are making depth measurements of the Arctic ocean, studying atmospheric conditions and making geological surveys of the seabed. The scientists were flown to the islands last year in the first spring and are being supplied by helicopters.

Tass said one of the stations was located a few days ago at 88 degrees, two minutes north latitude and 151 degrees, 40 minutes west longitude. This would put it north of Alaska and within 100 miles of the north pole.

The other was pinpointed at 77 degrees, 22 minutes north latitude and 174 degrees, 20 minutes east longitude. This is about 500 miles northwest of Point Barrow, Alaska. It is 650 miles from the pole.

The bases were said to be equipped with tractors, motor cars and windmills. Their radio stations keep in regular contact with each of the Soviet mainland.

Tass said the stations are under the command of two specialists in geographical science, A. F. Treshnikov and E. I. Tolstikov.

So far extensive research has been carried on in the central Arctic near the north pole, the submerged Lomonosov mountain range and the continental shelf of the Chukotsk sea, it was said. This body of water, also known as the Chukchee or Chukchi sea, lies at the north end of the Bering strait. The mountain itself forms its northern boundary.

Govt. Sets Price Of Wheat At $1.40 A Bushel

OTTAWA (CP) — The government Friday set the initial price of wheat at $1.40 a bushel, the same as for the last three years.

Initial prices for oats and barley are also unchanged. Payment, for oats will be 65 cents a bushel and for barley 95 cents a bushel.

The $1.40 wheat price is that for No. 1 northern at the Lakehead or Vancouver.

Initial payments for other grades of wheat, oats and barley will be announced by the Canadian Wheat Board after the start of the new crop year.

The 65-cent price for oats is that for No. 2 Canada western at the Lakehead; the 95-cent price for barley is that for No. 3 C. W. Canada western.

PAID FOR FIRST CROPS

The initial price is that paid by the Canadian Wheat Board for farmers' deliveries at the opening of the crop year, Aug. 1. About the middle of the year, when the board has made sufficient sales to indicate profits, an interim payment of about 20 cents a bushel is made, covering all deliveries since the opening of the crop year.

Finally, when the crop year ends and the board settles its accounts, it distributes remaining profits to farmers in the form of a final payment.

Oldest Lighthouse In North America To Be Torn Down

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A weatherbeaten lighthouse, believed to be the oldest in North America operating in its original state, is being torn down to make room for its rocky perch at Cape Spear, most easterly point in Canada.

The four-storey, stone-story building, built 119 years ago for £1,000, will be replaced by the same family ever since. And with the end of the building Canada's oldest lighthouse keeper.

On a high-rocky cliff, the light flashes its warning to the lonely Atlantic. James Cantwell, great-great grandfather of present operator Leo Cantwell, built the first light.

When the building of Newfoundland-bewn timber with its tower of English granite, is torn down to make way for construction of a transport contract, a new steel and concrete tower 150 feet high will be built nearer the shoreline where heavy shore batteries guarded St. John's harbor during the Second World War.

His old lighthouse, says Mr. Cantwell, was the beginning of public debt in Newfoundland. "We borrowed £1,000 pounds to build it."

Frank Cantwell, although he can see the advantages of a stronger, automatic light, hates to see the old building go. He says it should be spared as a landmark.

Fire Threatens Small Community Of Walter's Falls

OWEN SOUND (CP)—Fire this morning threatened to engulf the small community of Walter's Falls, 12 miles south east of Owen Sound, and urgent appeals for assistance were being sent out by residents.

A general store and an adjacent egg grading station were reported a mass of flames, just before 10 a.m., and other buildings were threatened by the fast-spreading blaze. Furniture was being removed from the home of Norman Seabrook.

Fire trucks from Owen Sound and Markdale answered the initial appeal for help at 9:30 a.m. Walter's Falls has no brigade of its own.

CAMPERS' SPECIAL

One of the first to report the wreck was Rudolf Sorenson, 42, a farmer in the Whitehall forest reserve.

"I was just setting down my milk pail when I saw the train go by a quarter of a mile away," said Sorenson. "Then there was a big cloud of steam.

"I ran to my dad and yelled 'looks like the Campers' Special is wrecked'," he said. When he got there he found the view true.

Mr. Sorenson ran two miles to a garage to phone the RCMP.

WESTBOUND TRAFFIC HALTED

Meanwhile, when the train failed to reach its next stop at Ingolf, Ont., a jigger was dispatched to investigate. Flares and flags were up at Dagero to halt westbound traffic.

Tail-end brakeman Doug Craig of Kenora ran back to put up flags to halt eastbound traffic including trans-continental trains from Winnipeg due at 6:00 afternoon.

Craig saw a small farm boy and told him to run for help. When the boy's father arrived with a small farm truck, Dr. Cliff Abbott placed the seven injured firemen, Szabo, in the truck to go to Kenora. He died en route.

He was a well-known athlete at Kenora where he played for Kenora Thistles hockey club but did not make the recent trip to Japan.

District residents soon gathered at the scene to help the injured and serve coffee. Broken chairs from the train were set up along the right-of-way and cups were gathered from the train.

A freight train working at Ingolf, eight miles east of the wreck, was sidetracked and the locomotive sped to the scene with cars to pick up the stranded passengers and the injured.

TAKEN TO KENORA

They returned to meet an auxiliary wrecking train from Kenora at Ingolf and the passengers were taken on to Kenora, reaching there about 12:30 a.m. CDT.

The injured walked or were carried in stretchers and wheel chairs to the seven-car rescue train. They were treated at Kenora General and St. Joseph's hospital. Many suffered bruises and cuts.

The Red Cross sent 41 bottles of blood and nurses units of plasma to Kenora from Winnipeg, using a relay of special trains and RCMP cars.

A Trans-Canada Air Lines flight was rescheduled stop at Kenora early today to deliver anti-tetanus serum.

A CPR spokesman said eastbound train No. 8 which left Winnipeg Friday night was detained overnight at Rennie; No. 4 was held at Whitemouth.

Crews expected to have one line of track cleared early today.
